NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The Probability of an Extra Session of Congress Immediately Following Cleveland's Inauguration.

The President has appointed Albert H. Nash postmaster at Salt Lake City, Utah, vice Irving A. Benton, who resigned to accept the appointment of United States Marshal.

There are a number of vacancies in the higher offices of the executive departments of the government, and the problem of filling them has been considerably complicated by the results of the recent election. In view of the fact that a general change will be made by the new administration in March, the vacancies are not altogether desirable prizes. Among them are the First Assistant Postmaster-Generalship, Commissioner of the General Land Office, and a number of diplomatic places, including the Russian, Portugese, Italian and Swiss Missions. The resignation of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Nettleton and Mr. Crounse, who was the Republican candidate for Governor of Nebraska, will take effect next month. The President will also have four vacancies on the bench to fill between now and March 4. These are life positions and the most alluring prizes remaining within the gift of the administration.

The probability of an extra session of Congress immedially following the in-luring prizes remaining within the gift of the administration.

The probability of an extra session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the President-elect is a subject of general conversation in Washington. A special session of the Senate is always called at the beginning of a new administration, to confirm members of the Cabine' and diplomatic representatives of the United States abroad, but the present election, having turned on questions of a domestic policy, it is said to be obvious to experienced political leaders of all parties that an extra session of both Houses of Congress is an almost inevitable result. Secretary of the Tressury Foster among others admits this. The country, he says, challenged the judgment of the Republicans on the McKinley bill, and the result must be accepted as the will of the people that a different policy must be put into effect. Ex-Secretary Bayard writes to a friend here in like effect, adding the people will expect this to be done with people will expect this to be done with-out unnecessary delay.

Advices from Samos are to the effect that the differences between the factions on the islands, headed by Mataafa, the recognized King, and Malietoa, the claimant to the throne, have reached an acute phase. To fully protect the interests of the United States it has been decided that a vessel be sent there at the earliest practicable moment. Besides this reason, based on expendiency, it appears that under the terms of the tripartite treaty the United States is under obligation to keep a naval vessel at Samos. several gentlemen, Colorado capitalista, is now engaged in prospecting the bars on Snake river, below Huntington, for fine gold placers. Mr. Hill has already located his party on 320 acres of gold-bearing lands, and it is the intention of the company to employ in the working of their mines a new machine, particularly constructed for the saving of fine gold. Mr. Hill says the new device will handle and save the gold from ninety-sight cubic yards of dirt and gravel per hour.
