One Grocer has been found who says he will not handle

Royal Baking Powder!

And the reason he gives is of interest to every housekeeper. It is that he can make more money selling the other baking powders! He says he can buy all other powders at from 20 to 50 per cent. lower price than Royal, while he sells them at the same price. That means when the housekeeper buys some powder other than the Royal she pays the same price, but gets a powder costing to make and worth only half as much.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is made from more highly refined, purer, and more wholesome ingredients than any other baking powder. Most of the others are made from alum. All of them contain adulterants or impurities. Absolutely pure cream of tartar and soda, as used in the Royal, cost more than impure cream of tartar and alum; hence the greater cost, as well as greater value, of the Royal.

The grocer who says he will not handle Royal Baking Powder because he can make more profit upon other powders proves to the consumer, most conclusively, the superior value of the Royal over all other brands.

Arrival of Columbus.

Mr. C. Columbus, who visited this continent over 400 years ago, came over in a vessel which broke all previous records.

A reporter met him down the bay and asked:

"How do you like America, Mr. Columbus?"

"First rate, first rate!" replied Christopher affably. "That is, I like what I have seen of it very well. How is Susan B. Anthony?"

"She's as chipper as ever. How did you leave Ferd and Isabella?"

"Isabella has been suffering a great deal from the grip, but there isn't much the matter with the old man. By the way, what is Maggie Mitchell playing now?"

"She has a new piece called 'Fanchon.'"

"New! Why, she toured Europe with that when I was a boy. But tell me how the Grant monument is getting along."

"First rate. More than $7.50 has been subscribed in the last three years, some of it in cash."

"That's good! And what place does New York hold in the League record?"

"Place! Why, the very tiptop of course!"

"Good enough! We are the people! Anything new about the Keely motor?"

But it is useless to quote the entire interview, for it happened a long time ago, and Columbus is dead now and can't deny any inaccuracies it may contain.—Rehoboth Herald.

A Bat Story.

A queer story comes with first class recommendation all the way from England. In 1860 a member of the Chaplin family died at Blankney, Lincolnshire, and was laid in the family tomb. This particular Chaplin was a naturalist, and among his other pets had a large gray bat. That bat was permitted to enter the tomb and was sealed up alive along with the corpse of his dead master. In 1866 the vault was opened, and to the surprise of all the bat was alive and fat. On four different occasions since the Chaplins have looked after the welfare of their dead relative's pet, and each time it has been reported that the bat was still in the land of the living, although occupying quarters with the dead. He was last seen in 1892.—Chicago News.

A TERRIBLE VISITANT.

Pain is always a terrible visitant, and often domiciles itself with one for life. This infliction is preventible, in cases of rheumatism, by a timely resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which checks the encroachments of this obstinate and dangerous malady at the outset. The term "dangerous" is used advisedly, for rheumatism is always liable to attack the vital organs and terminate life. No testimony is more conclusive and concurrent than that of physicians who testify to the excellent effect of the Bitters in this disease. Persons incur a wetting in rainy or snowy weather, and who are exposed to draughts, should use the Bitters as a preventive of ill effects. Malaria, dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility are also among the ailments to which this popular medicine is adapted. For the infirmities, soreness and stiffness of the aged it is highly beneficial.

"Heavens, Maria! Was that phonograph out during a cat fight?" "No; I turned it on last night when you were sleeping. Perhaps you will believe now that you snore."

LOOK OUT FOR BREAKERS AHEAD

when pimples, eruptions, boils, and like manifestations of impure blood appear. They wouldn't appear if your blood were pure and your system in the right condition. They show you what you need—a good blood-purifier; that's what you get when you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It carries health with it. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. It invigorates the liver and rouses every organ into healthful action. In the most stubborn forms of Skin Diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Boils and kindred ailments, and Scrofula, it is an unequaled remedy.

A SOCIETY GIRL POSES.

"Constance Arthur's" Face Is a Favorite With New York Artists.

There is an idea in the minds of the majority of the world that an artist's model must belong exclusively to Bohemia, but like the majority of conventional belief it is not true. In New York city there are several well known young ladies occupying high social position by reason of birth and breeding who earn handsome incomes as artists' models.

The most beautiful and famous of these is "Constance Arthur."

You know her. You have seen her face many times in the magazines and high class periodicals, and a bewitching face it is. She is said to be the only woman in New York who knows how to look pretty with her mouth open, and her laughing face, her beautifully sculptured lips open over pearly teeth, smiles fascinatingly at you from pictures galore. So unique are her charms as a model it is said that those for whom Miss Arthur poses cannot find her equal.

Who is this beautiful model? Not many even of her closest friends know.

She is Miss Blanche Bayliss, says The Commercial Advertiser. There are four sisters in the family, of whom one married a German nobleman and lives in London, her home being a fashionable and artistic center. The trio remaining are girls of independence and ideas, and they determined to support themselves, to keep together and to keep their social position, and they have succeeded.

One of the girls is an artist in another way. She has evolved the art of making a gown, a hat, a bit of drapery which will "come out" amazingly well in a picture. She visited the artists whom she knew and took orders for supplying studio wardrobes. A picture gown like a stage gown must be accented, and to know just where this indefinable touch must be is a talent which the eldest Miss Bayliss possesses.

Her sister, the model, came to her present coveted position by obligingly posing for artist friends until her fame spread so fast and so far she was induced to make a profession of her pastime.

It is a craze with society women to pose for artists, but very, very few have the delicious beauty of face and grace of figure and the indescribable chic atmosphere of "Constance Arthur."

A Nobleman's Strange Career.

Joseph Ledochowski was arrested in a Vienna hotel recently for stealing coal, clothes and jewelry. The story of his career, as told to the Vienna police and confirmed from other sources, is as remarkable as anything in recent police records. He is a Polish nobleman whose father was exiled for taking part in the Polish revolution. He was reared in Siberia. He escaped from the convict settlement by way of Mongolia, came back to Europe by a devious route, disguised himself and returned to Russia to obtain if possible part of the family property. He was recognized, arrested and sent back to Siberia. After a few years he escaped again. He made his home among the nihilists in Switzerland. He was injured in the great railway accident near Basel and obtained a large sum of money as compensation, from which he lived until he went to Vienna. He lived in the Austrian capital by theft. He was in extreme poverty most of the time, often being reduced to begging in the streets. The Russian government wishes to extradite him. The Vienna police, however, may be allowed to deal with him first, as they have a long list of charges against him.

Early Rising.

The old idea of attributing special morality to early rising is a bygone, out of date maxim.

Early to bed and early to rise
Makes a man healthy and wealthy and wise is a rhyme which has had its day. A certain medical man once discovered—with much statistical search—that he never found a case of extreme longevity unaccompanied by the habit of early rising, from which one might infer that they who rise late die early. But this would fail to take into account one well known fact—the fact that most elderly people are early risers because they cannot sleep o' mornings. It is putting the cart before the horse, a reversal of cause and effect, to infer that people live to be old because they do not sleep late. Arranged in logical sequence, the conclusion is that they do not sleep late because they are old, and it is folly for human beings to regulate their movements on ornithological principles.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE.

She Left Her Comfortable Home to Nurse Soldiers in Crimea.

On the fifteenth day of May Florence Nightingale celebrates her seventy-fifth birthday—as a great woman and as a great public benefactor, and as much of a heroine as she was forty years ago, when she went forth from her comfortable home in England, not as a mere nurse to attend to the wants of the wounded and dying British soldiers in the Crimea, but as a fearless organizer of a great field-hospital system, which the British war office authorities, staff officers and generals had looked upon as a mere matter of afterthought in the preliminary arrangements of one of the most difficult campaigns in the history of the civilized world, writes Fitz Roy Gardner in an interesting illustrated sketch of "Florence Nightingale at Seventy-Five" in the May Ladies' Home Journal. No one had thought of the physical sufferings which would have to be undergone by the brave soldiers who were sent out with the prospect of a long winter campaign before them, without any adequate hospital arrangements having been made. When the great mistake was realized it was a woman who came forward to rectify the terrible blunder; and it may easily be imagined that obstacles were thrown in her way. But the public opinion was soon aroused, and when Miss Florence Nightingale arrived at the Crimea with her band of nurses she had the whole Birtish people at her back.

THE UNTRAINED DAUGHTER.

Why Should Not Girls Be Taught Some of the Common Business Forms?

Why should not a girl be taught book-keeping and some of the more common business forms? writes Elizabeth Robinson Scovil in the May Ladies' Home Journal. Men pity, or laugh at, the business incapacity of the vast majority of women. It is often only due to want of proper instruction, and why should not this be supplied?

Some girls have a passion for flowers, and plants grow and thrive under their coaxing fingers without much apparent effort on their part. Such may find their vocation in the management of a greenhouse. Raising flower seeds is a remunerative occupation. Choice pansy seed is sold at $7 an ounce at retail, rare ones at double that price, and some varieties at $3 an ounce. Cut flowers always command a good price in winter, spring flowers at Easter and choice flowers all the year round.

The care of precious house plants for absent owners, supplying potted plants and ferns for the decoration of dinner tables and drawing rooms, help to swell the balance. Some florists not only supply the flowers but arrange them in their receptacles, charging an extra sum for the service.

A girl choosing this occupation must be content to learn her business thoroughly under an experienced florist, and should also have a little capital to begin with.

There are so many good technical schools now that there need be little difficulty in obtaining excellent instruction in whatever avocation it is wished to take up.

A Penurious Maestro.

Some years ago a well-known and celebrated composer resided in Paris. Hearing that a great prince intended visiting the city, he gathered around him a number of musical lights in order to give a grand concert in honor of the prince. Knowing of the prince's liberality, he banished his beautiful concert piano to another apartment, substituting in its place an antique one with strings that would just about respond to the touch of the keys.

The evening of the concert arrived, and with it the prince, who expressed himself charmed and delighted with the lovely music, but curious about the piano.

"My dear Maestro," he said, "you will doubtless venerate this ancient piano."

"Your highness," replied the Maestro, "it is more a matter of necessity than veneration." And here he looked sad.

The prince's heart was touched, and asked the Maestro in an ill-disguised, off-hand manner what style of piano he thought the best. The Maestro liked to play on the X—, its tone was so beautiful and it responded so quick to the touch.

The next day the prince visited the manufacturers of the X— piano and purchased one of the finest of their make, ordering it sent to the Maestro.

Shortly after the Maestro called on the manufacturers of the X— piano, and asked: "Did Prince —— order one of your pianos sent to my apartments?" The answer being in the affirmative, he politely requested his commission, stating that it had been his pleasure to commend their pianos. —Harper's Young People.

Hints on Reading.

Your teachers no doubt often ask you to read books, as side helps, supplementary reading, in your serious studies. Never feel that time is wasted when spent in this occupation. One gets the atmosphere of a period from the books which were written about it, as, for instance, if you are studying the history of the French revolution, your instructor may ask you to read A Tale of Two Cities, by Charles Dickens. The novel will throw a flash-light on the time and the men and women, which will make the swiftly moving events ever vivid in their impression on your mind. The several books of Mrs. Charles, especially The Chronicles of the Schonberg-Cotta Family, are valuable, not only as stories, but as helping you to understand the period of the Reformation, The Draytons and the Davenants doing for the Reformation in England what the Schonberg-Cotta books do for that in Germany.

If you delight in exciting tales read the White Company, by A. Conan Doyle; or A Gentleman of France, by Stanley J. Weyman. Micah Clarke, by Dr. Doyle is full of battle and siege and moving incident, and it is an error to fancy that only boys find pleasure in this thrilling sort of story. Girls like it quite as well. Can I not persuade you to go back a little and read Ivanhoe, by Sir Walter Scott, and Quentin Durward, and Tales of a Grandfather, by the same great novelist?

PROMINENT PERSONAGES.

Doings of Those Who Have Reached Distinction in Their Sphere.

Swinburne is 58 years old, is five feet high, and has a ghastly face and a head of unkempt hair.

Lord Queensberry is an enthusiastic advocate of cycling. As a physical exercise he says it has no equal.

Prince Lohnahoff, the new Russian chancellor, is a student, a writer and a scientist, and has a high standing in European literature.

Mrs. Mary E. Hopkins, of Augusta, Mich., has just celebrated her 98th birthday anniversary and has to her credit a hand-made quilt of 2,000 pieces.

The Messrs. Sarrasin, the two Swiss explorers who have been in Borneo for some years, have found a number of islands that have never before been visited by Europeans.

Mrs. Mary E. Richmond, of Batavia, N. Y., widow of Dean Richmond, the famous railroad and steamboat man, leaves an estate of $15,000,000 to be divided among her children.

Ex-Queen Isabella of Spain is the godmother of more children than any other woman in the world. She never refuses a request to act as sponsor from any one who has any kind of claim.

M. Martin, the engineer of LaGascogne, who repaired the steamer's machinery in its last voyage last winter, has been rewarded by the French government with the cross of the Legion of Honor.

Major-General Meritt, McCook's successor in rank, began his cavalry career in the second dragoons, now merged in the second cavalry. It was Harney's regiment and an ideal troop for a cavalryman.

Miss Willard announces that Dr. Lunn "is chartering a ship to bring over the White Ribbon Women" of America, and that "it is expected that as many as 250 pulpits in and around London will be occupied by temperance women."

Miss Rose Cleveland, sister of the president, has recently returned from a European tour. She is gray-haired and has a pleasant face. She is rather stout, but her taste in dress is excellent, and she is invariably attired according to the latest fashion.

Mme. Rowstowska, of Lille, France, is 112 years old. She served as the Cantiniere of a Polish regiment during the Russian campaign, was 12 times under fire, received three wounds and was decorated with the silver cross. She has survived her 15 children.

Marie Cameron, a Chicago artist, who went to the Art institute in that city in 1891 and 1892, and has been studying at the Julien academy in Paris for the past two years, she had her last picture accepted in the Salon. The subject is "A Fisher Maiden," which she painted at Etaples.

Babu Pratap Chandler Roy, who translated the Mahabharata into English, died recently in Calcutta. Ninety-two parts of his translation have already appeared, and only eight remain to be published. The work is eight times as long as the Iliad and Odyssey combined.

A rumor comes from New York that Bourke Cockran, whose eloquence electrified the last national Democratic convention, aspires to a seat in the British parliament. The seat which he held for four years in congress is to be filled during the next two years by George B. McClellan, son of the Union general of that name.

It is rumored that the Princess Letitia—who, it must be remembered, is barely 29, and is considered a beauty—does not much like the prospect of becoming the "Duchess Dowager" of Aosta on the marriage of the duke, her stepson, to the Princess Helene of Orleans, and is going to ask the king to give her another title.

From the register of visitors at Stratford-on-Avon, it would appear that 19,485 persons visited the birthplace of Shakespeare during the 12 months ending April 1, 1895. The nationality of the visitors as recorded is remarkable, the United States heading the list with 4,335, while China sends 4, Persia 2, Africa 27, and Greece only 1.

Dr. Rudolf Doehn, editor of The Dresdener Presse and author of several works on American history and translations from American poets, died recently in Dresden at the age of 70. He was one of the many Germans driven to America after 1848 for political reasons, but returned to his country after Prussians victories in 1866.

A society that admits men and women to membership on an equality is the American Authors' Guild, which held a dinner last week at Delmonico's, New York. General James Grant Wilson is president, and Mrs. Julia Ward Howe is vice-president. The speakers were Professor Boyesen, Louise Chandler Moulton, Kate T. Wood and Walter Palmer.

Alexander Dumas' latest play, "La Route de Thebes," is finished and has been accepted by the Theatre Francais, but it cannot be produced until an actress is found for the leading part. Dumas is now at work on another play which he calls "La Troublante," the, name given to a star whose course causes irregular movements in another star. It is believed to be an attack upon journalists.

Mayor Strong has not yet fulfilled his promises to give women a representation in the board of education, but a short time ago he made Mrs. W. S. Rainsford, wife of a popular clergyman, a school trustee, and now he has appointed Miss Ellen Collins as a school inspector. She is the first woman to fill the position. There seems to be no doubt that she is qualified for the place. During the war she was with the Woman's Association for the relief of the army and navy, and of recent years she has taken a practical interest in the tenement house reform, and has even gone so far as to purchase a tenement house and improve it, and encourage the tenants in self-improvement, in which she has been signally successful.

W. C. Sterling & Son, large cedar pole dealers of Monroe, Mich., have received an order for telegraph poles to be shipped to Buenos Ayres, South America. This is a trial order, and if the poles go through safely, and are satisfactory, this company is promised some large orders.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES.

If one were to attempt to enumerate and classify the sports of summer, he would have a large job on hand, but at a glance we know that thousands are engaged at these pastimes of land and water. The use of physical and muscular exertion is immense, and as a result the rough usage brings about sprains, hurts, bruises wounds and cuts, for which the greatest and surest cure is St. Jacobs Oil. All sportsmen know and acknowledge this, as also raisers and trainers of fine horses, and breeders of fine cattle. It is the sportsmen's best reliance and is kept on hand accordingly.

How much they suffer when nervous, weak and tired.

Nervous prostration is a lingering, racking, living death to those afflicted, though wholly incomprehensible to others. The cause of this condition is impure and insufficient Blood.

Make the blood pure, give it vitality and it will properly feed the nerves and make them strong. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures nervousness because it acts directly upon the blood, making it rich and pure and endowing it with vitality and strength-giving power. No other medicine has such a record of cures. Thousands write that they suffered intensely with nervousness and were cured by this great medicine. The building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful. Even a few doses are sufficient to create an appetite, and from that time on its healing, purifying, strengthening effects are plainly felt. The nerves become stronger, the sleep becomes natural and refreshing, the hands and limbs become steady, and soon "life seems to go on without effort," and perfect health is restored. Such is the work which Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing for hundreds of women today.

STEEL TANKS

We furnish steel tanks with covers, all galvanized after completion, in nests of ten, 8 to 12 feet high and 30 to 36 inches in diameter, at 2½c. per gallon. They do not rust, shrink, leak, give taste to water, nor allow foreign substances to get in. They can be put in garret or barn and thus are protected from freezing. They take no setting up, are cheaper than wood. Tank substructures of all sizes made to order. Send for price list and designs for substructure and ornamental water supply.

AERMOTOR CO. CHICAGO.

2½ CTS PER GAL

Did you ever stop to think how completely the Aermotor Co. made the modern windmill business? How it has monopolized this entire line of manufacture because of its ideas, inventions, designs, qualities and prices, or forced others to be liberal and servile imitators? Witness the steel wheel, the back geared pumper, the high geared power mill, the steel towers, fixed and tilting, the galvanizing of work after completion, the grinder centrifugal feed, the improved irrigating and other pumps, the all steel pole axe—one of the most popular things we ever put out—the steel storage and stock tanks. Everything we have touched we have bettered and cheapened. It is the thing we have delighted in and it has paid. We have established a score of branch houses, so as to have all these goods near those who want them. The Aermotor Co. has but one more ambition. It wants to build and fill one more new building. It has 2 acres of land in its present location occupied by buildings. It expects to commence in June to cover that 2 acres with a single building, 7 stories high. This will give it 14 more acres of floor space. Then when the public demand requires more goods than can be produced with this added space, it will refuse to extend further, or make any effort. It will have done its share to supply that demand. It will then turn away all new comers, CONTENTING ITSELF WITH HELPING TO CONTINUE TO SUPPLY THE WORLD WITH THE GREATER PART OF ITS WIND WHEELS, TOWERS, GRINDERS, FEED CUTTERS, PUMPS, STEEL FRAME BUZZ SAWS, STEEL STORAGE AND STOCK TANKS, STEEL SUBSTRUCTURES, ETC., ETC., GALVANIZED AFTER COMPLETION. IT WILL CONTINUE TO DEAL MOST LIBERALLY WITH THE PUBLIC, FURNISH REPAIRS AT A LOW PRICE, AND BE THE GREAT MODEL SQUARE-DEALING WIND POWER AND WATER SUPPLY HOUSE OF THE WORLD. AERMOTOR CO., CHICAGO.

BRANCH HOUSE, 231 S Main St., Los Angeles.

LOST Forever The money you have paid for rent is lost to you. By our plan, we loan, improve, build or purchase the house, lot or both, anywhere you may reside or select it. It is deeded to you. You occupy it and pay monthly rent to us until the amount due is paid. In case you die the debt is paid. Men of push can represent us everywhere. Association Bldg., 208 Mason St., room 7, San Francisco, Cal. Stamp for prospectus, etc. Inducements for monthly investments are equally profitable.
