ST. HELENS, OREGON, MAY 5.

The Monroe doctrine doesn't mean quite as much as many persons suppose, but it will protect the nations of this continent from unjust treatment by European powers. Let the Latin-American countries be sure they are right—then they can go ahead and the Monroe doctrine will back them.

The question of utilizing the surplus horse-flesh of the country for food is receiving considerable attention. Recently a purchase of 5000 head was made in Eastern Oregon, which are to be slaughtered for food. It may be necessary in the future to use horse-flesh for food, but the change, if made at all, will be brought about slowly. Indeed, it will be many years before such a custom can be established in this country.

The attorney general has been appealed to for an opinion on the subject as to whether or not Oregon has jurisdiction over the Columbia river to the Washington shore, with special reference to the punishment of persons violating the fishing laws. The attorney general is of the opinion that the law is lame, and is undecided as to the state's jurisdiction in the premises, notwithstanding the circuit court has so decided. The opinion was asked by Deputy District Attorney Curtis, of Clatsop county.

Hon. R. G. HOOR has been making a thorough investigation of the charge that silver was demonetized by a trick in 1873, says the Globe-Democrat. The bill was prepared, he says, by men who honestly believed that the silver dollar should be dropped and a single gold standard adopted; and it was passed with a full understanding of its purpose. In other words, "the great crime of 1873" was simply a piece of regular legislation, believed to be for the good of the country, and nobody was deceived about it in any respect.

It is not to be wondered at that Penney excluded the public from the records of his pardoning blunders during the latter part of his administration, since during the last month of his official career he commuted the sentences of nineteen prisoners, the most of them being guilty of such little crimes as rape, incest, murder in the second degree, manslaughter, assault with dangerous weapons, etc. The surprising thing in this connection is that he did not recommend to the legislature the enactment of a law placing a penalty on good morals and decency. Penneyism is the father of Lynch-law.

Senator Allison, of Iowa, is not doing much talking himself, but in many parts of the United States his name is being freely used as the most suitable candidate for the republican nomination for president in 1896. The senator from Iowa is in every way qualified for the position, and should be the choice of the convention his election would be a certainty and the country would be assured of a straightforward common sense administration. The same might also be said of many other gentlemen whose names have been mentioned in connection with the nomination for the presidency, but it is especially true of the Iowa senator.

There seems to be a determination in some parts of the state to force an expression from the state republican club on the financial question when it meets in Portland on May 22. In our opinion such a course would be the height of folly. The delegates to this meeting are not sent there clothed with authority to police the policy of the party, and consequently should not juggle with the issues which properly belong to the state and national conventions when they meet. Delegates to conventions are elected for the special purpose of outlining the policy which the party expects to pursue; delegates to the state club are not, and any resolution or platform they might adopt would, in all probability be cast aside by the state convention, which it would have a perfect right to do. The mission of the state club, as we understand it, is for the purpose of promoting more thorough organization and not to dictate the party's policy.

PROTECTION DOES PROTECT.

There can be no question but that "protection protects," and the reason that the country has suffered financial depression and business stagnation is because the democratic party attempted to change the nation to a free trade basis, says the Times Mountaineer. This tune of protection is an old one. It has been sung from the time Alexander Hamilton advocated it in revolutionary days to the last speech Governor McKinley made a few days ago in Georgia. There is another "old story" that has been told over and over again for nearly 2000 years; but it has never been lacking in truth, in fervor or in its meeting the wants of suffering humanity. While we cannot say as much regarding the republican economic doctrine; yet we can state protection may become hoary-headed with age, and may be repeated every hour in the day from every forum in the land, it will always appeal to the patriotism of American citizens, and from the direful experience of the past two years it is doubly dear now to the laboring poor. When the change comes, as sure it will in 1896, it will be welcomed back with peans of praise from every corner of this broad land. Cleveland's administration has worked a complete cure of the free trade mania, and hereafter the wage-earners of this land will be satisfied to have protection as their cradle-song, and the rhythm of the music will be pleasurable through their lives, however long or however short their careers might last. Protection cannot be talked too much. It is the American doctrine, and it has had a successful test for fully a century, during which time the republic has passed through the most trying ordeals, financial and otherwise. Free trade has been tried for nearly two years, and during that time the national treasury has become bankrupt, commerce has lagged, wages have been lowered, factories closed, business has become dull, values have depreciated and woful distress, like a curse from God, has settled upon the land.

Yes, protection protects. It protects the farm, the factory, the workshop, the fire-side of the man of means and the cottage of the poor. The tune is old, very old; but it has not lost its rhythm or sweetness, and never will while the brightest dreams of Americans is America, and the land of adoption or birth is preferred to all others. It should be sung on every street corner, in every workshop and from every forum until November, 1896, restores the nation to protection and prosperity.

WHEN our farmers become convinced of the fact that their place is in the harvest field and not in the field of politics, then will Oregon, and especially Columbia county, come nearer producing what it consumes. When people from farming sections stand by and see a "farmer" buy butter, eggs, potatoes, onions, wheat and oats from the grocer, they must be struck with a peculiar idea as to our ability to produce, and look in wonderment to see that we produce nothing but fit trees and political disturbances. Let the farmer run the farm and the politician the politics. We do not choose to say that the farmer has no right to vote far from it, because it is a duty he owes his country to exercise the right of franchise, but if he is going to meddle in politics he should give up the farm, for the two cannot be operated successfully together.

The demand for better highways in this county should never cease until something substantial is done along that line. The people have a right to demand of their lawmakers a modification of the present flim-flam road laws. As the law stands today it is impossible to have good roads, a fact which is apparent to everyone, and the sooner they are changed the sooner relief will come to the settlers in the interior of the county. The man who represents this county in the next legislature should be on record as a man interested in better highways.

POINTED AND PERTINENT.

Many women size up a man's liberality by the Easter outfit of his wife and daughters. Another "letter that never came"—that containing Spain's apology for firing on the Albatross. The butcher promises to lead the ice man in hantiness by several laps during the coming summer. A man who does not know crude petroleum from quicksand would better beware of the seductive coal oil when it bubbles. The late Josh Billings used upon occasion to say: "Tis better to be ignorant than to know a lot that isn't so. We commend the idea to some of our town folks."

Senator Palmer lost no time in condemning the calling of that democratic silver convention in Illinois. He doesn't want the party to commit itself in an off year. Now that Great Britain is assembling a naval force to make a hostile demonstration against poor, little Nicaragua, the administration is curiously silent about the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine. Something must be out of joint in Arkansas when the governor and a member of the legislature attempt to annihilate each other with tobacco juice, when guns or bowie-knives might just as well have been used. If the claim of England—that the United States has nothing to do with her encroachments upon the territory of Venezuela—be admitted, all the South and Central American governments may as well prepare to go out of business. The members of a baseball team on their way to play a game in the suburbs of Havana, were mistaken for an insurgent army and arrested by Spanish troops. That gives a good idea of the average size of the insurgent armies.

A Florida judge gave a striking illustration of judicial paternalism when he fined a nurse for whipping a child, although the mother of the child stated that the nurse was only carrying out the instructions given her. The mother of the child paid the fine. A Connecticut burglar, while awaiting his trial, is nursing a broken nose and numerous cuts on the head, which he received from an iron shovel in the hands of a sixteen-year-old girl, into whose bed-room he went with burglarious intent. "He'll never get there any more." Shall this country maintain its present boundaries or shall it reach out and include everything that will be necessary to the greatest commercial nation the world has ever seen? Upon the decision will depend whether we remain merely a great nation or become the greatest.

According to the official figures, which are slightly more reliable than Secretary Carlisle's alleged expectations, the average daily receipts of the government are $860,000, and the average daily expenditures $1,000,000. The same ratio up to June 30, will make the expenditures of the current fiscal year exceed the receipts by $35,000,000.

COUNTY COURT.

A. H. Kerr vs. D. J. Barnes et al, George Gregory and Dunaway for plaintiff.

DEER ISLAND.

John Knowles and wife were to the county seat last Monday.

Justice Brown, of Goble, passed here last Monday on his return from St. Helena.

Much sympathy is expressed here for Mr. and Mrs. Meserve in their late bereavement.

A young horse belonging to Horgen Bros. was killed either by shot or snag in the bank last week.

We are pleased to report the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Spencer last Sunday morning. We wish them unbounded joy and "more prosperity."

School began Monday with Mrs. Galvin in charge. This lady has taught here so many times that it is unnecessary to make any remarks as to her ability.

Thomas Sandan had the misfortune to lose his only cow. It is believed that she was struck by the train, although there is no mark on her that would indicate that she received a very hard blow.

Though the fishing season opened very promising, fishermen are complaining that the catch is light. Mr. Burris, who is setting here, complains that he is not getting many salmon, owing to the water being so muddy.

Those who attended the Howard-Gilmore wedding pronounce it a brilliant affair. We hope that Lizzie has a good husband, of whom she is worthy. A more prudent girl is seldom met. Virtue should always be thus rewarded.

A cow is not supposed to possess as much intelligence as a horse or a dog, but a good neighbor of ours thinks different, and believes that a cow knows more than any other domestic animal, for at one time while he was sick he used to tell his cow so, and she would mow low and lick his hand in dire sympathy.

"I must believe in fate," said one of our neighbors a few days ago. "About a year ago one of my hens was attacked by a polecat, but by the aid of my 22-caliber rifle I dispatched his 'feline highness' into the land of happy dreams and pleasant thoughts, and saved my hen for the time being from his carnivorous digestion, yet, nevertheless, the hen died at the 'hands' of that same polecat the other day. It seems that she remembered the assault, and laid it up against him. Now thinking that he was near enough dead to make it safe for her to attack him, she flew in with the intent to swallow him, and in her attempt became strangled, so it seems fate is in store for hens as well as for people."

BACHELOR FLAT.

Early planting is about all done, and the last few days of pleasant weather have had a great tendency to bring the grass along at a rapid rate, and the prospects are that the hay crop will be large this year.

Charley Gable has the frame of his new barn raised.

Mrs. J. Berdahl, who has been quite sick, is able to be around again.

Mr. S. Salsar is having the timber on his place slashed.

I have my photograph again.—Wm. R. Has anyone lost a cat?—J. S. M.

Who is it rides my pony so hard when I turn him out. O, wouldn't I like to catch him?—C. W.

PERIS POINTERS.

Robert Frey and John Hendricks went to the city last Friday.

A. A. Smith and wife are down on Soapstone bay, where Mr. Smith is engaged at rafting logs, preparatory to transportation. Sherman Vosberg spent part of last week in the city of Portland.

The road across Milton creek bottom is in a very bad condition. It has been almost impossible to travel it this spring.

C. C. Moyer intends to soon commence improving the roads.

FOR THE BLOOD.

Just now everybody is thinking about taking something for the blood. A Spring medicine as we speak of it. And it's a good thing to do, but you want to get the proper medicine. If you consult your physician he will tell you to and that, because the liver has everything to do with the blood. If the liver is sluggish the system is clogged, the blood becomes impure, and the whole body suffers. Every medicine recommended for the blood is supposed to work on the liver. Then get at once the "KING OF LIVER MEDICINES,"

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR.

It does its work well, and tones up the whole system. It's "Better than Pills," and can be had in liquid or powder.
