The largest and best stocked up store on the lower Columbia has a new painted sign reading, "W. H. Dolman, General Merchant."

Mr. Philbrook has a call to go down the river for next Sunday consequently he will not preach at Bachelor Flat and Seaside until Jan. 1st, 1899.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. Sold by Dr. E. Ross, druggist.

The calamity howler is heard no more in the land. Like Saul on his merciful mission, he has been knocked out with the dazzling brilliancy of latter day achievements.

Mr. W. B. Dillard, who recently purchased a block of land on the west of town, has the timber cut and cleared off and the land set to fruit trees. We believe the venture will be a success.

It is reported that Mr. A. B. Hammond has secured an option on all the Kinney timber land in Clatsop county. He contemplates building a large sawmill at Tongue point, just above Astoria.

A process has been discovered for making butter of peanuts. The new product is said to be "rich, wholesome, and of a quality fit for the gods." The reference, no doubt, is to the gallery gods.

School Superintendent Copeland and family have removed from Warren to Houlton, having rented the Wood residence at that place. Mr. Copeland should in future be addressed at that place.

When a man really loves his neighbor as himself, that neighbor's husband should get a double-barreled shotgun and fill it full of buckshot and aim it at the hole in the fence of the loving neighbor.

Messers Bros., of Delena, who have successfully operated a sawmill at that place for some time, have the contract to furnish the ties for L. Saldern's new logging road at Gray's river. The contract calls for 8,000 ties.

County Clerk Watts on Wednesday shipped by express to Secretary of State Kincaid the assessment roll of this county for 1898. The roll from this county will not be among the first to arrive at the secretary's office.

Walter Pullian, of Mayer, has a contract to get out 500 trap poles for down river parties, and has a force of half a dozen men at work getting the same ready. The poles are being cut from the Tyeakwitz property at this place.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." But the ounce of prevention usually comes so high that a good many communities, as well as a good many people, prefer to take the chances of having to purchase the cure in the future.

Business men can no more afford to go without advertising than they can afford to go without light. The former enlightens the public, the latter the office and store. The former makes known what you have to sell, the latter to properly exhibit it.

There has been a great deal of enjoyment during the last week on the ice on the lakes near this place. Since Thursday of last week the ice has been of sufficient thickness to bear as many as a dozen people, and the lakes, and the time has been well put in at skating.

Pains in the chest when a person has a cold indicate a tendency toward pneumonia. A piece of flannel damped with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on to the chest over the seat of pain will promptly relieve the pain and prevent the threatened attack of pneumonia. This same treatment will cure a lame back in a few hours. Sold by Dr. E. Ross, druggist.

Mr. Gray, brother of M. C. Gray of this city, accompanied by his wife and mother, arrived here from Tehachapi, Cal., last Sunday. Mr. Gray continued on to Chehalis, Wash., where he will assume charge of the Pacific Postal telegraph office at that place.

In another column will be found the advertisement of a grand-masquerade ball to be given in this city on the evening of December 31st, by Prof. Holm, of Portland. A number of handsome prizes will be given, and a good time is assured those who attend.

Do not fail to attend the bazaar to be held at Masonic hall in this city, commencing next Monday evening, and continuing three evenings, under the management of the ladies of the Episcopal church. Attend if you do not wish to buy from the choice selection.

George Domyer, on trial in the justice court here last Saturday for trespassing on the lands of J. E. Bingham, was discharged after a spirited trial before a jury of six men. This verdict was arrived at from the fact that the lands were not properly enclosed.

The practical, yet not over-polished editor at a supper in one of our neighboring towns recently when passed the pie said in a pathetic and regretful way: "Owing to the already crowded condition of our space we will be compelled to leave this article out for the present."

The Mist office has the only job printing plant in this end of the county. We are prepared to do all sorts of commercial job printing on brief notice and at low prices. We can print anything from a visiting card to a large-size poster. Book work a specialty. Leave orders with us.

It is said by those interested that the report of the school in district No. 19 for the month ending on the 2nd of this month, is a splendid one. The school has a clean and unblemished record for the month, there being no absences or cases of tardiness, and department was O. K.

No door is thick enough to keep out the newspaper and its advertising; no chamber is too remote or too quiet for the favorite family paper; no surveillance is so strict but the newspaper is admitted; and it brings its message of wars, of elections, accidents, marriages, births and deaths—and advertisements.

A dispatch from Hillsboro that last Sunday's Oregonian stated that a force of twenty-five men were at work developing the coal discoveries in the mountain divide between Washington and Columbia counties, better known as the Nehalem coal fields. It is said that a road will be built into the coal fields immediately.

Mr. S. Benson, an extensive logger on the lower river, says he thinks the present price of logs is high owing to a scarcity of that commodity, but thinks logs will be worth not less than $5.00 per thousand for several years. That is a good price, and loggers can make "acids" of money if that figure can be received right along.

Pursuer Tom Nordby, of the steamer Shaver, was in town Wednesday afternoon, having come this far on that steamer, the trip having been made by night, instead of as usual. Mr. Nordby stated to us that he thought it very unlikely that the Shaver would make any more trips on her regular run until the ice cleared out of the river.

L. Saldern has moved his Beaver camp to the old Syverson place, where he will construct a ditch from the Astoria and Goble road at Quincy to the Dobbin's slough, a distance of some 600 feet, through which he will run his logs to tide-water. He is at present putting in a few hundred cedar piling for H. B. Borthwick—Cathlamet Gazette.

The committee, composed of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school here, have decided to have a Christmas boat. The citizens have responded liberally with means for defraying the general expenses of the Christmas festivities, and it is hoped the boat will be so loaded with pretty presents that it will not require much decoration.

Amend the road law so that one-half the amount now levied should be raised, and make that payable in cash. Then have all roads made and repaired by contract, according to plans and specifications, and let to the lowest responsible bidder. No other system will give so much for the money. No other system will insure good roads for all seasons of the year.

The school law should be so amended that no child can be enrolled in any district of which it is not a resident without first having paid a tuition to the school clerk of the district in which it intends applying for admission, or a certificate from the school clerk that such child has been enumerated in his district for the purpose of drawing state school money.

While some men were hunting on the tide-flats above Tongue point a few days ago one of the number picked up an old flint-lock rifle. It was about six feet long and was very rusty, showing that it had been there for many years. The flint was still in place, but it was not loaded. It was the kind of a gun that was in use here fifty years ago.—Astoria Budget.

It is reported that H. B. Borthwick, the enterprising mill man of Goble, is contemplating building a logging railroad about three miles in length, to bring his logs to the mill. Mr. Borthwick is doing an excellent business, due solely to the grit and perseverance of the man, who, despite hard times and slow business, persevered steadily and is now reaping his reward.

Persons desirous of putting out young orchards should be pleased to know that within this county is a nursery which is unsurpassed in the state for quantity and quality of trees. This nursery is at Seaside, and is owned and operated by Mr. A. Holaday & Sons. By patronizing home industry you are encouraging home industries, and in this instance you are assured of getting exactly what you bargain for.

Oregon is proverbially slow but she is very sure, and just so soon as the world begins to learn that we are not bragging but workers, our big state will fill up with a class of people who like our methods, and who will feel safe from all wild financial follies, crazy real estate booms, and every other besetting danger to an honestly acquired competency. Character is fundamentally great, and old Oregon has a good one.

The Houlton school will give a basket social next Saturday night, Dec. 17. A good programme will be given, after which the basket lunches will be sold. Much pains is being taken, and the affair promises to be a thorough success. A small admission fee will be charged, and after luncheon a social, good time may be spent by those who care to stay. Music and games will be in order. Everybody welcome. A good time assured.

A rather serious accident occurred at Warren last Sunday, when a young grandson of Mr. John Tinkham accidentally discharged a shotgun, the charge striking and taking effect in the face of a young son of Mr. Rasmussen. The physician expresses the opinion that nothing serious will result, although the boy's face and neck were completely peppered with fine shot. A number of the shot took effect in the lids of the eyes but none entered the eyeballs.

The fact of Oregon editors making trips back East we would consider pretty good evidence that times are not so hard on the Pacific coast as some of the newspaper writers would like to have us believe. Brother Al Snyder, of the McMinnville Transcript, returned last week from an extended visit at Oregon, Ill., and there are others nearer by who within the last few months have toured the East. And yet "the poor are daily being ground down by the iron heel of monopoly."

The leading question now is, "Are we to have Christmas this year?" In other words, "Will Monday, the 26th, be observed as a holiday?" From all we can gather by inquiry the general opinion is that it should be, for surely we must have a Christmas day, and Sunday cannot necessarily be observed as such. Not that it is not an appropriate day for the Christmas festival, but the usual Sabbath exercises will prevent it being observed as it always is by family gatherings, trees for the children, etc. Of course we must have Monday.

With the Columbia river completely filled with ice and navigation almost entirely stopped, the spectacle is to be dreaded. It has been impossible to navigate the Columbia above the Willamette for a week or more, and were it not for the Willamette slough, which is free from ice, it would be almost impossible for steamers to operate between Portland and Astoria. To one who had never seen the great floating masses of ice before it would appear an impossibility for a steamboat to find its way through it. The conditions are serious, and at the press hour Thursday little relief seems to be in store for some time yet. The temperature is almost as low as it has been, with indications pointing to a yet lower degree.

There is a task on hand in the sheriff's office which is calling forth both patience and labor, and which demands the closest attention in order to avoid almost irreparable mistakes. For every piece of land sold by the sheriff at the recent tax sale there has to be a certificate of sale made, and in this work it is necessary to segregate all the different funds to which taxes on the certain piece of land belong, and it is found to be an undertaking that taxes the perseverance of those engaged at it. There are 107 of those certificates to be made for the 1897 roll and 175 for previous years. The sheriff is endeavoring to have this work completed by the time the commissioners meet, early in January. The work in that office, as well as in that of the clerk and assessor, is each year becoming of a greater volume and more complicated.

St. Helens was infested last Saturday with tramps, and many of them lured first-rate in their searches and appeals for "something to eat, please." There should be little sympathy entertained for that element, yet at the same time it is hard to turn a man away who asks for food. To the ordinary well-clothed, well-fed person a request for food from a hungry-looking, thin-clad cuss appeals to the better qualities and sympathies, since the giving calls forth so small an effort compared with the comfort it brings if the man is really hungry. We find the following in the Dalles Chronicle: "There will be no excuse for some time for the presence of tramps or hobos in our midst, and if you are annoyed with the hand-out funds just remind them that 3000 men can secure employment on the branch road which is to be constructed between Wallula and Ripari. For the next eight months that many men can obtain work at $1.75 a day. Common laborers, scraper drivers, quarrymen, and teamsters, besides camp cooks, waiters, foremen, etc., will be needed on the work."

YOU TRY IT.

Sold for over fifty years on this guarantee. Price 25 cts. and 50 cts. Sold by Dr. Edwin Ross, druggist, St. Helens, and N. A. Perry, Houlton.

SICK HEADACHES.

Two Pointed Questions Answered.

What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you cannot get a better price for it? If both articles are of equal value, the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your article is the best? If both articles are brought prominently before the public, both are certain to be tried, and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.

This explains the large sale of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by Dr. Edwin Ross, druggist, St. Helens, and N. A. Perry, Houlton.

CLATSkanie NOTES.

E. S. Harlow, a former resident of our town, came down from Portland and spent a day last week.

Thomas Boyle was up from Woods' landing taking in the debts last Friday. Tom has closed a fairly successful logging season, giving employment to several men.

The past few days have been a harvest for people having stoves to sell. The wood was frozen up so the wood could be gotten out.

Gus Player is limping around with a cane, having found a sore spot when lifting at a bale of hay. These sudden catches that come from lifting do not always let up very easily.

Mrs. G. W. Jones and daughter, Mrs. King, came in on the steamer Friday morning from Portland. Mrs. King has been teaching near there, and her mother has been spending a month with her.

There is an unusual display of holiday goods in the different store windows in our town, and patrons could scarcely miss finding what they want for their friends and for the janitors, especially as special prices seem to have been made for them.

A man came up from Westport Saturday with a gash in his cheek from the bite of a horse; a rather unusual accident, but none the less unpleasant. He was repaired and will probably be in shape for work, but will carry in a small scar, a reminder of the occasion.

It has been learned with sincere regret that Mrs. Jasper Lewis was compelled to undergo amputation of her leg above the knee, at the hospital in Portland. This course was found necessary after a long consultation and consultation by the hospital staff and others. Her husband is with her, and at last accounts she was doing as well as could be expected.

An opportunity that does not come often was offered this week when a horse was found in the street sufficient for skating. A number of pairs of skates were found and a number of skaters declared they had a good time, though scarcely in the spirit of the occasion. It was a good thing that the horse was found and not left to spoil the fun, so that people could get up and down without slipping and falling.

A civil suit before the justice last Saturday attracted some attention and some of the neighbors in the person of Attorney Brown, of Astoria, who came to defend Mr. Fuhner, of Mayer, in an attachment suit. We did not learn the details of the case, but Mr. Fuhner, however, found himself among some old friends and acquaintances here, finding his opponent one of them. Lawyers have a way, you know, of fighting their own points of difference, while pretending to be very friendly, socially, and this was one of those cases. In this case the friendship was no doubt sincere and the legal complications somewhat embarrassing.

In response to a call for a meeting of men to organize a volunteer fire company a meeting was held at Kratz's hall on Monday evening, where Norman Merrill was elected chairman, temporary, and J. C. Bryant, secretary. After some remarks an organization was decided on, and W. S. Chandler was elected foreman, with George Tichenor and John Ross as first and second sergeants respectively. J. C. Bryant was made permanent secretary and Henry Kratz treasurer. Twenty names were secured as members of the company from those present, and additional names are expected. A committee was appointed to solicit new members and another committee to draft constitution and by-laws.

If any one smiles at our claims of being a metropolitan city he ought to see the scenery covered countrymen that take their goods, mail and express matter to and from the depot. A second covered hack is on duty this week, and so are the two or three horse-drawn cabs, which are represented by numbers, with "Home hot-1," Clatskanie hotel," "free bus," etc., just as they do in Portland. The street to the depot is not a pleasant one to travel in, but that only helps to make us feel that we are different from Portland, and it might be remarked that there are many points of difference between the two cities, each having its own peculiarities. The bus men, while not so loud as in Portland, are just as anxious to give their patrons a ride, and the hotels will supply the wants of their guests in a careful manner.

KYSER HAPPENINGS.

There was a double birthday party at the home of Mr. C. Schneider on Saturday last. All day the children were playing games and pulling candy, and at 12 m. all set down to a fine supper.

Our worthy postmaster, W. Kyser, has returned from an extended visit to friends in Clatskanie county, having gone up with his brother and brother-in-law to see about a wagon and horse, although his prudent better half attended to the duties of the postoffice with entire satisfaction.

Not a hundred miles from here lives a very obliging judge, and a buxom widow, knowing him well, called on him to help her intended procure the necessary papers, which he did by taking his lantern and giving his own fare on the train and back on the telephone. But on his return found that the papers she had procured were the judge's to the best of his knowledge. Now we think it very unkind to treat a friend in need in that way. The good folk tell us, brethren, good for will not get us for good; for we never get to where we do not need a friend.

Now for our better conditions: Ten years ago there was no work for a laboring man nearer than the river or Clatskanie. Now we have four shingle mills and the Mosover brick sawmill which has been doing a thriving business all fall. Such men are the bone and sinew of any country. Although the shingle mills have changed hands many times they have given a great many poor men work so they could be at home with their families. Dusan & Sigler have shut down their shingle mill for the winter, and some are still running, as are also Holmes Bros. with Wm. Perrine as partner in the Langford-Boeing mill. We know these are better if the gold standard is in vogue.

WHAT IS SHILOH?

A grand old remedy for Coughs, Colds and Consumption; used through the world for half a century, has cured innumerable cases of insipient consumption, and relieved many in advanced stages. If you are not satisfied with the results we will refund your money. Price 25 cts. and 50 cts. Sold by Dr. Edwin Ross, druggist, St. Helens, and N. A. Perry, Houlton.
