A RECENT decision by Judge Shattuck, in the settlement of the Northwest Loan & Trust Company's affairs, by which certain contractors are made preferred creditors, is a rank injustice to the depositors in that institution. The decision referred to authorizes the bank to issue ten receiver's certificates payable on or before April 1, 1894, and bearing 6 per cent interest. These certificates, aggregating $14,269.71, are to liquidate claims of contractors for work on the company's vaults in the chamber of commerce building and to complete the same, together with $500 attorney's fees, all of which comes out of money that belongs to depositors and which should be paid them in preference to other creditors. It seems however, that depositors in the rotten banking institutions of Portland are the last to receive any consideration at the hands of the banks although they are the only real sufferers and should receive their pro rata out of the bank's assets as fast as such assets are converted. It is to be regretted that Judge Shattuck should allow such an order to be railroaded through his court and receive his sanction without according creditors of the bank a hearing or permitting them an opportunity to protest against such rank injustice. It would seem from these proceedings that a man had better stand in any other position with a Portland bank than in the light of a depositor.

COLUMBIA county's apportionment of school money for the coming year is entirely inadequate to the requirements of the county and will come far short of supplying the treasury with sufficient funds to conduct the schools through another year. Divided equally, among the fifty-two districts the amount allowed us by the state treasurer will give each one about $26.50, which in some districts will supply the necessary funds for about three weeks' school. This, also, is a result of the "change" for which the people prayed, yelled and voted. However, we have been given as much as other counties in proportion to the number of pupils, and can only regret circumstances which make it impossible for people to pay the interest on state money, thus crippling a fund which is the most important that they receive out of the state money. Last year the apportionment was over four thousand dollars which was barely enough to meet expenses of the county schools. It is, therefore, painfully evident that unless some other resource is discovered the county must either go in debt or do without schools.

The much boasted and wonderful "conservatism" of Portland bankers doesn't seem to stand inspection very well. At least the more it is stirred the worse it smells and the recent panic has had the good effect of showing the real innate rottenness of the alleged banks, and the perfidy and cupidity of some of the bankers who have hitherto stood high in the estimation of the people as men of resources and integrity. The thorough airing which the Portland institutions are receiving as a result of panic, will have the effect of ventilating certain shady operations which the "conservative" bankers of that town would prefer not to see in print. "There is no great loss without some small gain," and while the loss to many, by reason of the rotten methods of many Portland bankers, has been great, the gain will be in the shape of enlightenment regarding the "conservative" business methods practiced by certain Portland bankers.

By the killing of Lieut. Nelson the Oregon National Guard has demonstrated the fact that it might possibly be able to damage an enemy if one should appear upon our borders. The unquestioned knowledge of this fact is worth something to the people of the state and in a measure mollifies the sorrow which should be felt at the useless sacrifice of a promising young citizen and able soldier. A great warrior once said to his generals "if we have comelets we must break a few eggs." General Compton is evidently of the same opinion and hungry for the omelets.

SECRETARY CARLELE has ordered that all the gold bullion in the treasury be minted in coins of the denominations of $10, $5 and $2.50. The treasury department possesses about $90,000,000.00 of gold bullion which cannot be used as currency, so it has been decided to mint the mints and start them running at their fullest capacity in order to coin the gold and get it into circulation. The coinage capacity of the two mints is about $8,000,000.00 per month.

NO FREE SILVER.

The Wilson Bill Passed Without an Amendment.

The last act in the great silver drama, which has attracted the undivided attention of the civilized world, was produced in the house of representatives Thursday afternoon, and as the actors withdrew from sight so also vanished the last hopes of the advocates of bimetallism and the unrestricted coinage of the white metal. Promptly at noon the speaker commanded order and the different silver bills were considered. The resolution contained in the order of procedure on the silver question was reported, providing for a vote first upon the free coinage of silver at the present ratio of 16 to 1. Bailey, of Texas, asked if, in the event of all amendments included in the order being defeated, it would be in order to offer to propose an additional amendment germane to the subject. The speaker replied that as at present advised he would answer no; that the order provides exhaustively all that the house may consider, but when the time came to consider the question the gentleman from Texas might be heard. McMillan desired to offer an amendment providing for free coinage of the product of American silver mines, but Bland objected, saying that such a proposition was no free coinage at all. Then the Wilson bill, repealing the silver-purchase clause of the Sherman act, was read, and Bland offered his first amendment for free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, which was defeated by a vote of 123 to 226, amid great applause from the anti-silver men who did not expect so large a majority.

Uncompromising silver men then offered a 17 to 1 ratio amendment which was defeated 100 to 140. On this vote, besides the loss of the populist votes, members of the party withholding votes, there were several negative votes from those who voted in favor of a ratio of 16 to 1. An 18 to 1 amendment was defeated, 105 to 237. The third and last ratio amendment of 20 to 1 was then offered and killed by a vote of 119 to 222. This amendment to re-enact the Bland-Allison act was defeated—136 to 213. The Wilson repeal bill was then passed—yes 239, no 110. This practically settles the fate of silver, although the bill has not been acted upon by the senate. That body, however, may delay action on the bill but will hardly dare to refuse its passage, coming as it does from such a crushing defeat in the house, which action is backed up by unmistakable public sentiment. The value of the $600,000,000 of silver now in circulation will not be affected by this legislation, and will not only continue to circulate but will receive additions from the bullion now stored in the treasury which will be minted for circulation as fast as it is needed.

CLATSkanie.

Public school commences next Monday.

W. A. Wood was a visitor on our streets the first of the week.

E. W. Conyers and son W. E. left on Monday night for a trip up the river.

Mrs. Fred Bratney and family started Monday night for visit to friends, east.

Harold Stevenson and wife in the city Tuesday evening waiting for the steamer to take a trip to Portland.

Notices posted in town invite bids for the erection of a bridge across the Clatskanie river near O. J. Bryant's residence.

Mrs. Vanisher and son, who have been visiting her sister, Frank Merrill, left this week for their home in Woodland, Washington.

We noticed Mrs. A. F. Myres and son John, followed soon after by Miss Cora Bryant and a party of other young people, going out last Monday morning in the direction of the Sebalds, and we learned they were headed for the Rock creek country to see the big trees that grow out there.

Quite a little stir was created Tuesday afternoon by a trial of fact riding through the streets, held in the court of the city recorder. The offender being given the option of paying a small fine or five days' imprisonment, the latter and went into retirement much to the surprise of the citizens, generally.

The steamer did not reach our city Monday evening owing to low tide, but a small boat served to transfer passengers between where the boat was held and the city, some time in the night. By the way, the citizens miss the daylight arrival of the steamer, and have no more occasion to either stay at the landing at 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon to see who comes to the city. Very scarcely now, anything draws a crowd in the afternoon except the arrival of the mail.

On Saturday evening last, W. J. Webber, residing on the ridge between Beaver and Clatskanie, had the misfortune to have fire destroy his home and considerable of the contents destroyed by fire. Fire was first discovered about the five by Mrs. Webber, while preparing supper, and she gave the alarm to her husband and boy, who were at work some distance from the house. Mr. Webber used water from a well at hand, checking the fire somewhat, which gained such headway, however, before another supply of water could be had from the spring that he failed to get it under control. What was saved was done through the combined efforts of his wife and mother, while he was fighting the fire. Both of Mr. Webber's hands were quite badly burned in an effort to get some things that were carried outside, off to a safer distance. The loss is quite severe, but was partly covered by insurance in the State of Salem, for $600, part of which was on the house and part on the furniture. The family now occupies the Moore house.

In Childhood's Happy Days.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that cured her of cough, and in turn administered it to her offspring and always with the best results. A Good Thing to Keep at Hand.

Some years ago we were very much subject to severe spells of cholera morbus, and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually precede that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhea, etc., we become weary. We have found Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhea Remedy the very thing to straighten one out in such cases, and always keep it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house.—Troy, Kan., Chief. For sale by Edwin Ross.

Cholera Again Epidemic.

A dispatch to the New York Herald from Valparaiso, says: The steamer Coris is on the Atlantic ocean, bound for Rio de Janeiro, and has a record of 105 deaths on her trip across the sea. The dispatch says the ship arrived in Rio Janeiro August 29 from the Grand Island canal, and that 105 persons on board had died of cholera on the way over. When the ship got into the harbor and made her report she was refused permission to land or even put her passengers and crew in quarantine. She was escorted out of the harbor by the warship Republica, and ordered not to land at any Brazilian port. Ad- vices from Austria and Hungary indicate that cholera is again raging in those countries and is of an unusually violent type. It will cause heavy ravages and result in great loss of life. At Naples, France, twenty-five new cases are reported daily, fifty per cent of which prove fatal. Wednesday, a woman was taken to a hospital at Jersey City suffering from what is said to be genuine Asiatic cholera.
