Used by Ancient Workmen.
A two years' study of Gizeh has convinced Flinders Petrie that the Egyptian stoneworkers of 4,000 years ago had a surprising acquaintance with what had been considered modern tools. Among the many tools used by the pharaoh builders were both solid and tubular drills and straight and circular saws. The drills, like those of today, were set with jewels (probably corundum, and even like tools had such cutting edges. So remarkable was the quality of the tubular drills and the skill of the workmen that the cutting marks in hard granite gave no indication of wear of the tool while a cut of a tenth of an inch was made in the hardest rock at each revolution, and a hole through both the hardest and softest material was bored perfectly smooth and uniform throughout. Of the material and method of making the tools nothing is known.

MRS. PINKHAM'S ADVICE.
What Mrs. Nell Hurst has to Say About It.
DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I wrote to you I had not been well for five years, had doctored all the time but got no better. I had womb trouble very bad. My womb pressed backward, causing pain. I was in such misery I could scarcely walk across the floor. Menstruation was irregular and too profuse, was also troubled with leucorrhoea. I had given up all hopes of getting well; everybody thought I had consumption. After taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I felt very much better and was able to do nearly all my own work. I continued the use of your medicine, and feel that I owe my recovery to you. I cannot thank you enough for your advice and your wonderful medicine. Any one doubting my statement may write to me and I will gladly answer all inquiries.—Mrs. NELL HURST, Deepwater, Mo.
Letters like the foregoing, constantly being received, contribute but a little to the satisfaction felt by Mrs. Pinkham that her medicine and counsel are assisting women to bear their heavy burdens.
Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass. All suffering women are invited to write to her for advice, which will be given without charge. It is an experienced woman's advice to women.

IN BETTER AIR.

Shafter's Army Will Be Brought Back—A Fine Camp Site Secured.
Washington, July 30.—Secretary Alger is deeply concerned over the welfare of the gallant troops under Shafter's command, now encamped on the outskirts of Santiago. The health report shows a surprisingly large number of cases of sickness, but army surgeons authorize the statement that these figures are misleading in a certain sense, and that the situation may not be nearly so bad as they would seem to indicate. The slightest ailment of the most temporary nature suffices to place a soldier's name on the sick report, which, in their present shape, would not distinguish between a case and one of mortal illness. The inference is that many of these cases in Shafter's camp are of a trivial nature, but to swell its grand total of sick and wounded.

Notwithstanding this mitigating fact, Secretary Alger is going to remove the soldiers at the earliest opportunity to more healthful clime. The surgeon-general, under the direction of the secretary, a few days ago, inspected a tract of land adjoining Montauk Point, Long Island, belonging to the Long Island Railroad Company, which has been offered to the government as suitable for a large encampment. The tract is three miles square, contains an abundance of fresh water, a considerable lake, a hill 10 feet in height, and many other sanitary advantages, including salt water bathing.
The necessary orders to equip this as a camping ground will go forward immediately, and every advantage will be taken of the experience gained in the formation of the great camp at Chickamauga and Camp Alger, to make the conditions as comfortable as possible for the battle-scarred veterans in Shafter's army.
The time for their removal is left to General Shafter, the only limitation placed upon him being that he shall not delay the homeward sailing of his troops beyond the moment when it shall be safe for them to leave Santiago, having regard to the fever conditions.

Meanwhile, details are being made of troops to supply the force that shall garrison Santiago so long as it shall be found necessary to continue troops there. This force will be made up almost altogether of immunes.
General Shafter's daily bulletin, as posted by the war department, follows: Total sick, 4,122; total fever, 3,193; pneumonia fever, 823; cases fever returned to duty, 542; deaths, Private J. H. Farrell, company H, Ninth Massachusetts volunteers, at Siboney, yellow fever; Corporal Thomas Rollston, company D, Twenty-fourth infantry, Siboney, yellow fever; Private William H. Byers, company D, Seventeenth infantry, cerebral apoplexy.
SHAFTER, Major-General.

Assignment of War Loan Bonds.
Washington, July 30.—The treasury department today issued the following statement authorizing the assignment of the new bonds:
"In order to save vexatious embarrassment to large subscribers to the war loan bonds—meaning by this subscribers for more than $500—the department has arranged to recognize transfers of notices of allotments, so that persons receiving notice of the amount allotted to them will be in a position to realize on them in case of necessity substantially as readily as if they were in possession of the bonds allotted to them. This has seemed to be the duty of the treasury department in view of the unavoidable delay in placing the actual bonds in the hands of the larger subscribers."

The price to be paid is stated to be $10,000,000.

Our Exhibit at Paris.
Washington, July 30.—Ferdinand Peck, of Chicago, the newly appointed United States commissioner-general to the Paris exposition, was at the White House today and had a long conference with the president, who suggested that the representation of this government should be conducted on a broad, generous plan. The president agreed that there should be an additional appropriation of $400,000 for the expenses of our representation there, the present appropriation for the purpose being $650,000. Mr. Peck thinks an assistant commissioner-general will be appointed in a few days.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER.

(Reported by Downing, Hopkins & Co., Inc., Board of Trade Building, 111 to 113 Chamber of Commerce Building, Portland, Oregon.)
The wheat trade has dropped into a condition where no one except scalpers and a few professional traders, exporters, and elevator people are touching it. There is a promise of carrying charge in the near future, and as elevator people have no stock, they are commencing to buy the daily arrivals. Millers are buying a little, and exporters who have made good sales abroad for near shipments are also competing for the arrivals. The big speculators are mostly on the short side. They sell whenever the market has an upturn, and their offerings are sufficient to prevent bulges of material length. On the breaks of 1 to 2 cents they covered part of their line, taking their profits, only to put the wheat out again at the same price to possibly a shade better. They are working on the crop report. Their advices from the Northwest are favorable. A private statistician estimates the spring crop wheat at 300,000,000 bushels. Placing the winter wheat yield at 400,000,000 bushels, it would make an aggregate crop of spring and winter of 700,000,000 bushels. This is the largest on record. Conservative people place the crop at 800,000,000 bushels, and the government figures made the yield 815,000,000 bushels, or 39,000,000 bushels less than a month ago. Statistician Snow makes the spring wheat average 18,000,000 acres, which exceeds that of the government. The acreage of the department of agriculture this year is nearer the actual seeding than at any time in its history, and possibly when the final report is made it will show that the crop is about as reported, as it is able to get nearer the correct figures than ever before.

Present prices are about the same as last year, but then farmers did not have a taste of $1 wheat, and were anxious to sell. Having been treated to a dollar wheat, most of them think that they should have higher prices again. Should the crop be materially damaged and sell at high prices, it may help wheat a little, but the outlook is not particularly favorable. The exports for the year ending June 30 were 218,000,000 bushels of flour and wheat, against 145,000,000 bushels the preceding year.

THE DREAM OF DON MONJO.

FROM DUDE TO SOLDIER.
Checked Career of Hallett Alsop Borrowe, the Famous Rough Rider.

Hallett Alsop Borrowe, who went with the rough riders in Cuba and who was given charge of a dynamite gun capable of deadly execution, has led a life replete with incident.
When he was a young man he thought he would become a great artist, and studied art at the Columbia Art School. Then he thought that law, and not art, was his peculiar calling. After a while he decided that neither law nor art was just what he was cut out for, and went across the water to see the world. He had already seen something of it in his own land. His father was Samuel Borrowe, Vice President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and young Borrowe had the entrée into New York society.
In England and France Hallett Alsop was put up at the most exclusive clubs and was distinctly "in the swim." When he returned to this country he had become a crack billiard player, a crack shot and a man about town generally. He was fond of dog fights and all sorts of "sporty" things. In short, the mild art student was thoroughly transformed into the glided and giddy young man of the clubs and the inconsequential world. He stayed abroad a good deal and was attracting no particular attention in this country, being regarded by his acquaintances as neither better nor worse than the average man of his type, when suddenly came the Coleman Drayton scandal. The social prominence of all the parties concerned (Mrs. Drayton was a daughter of Mrs. William Astor) and the challenge to a duel (which did not take place) between Mr. Drayton and Mr. Borrowe kept society gossiping for a long time.

HALLETT ALSOP BORROWE.

Finally that passed away and Hallett Alsop Borrowe was for a time forgotten. It was said that he was living quietly abroad. Suddenly it was discovered that Borrowe had returned to this country, forsaken the ways of his former life, and was employed as a car starter on the trolley road in Newark. He had started in to work for a living and had begun at the bottom of the ladder.

He worked hard, and finally was made a division superintendent at a salary of $75 a month. For a time his doings in his new sphere of action were written about and talked about, and then the young man was forgotten again. He was not destined to remain forgotten long, however, for in November, 1896, it was announced that Borrowe had married Miss Anna Wheeler Corbin, Austin Corbin's youngest daughter.

It seems that the Borrowe and Corbin families had been intimate when Hallett Alsop was a schoolboy, and his especial friend had been the youngest daughter. The schoolboy love had remained through all the intervening years, and Borrowe had gone to work on the trolley line to prove that he had reformed and was living a life which made him worthy to marry his boyhood's love.

ON DRIVING HORSES.
Hints on the Care of Man's Noblest Animal Friends.
A driver should study and know the horse he is to drive. Being familiar with the spirit of the horse is one of the very important things. A driver must also know how the horse should be fed, if he has no one upon whom he can implicitly rely to do the feeding. Reviewing these general matters of both driving and feeding, a writer on the horse says that some can drive thirty or even forty miles at a good rate of speed and have the animal in better condition at the end than another after driving the same horse five miles. It is not by any means driving fast that injures a horse so much as improper driving. Often more strength and vitality is taken out of a horse in two miles of frothing, through the mismanagement of the driver, than in going several times this distance with proper care. Some men cannot drive without a whip in their hands, whether it is needed or not, and, while there is no doubt that in some cases the whip is necessary, yet it is often the cause of more fretting on the part of a lively

Where Noah Kept His Bees.

Dr. James K. Hosmer, while recently visiting Boston, had occasion to visit the new public library. As he went up the steps he met Edward Everett Hale, who asked the doctor's errand.
"To consult the archives," was the reply.
"By-the-by, Hosmer," said Doctor Hale, "do you know where Noah kept his bees?"
"No," answered Hosmer.
"In the ark hives," said the venerable preacher as he passed out of earshot.—"Summer Piazza Stories" in the August Ladies' Home Journal.

THE OLDEST VOLUNTEER.
A New York State doctor, aged 100, volunteered his services to the president recently, and expressed a desire to enter the army as a surgeon. Even at his advanced years he can read without glasses, and walk 10 to 12 miles a day. The oldest volunteer mentioned in history is a stomach biter, which has no equal for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, fevers and bad humors. It strengthens, purifies and vitalizes. One bottle does much good.
There has long dwelt in the heart of the Pyrenees, on the old Catalanian border of Spain, a race of dwarfs, supposed by some to be of Tartan origin.

How to Tell Edible Wood Mushrooms.
Mrs. S. T. Rorer does dwellers in the country a good service by telling them how to identify the edible varieties of mushrooms that grow in the woods. Her article which is printed in the August Ladies' Home Journal, makes it clear that there are very many varieties of these delicious, nutritious fungi, and that they can be had in abundance throughout the summer for the mere gathering. To make her information the more useful Mrs. Rorer directs how the different kinds of the woods-grown delicacies are best cooked, how they can be supplemented to the family larder as a most delicious acquisition free of cost.
