Upright Character of James Gordon Hemott in the Newspaper World, The character of James Gordon Ben-nett as a leader of journalism is admirably summed up in an interesting article by James Creelman. As an edit-or, says the writer, Mr. Bennett is impatient of political control or partner-ship. He scents danger in every approach, and he will deliberately attack a party to prove that he is not under According to him, an tower, out of sound and out of reach. Otherwise there would be conspiracy and compromise. Private promises broken in the public interest Friendships are to be regarded as traps for the editorial conscience. So Mr. Bennett is a lonely man in a crowd, a hermit in the midst of bustling life.

I can tell one story that illustrates the magnificent perversity and shrewishness that have preserved the Herald as a historic example of incorruptible journalism. When Gen. Crespo undertook to overthrow the rotten and tyrannical government of President Palacio, he had thirty badly-armed Venezuelans to follow him. The revolution was sanctioned by the people, but they were afraid, at first, to join Crespo's standard. Gradually, however, he gathered together a small army, and advanced upon the government forces. Palacio and his friends had looted the treasury. money was needed to crush the revolt and a sum great enough for the purposes could only be had in Europe About this time an old friend of Mr. Bennett called upon him in Paris, and explained that the Venezuelan government desired to place loan bonds for many millions of dollars in the London market. He informed Mr Rennett that he was to be the agent of Palacio in the matter, and would make a fortune out of it. Then he asked for the co-operation of the Herald, on the score of old-time friendship, and finally be announced that if the Herald could belittle the revolutionary cause, and so stimulate the confidence of bankers in the government bonds, the transaction would be worth two or three hundred thousands dollars to Mr. Bennett. At this Mr. Bennett smiled grimly.

"It is worth a million dollars to the Herald to know these facts," he said. "I do not quite understand you,"

"It is worth $1,000,000 to support the other side."

"Why, Mr. Bennett, am I too late? Have the other men seen you?" "No; not at all. But you have given me proof that the government of Veneguela deserves to fall. It is worth $1,000,000 to the Herald to be on the right side. I shall back up the revolution, and let the truth be known to the conversation was confidential, and that a newspaper had no right to take advantage of facts communicated under the seal of secrecy. Within an hour, a cable message set the wonderful machinery of the Herald in motion, and day after day its columns were crowded with dispatches from special correspondents in Venezuenia, describing thiev ytwovi the revolutionary army and the weakness of the government. These dispatches were reproduced in all the European capitals, and Palacio's bonds could not find a purchaser. Without money or credit, the tyrant fell; and the first act of Crespo, after he entered Caracas at the head of his victorious army, was to send a long cablegram, at the public expense, thanking the Herald, over his own signature, for its services in the cause of liberty and constitutional government.

An Exceptional Case. "You know old John Goodner?"

"Yes."

"Never called anything but 'Honest John' for forty years."

"County treasurer for twenty-eight years and guardian for half the orphans in the country? 'arusted by everybody." "Yep."

"Dead three weeks and experts have gone over his books." "Well?"

"They found that he was honest in every way."

FOUGHT FOR HIS LIFE.

Mill Manager Besieged By Infuriated

Chipley, Fla., Oct. 26. — Beseiged by infuriated negroes, J. M. Criglar, manager of Hagerman's lumber mills at Hager station, four miles west of here, defended himself with such effect that he killed two of his assailants and wounded four others. Criglar became ngaged in a quarrel with one of his employes and the other negroes drew pistols and began firing at the manager. Criglar ran to his office, locked himseli in and opened fire with a Winchester on the maddened negroes who surrounded the building.

For an hour the battle conitnued and when the Louisville & Nashville train arrived at the station the negroes were preparing to set fire to the building and oremate Criglar. The train crew and engers, however, rushed to Crigpassengers, however, lar's aid and dispersed the negroes. The negroes had fired over 200 shots into the building, but Criglar escaped by lying on the floor. As soon as the negroes fired a volley, however, he would rise and shoot at them through the windows. The negroes killed are Amos Judson and Alexander. The wounded are Henry Simpson, Jack Noble, Andrew Miller and Albert Lester. Simpson and Lester are thought to be fatally wounded.

SUPPLIES FOOD TO THE POOR

Nevel Work of an English Co-operative Society.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Ben Jones of London; Joseph Clay, of Gloucester, and William Stokes, of Newcastle, arrived from the antipodes on the steamer Monowai. They are representatives of the Manchester Co-operative Society, an institution which is doing business with a capital of £7,000,000, and which has big stores and agencies scattered throughout the United Kingdom.

The society is organized for the purpose of affording the poor and middle classes an opportunity of purchasing supplies and the necessaries of life di-rect from the producers, growers and manufacturers, thereby saving the purchaser the profits of the wholesaler and The society has proved a big success, and has become an ex-tensive and powerful concern in England, and the representatives now her say they have been in New Zealand and Australia to see if it would be practicable and feasible to organize branch agencies in those colonies.

As a result of their visit they say it is highly probable that the society will engage in the business of handling refrigerated meats from the Australian

First—All of the inhabitants of the country or outside the lines of fortifications of the towns must betake themselves to the towns occupied by troops within a period of eight days. Those who are found outside the towns after the expiration of that period will be considered rebels and will be taken and tried as such

Second-The withdrawlof groceries from towns is absolutely prohibited, and also the transportation of them by sea or land, without permit from the military authorities, violators of this provision to be tried and punished as siders of the rebels.

Third-Proprietors of cattle must carry them to towns or make application immediately for protection.

Fourth-Eight days after the publication of this proclamation, all rebels surrendering in every municipality will be subject to the captain-general's disposal to order them where to reside, and it will be a commendation in their favor for them to give available news about the enemy and to surrender with their firearms; and, moreover, to surrender collectively in their organiza-

GOLD FROM AUSTRALIA.

Two and a Half Millions Arrived on

San Francisco, Oct. 26 .- The steamer Monowai, which arrived from Australia today, has on board about $2,500,000 worth of English sovereigns, consigned to Assistant United States Treasurer Berry, to be melted down and milled into double eagles here and stored away in the subtreasury.

About a month ago a shipment valed at $1,500,000 was received here from Australia, and at that time Assistant Treasurer Berry was authorized by the treasury department at Washington storage in the subtreasury and to accept additional shipments to the amount of $6,000,000. Soon afterward dispatches unnounced that the second shipment from Australia, amounting to $3,500,-000 bullion value, had started on its way from Australia.

The treasure will be taken to the mint where the gold will be tested for weight and fineness and afterwards either coined into $20 pieces or stored in the subtreasury as bullion.

The gold thus shipped from Australia is placed to the credit of merchants who are buying in New York and Europe to make up the balance of trade, which is naturally in favor of New York at this season. A dozen years sgo this plan was devised by Hugh raig and others, and by it the annual saving in the exchange between here and New York amounts to a large sum. The next shipment, which will arrive efore the first of the year, will probably be larger than either of the two

INFORMATION SUFFICIENT.

Conviction of C. O. Downing of Embezzlement Sastained.

Olympia, Wash., Oct. 28 .- The supreme court today affirmed the lower Washington, respondent, vs. C. O. Downing, appellant. This was a case wherein the appellant, as clerk of Spokane county, was convicted of em-bezzlement. Counsel for Downing urged that the information was insufficient to charge an offense, under the act of 1893, making it embezzlement for any county officer to whom a salary is paid to fail to pay to the county treasurer all sums that shall come into his hands for fees and charges in his office; also that the information did not charge an offense under section 57, of the penal code. The supreme court held contrary to this contentio in the case of the State vs. Isensee, the defaulting city treasurer of New Whatcom, and concludes upon the authority of that case, that no error was committed in the lower court in overruling the demurrer in this case. The excep tions taken by the appellant to certain charges of the lower court are held by the supreme court to be untenable.

Drake," said Judge Berry of the Second division of the city court, and a look of solemnity settled upon the face of the young judicial officer as he prepared to perform his first marriage cere

"Your honor," said Mr. D. R. Keith, one of the lawyers present, "I think this occasion should be made as brilliant as possible, and I hope your honor will appoint the attendants.'

"You are right, Mr. Kelth," replied the judge, "and I think it would be nothing but proper for the sheriff to act as best man and for the clerk and Mr. Walker to act as attendants.'

These preliminary arrangements having been completed, the door was opened and Bill Drake, a simple-looking negro, who wore drab-colored pants and a faded jacket of blue much too short for him, came snickering into the room, followed by Nora Reeves, a great mountain of black flesh that loomed formidably above the little negro in front of her.

"Have you ever been married?" asked the Judge, turning to the man. "Yesser, I wuz married one time," replied the negro.

"Well, where's your wife?" "She wuz daid, jedge, de las' time heered fum her."

the judge, and Bill, from the inside pocket of his vest, pulled out a license. "Bill," said Judge Berry, in his most ministerial tone, "do you recognize the wise dictates of Providence that it is not good for man to live alone, and also that it is the duty of man to multiply and replenish the earth?"

"Yasser, jedge," said Bill, fervently. "Do you?" continued the judge, "take this woman to be your lawfully wedded wife, to protect and cherish, to care for her in sickness and in health until death you doth part?"

"Yasser, jedge." "Nora," said the judge, turning to the roman, "do you agree to take this man to be your lawfully wedded husband for better or for worse, to care for him in sickness and in health, to love, honor and obey until death you doth part?"

"I now pronounce you man and wife." said the judge, and some irreverent bystander said, in a low tone of voice: 'And may the Lord have mercy on your souls." The woman puckered up her mouth and poohed as she went out, and reaching the door, said: "I dunno why in de namer goodness dat jedge doan' tak an git married hissef, das wat I dunno, an' him a talkin' 'bout de wise dictates er Providence."-Atlanta Journal.

Divorce and Insanity.

Edgar Saltus, a writer of novels who wants to be called a "generator," and not a "degenerate," has discovered that statistics compiled by the Germans show that insanity is ten times as frequent among divorced people of either sex, as among either those who have remained in a state of single blessedness or have acquired the state of marital happiness. From this, Mr. Saltus for next year amounts to $65,000 argues, that "divorces not only wreck the home, but sometimes wreck the in- broom-handle factory in Burlington. tellect. Human affections are foundly mysterious; the ties that association weaves are enigmatic realities; and when, through caprice, folly or sin, they are trampled on, it is nature that punishes and the killing of love becomes the killing of reason." Saltus' phrases sound pretty, but they are the veriest nonsense, written for the purpose of making copy. It is a deliberate putting of the cart before the horse. The German statistics only prove that it is people who are not have fixed the tax levy for 1896 at perfectly sound mentally who marry people they cannot live with happliy ver afterward. Sane people sense enough to marry a compatible companion, and grit enough to "grin triet specials, is 12 mills. and bear it" if they make a mistake.

Hirsch's Hoodoo.

Baron Hirsch, shortly before his death, sold his very beautiful estate at St. Jean, because it was too damp to be healthy. He purchased another through an agent and started to erect a magnificent chateau upon it. After be had expended about £35,000 on the new property, which he intended to endow as a children's hospital after his death, he was informed that it was even damper than St. Jean. He went in person to see, and unding the report true, and that the property was of no use whatever for his benevolent purpose, swindled, caused bim to fly into a vioment of a debt, and Harry used a big lent rage, which was the direct cause of his death.
