body asking him why 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion were not purchased during July and Angust as required by law. The reply says, as the United States is the largest purchaser of silver in the world, the Secretary of the Treasury after an examination of the offers and quotations each day should determine what in his judgment is a fair price. He either has to purchase 4,500,000 ounces at the dealers' prices, no matter how unreasonable or exorbitant, or he must employ such means as are at his command to ascertain the actual market price. to ascertain the actual market price. The Foreign Affairs Committee has decided to report favorably the McCreary's substitute for the Everett bill. As agreed on, it extends the Chinese registration period six months from the passage of the act. It strikes out the word "white" from the Geary act so as to permit the testimony of anybody except Chinamen are entitled to register." It defines a Chinese laborer. Geary offered his amendment requiring photographing in connection with the identification clause, but only secured three votes in its support. The majority deemed the regulations of the Treasury Department sufficient. Geary cast the only adverse vote. He declares the bill's teeth are drawn, that it is a makeshift in keeping with the course of the administration, and that he will fight it tooth and nail.
