

MAJORITY FOR MCKINLEY.—The steamer Mascot took an Odd Fellows excursion to Portland one day last week, and while on the trip a straw vote was taken for president. The result was: McKinley, 41; Bryan, 25. No special effort was made in behalf of either side and the qualified electors of the party voted according to their individual opinion.

SHORT WHEAT CROP.—The crop report issued from the department of agriculture for September indicates that the wheat crop of the world is short compared with last year, hence prices should range higher for the Pacific coast crop. California is the only state that produces any great amount of wheat where the crop is reported up to the average.

NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR.—The telegraphic dispatches of last Thursday from Colorado went to the effect that Judge George W. Allen, father of Attorney Allen of this city, had been nominated for governor by the republican state convention. Judge Allen has been on the bench of the circuit court of that state for a number of years, and received the nomination for governor without opposition.

COURT HOUSE REPAIRS.—The upper story of the court house has been undergoing a change lately. A neat and comfortable office has been arranged for the county assessor, so that the official in the future will have more of the conveniences necessary for the work of his office. He now occupies a large front room up stairs which affords plenty of room and light for his work. It will be convenient for a jury room also.

BARGE LOAD OF WOOD.—The big barge Columbia's Chief loaded wood at this place the first of this week for the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company. The cargo consisted of about 250 cords which will be used in the harbor at Portland for steamboats, where about 300 cords per day are consumed. This is the first cargo shipped by the flume company at this place, though a considerable amount has been sold to the regular line steamers.

SUIT ON ATTACHMENT BOND.—Harrison Allen went to Rainier Tuesday to appear for the defendant in Justice Debat's court in the case of Sylverson Bros. vs. E. F. Willis. The suit was brought to recover $100 on an attachment bond. The defendant demurred to the complaint on the ground that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, which was sustained by the court, and the defendant was allowed judgment for his costs.

FOR THE NEW NAVY.—The contract for the building of two torpedo boats for the United States navy has been awarded by Secretary Herbert to the firm of Wolff & Zwickler, of Portland. It is said that work of construction will commence in a short time, and the preliminary arrangements are already being made. The vessels are to be completed by October 8, 1897. The contract price will be $76,000 each, and their construction will furnish employment for about 200 skilled mechanics. Shipbuilding is a new industry for Oregon, especially this class of vessels. They are to be of steel with a guaranteed speed of 25 miles per hour.

BOY BADLY BRUISED.—Last Tuesday afternoon Frank, the 13-year-old son of Mr. George Kelley living at Houston, fell off the wood flume in this city, receiving severe bruises about the head and limbs. His left leg was punctured in one place to the bone. No bones were broken, however, and Dr. Cliff soon had the boy in condition to go home. Frank, in company with an older brother, was walking along the plank placed by the flume for that purpose, and while at a point where the flume was built on trestle at an elevation of about thirty feet the boys stopped to release some sticks of wood which had become jammed. Frank's feet slipped and he fell. The other boy got hold of him but had not sufficient strength to prevent him falling and the boy dropped to the rocks below with the above result.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE LAW.—The case of the State of Oregon against Ed Copeland was tried in Judge Stephens' court at Portland last Tuesday, resulting in a verdict of "not guilty." This case has been pending since the close season last spring, and grew out of an alleged violation of the fish law. During the close season prior to April 10th last, Ed Copeland was purser, mate and manager of the steamer Kehani, and while acting in such capacity a considerable amount of Chinook salmon was found on board the steamer or really in Copeland's possession, whereupon Fish and Game Warden McGuire caused his arrest. He was found guilty at the time in Justice Geisler's court at the state circuit court. Thus it appears that the salmon law as regards the shipping of fish during the close season cannot be enforced.

THE FOURTH GAME.—The St. Helens and Warren baseball teams played a game on the grounds of the latter last Saturday. The score was 48 to 24 in favor of St. Helens. The game was an exciting one from the beginning. Will Slavens of the Warren team came near losing an eye by reason of a foul which glanced from the bat into his eye, cutting an ugly gash beneath the eye and on the side of the nose. Harrison Allen of the home team received a wicked cut on the forehead from the wire which gave way in the face mark while he was behind the bat. Mr. Allen was disabled from playing, but Mr. Slavens was so seriously hurt that he was obliged to retire from the game. An other game between these two teams was played at Warren Sunday, making the fourth game between them this year. The score of the latter game was 51 to 19 in favor of the St. Helens boys, giving them three out of the four games played. The game on Saturday was umpired by William Johnson and Sunday by C. W. Garrison.

In a recent letter to the manufacturers, Mr. W. F. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years since, and before leaving home wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating that if they were not she would bring a quantity with her, as she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequaled by any other. They are for sale here by Dr. Edwin Ross.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

They Were Recaptured by Constable Fowler at Goble.

Some excitement was occasioned on our streets last Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock when a private citizen informed the deputy sheriff, who, by the way, according to his own statement, "feels himself equal to the emergency," that two of the prisoners in his care and custody were on their way out of town. As Charles and Theodore Brown, who were in for burglary, and committed to Justice Traylor's court at Mayor last week and were held to await the action of the grand jury. The boys had gone through the same hole in the floor of the jail that George Upton used to escape about a year ago. Before leaving, however, they did not forget to leave a farewell message to those in whose keeping they were. It was something like this: "Good bye, Mr. Warrant; we will meet you in heaven." They then drew a picture representing one of them in the act of poking through the hole in the floor which they left to the sheriff to be done. When the aforesaid private citizen had informed the deputy, who was in charge that day (Sheriff Rice being in Portland) that the boys were captured, a little commotion in the open air there instantly became great confusion about the sheriff's office. The boys at this time could not have been more than three or four blocks away. And in a few minutes groups of men and boys were seen going in the direction the fugitives were last seen. Little lads, and boys and boys were brought into action and the pursuit continued. In a few hours, however, the posse were all safely back in town, but the boys were still pursuing their course unmolested, and later in the evening were reported to have been seen in the vicinity of Goble. Sheriff Rice, thinking no doubt, that he had left his prisoners in the custody of a person who was "equal to the emergency," had gone to Portland and had not, of course, been deeply grieved to receive the news of their escape. Nothing more was heard of the two escaped prisoners until the sheriff received word late Saturday night from Constable Ed. Fowler at Goble that he had the prisoners. They were captured by Constable Fowler while in the act of stealing a horse for the purpose of crossing the river. Sunday morning they were brought back to jail, and this time they were kept in the cells where they should have been kept in the first place, and from which there is no chance for escape. The history of the past has shown that the jail here is not sufficient to hold prisoners unless they are kept in the cells provided for that purpose. It is said by some that occupants of the cells should not be confined to the cells, which is an erroneous idea. Prisoners are placed in jail for safe keeping and the sheriff is justified in using all the means at his disposal to keep them there. If it is necessary to confine them to the cells (and it seems to be in this jail) there they should be kept until such time as the court may decree otherwise. It is absolutely impossible to keep a man in this jail without confining him in the steel cells, and if it is not the intention to safely keep him, what is the use of making arrests?
