

SIDE-HEAD PARAGRAPHS.

PENALTY WILL BE ADDED.—Tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock Sheriff Doan will close the tax list in compliance with an order of the county court. After that hour penalty will be added on all unpaid taxes.

THE WATER WORKS.—The work of laying the pipe for the new water works is progressing in a most satisfactory manner, and the proprietors are greatly pleased with the assistance offered. Pipe is arriving daily, and if there is no unlooked-for obstacle put in the way the work will be completed in the time mentioned last week.

ALL WERE HAPPY.—The strawberries and cream social given at Masonic hall last Friday evening was well attended and the large crowd seemed to thoroughly enjoy the literary program as well as the more substantial particulars. About $10 was realized, to be used for church purposes.

MANY CELEBRATIONS.—In a great many parts of the county celebrations will be held on the Fourth, namely: St. Helens, Scappoose, Rainier, Clatskanie and Quincy, with some yet to hear from. All the different places promise a good time to those who attend, so that it is a safe proposition that people will be satisfied wherever they cast their lot on that day. St. Helens extends an invitation to the entire county to come here.

A GOOD POSITION.—Professor C. H. Jones, who taught school here four years ago, has been elected principal and superintendent of the McMinville public schools, with Miss Abbie Bryant of Clatskanie, as first assistant. There are two public school buildings in McMinville and nine teachers are employed, with 468 pupils. The population of the city is 2000. School will commence there in September. The many friends of Professor Jones and Miss Bryant in Columbia county will be glad to learn of their very good fortune.

THREATENED TO KILL.—John W. Cline, of Scappoose, was arrested by Constable Ducker last Tuesday on a warrant sworn out by Cline's wife, charging him with having threatened to commit murder. From all accounts the case is no indecent in its character that it should be taken to Siberia for trial. The Clines have passed the meridian of life and have a number of grandchildren, but after living together all these years it seems now that chaos reigns supreme. Cline was locked up by the constable to await his preliminary hearing, which is docked for next Monday.

SALMON RUN REMARKABLE.—A salmon canner says the run of salmon in the lower river so far this season has been remarkable, and that more fish have been packed than at this time for many years. The fish average very large—much larger than last year. Last season those who adopted a smaller mesh than usual made money by it, but they are losing this year, and those who retained the old size are making by it. There has not been much packing done at the Cascades, and at the Dalles practically nothing. The bluebacks have not come to the front yet, but are looked for any day. They vary considerably in the time of their arrival.

LOCKS OPEN BY CHRISTMAS.—The work of pumping out the canal at the Cascades is well advanced, and will be completed in a day or two. Mr. Day, the contractor, will then put on a largely increased force of men, and rush the work with more vigor than ever, and they intend to give the United States engineers in charge an opportunity to pass a boat through the canal by Christmas. The upper guard gate in the canal will be completed in about a month, and then the upper end of the canal will be excavated. The upper and lower guard gates being closed, work can be carried on between them without fear of water coming in, and, if the work is pushed along, the engineers should be able to get a boat through by Christmas, sure.

THE MEDICAL LAW.—The physicians of the Oregon medical board are not finding always the smooth sailing they anticipated, says the Sun. The first case in which they failed was that of Mrs. L. M. Slocum, who was arrested in Newberg, by order of the board, for selling proprietary medicines. The trial took place at Newberg, and she was represented by an attorney, and with permission of the court Mrs. Abigail Scott Dunaway addressed the jury in behalf of the rights of Mrs. Slocum to dispose of the medicines. Her address completely shattered the argument of the prosecution and the jury acquitted the defendant, after a few minutes consultation. The announcement of the verdict created considerable rejoicing among the women who were to be affected by the decision in the case.

ONLY SIX YEARS OLD.—The little six-year-old son of O. D. Garrison, of Scappoose, killed a large deer one day last week. It was this way: Mr. Garrison, accompanied by a friend, went out with their dogs, hunting. The dogs started the deer and gave chase until the animal, by being closely pursued, was obliged to "take water," and plunged into Scappoose creek closely followed by the dogs until they reached a point near the Garrison residence, where it stopped and held the dogs at bay. The boy, hearing the barking of the dogs, gathered his father's rifle and went over to the bank of the creek and taking a "real" over a log fired. The deer fell. When the men returned it was found that the ball had entered the forehead in the exact spot to cause instant death. It is said the boy was not nearly so much excited over the event as his parents were.

Any one who has ever had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stumm, 220 Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, over his fortunate escape from a siege of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stumm is foreman of Merriam's confectionery establishment. Some months ago, on leaving the heated work room to run across the street on an errand, he was caught out in the rain. The result was that when ready to go home that night he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home, and on arrival was placed before a good fire and thoroughly rubbed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During the evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment, and by morning was relieved of all rheumatic pains. He now takes great pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. For sale by Dr. Edwin Ross, druggist.
