ST. HELENS, OREGON, JUNE 11.

TOM WATSON, Bryan's running mate in the campaign of 1896, has denounced the free silver movement. This might have been expected since it has been known all along that the populists are opposed to anything for money except irredemable paper.

Fifty million dollars is a large lump of money to put into the pockets of the farmers in less than a year's time. That is the increase, however, in the value of breadstuffs exported during the past ten months over the corresponding ten months of the preceding year, the exports of breadstuffs in the ten months ending with April, 1897, amounting to $114,348,937.

A BILLION dollars in gold is a good deal of money, yet it is probable that the four years between the campaigns of 1896 and 1900 will see that sum added to the currency of the world. The gold productions of last year were $220,000,000, and all indications point to a rapid increase, so that it is probable that the four years mentioned will add sixteen per cent to the gold money of the world, while the population of the world in that period will increase about four per cent.

It seems almost certain now that the Dingley tariff bill will have a good majority in its favor when it is placed on its final passage in the senate. A number of democrats have expressed their friendliness towards the measure. Jones and Stewart, populists, have also been voting with the republicans for protection upon the various items of the bill as far considered. More rapid progress is being made in the consideration of the bill than was at first anticipated, and it is believed a final vote will be reached by the first of July.

The United States government is again able to meet its current running expenses without the necessity of issuing bonds. The receipts over expenditures for the month of May aggregate $688, the first time in four years that the balance has been in favor of the United States. It may not be too much to expect that the revenues will continue to increase to such an extent that a large balance will be available to pay off at least a part of the national debt during the present administration. A large decrease was made in the national debt during the Harrison administration, but for the past four years the debt has been rapidly increasing.

EX-SENATOR HILL, in a recent statement for publication, showed that 60,000 democrats in New York voted for McKinley or stayed away from the polls last year, while 42,000 voted for Palmer. Applying this estimate to the democrats of the country, it would appear that nearly half a million democrats were driven out of that party by its adoption of free silver as a leading party principle. Nevertheless Mr. Bryan insists that this must be the leading feature of the platform in 1900 and that therefore gold democrats may as well be kept out from this time forward. He has issued a new pronouncement to this effect, in which he says: "Knowing that they will fight each other three years hence, is it reasonable to suppose that they will be political friends in the meantime?"

A MEETING of populist leaders was held in the state of Washington the other day at which time a policy for that party to pursue in the future was adopted. It was decided that hereafter that party would stand or fall upon the cardinal principles of the party, to-wit, fiat money. The free coinage of silver was declared to be only a temporary makeshift at best, and was not the remedy sought by the party in that state. They also declared that hereafter no fusion would be entered into with any party; that they would fight their battles alone and be content to wait for success. Greed for office, however, will, no doubt, change their minds by the time another convention is to be held. Populists are indeed independent except at the very time when independent action would be a virtue.

"Are times getting better?" This question is asked daily and can be best answered by comparing the market reports of the present day with those of one year ago. There are very few commodities on the market today that do not command a much better price and a more ready sale than they did in June of last year. Wheat has doubled in price, hops have advanced, the price of wool has increased about fifty per cent, beef and stock cattle have gone up, and all the smaller articles have advanced more or less, all of which indicates, to an unprejudiced mind, that times are improving. It is slow to be sure, but an improvement is, nevertheless, visible. The old adage that "it is easier to tear down than to build up," applies in its fullest sense to present conditions, and the building up will naturally be much slower than the tearing down.

THERE can be no doubt that with the completion of the Astoria railroad, Columbia county, and particularly that part directly adjacent to the new line, will take on new life. Building activity that will naturally follow in Astoria and the increased population there, will create a demand for all commodities produced here. The logging industry will revive more or less, because the railroad, by skirting along the edge of the tide land, will furnish opportunity for tapping the fine belts of timber by branch roads, which have heretofore been too far from tide water where good landings could be had. With the main line in operation short spurs may be built into the timber at almost any point and the logs taken to a deep water landing, or, if need be, to the mills at Astoria and Portland by rail. The new road cannot fail to develop, at least, the western portion of the county.

STATE NEWS NOTES.

Grasshoppers are reported in considerable quantities in Morrow county. In places entire fields of wheat are said to have been eaten up. In one place 140 acres of wheat was entirely destroyed.

Jeff Conley, a sheep man of Grant county, was accidentally shot and killed at his camp last Monday. He went to the spring for water and when he stooped over his pistol fell from his belt against the pile he was carrying and was discharged. The bullet passed through his body.

Susan Fulard, aged 18 years, disappeared from Gervais about ten days ago and last Sunday her body was found floating under the Parkersville bridge, about three miles away. At the coroner's inquest it was found that it was a case of deliberate suicide from unrequited love.

The roller flour mill at Myrtle Point was destroyed Thursday morning of last week. The mill is said to have been splendidly equipped with the latest improved machinery. The loss is estimated at $5000.

The Pendleton Tribune was sold last Saturday, the purchase price being $2010. It was bid in by the mortgagee. The plant and business of the Tribune is probably worth $2000.

Twelve hundred head of cattle were shipped out of Lane county last week. Part of them were destined to Wyoming, though the greater part went to Colorado. They were mostly yearlings and two-year-olds.

Crop and Weather Report.

PORTLAND, OR., June 7, 1897.

WEATHER.—The week has been warm and dry. A few showers fell on May 31st, but from Tuesday no rain has fallen until today, when a few showers occurred, but they were not as a rule, heavy enough to lay the dust. The temperature has been practically that of the preceding week. The highest during the week was from 88 degrees to 92 degrees on Saturday and Sunday. Frost.—Rain is badly needed. Fall and winter sown wheat is heading with short straw, and without rain the grain will be small. Early sown spring wheat and oats have a good color, and are making growth, but are beginning to show the lack of rain. Late sown wheat and oats show very distinctly the need of rain. While the outlook has been promising for the grain crop, the continued dry weather has materially reduced the prospects. Haying has commenced, and the hay crop shows the lack of rain; some correspondents report the hay crop as only making half a crop. The later hay will make better crops if general rains prevail. Hops are growing and sending off lateral arms; the crop is promising, though in some yards lice have appeared. Potato planting is continued in some sections, while in others the new potatoes are being marketed. The crop has a very good outlook. Gardens are all making good growth, and where properly cultivated, do not show the lack of rain.

Strawberries are ripening rapidly, and will be at the height of their season for this year, during the coming week. Cherries are ripening, and within six days the market will be filled. The reports concerning the crops are variable, but it can safely be said that the crop, as a whole, will not be over a three-quarter one; some varieties are a better crop than others. The Royal An appears to be the smallest crop of all varieties.

The winter apples continue to drop the fall apples will be a fair crop. Pears will not be an average crop, though in some orchards the trees are well filled with set fruit. The peach crop is good, this being especially true of the southern counties. In Jackson county hand pruning is in progress. While the peach crop as a rule, is good, some orchards in the northern portion of the Willamette valley will have almost a failure in the crop. The prune crop will be a fair one; in some orchards it will hardly pay to start the drier, while in others a good crop is assured. The total product of prunes will equal or exceed the crop of 1895, though some varieties will be a short crop. The fruit crop will be far superior to the crop of 1895.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register.
Mr. James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and procured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly, and in less than an hour's time she was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had ever used ever did her as much good. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Dr. Edwin Ross.

Poultry Notes.

Not long ago we heard a farmer say: "Every spring I hatch a lot of chicks, yet when I go to get them up in the fall there don't seem to be any." How true the above is on many a farm. The chicks are hatched, and after the hens wean them they have to shift for themselves until cold weather. A great many die from neglect or disease, and the rats, cats, etc., carry off a lot more. All this time the farmer never once thinks of his chicks. Is it any wonder that the chicks disappear? Kill the cats first, and then if you can not kill the rats move the chicken coops away from the buildings, and every night see that they come to roost in their proper places. Keep the roosting place cool and clean. Do not let twenty-five or fifty chicks, no matter what age, crowd into one coop that is only large enough for a dozen. This crowding will cause disease sooner or later. It is the direct cause for roup, colds, etc. During the night the chicks in the center are crowded up so closely that they become overheated, and thereby invite disease.

THE TEACHER'S SOWING.

I think as I face the children,
How grand is the task that is mine!
To train the minds of girls and boys
That they may in future shine.

When they come their minds are ready
To receive the seeds I will sow.
I must plant, and watch, and water,
For something there surely will grow.

And sometime before the judgment
I must stand, and my Lord will see
What are the seeds of my sowing,
And just what my reward should be.

And if, for good they've been growing,
And my girls and boys have become
Workers, true, in my Master's cause,
Then my best reward will have come.

Should one act of mine for evil
Influence one of these young minds,
Multiplying as the wheat grows,
I would make evil of many kinds.

Our ways and acts they are watching,
And they listen to what we say;
Like the "bread cast on the waters,"
They will return to us some day.

Let's sow our seed for the Master
So that for Him the seed will grow;
Let us watch with care and praying,
For others will reap as we sow.
