A Frank of Lightning.
A stroke of lightning has been the means of an extraordinary archaeological discovery in Volterra. The lightning struck an old pine tree which crossed the summit of a hill, and the owner of the property ordered the tree cut down. When the workmen began to dig at the roots they unearthed a magnificent Etruscan grave. It consisted of a spacious vault supported by four immense pillars. All around the grave were large marble tablets, and above them were urns placed in niches. This unique necropolis measured 60 feet in length and 40 feet in width.

New "Greek Fire."
A new and what is considered a highly important invention was tested in the German Navy recently. It consists of a sort of chemical combustible or "Greek fire," invented by a Berlin engineer. It ignites on contact with the air and water, and cannot be quenched by either water or earth. It burns with a brilliant flame, exceeding the big searchlights, and it can be sunk under water or beneath the ground, and when brought to the surface instantly bursts into flames at any desired point. It was tested at night, volutions of the navy and proved most efficient in detecting the presence of an opposing force.

MRS. PINKHAM'S ADVICE.
What Mrs. Nell Hunt had to Say About It.
DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—When I wrote to you I had not been well for five years; had doctored all the time but got no better. I had womb trouble very bad. My womb pressed backward, causing piles. I was in such misery I could scarcely walk across the floor. My menstruation was irregular and too profuse, was also troubled with hemorrhoids. I had given up all hopes of getting well; everybody thought I had consumption. After taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I felt very much better and was able to do nearly all my own work. I continued the use of your medicine, and feel that I owe my recovery to you. I cannot thank you enough for your advice and your wonderful medicine. Any one doubting my statement may write to me and I will gladly answer all inquiries.—Mrs. NELL HUNT, Deepwater, Mo.

Letters like the foregoing, constantly being received, contribute a little to the satisfaction felt by Mrs. Pinkham that her medicine and counsel are assisting women to bear their heavy burdens.

Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass. All suffering women are invited to write to her for advice, which will be given without charge. It is an experienced woman's advice to women.

ALONG THE COAST.

Crucifix on the High Seas.
At Portland, Or., on the 18th, sailors on the German ship, Margaretha told startling stories of alleged cruel treatment on the part of Captain Rasch. The sailors, to a man, relate a series of outrages perpetrated since the vessel left her home port some eight months ago, that if true, whether committed with or without cause, are exceedingly startling, cruel and inhuman. They allege that ever since they started out they have been in danger of getting killed one way or another, and they assert that not for anything could they be induced to again go to sea under command of Captain Rasch. The crew, 25 men all told, have laid their complaint before the German vice-consul.

Portland a Reserve City.
Portland is now a reserve city, and thousands of dollars heretofore kept in San Francisco and New York by the bankers of Oregon, Washington and Idaho will come to Portland. The condition imposed upon national banks in reserve cities is that they shall carry 25 per cent of their deposits in available funds, instead of 15 per cent. Portland banks have been carrying from 20 to 60 per cent ever since the panic of 1893 and '93, and the new condition will not be a hardship to them.

The Seven Devils.

It is currently believed that the Northern Pacific is making strenuous efforts to establish a line to connect with the Seven Devils railroad, and thus tap a rich copper region. The Northwestern Railway Company has also the crews of surveyors in the field, and is preparing the way for graders from Huntington to the Ox-bow of Snake river, and from there to the Pascook mine. There are now 25 O. R. & N. surveyors working from Keating, on Lower Powder river, to Eagle valley, arranging for the construction work from Baker City to Seven Devils.

According to a recent compilation, Germany has 111 miles of electric railways, equal to those of all the rest of Europe together. England is credited with only 98 miles. Most of the larger towns of Germany have electric lines, and the whole system of Berlin will by the year 1901 be converted to electricity.

FIGHTING IN SAMOA.

A British Warship Clears for Action.
GERMAN CONSUL MAKES TROUBLE.
Bloody Battle Between the Forces of Mataafa and Maitafa—Much Property Destroyed.

San Francisco, Jan. 20.—A cablegram from Auckland, New Zealand, under date of January 17, says: When the steamship Alameda left Apia, January 12 a revolution had broken out on the Samoan islands and was being waged with much bloodshed and great destruction of property. The warships Falke and Porpoise, the latter in command of Captain Sturdee, were then at the islands and were taking part in suppressing the rising.

On December 31 Chief Justice Chambers decided in favor of Maitafa Tanu, claiming Mataafa was barred by the treaty of Berlin, January 1. Five thousand of Mataafa's followers rose in rebellion and defeated 2,000 of Maitafa's forces, ambushing them, killing 18 natives and wounding many. The rebels have burned 400 houses and razed towns on Upolu. Breadfruit trees have been cut down in many places. Foreigners are unharmed.

The crew of the Porpoise is guarding the mission, which is a refuge for Maitafa. The three consuls have signed proclamations recognizing Mataafa's party as the provisional government pending instructions from the powers, with President Ruffell as executive head. On the 6th Ruffell proclaimed the supreme court closed and took possession, declaring himself chief justice. He asked Mataafa for 500 men and was refused.

The British and American consuls united in a strong protest against the action of the president of the municipal council. On the 7th Captain Sturdee, of the Porpoise, and two consuls declared the action illegal. The Porpoise cleared for action and landed a force of marines. This force was unopposed. It took possession of the court, and Chambers was reinstated and the British and American flags hoisted over Chambers' house and the courthouse. The provisional government wrote Sturdee on the 13th that it would seize Mataafa and take Mataafa off the Porpoise by force if necessary to deprive them of their title and desert them. Chambers is residing on the Porpoise. The Falke is inactive. The British and American consuls have protested against any infringement of the Berlin treaty. British residents have taken refuge in the consulate and American citizens have taken refuge in the mission. There is no American warship at Samoa.

OREGON SHORT LINE.
Transfer of the Road Delayed by a Law Suit.
New York, Jan. 21.—The fact developed today that the transfer of the Oregon Short Line to the Union Pacific, which the directors of the latter road have been empowered to make, is likely to be delayed by a suit brought by C. H. Vener, of Boston, as a Union Pacific shareholder, against the road, in which he is in a small way identified. A meeting of the stockholders of the Union Pacific was held at Salt Lake City, January 10, when authority was given the Union Pacific board to increase the common stock $25,000,000 in order to take over the Short Line. This matter will be considered in the early part of next month.

The "Custer Boys."
"Tom" Custer, 19-year-old lieutenant in the Sixth Michigan cavalry, was every whit as brave as his elder brother, the general. Twice he captured colors from the enemy; on the second occasion at Sailor's creek, only three days before Lee's surrender. Dashing up to the Confederate line in a perfect hail of bullets he fell back upon his horse, a ball having passed through his head from his cheek to his ear. Never checking his horse, he dashed on over the rifle pits from which the enemy had been driven, and, just as the Confederate color-bearer reeled back from a well-aimed shot, Tom grasped the flag and made off with it at full gallop. When he reached his own line he was so full of fight that he insisted on going back into action, but General Custer ordered him under arrest and sent him to a surgeon.—"Fighting for Honor."

Risked All Around.
A correspondence is being published in the Times on the subject of "French Feeling Toward England." A Mr. Jackson has written to that paper to report that at Caen recently a student went out of his way to publicly insult Great Britain. As a boy I was first for some years at school in Paris. I was then kicked for being an Englishman; after I was transferred to a school in England, where I was kicked for being a Frenchman. Comment is unnecessary.—London Truth.

In the Electrical World.
A press dispatch from Little Rock, Ark., says that an extraordinary long-distance telephone test has been made by Charles J. Glidden, president of the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone Company. Mr. Glidden held a distinct and clear conversation over the wire with Frederick F. Farrar, of the firm of Poor & Greenough, Boston. The distance from Little Rock is 1,900 miles. Mr. Glidden says this is the longest circuit in the world.

Should Porto Rico Be a State.
Our public men are trying to decide what action should be taken regarding the state of Porto Rico. We have never before had to deal with a similar condition where nearly a million souls of a foreign tongue have been annexed. Keller have we ever before such a reliable medicine for malaria, fever and ague as Hutter's stomach bitters. It drives the poison out of the system and establishes strength to resist future attacks.

Japanese economy is one of the chief causes of Japanese prosperity. Even the charcoal dust is saved and moulded into balls with chaff or straw for fuel.
Easy Chances.
A slip may sprain, a thump may bruise; easy chances for pain and trouble. An easy way to cure right off is to use St. Jacobs Oil. It takes no chances and knows what it can do.

The total length of the streets, avenues, boulevards, bridges, quays, and thoroughfares of Paris is set down at about 600 miles. Two hundred miles are planted with trees.

The English have always been entering in their methods of recruiting and keep themselves up-to-date. Captain Kerdley Wilmot, of the British navy, is giving lectures on the development of that service. They are popular lectures, illustrated with lantern slides, and the objects evidently is to present the navy to the public in an attractive and honorable light. In his lecture Captain Wilmot dealt with the seaman and marines, explaining their duties and manner of living on board ship. Together these two lectures would be a great success. A similar course would be valuable in this country. When recruits are wanted in the navy the government could well afford to try this system as a method of recruiting. Much could be done with lantern slides, and if the vitascope were used there would be no doubt of the extreme popularity of the measure.—Army and Navy Journal.
