St. Helens, August 18, 1893.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

All communications sent to THE MIST for publication must be accompanied by the author's real name and not a nom de plume alone. We do not want the same for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Correspondence without the writer's name accompanying will be consigned to the waste basket.

BRIEF MENTION.

The assessment roll of this county for 1893 will be completed next week.

Jake George, Andrew King and Wash. Muckle left Tuesday morning for a visit to Skamokawa and other points down the river.

A. N. Wright "the Iowa jeweler," 305 Morrison street, Portland, has one of the finest stocks of watches and jewelry in the city.

The steamer Iralda has been drawn off her route temporarily to receive some much needed repairs. The time of her return to the trade has not been announced.

Assessor Kyser and assistants are working early and late preparing the tax roll for the consideration of the board of equalization which meets on the 28th of this month.

On Tuesday last the Northern Pacific railroad went into the hands of three receivers. The action is the direct result of the panic which has decreased the earnings of the road and wrecked several banks upon which it depended for cash.

A general exodus to the mountains and seashore has been in order the past two weeks. A large number have gone into camp at Bunker hill and other mountain resorts, while not a few have preferred an outing at the beach and enjoying the pleasures of the seashore.

Hard telling just what congress will do about "silver" and the tariff. But the question is settled in St. Helens. Mr. Dolman has lowered the tariff on all kinds of merchandise, and will continue to take silver at its full stamped value, congress, or no congress.

Persons knowing their subscription to this paper to be in arrears will oblige us by sending a remittance to cover the same. It is the desire of the managers to get their books straightened up to date and as it is impossible to call upon each subscriber individually, we take this method of reminding delinquents that we would like to hear from them.

The city council has decided that the absolute safety of property from fire depends upon a liberal supply of water and good facilities for using it. Acting upon this very wise decision the city government has ordered six more stand-pipes put in at different points on the principal streets. The mains will also be extended in some places and more service pipes added to the number already in use.

The boys who thoughtlessly exploded a bomb at the door of the bank building Monday night should remember that in this dry windy weather there is great danger of fire and that it is not right to jeopardise their neighbor's property by such reckless pranks. The bamboo with which those bombs are wrapped is very combustable and often burns until it is entirely consumed after the explosion. Practical jokes seldom pay the joker and certainly would not have paid in this instance if they had not put themselves out of range of Jack Dunlap's rifle before he got to the door. Dont try such tricks again boys, they are risky and dangerous.

Complaint has been made by many of the teachers who attended the recent examination here that the examination was unreasonably severe, and color given their statements by the fact that nine out of seventeen who took the examination failed to get a certificate, which we believe is an unusual result, especially since it is remembered that all but two of the applicants were experienced teachers and nearly all of them graduated collegians. However, some very good showings were made by many who could not average, and failure to pass so severe an examination cannot be used as an argument against their ability to instruct in the ordinary branches taught in our public schools.

A gentleman who has just returned from a visit to the Toutle river country, in Washington, reports having seen some very rich gold mines in that vicinity. At a point sixty miles east of Toledo, on the Cowlitz river, several good locations have been made and miners to the number of one hundred are now at work on them developing and taking out what bullion they can with the primitive appliances at their command. One miner returned to Toledo last week with twenty dollars in dust which he had taken out of the rock with an ordinary hammer. It has long been thought that this country contained valuable mineral deposits, but not until the present season has it attracted more than usual attention. The country is also said to contain splendid coal deposits some of which are said to be genuine anthracite, but this is hardly creditable since that country is the result of volcanic action of comparatively recent date which fact would disprove the existance of heavy-weight coals. That country however, has also, immense timber resourses which at no distant date will prove a wonderful source of revenue to the state. This country is easily reached by steamer to Toledo, from which point a wagon road has been opened to within five miles of the new mining camp, where a trail is taken in to the mines.

Monday night about 1 o'clock two well known young men of this place decided to have some sport at the expense of Jack Dunlap and George Andrews, who room in the bank building, by creating the impression that burglars were blowing the big safe open. Accordingly they purchased the biggest Chinese bomb they could find and quietly approaching the front of the building where the safe stands they touched the bomb off and took to their heels. When it went off Jack and George were asleep but were rudely awakened from their slumbers by the ear splitting explosion and raising up in their bed they sat staring at each other in blank amazement evidently trying to discover by a disgustingly slow mental process whether the Monterey had come back to see us in charge of a hostile crew, or whether the free silver bill had passed congress and its friends were celebrating the event all same Fourth of July. At last George suggested in a faint whisper that possibly someone was trying to blow the safe open but Jack assured him that it was the new comet which came monkeying around too close to the Cascades and had knocked four townships off the top of Mount St. Helens and that they had tipped over on top of the new opera house and smashed the windows. But George persisted, and hastily arming themselves with a winchester, a pair of handcuffs and two savage looking revolvers they sallied fourth to gobble up the festive burglar. By the time they reached the front door their disturbers could be faintly seen fading away in the distance near the front entrence to the Oriental hotel. Jack tried to draw a bead with the winchester but it seemed to have suddenly got a violent attack of the jerks and kicked him in the nose several times before he could get its nerves quieted. George wanted to follow the fleeing burglars but Jack, in his hurry to get out of the room had neglected to put anything on except a collar button and a pair of sleeveless socks, and his extreme modesty forbid him appearing on the street even at the dead of night in such an airy costume. George was also in the last stages of nothing to wear so they decided to bar the door and light the lamp and take turns at sitting up till morning. Jack's turn to sit up came first and giving George a double dose of soothing syrup to quiet his nerves, he sat down in a big rocker and went to sleep before George did and dreamed that Evans and Sontag had captured the Charleston and Baltimore and had started out to help the king of Siam lick France but had made a mistake and got into the Columbia river.

Important to teachers

One important result to the teachers of this county, of the recent examination, was the correct understanding of the law governing the issuing of certificates. One or two teachers who applied for certificates here held certificates of the same or higher grade in other counties and were much disappointed to learn that they were not entitled to a certificate at all unless it was one of a higher grade than any they had previously held. This construction of the law by the examining board, caused no little dissatisfaction among the teachers, and to settle the matter the board wrote Supt. McElroy defining its action and asking his opinion. His reply has been received and confirms the decision of the board. The intent of the law is obvious. A teacher may steadily advance in his profession and under the law, is entitled first to the three lower grades, then a state diploma and finally a life diploma, after which he is not required to take the examinations. If, for example, a teacher holding a second grade certificate in Multnomah county should apply for and receive a like grade in this county, he would make no advancement in his calling, and could go on teaching indefinitely in this and other counties without either the schools or himself being in anywise benefitted by his experience. The object of this law, therefore, is to require steady progress and advancement of the teacher, and appears to be wise and equitable.

New Game laws.

At the late session of the state legislature several changes were made in the game laws with which the general public do not seem to be thoroughly acquainted. In order to rightly inform our readers regarding some of the existing laws we append a few paragraphs from the session laws of 1893:

Section 7—Every person who shall, within the state of Oregon, sell, exchange, or offer for sale or exchange, for money or anything of value, or shall take or kill for sale, or have in possession for sale or exchange, any grous, pheasant, quail, ringnecked or China pheasant, silver pheasant, golden pheasant, copper pheasant, green Japanese pheasant, quail or bob-white, Jacksnipe, or prarie chicken, shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided hereafter, provided, however, that it shall be lawful to sell or take, or kill for sale, any of these birds herein before enumerated during the period commencing October 15th of each year and ending November 15, of the same year, except as herein after provided in section twelve of this act.

Sec. 9—It shall be unlawful to sell, or offer for sale, or have in possession for sale, within the state of Oregon, except during the months of November or December of each year, any of the various kinds of wild ducks, Geese, or swan.

Sec. 10—It shall be unlawful to sell, or offer for sale, or have in possession for sale, within the state of Oregon, except during the months of September and October of each year, any of the various kinds of trout.

Sec. one of an act approved Feb. 21, 1891, is ammended to read as follows: It shall be unlawful, within the state of Oregon, to kill or destroy any prairie chicken, ringnecked Mongolian pheasant, or any of the various kinds of pheasant imported into this state, or any quail, bob-white, or pheasant in that part of the state lying east of the Cascade mountains, except during the month of July, August and September of each year.

Persons found guilty of violating these laws will be subject to a fine of not less than fifteen nor more than one hundred dollars, in default of which they shall be confined in the county jail one day for each two dollars thereof.

One half the fines collected shall be paid to the informer.

Justices of the peace shall have concurent jurisdiction in offences herewith defined.

Bank Failures.

The record given herewith shows that forty-three national banks suspended payments temporarily or permanently, during the first half of the year, owing, as nearly as could be ascertained, about $23,106,000, and reporting $23,429,000 assets. The number of state banks similarly situated was seventy-two, with $15,865,000 liabilities and $14,599,000 assets; saving banks twenty, with $6,170,000 liabilities and $6462,000 assets; loan and trust companies four, with $12,765,000 debts and $5,850,000 assets. Eighty private banks and bankers with liabilities amounting to $9,383,000 and assets to $8,038,000. There were also five mortage loan and investment companies reported embarrassed, with $1,090,000 of debts and $420,000 assets, while eight brokers in securities were forced to suspend, owing $1,603,000 and having assets of $692,000.—Bradstreets.

DEER ISLAND.

Roads dry and dusty.

Quite a pleasant shower last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. English are rusticating at the seaside for a couple of weeks.

Miss Matty Bumgardner is spending the summer at Long beach in company with some Portland friends.

Mrs. A. Mott arrived from Iowa last week and will make this place her home with her husband in the future. The Mott family is a welcome addition to our town.

W. D. McKinnon and family intends to leave for Kansas soon. We regret to loose such a family, as they are very desirable in any community.

Muckle Bros. started the harvester last Monday. They have also a fine field of peas which they are reaping at present.

Horgren Bros. sawmill on the Clatskanie river is running with orders way ahead.

Rainier's sawmill on the Clatskanie river, is running at present.

W. D. Connell commenced haying last week.

We took a trip to the head of Oak Ranch creek a few days ago. The country is quite broken but well watered, and heavily timbere with red, white and yellow fir, cedar, hemlock, maple and alder. The cedar, maple and alder is quite valuable and can be handled at a profit even at such a long haul. The hemlock does not grow to much size and all the value it has is its bark which is used for tanning leather, but none of this has yet been shipped. At present considerable cedar is sawed on the Clatskanie river about nine miles west of here, and hauled out to the railroad for the Portland market, but the dullness of the market at present makes it not very profitable. But speaking of valuable timber, the red and yellow fir of this region will make some man's pocket bulge out with wealth. We could not help but compare the elephantine size, the lady-like form (such a long waist, you know) of those trees, to the timber we have seen used in some of the middle and eastern states, and also those of the marine provinces of Canada. There, trees are used and sawed into lumber that only makes one log twelve feet long and eight inches in diameter at the top, and even smaller, while here a tree of that size would only be used as a handspike. The average size is about fifty inches in diameter and we are satisfied that a great majority of them are 200 feet without a limb and thirty inches in diameter. The soil is of a good quality for agricultural purposes, and we are shown what wheat, barley and other cereals will do equal to any up land, and some of it classes well with the lowlands. Vegetables seem to take well with the ground, and gardens are so well advanced as they are anywhere. All kinds of crops are an average. The settlers are a thrifty class of people, and from about all nations of the globe, with the exception of China, who "need not apply."

REUBEN.

The county bridge is complete and once more ready for travel.

J. J. Jordon is building a large barn and also has the foundation of a new house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bradley are entertaining a stranger at their home. They say it is a girl.

Miss Berrie Archibald is visiting Mrs. Martha Fowler.

Miss Grace Archibald has returned home from Popejoy's, on Scappoose, where she has been at work.

A very destructive forest fire is raging in the timber back of Reuben.

William Belner and wife are running the Burnette house at Goble.

Who is the conple that saw the Welch rabbit back of Neer City one evening last week.

Mr. Plummer is building a new residence.

Paul Raupach is hauling lumber for the bridge on the Goble road.

Mrs. Foster and Miss Berrie Archibald left for Clatskanie to be gone a few days.

A Good Hand.

"I used to be fond of poker" he said, and the expression on his face became retrospective, "but sense I got four aces downed out in Missoury I hev sorter gin up playin' the game."

"Your opponent had a straight flush, did he?"

"No, he had five jacks."

"That's impossible."

"Stranger hev you ever played poker in Missoury?"

"No sir."

"Well, if you ever set down in a game out there, and a red-eyed man, whose clothes smell of cattle, quietly whittles a corner off the table with a bowie knife, and allows that he hez five jacks, just bunch yer kiards in the pack and say, 'That's good.'"

Mrs. G. T. Fitzgerald, of Los Angeles, Cal., passed through this place Tuesday on her way to Portland, after a brief visit with friends near Vernonia.

MAINEVILLE.

C. L. Brown returned Saturday from Rainier, and is now driving team for F. Brown.

C. C. Moyer's family moved to their claim in Carrico Monday.

A Baptist church of 13 members was organized at this place Saturday.

Mr. Oberlin of East Portland and Mrs. and Miss Meeker of Houlton were here Sunday.

Mrs. H. A. Coliss and Miss Percie Briggs went to the camp meeting in Vernonia Thursday last, returning Monday.

Master Wilber Muckle and a young friend, from St. Helens, were here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Newell, of St. Helens, were here Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Faxon, of Columbia City, was here Monday.

PERIS.

We had a good shower of rain Sunday. It was much needed by the growing crops.

C. C. Moyer and family moved up on their ranch Monday, from Howar's mill, where Mr. Moyer has been employed as a sawyer in the timber.

Mr. Sourwine and son paid St. Helens a visit Monday.

There are some berry pickers camped on Spring creek, but we fear they will not get many berries as that fruit is not so plentiful there as last year.

We learn that two St. Helens gentlemen were out looking at the country in Carrico Sunday, stopping with B. F. Pope for dinner.

Thomas Muckle is doing a splendid job of slashing on the Milton creek bottom for R. Cox.

We learn there are two ladies from Portland coming out to pay Mrs. Sourwine a visit soon.

Of Interest to Mothers.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Pensylvania, in the treatment of diarhea in her children will undoubtly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent severl weeks in Jonstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had severl children with us, two of whom took the diarrhea very badly. I got some of Chamberland's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy from Rev Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recomend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Edwin Ross.
