The point at which the accident occurred is some five miles above Sheep Camp. The nearest telephone station is four miles distant. The Scales is The telephone wires at that point were carried away by the alide. This fact makes it difficult to obtain further particulars at this time.

A blinding snow storm was raging all day upon the summit, and as a con-sequence many of those in the vicnity were making no attempt to travel. Zebarth, Sprague and Stevenson, of Seattle, were traveling together as partners, and were found side by side in bed.

Thousands of people were encamped in the vicinity at the time, and were soon on the scene rendering such assistance as was possible. Upon receipt of the news, points below Dyca telephoned up to know if assistance was required, and received answer to the effect that 5,000 people were at work on the debris, and were only in each other's way. All day Saturday and. Sunday a southerly storm, with chinook wind, rain and snow, prevailed in this vicin-ity, and it is believed the softening of the snow on the mountain side by those agencies was the cause of the avalanche. The quantity of snow and ice that came down in the slide is estimated at thousands of tons. It swept directly cross the trail, which, notwithstanding the fact that the weather was unsuitable for travel, was thronged with wayfarers. The last vestige of the trail in the vicnity was wiped out of ex-listence, and where it led is now a mountain of snow and ice. Later reports bring the information that $1 bodies have been recovered.

Sixty-nine dead bodies have been thus far recovered, and the names of 150 missing persons have been reported as anaccounted for. It is barely possible that some of these succeeded in cros-sing the pass before the avalanche oc-surred. A conservative estimate is that between 75 and 100 persons were killed. Many a poor fellow lies buried where no human aid can reach him, and where his remains must rest until the summer son melts the tons of snow and ice under which he lies buried.

Upon the crowded trail no record was kept of the living, toiling mass, brav-ing hardships and facing death itself in the mad rush for gold. In the prosession that daily passed were people from all parts of the world, unknown to one another. The work of rescue has continued night and day ever since last Sunday, being gradually systematized and con-sequently meeting with better results. Thus far the work has been confined to the outskirts of the slide in the hope of rescuing those who are injured, but not yet dead. The main portion of the avalanche, which is estimated to be 50 feet deep and 150 yards long, has not yet been touched. If there are any bodies underneath they cannot be resued in time to save life. Four men were taken out alive after they had been buried for 19 hours. In

List of Injured Increased.

A later dispatch via Victoria says: The horror of the Dyes trail is growing in magnitude hourly. As the work of rescue proceeds, it becomes more ap-parent that many more lives were lost than at first thought possible. It is now believed that between 50 and 100 men and women were killed by the avalanche. Many bodies will not be recovered until the summer sun melts tons of snow and ice that now bury them from sight.

Two or three thousand men are working in relays of as many as can stand side by side shoveling away the snow in search of the dead and dying. Twenty-two dead bodies have been recovered and identified, and 25 persons have been taken out alive.

Seventeen employes of the Chilkoot Railway & T-am Company, who went to the summit on the morning of the slide to work, are missing, and it is feared they are among the lost. It is estimated that 19,000 tons of outfits are buried under the snow and There were smaller slides before the death-dealing avalanche was started. About 2 A. M. a small slide occursed, which buried several cabins. The slarm was spread, and many people were endeavoring to work back to Sheep The Camp when the big disaster occurred.

The work of rescue has been orderly and systematic. A public meeting was held and committees were appointed to search for the dead and care for the wounded. All that can possibly be done to relieve the horror of the situation has been done.

The socident was one that could not have been foreseen, and it is one that is likely to happen at any time when like conditions exist, although it is stated that some warning of the impending disaster was given by the In-dian packers, who are said to have de-serted the trail when the heavy snow of Saturday and Sunday night set in. They refused to work for fear of alides. The work of searching for the dead is to be continued as long as there is any hope of recovering any one, though it is feared that it must be discontinued
