

A FORLORN HOPE.

If Penneyer expects to get to congress as senator from this state and do so by the tactics which he is at present following, he is simply leading a forlorn hope and destined to meet with a signal failure. He is making the mistake so fatal to all cynics—that of pompously overestimating himself and cynically underrating the people, wholly ignoring the fact that he has to deal with an intelligent constituency and a people who are, in many cases, much slier to define the interests of the state than the governor has shown himself capable of doing. This man is a traitor to the state, a traitor to the people, himself and everything he ought, for the sake of common gratitude, to be faithful to. He first deserted the party that put him in office and in doing so brought contempt and ridicule upon the state by his unbecomingly and outrageous conduct as its chief executive; by reason of such inconstancy he has been untrue to the people he represents, or, more properly, misrepresents, and who are for a season, at his mercy. He is now trying to further deceive the people into giving him a better opportunity to misrepresent them by sending him to congress, to which end he is using all the influence of his office to further his personal ambitions, regardless of the means necessary to that end or the evil results which his ascendancy would entail. He is willing to sacrifice all principles for votes, and if elected, would be just as ready to sacrifice the people for personal aggrandizement as he had formerly been to make them the price of political preferment. His position to the people of Oregon today is that of the sutor in the nonentity. He is at once a cynic, a demagogue, a crank and a traitor, destitute of gratitude as well as sense, and having only selfish motives to offer in extension of his peculiar conduct. That Penneyer has no principle is emphasized by the tone of his campaign speeches. He apostrophizes the party to which he has played traitor, and in the same breath he denounces the republican party for advocating principles which he honestly knows are the best for the people. Such fallacies as this man advocates could have their inception only in the heart of a man who is a walking encyclopedia of inconsistency, a bundle of contradictions and an ingrate. The people have had quite enough of Penneyerism and will relegate him to the oblivion from which he so unfortunately dragged a few years ago, and where, if he is ever again remembered, it will be with regret for harm he has done the state and a sense of shame for his glaring incompetency as its political figurehead.

THEY EVADE THE TRUTH.

Our populist politicians, in their attempt to deceive innocent voters and create an impression that they are still being robbed by the "great crime" (demonization) of 1873, in which act the coinage of the silver dollar was suspended for four years, willfully and maliciously evade the true facts in connection therewith. In their assertions they undertake to make people believe that the Sherman act of 1873 stopped the coinage of silver, entirely, while in fact it only stopped the coinage of the silver dollar pieces for a period of four years—1873 to 1878, when it was resumed under the Bland act.

In no year from the formation of the government until 1873 did the amount of silver dollars reach one million, except in 1872 when the amount coined was $1,112,961, and in the following year 1873 it dropped back to $677,150. Now then, while we admit the suspension of the coinage of the silver dollar, the coinage of the halves, quarters and dimes were not suspended, and the amount of these coins increased during the first year of the dollar demonization act from $2,946,785.50 (including silver dollars) in 1873 to $5,983,001.30 dollar pieces, not included) in 1874 or an increase of more than double in the one year under the "great crime" not including the silver dollar. In 1875 silver was coined to the amount of $10,970,368, and in 1876 $19,126,502.50 was coined, and in 1877 the coinage ran up to $28,549,935.

In 1878 the coinage of the dollar was again resumed and the amount continued to increase year after year. Thus it will be seen that instead of stopping the coinage of silver by the passage of the Sherman law the amount increased, and very rapidly, too. Instead of having dollars we had halves, quarters and dimes, and who ever saw the time when two half dollars or four quarter dollars or ten dimes would not purchase as much as the cart wheel dollar? Why will intelligent people be deceived by such statements?

These figures are taken, not from campaign speeches, but from the public records as well as the treasury reports by both old parties and corroborated by Senator Stewart, the populist leader, of Nevada.

The Wilson bill we believe to be wrong in many instances. But the principal cause of the present depression is the direct result of populist agitation begun two years ago when times were good—begun by men whose statute of limitation in office had expired under the two old parties—men who by their willful misrepresentation undertake to deceive and mislead honest voters for their own selfish motives. Take for instance, Nathan Plesha, who recently belonged to both old parties, and was honored with nominations. Next in line is Judge Olmstead, populist candidate for attorney general. Two years ago he was defeated in the republican state convention for judge, by Judge Moore, of this county. Next in order, Judge Boise, populist candidate for supreme judge, defeated two years ago for the nomination of district judge in the republican convention after holding the position at the hands of the republicans for thirty-four years. In Washington county, W. D. Hare is the populist candidate for county judge, having turned populist two years ago because he did not receive the nomination for circuit judge. Have he held office for twenty years at the hands of the republican party. This is not only true in state politics but in county as well. The leaders want office and office only, as is easily seen by people who stop a moment and reflect.

This best thing the knights of labor can do with Master Workman Sovereign is to muscle him. His affinity for the Cozieties and their movement is going to seriously compromise the knights of labor, and bring that organization into disrepute. Right-minded people have no time for the anti-work army or its sympathizers.

MONEY WILL NOT CIRCULATE.

Complaints come from all sections of Oregon and from all classes of people that they cannot borrow money upon what has been heretofore gilt-edge security—farm land. In the New York market money is and has been for some time, quoted at one per cent on call, and at from two to five per cent on good commercial loans, yet here in Oregon you cannot borrow a dollar on any security at any reasonable rate of interest. The people are asking, and that very loudly, why is this state of affairs before us?

The reason is plain, very plain. Read the third plank in the populist platform adopted at Oregon City, recently. Here it is: "Third—We demand the enactment of a law forbidding the sale of property under execution, unless the proceeds of such sale shall equal at least eighty per cent of the appraised value of said property, in addition to costs of collection."

Should the populists get control of the Oregon legislature they are pledged to pass such a law, which would virtually prevent the collection of a debt upon execution. There never was a piece of property sold under execution for eighty per cent of its appraised value with the costs of sale added. Consequently the mortgagee would be obliged to buy the property and in addition to losing the interest on his money would also have to advance sufficient money to pay costs of foreclosure, amounting, altogether, to from 110 to 150 per cent of the cash value of the property, or a loss to the money lender of a large per cent. When a man or a company loans money they want to know that they can collect it when due, but under the plank above quoted people will not loan money in Oregon for fear of such a law being enacted.

Just so long as this state or any other state is threatened with such legislation just that long the people will suffer; just so long as there is a shadow of a chance for a party to get into power who propose to not only repudiate the debts of the state but of the individual as well, just that long money cannot be had on loan, and money will not come here to seek investment.

There is urgent need for all republicans to fight shy of all attempts at fusion propositions or to trade in the coming elections. The man who approaches another to trade his associate on the ticket cannot be trusted, for he himself is not honest with his co-workers, hence he will not be honest with you. Besides the man who would prove a traitor is admitting his own weakness. In politics, a man who offers to trade is offering something which he does not possess, consequently cannot be depended on to deliver the goods. These things are sometimes done in state politics and also in some counties, but we believe the men on the republican ticket in Columbia county are above such proceedings, should they be approached upon the subject.

In Mrs. Mary Lease the 1,500 people who attended a meeting of the unemployed on at Boston, had a speaker after their own hearts. She scored her hearers and said they brought all the trouble on themselves by voting for duds in top hats and kid gloves, and until they used the ballot to send men of their own kind to the legislature the working people would be snubbed. She told the unemployed if they would only stay at home and mind their babies the women would soon find a way out of this terrible business depression.

A populist wants to know "why not the government take possession of the railroads and operate them with the disabled soldiers now on the pension roll, so that they may earn their way?" This is a brilliant idea. Why not, in the same line of reasoning, work the inmates of public hospitals on the public streets and highways, in order that they, too, may earn their own living? If the old soldiers were able to work on railroads they would not need pensions.

Is the federal court at Wichita, Kansas, Judge Williams held that inmates of soldiers' homes, otherwise qualified, could exercise their franchise under the constitution of Kansas at any election held in the precinct in which the home is located. This decides the populist act of 1893 to be unconstitutional. That act provided that inmates of soldiers' homes were not to be allowed to vote.

Some of our contemporaries who published a skeleton of Hon. T. J. Cleaton's opening address at Mayzer and then indulged in criticisms in a roundabout way, should be fair enough to have published his closing argument. The people could then have judged for themselves, and his friends have no fear but that the verdict would be favorable to himself.

Do you know anybody who will loan you money and after waiting a year or two be willing to take eighty cents on the dollar for it? If you do, Columbia county has hundreds of people who are anxious to borrow on those conditions. But the money will not come. Why? Because the populist platform scares it away, even at any price.

REPUBLICANS, STAND FIRM UPON YOUR PRINCIPLES. Do not be deceived by the slippery tongue of the wily politician. The present ticket will stand on its own merits, hence no necessity for trading. If every republican in Columbia county will stand by this proposition and vote the ticket straight the result will be a glorious victory.

We wish to call particular attention to Charles F. Doan's especial fitness for the office for which he has been nominated. No better choice could have been made. Mr. Doan's official record is spotless. His qualifications are perfect, and his chances for election over his opponent are flattering in the extreme.

BEAR IN MIND that there is victory ahead if every republican in Columbia county will stand firm upon his true convictions. No swapping is necessary.

Vote the republican ticket straight and every candidate on it is sure to be elected.

LOYALTY A VIRTUE.

GILFON, Or., May 5.—A few remarks about the old soldiers from one who is old enough to remember them, I do think would not be out of place at this time. When it comes to the rights of the old soldiers, the ones who suffered the trials of sickness and starvation and the long marches through the hot climate of the southern states, for the purpose of saving this glorious union from the hands of traitors. If there are any men on God's great footstool who we, as a nation, should raise our hats to and honor, I say they are the old soldiers. There are some people who say that the soldiers in the Home should be disfranchised because they are paupers. I wish some of those people would please explain to me the difference between the soldiers in the Home and those out of the Home. They all draw a pension; those who are disabled, so they are all paupers according to the doctrine of the party that wants to disfranchise them; and why are they old and in the way of what—of the populist's political issues, read readers. If the old soldiers are not entitled to a say in this government, in the name of God, will some populist please tell me who is qualified to cast a ballot in the present campaign? If there is any patriotism in the hearts of the lovers of the old soldier this is enough to curdle the blood in your veins. As for me, I am willing to sustain the rights and privileges of the old soldier. There is that feeling in my heart, and fellow citizens, it is more than any loyal citizen ought to stand. When I look back to the 61s, 62s, and 63s, and remember the roar of the cannon, and know how the old soldiers suffered, it makes me tremble; and now to have them put down under the feet of usurpers, I say the very bolts of heaven ought to fall on the brazen heads of any set of men who would even think of such a thing. No loyal man would do so. As for as his rights are concerned, I will take the old soldier by the arm and lead him to the polls, if necessary. No, gentlemen, I care not how a man votes, whether republican, democrat, or populist, that is their right, but for humanity's sake let the old soldier have a little chance in his last days, for he had none in his early life.

J. M. LEAVENS, Assignee of said estate.

DECEASED'S SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION AND order of sale issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court of the state of Oregon, for Columbia county, to me duly directed, dated the 21st day of April, A. D. 1894, upon a judgment and decree rendered and entered in said court on the 31st day of March, A. D. 1894, in favor of Bernard Wood and John Maynard as defendants for the sum of five hundred and ninety-eight and eleven-one-hundredths ($598.11) dollars with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the 31st day of March, A. D. 1894; and the further sum of one hundred ($100.00) dollars as attorney's fees; and the further sum of thirty-seven and twenty-one-hundredths ($37.21) dollars, costs and disbursements, and also the costs of and upon this writ, commanding me to make sale of the following real property of the above-named defendants, to-wit: The northeast one-quarter (NE 1/4) of the southeast one-quarter (SE 1/4) of the northwest one-quarter of the southeast one-quarter (SE 1/4) of the north one-half (N 1/2) of section 33, township 12 north, range 7 north, range number five (5) west of the Willamette meridian, in Columbia county, state of Oregon, together with the improvements thereon, and all appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any way appertaining. Now, therefore, by virtue of said execution, judgment, order, and decree, and in compliance with the command of said writ, I will, on Saturday, the 26th day of May, A. D. 1894, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at the front door of the county courthouse, in the city of St. Helens in said county and state, sell, subject to redemption, at public auction to the highest bidder therefor, for cash, all the real property and improvements which the above-named defendant, Eliza T. Wood, then Eliza T. Lovell, had on the 30th day of August, A. D. 1891, the date of the mortgage of said premises by said defendant to the defendant John Maynard, or has since acquired in and to the above-described real property, to satisfy said judgment, decree, execution, and order of sale, interest, costs, and all accruing costs. T. C. WATTS, Sheriff of Columbia county, Oregon. Dated April 24, A. D. 1894.
