OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY

SIDEHEAD PARAGRAPHS.

SPRING.—The cottonwood timber on the bottom lands, opposite this city, is assuming its summer robe of leaves very rapidly, bearing out evidences of what we have all been longing for—gentle spring.

WITH THE ANGLERS.—Local nimrods have been afforded great sport for the past ten days. Salmon trout have been running well, and nearly every man, woman, and child in and around St. Helens have spent a good part of their time fishing. Some fine specimens of the finny tribe have been taken from the river, and the run seems to be as large now as it first.

DRAWING NEAR.—We wish to call the attention of the public to the fact that there are but a few days left in which to pay taxes before the same become delinquent. The court very generously granted an extension of time for you to meet your obligations, and if you fail to liquidate by the date set, it is very probable that there will not be such a degree of leniency manifest as has previously been the case.

TAKE A BRACE.—There are said to be several populist Achilles sulking in their tents in this county, not because of the rape of their dearly beloved Briseis, but because they, themselves, have felt the keen sting of Paris' arrow in their own heels. Gentlemen, brace up; death may not be so near at hand as you imagine; but, even if so, why should you fear to cross the Stygian pool? Better men have braved those dark waters before you, and better men will meet the same fate after you are gone "Where the woodbine twineth and the 'whangdoodle' mourneth its first born."

FALLING INTO LINE.—Once more the general merchandise firm of Dart & Muckle, after their severe loss by fire some time since, is in shape to supply the trade with groceries and provisions, and quite every article carried in a general merchandise house, for that matter. The old saying that "What's one man's loss is another's gain" has proven true, to an extent, in this case, because the shelves in this store are now filled with new, fresh goods. The building has been repaired and painted, and the premises, generally, have received a complete overhauling and repairing. Their stock is not altogether complete as yet, for it is the intention of the firm to carry a complete stock of dry goods, boots, shoes, clothing, etc., which will be on hand as soon as they can make preparations to receive it, but their stock of groceries is complete and fresh.

THERE'S VIRTUE IN IT.—Who can doubt the truthfulness of the statement that there is virtue in printer's ink? Last week, John Swager, of this place, had inserted in the columns of this paper, a two-line local, stating that he had a shingle-mill for sale, and in less than three days he received a number of letters of inquiry, and the result is that Mr. Swager disposed of his mill property in less than a week. The mill was sold to R. A. Giggey & Co., who will move it to C. F. Langfeldt's place, near Clatskanie, and there vigorously prosecute the work of manufacturing shingles. The mill in question has been operated in the vicinity of Houlton for several years and has at all times proved a lucrative business. With the assurance that shingles will be in good demand this season, Messrs. Giggy & Co. undoubtedly have made a wise purchase.

IN THE FIELD.—The hall at Mayger was crowded to repletion last Saturday evening to listen to an address by Prof. Cleeton upon the political issues of the day. The Rainier republican club chartered the steamer Iralda, and a delegation of about fifty members, including a goodly number of ladies and people from other places, swelled the throng. The professor touched the live theme of the populists—the money question—notwithstanding his evident desire to deal conservatively and fairly towards all parties. A deluge of interrogations were fired in upon him from various quarters, all of which he easily disposed of with the utmost composure. His review and disposition of that wonderful sixty millions of demand notes, which have been such a tower of defense to the pops, was complete and exhaustive, and the inconsistent attitude into which they were continually drawn only made more clearly striking, their absolute want of competent leadership. His apparent ease, coupled with his fervent earnestness, caused the two and one half hours which he spoke to slip away almost before one was aware.

PORTLAND'S CLOTHING ESTABLISHMENT.—A MIST representative, on a recent visit to Portland, had occasion to visit the new store of the well-known firm of J. M. Moyer & Co., where we met a very agreeable surprise in the way of enlargement and improvement. The new store is located on the southwest corner of Third and Oak streets, where is to be seen the largest, best displayed, and most complete stock of men's and boys' clothing and furnishings in the city of Portland. An important fact in connection with this old and reliable establishment is that of the manufacture of the goods which are handled by it, all of which are cut and sewed withunder the same roof. Messrs. Moyer & Co. have been at heavy expense to arrange for the manufacture of the goods they handle, and it should be a pleasure to Oregonians to point with pride to the fact that they are wearing clothing made of Oregon grown wool, made up at home. There is also a wholesale business conducted by the firm, which enables them to supply the custom trade of tailors throughout the northwest in goods not made up. THE MIST cheerfully recommends this clothing house to the Columbia county trade, as well as feels safe in asserting that one visit to their establishment will convince you that J. M. Moyer & Co's. is the place to do your trading.

REINSTATED.—To the readers of THE MIST and patrons of the St. Helens drug store, we wish to say that Edwin Ross, the proprietor of the latter place of business, having completed his course of study at the Medical University of Oregon, has returned to this place and again assumed charge of the drug store. Dr. Ross, besides being a graduate of medicine, is a thorough druggist; and furthermore, and more important than either, is the fact that Dr. Ross was graduated from the Oregon college of pharmacy four years ago, which enables him to prepare his own drugs, a fact which offers sufficient proof that the drugs purchased from his place of business can be depended upon to be fresh and pure. Mr. Ross will hereafter attend to his drug business personally, and to his patrons we wish to say that his past courteous treatment to the public recommends him for your future patronage. His stock will be greatly enlarged, and it will be the doctor's aim to carry every article which could be secured at a larger establishment. His place of business is a necessary and permanent fixture and one which the people of St. Helens and vicinity will endeavor to maintain by their constant patronage, instead of sending to Portland for necessaries which can be secured at home. Besides the complete stock of drugs, there can always be found a variety of stationery and school books, to which we direct the attention of intending purchasers. The doctor has located with us with the intention of making this his home, and will practice his profession, gladly answering all calls for medical assistance.

AN IRREPARABLE LOSS.—At an early hour Tuesday morning the news was heralded from one part of our town to the other of the untimely demise of Old Major, Thomas Cooper's dog. Maj. was an old and respected citizen of this place, having taken up his abode here some time since the flood. Little can be said of Major's life for the past forty years because of his unfortunate deafness, dumbness, and blindness, but those who knew him prior to that time speak in glowing terms of his many heroic traits in his endeavors to protect and assist those who first inhabited the shore of the Columbia where now stands the beautiful city of St. Helens. We have been told that Major was at one time an active politician in this county, but his retirement from public life caused him nearly to be forgotten. It is our earnest hope that when Major lands in dog heaven he will not be compelled to live on the carcases of Indians, as he did for several years after he was landed here off the Mayflower. His death was not a surprise, as our informant tells us that some of Major's friends had been after him to join the populists, but when he read their platform he—dropped dead.

IN NEW QUARTERS.—The well-known firm of Sweetland & Sheldon, butchers, has removed its quarters to their new building on Strand street, opposite the Banquet saloon, where they have erected a large and handsome building particularly for their own convenience in conducting their business, and where they will carry on hand, at all times, the best variety of meats obtainable. Messrs. Sweetland & Sheldon will constantly keep on hand fresh fish and vegetables of all varieties, having made special preparation for conducting this line of their trade, and we feel it our duty to say that their efforts will not be fruitless, for such an establishment has long been one crying need of our little town. Every improvement of any nature should be encouraged by the public's patronage, not only because they add to our commercial importance, but because they are the efforts of our own people, as both the gentlemen have made this their home for several years, and expect to continue their buiness here permanently.

ROUSING MEETING.—The Rainier correspondent for the Cathlamett Gazette says there was a rousing meeting of the populist club in that town recently, and that the populists of Rainier feel very confident of success in the June election. We are not surprised at the statement, since we read the whole item, wherein we learn that there were eight republicans, three democrats, and one populist present. The success anticipated, no doubt, was a successful defeat, and we urge our populist friends to get the sauce in readiness so that there will be no time lost in swallowing the bitter pill of disappointment. It also shows a generous spirit on the part of republicans to attend the populist club meetings so that the chairman will not be compelled to call a vacant house to order.

GOES UP THE BAY.—Hereafter the popular steamer Kehani will make two trips each week up Scappoose bay as far as Fullerton's landing—on Tuesdays and Fridays—and will touch at that landing on her down trip on the same days. The steamer will leave this place forty-five minutes earlier on those two mornings. This will undoubtedly prove of great convenience to the people living on the bay, as heretofore they have been compelled to cross from Warren to Copeland's landing, on the slough, in small boats, and convey their freight in the same manner. Under the Kehani's present schedule they will be afforded opportunity to do their shipping from almost their dooryards, and each resident up there should see that this steamer has their undivided patronage.

PROBABLY MISLED.—Gus H Bynon, editor of a new paper at Westport, the Clatsop County News, in the last issue, speaking of Columbia county politics, says that W. A. Wood is the populist nominee for representative. We wish to correct you, Gus, Mr. Wood is not a candidate for representative, but is out for county clerk. Mr. Wood chased that office down two years ago, but failed to run fast enough to get there, so he very wisely declined the nomination when it was presented to him at the Rainier convention. M. Davidson, of Rock creek, Nehalem, is the aspirant to that office, but with Thomas J. Cleeton out against him it is safe to say that Mr. Davidson will also meet with defeat.

See in another column what the sheriff has to say, under the head of "Taxpayers, Notice!"

PERSONAL AND LOCAL.

Judge Blanchard was in town on Tuesday.

J. J. Braim, of Rainier, was in our city yesterday.

Wash Muckle returned Tuesday from a ten-days' trip to his ranch near Skamokawa.

Local fishermen report a fair run of fish for the past few days with indications of an increase.

H. Soderstorm, of Delena, is now at Astoria where he will gill the festive salmon for the next three months.

Emery Mills, editor of the Nehalem Journal, was doing business in this for a day or two during the week.

J. B. Godfrey and I. G. Wikstrom were passengers down from Portland on the Dixon Wednesday evening.

Quite a number of republicans from this place attended the populist speaking at Gillton last Wednesday night.

Robert and Mrs. McNutt, of Vernonia, who had been spending several days in this place, returned home, Friday.

Will Miles, who has been spending a number of weeks at Silverton, returned to this place Monday of this week.

Edwin L. Hand, of Portland, administrator of the John Ivey estate, was in town Tuesday in the interest of the estate of the deceased.

Call on Thomas Cooper, at his new saloon, when you are wanting refreshments. Wines, liquors, and cigars in great quantity and excellent quality.

Last Friday's constant downpour of rain was unprecidented. It was the big day, however, according to the Missouri weather prophet, and for once he hit it correctly.

Captain Henderson, the St. Helens-Houlton mailcarrier, our readers will be displeased to learn, is rather seriously indisposed. We did not learn the nature of his illness.

W. H. Dolman, one of our merchants, left for California last Friday to be absent for three weeks or a month. While there Mr. Dolman will visit San Jose and other places in that state.

Yesterday morning's bright, clear sunrise had an invigorating effect upon the farming element, and incorporated in the spirits of everybody a more lively business disposition.

Captain Lamont, too well known for comment, was a caller at this office last week. The captain had not been out of the house since some time in September last, but the pleasant weather had a charm which he could not resist.

Hon. Geo. W. McBride, who has been confined to his room at his sister's residence in this place, is slowly recovering from his recent sickness. Mr. McBride is still in his bed, not having been able to dress since his arrival here some weeks since.

The Columbia county delegates to the state convention returned from Portland last Friday, all in good spirits, and feeling that they were, to a degree, those who had placed before the people of this state such a creditable state ticket. It was rightfully asserted that the recent convention had did its work more wisely than any for a number of years past.

Messrs. Thos. Cooper, W. B. Dillard and S. A. Miles were passengers down to Astoria Monday on the Telephone, to be in attendance at the state democratic convention which convened there The gentlemen report a large and enthusiastic gathering of the democracy of this state, and speak in glowing terms of the hospitality of the people of Astoria. Oregon democrats were given a hearty reception, and each one left Astoria with the feeling that the people of that town had done their share of the work of nominating a state ticket.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to offer my sincere thanks to the masons who conducted the funeral services of my late husband, and to all friends who attended that last sad rite. Their kindness and sympathy, I will ever bear in tender remembrance. MRS. MARY J. POMEROY.

Married.

The marriage of Miss Maud L. Massie to Mr. W. A. Young took place at 11 o'clock a. m., yesterday, at the residence of the bride's mother in this city, Rev. Moore, of Clatskanie, officiating. The bride is the eldest daughter of ex-Sheriff Massie, and is well and most favorably known in St. Helens and throughout the county, while the groom is one of the leading school teachers of this county, having only recently closed a successful term of school at this place. The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short visit to Portland. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Young will reside temporarily at Gillton, where Mr. Young is at present teaching a term of school.

State Democratic Convention.

The democratic convention, which was held at Astoria Tuesday, placed the following state ticket in the field; and democrats, generally, feel that they have done their work well, and selected the very best material from out of their ranks:

Wm. Galloway, of Yamhill county, received the nomination for governor.

J. K. Weatherford, of Linn county, for congressman, first district.

Jas. H. Raley, of Umatilla county, for congressman, second district.

Chas. Nickell, of Jackson county, editor of the Jacksonville Democratic Times, received the nomination for state secretary.

Thos. L. Davidson, of Marion county, was nominated for state treasurer.

W. H. Holmes, of Marion county, for attorney-general.

Prof. D. V. S. Reed, of Lane county, was nominated for superintendent of public instruction.

A. S. Bennett, of Wasco county, was the choice of the convention for judge of the supreme court.

For state printer, Capt. John O'Brien, of Multnomah county.

Mayger.

Mr. Wright, THE MIST representative, is still with us.

We had preaching and Sabbath school last Sunday.

Our esteemed lady friend, Mrs. C. W. Mayger, says she is a democrat but cannot vote.

The Mayger Co. will soon commence seining the river for fish. That is, just as soon as they can get their net in readiness.

There was a grand republican rally at this place last Saturday night, the speaker of the evening being Hon. T. J. Cleeton, of Clatskanie. His speech will long be remembered by the populists of Mayger. During his discourse he was frequently interrupted by the poppies, especially one of their shining lights, but they soon had to own up that they did not want greenbacks unless they were backed by gold.

Peris.

R. H. Bailey has been sowing spring wheat.

L. E. Bailey spent Sunday with Fred and Charley Hendricks.

Wheat and grass looks splendid, considering the cold weather.

S. Rock has been busily engaged for the past week sowing his spring wheat.

D. H. Pope was quite sick with a severe cold last Sunday and Monday.

We understand Thomas Holstein and wife will soon move to their ranch on Milton creek.

School commenced at the Briggs schoolhouse on Monday last with Mr. Faxon as teacher.

Robert Frye and wife enjoyed a pleasant visit at the home of R. H. Bailey and wife last Sunday.

We understand the district school at Peris will commence the 1st of June. We did not learn the instructor's name.

Jesse Hendricks, jr., and Sherman Vosberg have been building a road on Milton creek bottom for E. E. Quick, of St. Helens.

Scappoose.

Preaching at the church next Sunday.

J. P. Walker is fishing on the Columbia river.

J. D. McKay opened the saloon here last Saturday.

Planting is going ahead in spite of the backward weather.

Miss Ada De Graff began a term of school in district No. 9 last week.

Some miscreant opened up the schoolhouse Sunday night, and took what loose articles they needed.

W. T. White is up for a few days' visit, and reports work suspended on the government jetty at Fort Stephens.

The library club is making a good start. There are over thirty volumes already in stock and many more in sight.

Ole Brinon is back from a trip to Oklahoma, and says it is a great country, but will stay in Oregon just the same.

There was a wedding at this place last week with Ed Cline and Miss M. Eversole as the contracting parties, Justice Holaday officiating.

A steam shovel and two trains are at work at McKay's pit, taking out gravel to fill in all the trestles on this side of the Columbia river.

A carload of potatoes were shipped from here last week. The price realized does not justify the holding over of potatoes for the spring sales.

A meeting is called at the church on Sunday next to organize a Sunday school. All having the interest of their children at heart are invited to come.

The board of directors in school district No. 1 have put in an order for thirty-six patent desks for the schoolhouse. This is a wise move, and will add much to the comfort and attractiveness of the schoolroom.

Weather-Crop Bulletin.

For the week ending Tuesday, April 18th, 1894:

WESTERN OREGON.

Weather—The temperature was a good deal cooler than the normal. The daily deficiency was about seven degrees. The average precipitation occurred except in the northern coast districts where it was excessive. Some damaging frosts occurred. The sunshine was deficient. Showery threatening weather prevailed.

Crops—The weather conditions were unfavorable to the advancement of crops in the coast counties; also in the northern Willamette valley counties. A frost that injured fruit bloom occurred in Clackamas county on the 10th, and another less destructive occurred on the morning of the 7th in Benton county. The rain which occurred was not desired, except in the southern counties, where they were looked upon with favor. All fruit trees are blooming, except the apple and pear, on the higher elevations. Peach and cherry bloom was injured by the frost; all other trees are reported uninjured. Seeding spring grain continued, notwithstanding the rain. Fall wheat, on high ground, continues its vigorous growth and healthy color. Wheat on low lands, not having recovered from the effects of the recent excessive rains, made slow progress last week. The acreage of fall grain is about the average, and, with favorable conditions, the average acreage of spring grain will be sown. The barley crop is growing nicely. Hops are making a vigorous growth; the acreage has been greatly increased. Garden work was delayed last week owing to too much rain. Cattle and sheep are in good coudition; there is sufficient grass for their support. The prospects are still good for the grain and fruit crop.

Notice.

The undersigned will be in this place every Friday with his patent saw-gumming machine, and is prepared to gum and file saws. Leave your saws at the blacksmith shop.
