He Was a Quiet-Looking Man, but He Knew How to Shoot.

The ticket agent at Big Bend was not the man for the place, and he realized it as well as many others.

"He's the softest thing in these here parts. I'm not going to buy any more tickets, but I'll scare 'em out like his 'ar' curl."

Bob Williams was spokesman for the minority, and was also the minority as well. He looked very serious as he said:

"No, sir, and—?" And there was a pop! pop! pop! and six bullets were chasing each other into William's anatomy.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a congested condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

THE FARM AND HOME

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO FARMER AND HOUSEWIFE.

Lesson in Up-to-Date Farming—Corn Shredders and Huskers—Second Growth Clover—Quality of Vegetables—Grain Cheaper than Hay.

How a Live Farmer Farms. I have fifty-eight acres of land, keep three cows, three yearlings, two work horses, fifteen sheep, forty hens and two turkeys, writes a farmer in Colman's Rural World.

It is very natural for purchasers in choosing trees for planting to select the largest, thinking that these are nearest the bearing age and will soonest become fruitful.

Draining Pasture Lands. Many fields are used for pasture only because they are full of old springs of water which make them too wet and cold for profitable cultivation.

The Corn Shredder. Last season's experience with corn shredders and huskers has developed several objectionable features, the most serious being that they are too expensive, and that the fodder too frequently molds when baled or stored in mows.

Value of Tansy. The sharp, bitter taste and smell of tansy weed is disliked much by insects that worry stock. It has long been a practice with farmers to gather some tansy leaves, and rub them well over horses at work, giving especial care to the places which cannot be reached by the animal's tail.

Second-Growth Clover. The late growth of clover is not usually large in bulk or heavy in weight, but it makes up in quality for what it lacks in quantity.

Quality of Vegetables. There is great difference in quality of vegetables aside from their freshness. It is due to their method of growing. All roots need to be grown quickly, which require that the soil be rich and moist.

er than hay, and weight for weight, are little higher than the cost of hay when both are brought to Eastern markets. This will doubtless lead to a larger use of both corn and oats as feed, supplementing the deficiency of hay which has now existed on most Eastern farms two or more years.

Young Trees Best for Planting. It is very natural for purchasers in choosing trees for planting to select the largest, thinking that these are nearest the bearing age and will soonest become fruitful.

Second-Growth Clover. The late growth of clover is not usually large in bulk or heavy in weight, but it makes up in quality for what it lacks in quantity. Old farmers have long known it as an especially good feed for young lambs and young calves in spring. But there is a still better use for it, and that is as feed for hens in winter so as to dilute their grain feed.

A WAR REMINISCENCE.

Scenes at Hatcher's Creek and Petersburg Recalled.

John B. Scace speaks in a Report of Striving Scenes—Escaped With a Slight Wound, but Like Other Veterans, Has Suffered Since—A Story That Reads Like a Page From History.

When one encounters in print the life story of some scarred veteran of the civil war, a feeling of admiration and sympathy is the certain result. Accustomed though we are to tales of heroism and suffering in every day life, there is something peculiarly attractive about these old war records, serving, as they do, as a sacred passport to the heart of every true American.

Mr. Scace is a member of Berkshire Lodge, No. 63, I. O. O. F. He enlisted in the army in 1863, in Company A, Fort-ninth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, serving under Col. W. F. Bartlett, First Brigade, First Division, Nineteenth Corps, with which he participated in some of the hottest battles of the war, including Port Hudson, Donaldsonville and Plain Store, where he was wounded.
