Mr. Orchard, the water works man, failed to put in an appearance at the last meeting of the city council.

Kimball pianos. Moore, Portland, Or.

Professor Brice, of LaCenter, came over Sunday and gave the newly organized brass band their first regular drilling.

L. V. Moore, Portland, Kimabll Pianos.

Mr. T. C. Watts returned from Salem Wednesday after being absent since the beginning of the session of the legislature.

Pianos and organs. L. V. Moore, portland.

Mr. W. H. Conyers, Clatskanie's rustling real estate and insurance agent, was in St. Helens Tuesday looking after business matters in general.

Kimball Pianos' endorsed by Patti.

It now seems certain that if St. Helens is to have a water system the city will have to put it in. This the council should proceed to do without delay.

Pianos direct from factory. L. V. Moore.

A Chicago lumber journal says that Columbia county (Oregon) ash is the most beautiful wood in the world. It takes a fine polish, and looks well varnished. The wood is strong and has a beautiful grain.

Kimball organs. Moore, Portland, Or.

Mr. A. H. Blakesley lost one of his horses Wednesday by the animal falling over the cliff in front of the court house, a distance of 25 feet.

Gilmore endorses the Kimball Pianos.

General G. T. Beauregard, one of the leading Confederate generals during the civil war, and perhaps one of the most brilliant, died last Monday night. As a public man and leader in many branches of the government before that sectional strife came up General Beauregard had few superiors.

Kimball pianos defy competition.

City water works, a bank, a city hall, a wood dock and warehouse, putting a border around the public strand, electric lights, etc., are all being pushed to completion as fast as could be expected. Indeed the boom is on in St. Helens.

Kimball Pianos are the best.

The ice blockade in the upper Columbia is broken up. All week large cakes of the "frozen water" has been floating seaward past St. Helens, at some points being an impediment to navigation, more particularly at night.

See the Kimball pianos before buying.

The question of erecting a city hall is the topic of conversation on the street corners this week. This is the preliminary (wind) work. Later on, if at all, will come the more substantial part of the play, putting up the money.

Don't buy before seeing the Kimball pianos.

We are glad to see so much interest taken by the more progressive element in the city hall proposition. This is indeed a strictly business proposition and should be pushed in spite of all moss-back opposition. All those wishing to subscribe money for this purpose now have an opportunity to do so. Already several hundred dollars have been subscribed, with prospects for considerable more.

Old Ned, the faithful horse who has so often pulled the stage coach between this city and Houlton, is gone. The end came Wednesday at noon, just as the big bell in the clock tower was striking the signal for the workmen on the city hall to prepare for dinner, and the keen, sharp whistle from the city water works echoed back its unmistakable announcement that the sun was passing the Meridian. At this unusual noise poor Ned took fright and hied himself away down the public strand near the river bank in front of The Mist office, and when opposite the courthouse the shrieking and hissing of the City & Suburban electric car from Columbia City caused the animal to turn suddenly, falling over the bluff a distance of several feet, from which death resulted.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

Washington, February 17, 1893.

Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, as so far announced, is much more pleasing to republicans than to democrats, and the selections indicate that the democratic party proper is to be consulted even less from March 4, 1893, than it was during Mr. Cleveland's other administration. He appears to feel under no obligations to the machine element, either for his nomination or his election, and the statement has been frequently made during the last two or three days by observant men, that Mr. Cleveland was ambitious of founding a new political party, more republican than democratic in its tendencies. Such prominent democrats as Senators Gorman and Brice acknowledge that they have not even been asked their opinion by Mr. Cleveland concerning the membership of the cabinet; consequently there is already a feeling of resentment in the senate against him, and Senator Hill is adding fuel to the flames in every way he can. The democratic talk is mostly aimed at Gresham, but the truth of the matter is that the selection of Dan Lamont to be secretary of war and of ex-partner Bissell to be postmaster general gives as little satisfaction as that of Gresham to be secretary of state. They are regarded as personal and not political selections. Carlisle as secretary of the treasury is the only one of the four members of the cabinet already selected who can truly be said to meet the expectations of the democrats in congress. That this feeling of enmity to Mr. Cleveland exists is plain to all, but your correspondent does not think, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, that it will be carried to the extent of opposing the confirmation of any of the cabinet nominations, although nothing would be more to the liking of Senator Hill; but Senator Hill is too shrewd a politician to butt his head against a brick wall. Unless he has positive assurances from a sufficient number of senators to make it certain that he can defeat the nominations it is not probable that he will openly oppose them.

Senator Sherman says he does not favor the issue of bonds unless it becomes absolutely necessary in order to keep up the gold reserve in the treasury. His bill to authorize the secretary of the treasury to issue $50,000,000 in five-year 3 per cent. bonds for the purpose of replenishing the gold reserve which has been favorably reported, is simply to save some money for the government if bonds have to be issued. No new law is needed to issue bonds, but bonds issued under present laws would have to bear not less than 4 per cent. and to run for a long term of years; hence Senator Sherman's bill. The president is so strongly opposed to an issue of bonds that it is certain that nothing short of the direst financial straits would cause him to allow it while he remains in office, and Secretary Foster says he sees nothing in the situation to require it at this time.

The president having forwarded the treaty for the annexation of Hawaii to the senate, accompanied by a message recommending its immediate ratification, has gone to Maryland for two or three days duck shooting. It was first thought that it would be best to accomplish annexation by an act of congress, but owing to the short time remaining of the session and the belief that prompt action was necessary it was concluded to do it by treaty, which only needs the ratification of the senate and the formal acceptance by the Hawaiian government to become binding on both countries. The treaty is a very short one. It provides that the provisional government of Hawaii shall remain in charge of that country until congress shall provide by legislation a new government. It also provides that it must be ratified by the Hawaiian government within sixty days after it is received at Honolulu. Besides the message and the treaty the president sent to the senate a mass of correspondence relating to Hawaii and the policy of the United States in dealing therewith in the past. The president assured himself before taking this action that the senate would ratify the treaty, and Secretary of State Foster says he expects to sign the official copy of it, after its ratification, for the commissioners to take back with them before he sails for Europe, and he is booked to leave on the 25th inst.

An Extra Session of Congress.

A Washington dispatch to the Oregonian says: "The direct commands of Cleveland to the democrats in congress that the Sherman law must be repealed having been disregarded by all except a few faithful ones who were won over by promises, has made the next president very angry and he is determined to show them what a real president can do. It is generally understood today that Cleveland will have congress in session at an early day for the repeal of the silver law, and that he has already allowed it to be understood that in order to get offices and recognition at the White House subserviency to his wish will be necessary. Cleveland does not like congressmen. He feels independent of them now, and prefers to coerce them if they do not come to his terms. The extreme silver men, believing they can at all times be successful in keeping up as good a thing as they have at present, have determined to filibuster against the sundry civil bill because it contains the Sherman bond issue provision. This alone would force an extra session, because if this or any of the large appropriation bills fail, another session is absolutely necessary in order to keep the government going. But a little thing like forcing an extra session cuts no figure with the extremists, who already feel that they met the disapproval of Cleveland and can expect no favors at his hands anyway."

The Home Paper.

No man who has the interests of his county at heart should fail to subscribe for his home prper, says The Newspaper Man. In incouraging its publication he is assisting in building up about him enterprises, the success of which at the same time enhance the value of his own surroundings. It gives him more news of immediate concern than the big city papers; it stands up manfully for his rights; he always has a champion in his home paper, and those who stand up for another should be well sustained. The interests of both are kindred and equal, and must rise or fall together. Therefore it is to the interest of everyone to support the home paper; not grudgingly, but in a liberal spirit; as a pleasure not as a disagreeable duty, but as an investment that will amply repay all expenditure.

City Hall Fund.

So far the following amounts have beed subscribed toward building a public hall in St. Helens. By publication day next week we hope to see this sum doubled.

DELENA.

The weather for the past week has been averagely good for this time of the year. The snow is melting rapidly and will soon be a thing of the past, that is, if we don't get a new supply.

The roads are exceedingly muddy and badly in need of the attention of the road supervisor.

Mr. J. G. Henrici, of Portland, spent Saturday and Sunday last with friends in this place.

Mr. J. H Douglass left on the night boat last Sunday for Portland.

The Delena hall has been ceiled and painted inside, and with but little more work, will be complete in all departments.

Miss Atila Matthews closed a very successful five-months' term of school in the Lost creek district last Friday.

Several of our young folks have been well remembered this year, as is shown by the number of valentines we have seen.

Serious Accident.

While out driving a short time since, Miss Tinkham, of Gillton, Or., was thrown from her carriage and sustained a dislocation of her shoulder, which resisted all efforts of reduction. In this deformed condition she called on Dr. Darrin who soon reduced the dislocated member and restored her to perfect health. Read the appended letter from her mother:

Gillton, Or., Feb. 9, 1893.

Dr. Darrin:—Allow me to express my gratitude for the skillful operation of breaking up adhesions and reseting my daughter's shoulder. The operation resulted in a perfect cure. Thankfully yours, Mrs. D. F. Tinkham.

Free Treatment Continued.

Dr. Darrin, at 270½ Washington street, continues to give free treatment from 10 to 11 A. M. daily, and will until further notice, to all new cases. Those able and willing to pay will receive medical and electrical treatment at $5 a month, surgical and special diseases excepted. Hours, 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., 7 to 8 evenings. Sunday, 10 to 12.

Pneumonia.

At no time in the history of the country has pneumonia been so prevalent as during the winter months of the last two years. In times past a common cold was not considered at all serious, but of late years the great tendency of colds to result in pneumonia has made people apprehensive. The trouble is that colds are not always properly treated. No preparation containing opium, wild cherry or chloroform should be used, as they have a tendency to dry up a cold, whereas it should be loosened and the lungs relieved. It has been observed that when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the cold never results in pneumonia. The reason is that this remedy stimulates the mucous membrane which lines the throat and lungs, to a healthy action, causes a free expectoration, throwing off the poisonous matter, and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. How It Became Popular.

When people find an article much superior to anything of the kind they have ever before used, they are almost sure to tell their friends about it, and especially if they know of some friends needing such an article. Dealers also soon learn the true value of their goods, and when they have an article of unusual merit they will almost invariably mention the fact to their customers. This accounts in a great measure for the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remeby. Here is an instance: W. L. Needham, a prominent citizen and business man of Orrsburg, Mo., has been selling Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for several years and recommends it to his customers' because in his experience it has proven to be the best for colds, croup and whooping cough. He says it is the most popular medicine that he handles, and gives the best satisfaction. 50 cent bottles for sale by Edwin Ross.

From the Piney Woods.

Of the north to the Everglades of the South druggists are besieged by people with every shade of rheumatism, inquiring about Dr. Drummond's remedy. "Will it cure me?" And the druggist points to the fact that the Drummond Medicine Co. 48-50 Maiden Lane, New York, offer a reward of $500 for a case their remedy will not cure. That kind of answer is satisfying, and the sufferer planks down five dollars and goes home and is cured. Not only relieved but cured. Agents Wanted.
