Washington, Feb. 27 .- The senate was storm-swept today by such passion-ate debate, such extraordinary demon-strations in the crowded galleries, and such dramatic personal exchanges besuch dramatic personal exchanges be-tween the conspicnous figures of the senate as to make the day one of the most memorable in the annals of the upper branch of congress. Cuba was the theme, and it seemed to stir all the pent-up emotions of months. It brought the complete displacement of appropria-tion bills, threatening their failure, and the advancement of the Cohen question. the advancement of the Cuban question to the very front of senate business. It disclosed also that the resolution de-manding of Spain the immediate and unconditional release of Julio Sanguilly, having on a test vote secured the right of way, will be resisted by protracted debate. The Allen resolution for sending battle-ships to Cuba came up soon after the senate opened, at 11 A. M., and Allen severely arraigned Spain for its crucities against women and children. American officials. When Hale sought to interject ques-tions, Daniel suggestively stated that he would yield in due time, whether it be to the organ of the captain-general of Cuba or of the queen of Spain, or of any one else. In view of Hale's atti-tude on the Cuban question, the mean-ing was unmistakable. Personal feel-ing was quieted, however, by explana-tions.

This was followed by a series of explosive incidents, culminating in a ring-ng statement by Frye, that if he had his way, a warship would start forth-with for Havana. This sent a thrill with for Havana. This sent a thrill through the crowded galleries, which broke into long-continued and vocifer-ous applause, which the vice-president tried vainly to restrain. Mills exultantly declared that the galleries were filled with American citizens, who had a right to express their feelings. Speeches followed in quick success

The break up of the joint assembly caucus was the first event of this very important day. ## WEEKLY MARKET LETTER.

Downing, Hopkins & Company's Review

The declining values for American wheat and flour during the last decade and half can be traced to known causes. The increased competition in supplying wants of importing countries by Russia, India, Argentine and Australia Bussia, India, Argentine and Australia account for the major portion of the de-cline in values. The still further re-duction in values can be accounted for by the decreased cost of production, owing to improved machinery and to some extent by the decreased cost of transportation and smaller intervening charges between the producer and con-sumer. The extreme low range of valsumer. The extreme low range of val-nes during the last two crop years was due largely to widespread commercial disaster, consequent panic and lessened purchasing power. The present specu-lative contention is that vital changes have taken place in the known condi-tions which have produced previous low values. To begin with, India is no longer a competitor of America in the wheat export trade. Famine at home has atomed has a super street under the has stopped her exports more effectually than war or its attending blockades. The Argentine Republic, at one time a The Argentine Republic, at one time a serious competitor, is suffering from two succeeding crop failures and her ex-portable snrpius no longer exerts any depressing influence on values. Austra-lia, owing to orop failures, has become an importer instead of an exporter of wheat. Only two remaining countries possess exportable supplies of wheat— America and Russia—a condition that cannot be changed for more than a year to come. Russian advices, always unto come.
