Shaved While Asleep.

The Bath (Me.) Times says a young man visiting that city takes the prize for the queerest somnambulistic feat or record. He went to bed with the ides of arising early and shaving. In the night he found himself on the floor. The next morning he went to the looking glass and prepared to shave, when he discovered that his beard had been removed as clean and nice as a barber would have done it.

Thought They Were Friends.

A big leopard seal came up in the midst of a lot of bathers at Santa Bar bara, Cal., causing a good deal of alarm at first, as some thought the creature a shark or sea serpent. Some of the boys barked like a seal and the visitor seemed for a time to think it was among friends of its own kind and kept coming closer until finally, taking in the situation, it turned tail and fled out to sea again. One of the queerest musical instruments ever known, and perhaps the only one of its kind, has reached here from Greenville, east Tennessee. The queer instrument is a violin made from a gourd, and it is 39 years

The strangest, weirdest music that ever was heard comes from it. The tones are fine and soft and float on the air as from the land of spirits. James Anderson Tay-lor, governor of Tennessee, and uncle of the famous Taylor boys who fiddled their way through Tennessee during a recent gubernatorial campaign, used to play or it. He made music from the gourd fiddle at the reception to Andrew Johnson by the people of Greenville, his native town, just after he was made president of the United sequel States. He played the "Old Virginia Reel," the "Fishers Hornpipe" and many other things, and the president "boed it down" with everybody present and enjoyed it more than he could tell. is more than he could tell.

It Is Rather Slow Work Now Because Bear hunting as a rule, I do not think would appeal to most sportsmen. It is rather slow work, and one is often very inadequately rewarded for the amount of time and trouble spent in bunting up bruin. There is hardly a portion of the mountains where there are not evidences of bear, but I do not believe that in any locality they are especially abundant. They have been hunted and trapped so long that those who survive are extremely cautions. In my experience there is so animal gifted with a greater amount of intelligence, and, in this region, the bunter's chief virtue, patience to wait and stay in one spot, is sure to be rewarded sooner or later with a good shot. Let me say now that the danger and ferocity of the bear is, I think, very much overstated, yet there is just enough element of danger to make the pursuit of this animal exciting Naturalists do not now apparently recognize more than two varieties of bear in the Rocky mountains. That is, they class the cinnamon, silver tip and grizzly, as grizzly bear. The other variety, of course, is the black bear I am by no means sure that the grizzly bear will not be further subdivided after careful comparisons of col-

Much has been said and written about the size and weight of the grizzly bear, and in most instances this has been mere guess work. A good sized grizzly killed in Yellow stone park by Wilson, the government scout, weighed 600 pounds. Colonel Pickett, who has a neighboring ranch to mine and who has killed more bear than any man I know of, weighed his largest, which, if I remember rightly, weighed 800 pounds. - Archibald Rogers in Scrib-

Lowell as a Post. it may, indeed, be said that if as strongly poetic in nature as they, he would have been dominated as exclusively as were they by the poetic mood. However this may be, the quality of his genius, as shown in his best work, was, we believe, quite as fine as that of any poet writing English in his day. No one can read his last volume of verse without being impressed anew by the vigor, variety and spoutaneous character of Lowell's poetic gift. Even his literary faults are of such a nature as to testify to the keenness of his thought and the abundance of his intellectual equipment.-Century.

A Big Salmon Crop. This is a great year for big crops Now it is the saimon crop that exceeds anything in the history of the country Puget Sound is reported to be so filled with salmon, making their annual run to the sound shores and the fresh water streams for feeding and spawning, that the steamboats seem to be floating on a solid mass of fish. The paddles kill bundreds of them and are choked with their bodies. The sound steamer captains describe the run as an unbroken nusual size and the teeth in the skulls string of salmon thirty miles long, the water for that distance being fairly alive with them.

Neither the oldest inhabitants nor the aged Indians remember such a big salmon The result of the enormous run is a big reduction in prices. Usually good salmon sell for ten to twenty five cents apiece, but now at one cent each the market is giutted with the finest quality ago two casts of a seine netted over 3,000 fine salmon. HOW WE GROW OLD.

The thread that binds us to life is most frequently severed ere the meridian of life is reached in the case of persons who neglect obvious means to renew failing strength. Vigor, no less the source of happiness than the condition of long life, can be created and perpetuated where it does not exist. Thousands who have experienced or are cognitant—including many physicians of eminence—of the effects of Rostetter's Stomach Bitters bear testimony to its wondrous efficacy as a creator of strength in feeble conetitutions and dehilitated and shailered systems. A steady performance of the locally functions, renewed appetite, flesh and mightly repose attend the use of this thorough and standard renovant. Use no local tonic represented to be akin to or resemble it in effects in its place.
