

SIDE-HEAD PARAGRAPHS.

WILL RESUME PUBLICATION.—The Nahalem Journal will resume publication some time during the first part of December, with Mr. E. H. Mitchell, late of the Hillsboro Argus, at the helm. Mr. Mitchell has had considerable experience in the field of journalism and will no doubt make a success of the paper, which we are informed will be independent in politics.

BICYCLE DRESSES.—The editor of the Milton Eagle, who no doubt is authority, says: "So far as we have investigated the subject, a bicycle dress for ladies is a two-legged dress, similar to a pair of pants, only a little more so. It is rather full about the hip pockets and a trifle loose in the region where you strike a match, and the bottom around the ankles is tied to keep out the mice. After all it is quite a neat affair and no doubt will be exceedingly popular."

GETTING BETTER.—The many friends and well-wishers of George W. McBride, secretary of state, will be glad to share in the pleasing intelligence received by one of his friends in a letter Tuesday. He says his physical condition is improving very perceptibly. There has been no surgical operation yet and probably will not be. He also writes that in New York state where he is, the signs and the feeling are that business conditions and prospects are improving, and that the beginning of a much more prosperous era is upon us.

SHOULD NOT GET ANGRY.—No sensible man should get angry simply because a newspaper publisher duns him for money. A dun is not an impeachment of the subscriber's integrity, but is simply an overcropping of the publisher's necessities. For instance, a thousand men owe one man from two to ten dollars each. He has to dun them in order to pay his expenses. Instead of getting angry and stopping the paper because the publisher asked for what is honestly due, the subscriber should thank the publisher for waiting on him so patiently and pay up like a man.

CREAMERY PROFIT.—Mr. Craig, of the Hillsboro creamery, has made out a statement of dairying, as shown at his creamery for the month commencing September 19 and ending October 19. The amount of milk received was 15,121 pounds, which made 1212 pounds of butter. This was sold in Portland at 35 cents per pound wholesale. The net price of the butter, after deducting all expenses, was 24.16 cents per pound. The amount of milk required to produce one pound of butter was 24.45 pounds, which is lower than usual. The milk averaged a little over one dollar per 100 pounds, and one patron whose milk was from Jersey cows netted him $134 per 100.

UP AND DOWN.—An exchange says: "This is a peculiar world; one is struggling for justice and another is fleeing from it; one man is saving to build a house and another is trying to sell his for less than cost to get rid of it. One man is spending all his money he can make in taking a girl to the theater and sending her flowers, with the hopes of making her his wife, while his neighbor is spending what gold he has in getting a divorce. One man escapes all the diseases that flesh is heir to and gets killed on a railroad. Another escapes with a scratch and dies with the whooping cough. One man stands off his creditors and goes a traveling while another pays his debts and stays at home."

ALL OF HOME PRODUCTION.—Mr. W. Wells, residing up the Siuslaw river from the salmon hatchery, has recently built a handsome cottage about 24x30 feet. There is nothing remarkable about this, but it is remarkable that the frame work, rustic, and shingles—in short, all the woodwork that goes to make that house—grew on the farm of Mr. Wells and was sawed out by him with a small saw propelled by water power on the farm, and framed, planed, and put together by the owner. More than this, the inside and outside is painted with mineral paint, the product of which is found in a mine on the same ranch. Not a dollar in money was expended to complete the residence, save that paid for glass, putty, and nails. The cottage is worth at least $800.

AN EDITOR'S LIFE.—Only an editor can comprehend the trials of a pencil-pusher. How to make every man the most distinguished, every girl the prettiest, every swell the most popular, every business man the most successful, every candidate the most desirable, besides always remembering to call every old nester "colonel," all red-headed old maids "golden-haired," not to mention the blessings received for failing to puff a fellow who passed through town and did not even call around for fear he would be expected to pay his subscription, added to the mistakes in the initials in names and errors in the weight of new members of families; all this combined with the abuse from the editor's wife for praising some other man's wife, makes an editor's life anything but a paradise.—Exchange.

WOMEN ARE ELIGIBLE.—Miss Nellie Stevens, whom the populace elected as school superintendent of Union county by a majority of 60 votes, has county by a majority of 60 votes, has proven victorious in her contest with J. L. Carter, the present incumbent and the republican candidate for reelection. Mr. Carter contested the election on the ground that Miss Stevens was not eligible because of her sex, and has since held possession of the office. The case has been pending in court, and Tuesday, at Baker City, Judge Clifford issued a peremptory writ of mandamus ordering the defendant to turn over the office and appendances to Miss Stevens. The pertinence to fix bonds of appeal, so that Mr. Carter, it appears, will either be compelled to hand over his job, or will still "hold it down" under himself liable to action for contempt. The defendant will nevertheless appeal the case to the supreme court, but Miss Stevens will now have possession.

THE EXPOSITION.—The Portland Universal Exposition will open tomorrow (Saturday) night and close on January 15, 1896. There are said to be many new features added to the exposition this year.

GOOD DAY FOR BIRDS.—Last Sunday was a "good day for ducks." By the time the Iralda reached Portland Monday she had probably picked up two or three hundred ducks of all kinds, captured by hunters the day before.

CHANGE OF TIME.—The Sarah Dixon has made a slight change in her time schedule. Hereafter she will not go to Astoria on Friday, but will leave Portland at 1 P. M., for Oak Point, and from Clatskanie, returning to Portland the same night.

BADLY BITTEN.—A lively dog-fight took place last Sunday at Columbia City between the canines of Mr. Vivian and Anton Creolo. An attempt was made to separate them, and as a result Mr. Vivian's thumb and arm were badly lacerated. Dr. Chalmers dressed the wounds, and reports them as doing well.

UNFORTUNATE.—Mrs. E. Demorest, of Columbia City, who was severely injured some time since by being thrown from a horse, was so unfortunate as to fall on Monday last, and again injure her hip joint. Her many friends will be sorry to hear of this accident as it will retard her recovery two or three weeks longer.

MADE FINAL PROOF.—The following persons made final proof on their claims this week before Judge Blanchard: Monday—M. M. Johnson, with Joe Reed and T. J. Adams as witnesses; John Schuller, with Matilda Gustafson and M. M. Johnson as witnesses; Matilda Gustafson, with John Schuller and M. M. Johnson as witnesses. Tuesday—Olof Malmstein, witness, Mat Johnson and O. P. Cheldelin; Eva Malmsten, witness, Israel Spencer and John D. Baker.

HORACE PENNOYER DEAD.—Horace, the 19-year-old son of Governor Pennoyer, died at Williamstown, Mass., Saturday. Horace was a student at Williams college, and after being stricken with typhoid fever, telegraphed the news to his parents. His mother immediately started east, but did not reach there until death had overtaken her only son. The governor left Saturday evening for Chicago where he will join his wife and accompany the body to Oregon for burial. The sympathy of the whole people of the state is with the governor and Mrs. Pennoyer in their sad affliction.

HIS EYES BADLY INJURED.—Mr. W. E. Newsum, of the steamer Iralda, came near losing his eyes last Sunday night. The steamer was lying at Rainier, and Mr. Newsum was at work putting babbitt into some parts of the machinery. He dropped a piece of the white metal which was wet, into the pot of melted matter, causing an explosion. The hot metal struck Mr. Newsum in the chest and face and on the arms, plastering his eyes shut and burning his face severely. The next day one piece of the metal was still sticking to the eyeball. His injuries are not dangerous, but very unpleasant, and everything considered it was a very lucky escape for the gentleman.

CLONINGER'S ILL LUCK.—David Cloninger's barn, on his place a few miles northwest of town, was entirely consumed by fire on Saturday night last. Mr. Cloninger and his family were away from home at the time. The loss is estimated in his absence at $400 or $500. The origin of the fire is supposed to be incendiary. The frebugs have it in for Dave. In April, 1893, his barn was burned in his absence. November 18, following, his dwelling was reduced to ashes, and November 18, 1894, his barn is again burned. This last fire occurred about 3 o'clock in the morning, and was first discovered by his neighbor, Pomeroy, living about half a mile distant, who was awakened by an explosion. Mr. Pomeroy found the residence on fire too, but not so far along as the barn, hence he was able to save that building.—Hillsboro Independent.

Court House Notes. Sheriff Doan and Deputy Blakesley are busily engaged in compiling the delinquent tax rolls from 1887 to and including 1893, for the purpose of determining what property has been doubly assessed, the total amount and what is collectable. The delinquent taxes for all those years stand as a debt against the land and can be collected.

Deputy Clerk Harris is making a transcript of the bond cases, which are to be tried, under change of venue, in Multnomah county. The county clerk and his deputy have been very busy lately and have at present a large amount of work on hand. It has not been an unusual occurrence of late to see the clerk's office lighted up until far into the night, owing to the unusual rush of work.

The Search for the Ivanhoe. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The revenue cutter Rush has again left port to search for the survivors of the wrecked ship Ivanhoe. In view of the fact that recent telegraphic dispatches from Victoria, B. C., announce the finding of life preservers and other wreckage, there is every likelihood that some one remains alive to tell the story of how the Ivanhoe went down. It is expected that the search the Rush will make will continue for a full month, and while Captain Hooper was not positive, he expressed the belief that the exact cause of the loss of the vessel would be ascertained.

PERIS NEWS. C. Saurvign is home again after an absence of several months. S. Vosberg is hauling lumber from Howard's mill to finish his dwelling. We are having plenty of rain at present, after having such a lovely fall. C. C. Moyer is doing some good work on the road across Milton creek bottom by contouring it.

TROUBLE WITH ENGLAND. It is Thought War May be the Final Result.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—As a result of a conference at Woodley today between the president and Gresham, peremptory orders were cabled to the cruiser Columbia, which has been for several weeks at Kingston, Jamaica, to proceed at once to Bluefields for the protection of American interests. Gresham's visit to the president's country home followed immediately upon an interview had with the Nicaraguan minister.

All officials acquainted with the affair refuse to divulge the reason of the hurried orders to the Columbia, or to confirm the statements from Panama in regard to the refusal of Great Britain to recognize the Nicaraguan government. It is learned on excellent authority not only that the Columbia and the Marblehead, which arrived at Kingston today, will remain at Bluefields continuously this winter, but that the Montgomery may be sent from Mobile, and that preliminary orders have been sent to New York to have all ships in commission of the North Atlantic squadron prepared for a West Indian cruise at the earliest possible moment. In addition to sailing orders for the San Francisco, the New York, which was to leave December 15 to become the flagship in European waters, has been withheld, and she may be sent immediately to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Cassin's cruise to the South Atlantic, which was to commence early next month, will, in all probability be interrupted when she reaches the West Indies. Instructions to prepare the Minneapolis for sea at once has also been sent to the navy department chiefs.

There seems to be, in fact, almost a war scare pervading the navy, brought about by diplomatic rumors to the effect that Great Britain, which several months ago expressed a willingness to recognize the full jurisdictional rights of Nicaragua over the Mosquito coast, had shown a disposition to resent what appears to be a practical annexation of that territory and its complete incorporation as a portion of Nicaragua.

ENGLAND ON THE GROUND. PANAMA, Nov. 27.—Advices from Managua indicate a grave situation in the Mosquito reservation. British Minister Goshing has notified Nicaragua that Great Britain refuses to recognize the Nicaraguan government. After an exchange of views, Minister Goshing telegraphed Port Limon for a British warship to come at once to Bluefields. It is reported the Nicaraguan canal project is at the bottom of the trouble.

IMPORTANT LAND DECISION. Great Abuse of the Timber Land Act of 1873.

ROSBURG, Or., Nov. 26.—A very important case has been on trial before the United States land office at this place for several months past, involving the title to a very large body of lands in Jackson and Josephine counties. The special agents for the government allege in their complaints that one Julius E. Minor caused a number of settlers to secure title to timber lands with the understanding that the lands should be transferred to him upon the perfecting of title. The contract was carried out until Mr. Minor had secured title to nearly sixty claims, containing many thousand acres of valuable lands. The scheme worked well until a special agent of the United States land office from Washington took up the matter, and cited Mr. Minor to substantiate his title.

One of the cases was taken up, and it was finally determined to make it a test case, and it was fully tried, taking up the time and attention of the local officers of the land office for about four months.

It is upon this case that Register Robert M. Veatch and Receiver R. S. Sheridan have just decided. In their decision they hold that the government has fully sustained their case, and that the titles to the lands revert to the United States. The case will be appealed to the commissioner of the general land office and from thence, no doubt, to the secretary of the interior. That the litigation consequent upon the case will cost Mr. Minor a large sum of money, and that he will, no doubt, eventually lose the lands, there can hardly be a reasonable doubt.

MAYGER.

R. Payne made this place a visit this week.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Minnie Mayger is homesick.

James Buckler is making some very valuable improvements on his farm.

Robert Boles, we learn, has been successful in getting a certificate to instruct the young.

Times begin to look up a little better now. The Mayger Company is selling lots of wood.

Mrs. C. N. Davidson is away on a visit to her parents at Napavine, Wash. She will remain a couple of weeks.

Harry Henderson began the tobacco cure but gave it up as a bad job, as the cure was worse than the disease.

There was a candy-pull and dance at Severn's on Saturday night of last week, in honor of our John's birthday.

The sawmill company of this place have been buying a fine lot of hay, and they intend running their mill all winter.

Quite a number of the boys went to Stella last Saturday night to witness the prize fight. Guess they did not see much.

Hot-Headed Kolbites. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 27.—It has just been learned that several hot-headed Kolbites leaders have issued secret calls for armed men in companies of from 100 to 500 to volunteer to go to the Montgomery inauguration next Saturday to seat Kolb as governor. The call is made to Kolb followers "to maintain their rights and carry out the will of the people," and it is said that companies are being organized. All the troops in the state have arranged to go to Montgomery, and it is understood will carry their guns loaded.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Storing Squashes. When gathered from the field, the squash should be placed in a dry, cool room, and kept there until freezing weather approaches. Then remove them to what might be termed a warm and dry room. It is difficult to keep them during the entire winter without more or less trouble from rot; yet such varieties as the Hubbard and Turban may be preserved for quite a long period after harvesting.

Bye After a Crop. Many gardens at this season are filled with weeds, which, if not destroyed, will ripen their seeds. If the garden were plowed as soon as the main crops were off, and sowed with rye as winter covering, one-half of the difficulty in fighting weeds the following season would be prevented. The rye will also take up some fertility that would be washed away by winter and spring floods, and thus lost. The saving of fertility is quite as necessary as adding to it by new applications of manure.

Enriching the Pastures. It takes mineral fertility to make rich grass. Wherever brush or stumps are burned, leaving plenty of potash in the soil, the grass will grow up rich and sweet, and be kept close cropped, while away from such places the large, coarse herbage will be left uncut. The craving of cows fed on old pastures for bones is an indication that phosphate is lacking in the soil. It is cheaper to make the grass rich than to feed the bone meal to the cows. A dressing of potash and phosphate increases the value of grass besides increasing its yield.

Big Crops. It rarely happens that a big crop is produced at a loss. The extra work required to procure a large yield per acre always pays better than does a like amount of labor spread over a wider area. There are limitations to the amount of fertility that can be profitably provided for each crop, as every farmer knows. Some need a different kind of fertilizing than do others. There are gross feeders and what we may call delicate feeders. Most garden vegetables are gross feeders. The soil cannot be made too rich for cabbage or celery or the large root crops. They all require supplies of nitrogen. Corn also needs rich land. It is helped by coarse, unfermented manures, because in the soil their decomposition furnishes heat, and this is all important to make corn.

Planting Potatoes in the Fall. There has been much discussion in the agricultural press about fall-planted potatoes, some averring that the method was not practicable, while others have found it to work to an advantage. A farmer, writing to the Country Gentleman, a New York scientific paper, said he tried a small patch last fall, and explained his method, and was so pleased with the result that he planted quite an acreage this fall. In the latter part of October he planted a small piece in drills, cutting the tubers in generous pieces, and covering them some 5 or 6 inches deep with earth; over this he placed a mulch of straw 6 inches or more thick. No more straw was given them until the forepart of May, when the straw was raked off and the ground allowed to thaw out. The potatoes made an early start, were kept clean of weeds by frequent cultivation, and, in spite of the severe drought, matured a fine crop, mostly of large-sized tubers, which matured the second week in July. It is not generally considered necessary to cover the ground with a mulch as a protection in the spring, for that would prove a very serious drawback when more than a very small acreage was planted; but the most serious objection to this method seems to be a liability of the seed rotting during the wet weather in the spring, unless they are planted on well drained or naturally drained ground, and a likelihood of the plant starting too early and being caught by the late frosts. But in spite of these drawbacks the double advantage of having the crop in early, and doing it when there is more time than in the rush of the spring work, would make the fall planting popular if the farmers, generally, were assured that it can be done successfully. It is certainly worthy of careful consideration and experiment in all places, and would be good work for the experiment stations.

The Hepper branch of the O. R. & N. is blocked with wheat. Cars cannot be had to move the wheat one-fourth as fast as it comes in, and not over one-third of the crop is yet in the warehouses. A number of threshing machines are yet running and will be for the next two weeks.

Railroad Officials Here. Mr. W. H. Hurlburt, assistant general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. and Union Pacific railways, accompanied by other railroad officials, were in St. Helens Wednesday evening, having arrived by special steamer. The gentlemen were on their way home from a trip along the river, looking after the company's interests on their water lines. Mr. Hurlburt stated to a representative of THE MIST that the O. R. & N. Company pay out $18,000 a month for wood alone, between Astoria and Portland. This amount includes wood for towing purposes as well as for the steamers engaged in passenger and mail service. This money is distributed largely among the people of Columbia county through the merchants to the woodchoppers and others engaged in getting it out and conveying it to the water, for which the company get in return very little patronage. Yet there are people along the river who are continually abusing the steamboats, and especially the O. R. & N. Company, for what reason they know not. Eighteen thousand dollars a month is a pretty good wood bill, and those who receive relief from this source should cease their unwarranted condemnation of the company who contributes such amount of business to their welfare.
