

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.—The Harrison republican club of Deer Island held a meeting last Sunday at 2 o'clock. T. J. Cleston, Harrison Allen, James Munkle and J. R. Beagle from St. Helens, were in attendance, and the two first named were the orators of the day. At the close of the speeches Mr. Allen entertained the audience with one of his original solos, which greatly pleased those present. A great deal of enthusiasm prevailed throughout the meeting. There were about 40 persons present.

PETITIONS GRANTED.—On February 4th Senator Mitchell presented in the senate of the United States a petition from the Clatskanie republican club, praying that an appropriation be made for the improvement of the Clatskanie river, and the petition was referred to the committee on commerce. Senator Mitchell also, on the same day, presented a petition from sundry citizens of Scappoose, praying for the enactment of legislation prohibiting appropriations for sectarian purposes. This petition was referred to the committee on judiciary. These facts are gleaned from the Congressional Record of the above date.

BROWN'S GUN FOUND.—Thursday's Roseburg Plaindealer says: Ed Combs, driver of the Coos Bay Stage Line, came in from Myrtle Point last night, and reports that Sam Brown's gun had been found in the river at the place where the last traces of his tracks were found by the officers in pursuit. This fact leads to the almost certain that Brown was drowned there last Saturday, as reported by the officials who were on his trail. If true, and there is scarcely a doubt of it, it closes the drama and shows that the way of the transgressor is hard, and is a warning to all who do it. They will eventually close an ignominious life in an ignoble way.

LIVE ALLIGATORS.—I. L. Campbell sent William Renshaw three live alligators which he obtained while in Florida, says the Eugene Guard. They are little fellows about nine inches in length. They came by express, in a box about 4x4x9 inches, with an air hole in each end. When they reached here they appeared to be dried up and dead, and Mr. Renshaw was going to throw them away, but was induced to throw them in water, and they soon soaked up and became quite lively. He now has them in a tub of water, and they have received many callers during the day. With them came instructions not to feed them before the first of May.

A PECULIAR INCIDENT.—A peculiar incident occurred in connection with the hanging of Lloyd Montgomery at Albany last week. At one corner of the enclosure where the scaffold was erected, stood a woodshed, and on the roof were two roosters who had spent the night there, and as the hanging took place at 7 o'clock they had not yet left their roost. No sound was heard from them until the trap was sprung, and then one of the roosters arose and crowed loudly. He then settled down again until the doctor pronounced Montgomery dead, and just as the announcement was made the rooster again crowed and then became quiet. It was only a circumstance, but was a peculiar one.

REED CLUB MEETING.—Last Monday evening an interesting meeting was held by the Reed republican club, of Houlton, called to order by J. B. Godfrey, president. The club was visited by members of the McKinley club, of St. Helens, who, by their president, Mr. Allen, invited the members of the Reed club to attend and take part in the proceedings of the McKinley club, and also in the organization known as the U. S. Senate, which meets at the same time and place. Both invitations were accepted. Speeches were made by Mr. Allen and Mr. Beagle, also by Mr. Cleston, of the Reed club. After a vote of thanks to the visitors the meeting adjourned to meet on Washington's birthday.

TWO OFFICIALS OUT.—The employees of the postoffice were somewhat surprised Tuesday afternoon to learn that Assistant Postmaster C. A. Hughes had been dismissed from the service, and that money order chief Silvey Stewart had handed in his resignation," says the Chronicle. "There has been some talk in official circles for a long time to the effect that Mr. Protzman and Mr. Hughes were not on the best of terms, but it was not expected that Mr. Hughes would be dismissed. Mr. W. A. Munley, formerly private secretary to ex-governor Penoyer, has been installed in Mr. Hughes' place, and will, for the balance of Mr. Protzman's term write assistant postmaster after his name. There is no reason assigned for Mr. Hughes' dismissal other than personal one, and Mr. Protzman has nothing to say against the efficiency of either of the gentlemen." These and other changes have been expected in the Portland postoffice for some time. Indeed, Postmaster Protzman's head has been considered in danger for some time, and no doubt a suspicion against some of the assistants has brought about the dismissal above referred to.

A TERRIBLE MURDER.—On Thursday evening of last week an awful tragedy occurred in Portland. George Baxter, in a fit of rage, cut his wife's throat from ear to ear, with a razor, and afterwards attempted to commit suicide with the same weapon. After slashing his own throat a time or two he was stopped by an officer who had arrived by this time. When the officer appeared on the scene Mrs. Baxter lay dead upon the floor and a little 4-year-old daughter was in bed in the same room. Baxter was taken to the hospital where he is being attended by physicians who think his chances for recovery are favorable, and in the meantime he is closely guarded to prevent his escape or doing himself further bodily injury. The cause which led up to this terrible deed was the dissipating habits of Mrs. Baxter, who, on that same evening had been taken out of the back room of a saloon in a drunken condition by her husband. Mrs. Baxter's maiden name was Anderson, and her parents reside near Vancouver, Wash. It is said that Baxter was engaged in the logging business on Scappoose bay only a few years ago, and is well known all along the river.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.—The regular meeting of the McKinley club of this city was held on Wednesday evening. The attendance was large and speeches were made by several members of other clubs. Mr. W. A. Wood, who happened to be present at the time, was invited to make some remarks, and responded by saying that he did not belong to any party but felt a common interest in the welfare of his country, and was proud to say he was an American citizen; but that not agreeing with the republican party anything he might say at that time might have a tendency to throw cold water on the proceedings. Mr. Wood was lustily cheered at the conclusion of his remarks. At this point the club meeting adjourned and the routine work of the senate was taken up, this being the first regular session of the new organization. After some preliminary arrangements the introduction and first reading of bills and petitions was taken up. A bill was introduced by Senator Allen of Nebraska to increase the circulating medium $500,000,000 by the issuance of irredeemable greenbacks in three installments of different dates, which was referred to the committee on finance. A bill for the enactment of legislation extending the right of suffrage to women was also introduced, accompanied by a petition signed by women from many parts of the United States asking the enactment of such a law. Among the signatures attached to the petition were those of Mary Ellen Leese, Susan B. Anthony, Mary E. Hobart, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Rose Cleveland, and many others. Discussion of the suffrage bill took up the remainder of the evening, but final consideration was deferred until the next meeting. At 10:20 the senate adjourned.

"ONLY A FEW OF US LEFT."—Woke nika ticky. The beautiful lingo known as Chinook jargon, which was formerly the principal means of communication between the pioneers and the Indians of this region, and among settlers in sections where Indians were numerous, was in almost as common use as English, is now very seldom heard, and those who can understand it, let alone speak it, can truly say "there is only a few of us left." The following anecdote brought from Hood River by Mr. Will Langille is therefore given for the benefit of the few old-timers who can understand and appreciate it: Mr. Langille meeting an old Indian going fishing on Sunday, said to him, "Jim, you old sinner, why don't you go to church?" To which Jim replied, "Woke nika ticky clatawa cuxa church house. Okok nan halo comux ashalle yee. Ict nan mitwit, halo, halo, halo. Tensaluchman hyu sing, sing, sing. Siwash potlach chichamin, chickamin, chickamin. Woke nika ticky."

TO CHANGE THE BOUNDARY.—When it comes to a swap, jackknives or boundaries, it is easy to tell our origin, says the Oregonian. There is some serious talk of Lewis county, Wash., trading her south tier of townships to Cowlitz, Cowlitz to give to Clarke county the Lewis river country. The Cowlitz Advocate says of the proposed dicker: "Of course we would like to have that part of Lewis county, for it contains much fine agricultural land and some excellent forests of timber; but the idea of giving up the Lewis river country might not meet with the same favor. We might afford the swap, to be sure, but the matter would have to be thoroughly investigated first, in order to ascertain if we would be benefitted by the deal. The Lewis river is a mighty nice piece of country."

SHE WANTS EDNA BAXTER.—A Mrs. Edward Gardner, of Savio's island, a sister of Jennie Baxter, the woman killed last Thursday night, has written a letter to Superintendent Gardner, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, demanding that Edna, the little child of the Baxters, be turned over to her, says the Oregonian. The claims that the girl was given to her on oath by the parents, in the presence of witnesses, and she wants possession of her. It is not likely that she or any of the Anderson family will be given the custody of the child, and when the prosecuting attorney is through with her, an order of court will likely be asked to have Edna given in care of her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Gilmore, who is entirely willing to adopt the child as her own.

A. Wood, H. L. Shatto and Oscar Sheldelin.
