A telegraph dispatch from Astoria last Friday stated that a party of surveyors started from Seaside yesterday to take up the work of the Radie-Heikman surveying party. They were in charge of Mr. Anderson, who was formerly a civil engineer of that city. As far as can be learned, the object of the party is to secure interested in the purchase of land from the Nehalem county and Columbia county, where large tracts of timber land have been bonded by an Eastern syndicate.

Engine Whitney and Eugene Blakesley arrived here Wednesday evening from Starbuck, Wash., where Mr. Whitney had spent a week searching for the remains of the body of the U. S. Liner after he had received a telegram from Grant's Ferry, Oregon, stating that the body of a drowned man had been found there answering the description of Elmer Whitney. Mr. Whitney started on his return Thursday morning for the Upper river, in the hope of recovering the body of his brother.

The meeting of bicyclists to be held at the courthouse in this city tomorrow evening should be well attended by persons interested in the construction of a bicycle path from here to Warren. The proposed path can be constructed at a most nominal cost, and when thus completed the gap from Warren to the county line would be certain to be provided for. Multnomah county cyclists will gladly cooperate in a measure in seeing that a path is built north from Portland to the county line, and thus a continuous path from this place to Portland will result.

Senator McBride had an operation performed in New York last Saturday, and late advice as to the effect that he is rapidly recovering from the shock.

The contract has been let by the school directors of district number 1, of Scappoose, to Mr. Nim Baker, of Warren, for the construction of a two-story school house, to be completed for the fall term of school. Persons in the district have donated land to school purposes, and the grounds surrounding the new structure will be greatly improved.

The Eastern crop of peaches will be unusually short this year. It is also reported that many of the other fruits will be extra short in the Eastern states this year. There will probably be a larger shipment of Oregon fruit into the East than has ever before as a result of the Eastern shortage and the growing popularity of Oregon fruits.

The regular semi-annual election of officers took place at the convention of Avon Lodge Knights of Pythias Tuesday evening, resulting as follows: Martin White, C. C.; E. H. Joseph, V. C.; J. H. Sheldon, prelate; C. W. Blakesley, M. of W.; J. G. Watta, K. of R. & S.; W. A. Harris, M. of E.; Edwin Ross, M. of F.; H. R. Cliff, M. at A.; John Scott, I. J.; M. C. Gray, O. G.

It makes no difference how good times may be, there will always be people to complain of hard times. It was so in Solomon's time, when the people had gold and silver to trim their horses and chariots with. There was then as now talk of those good, old times of long ago, causing the wise man to say: "Why were the former times better than these; ye do not inquire wisely concerning this."

This office acknowledges the receipt of the manuscript of the Memorial address delivered by Dr. Hatfield at Vernonia on Tuesday of last week. However much we regret the fact we could not make use of it on account of its length and our limited space. The address was a master effort, and is worthy of being read by every resident of this county. We regret very much our inability to print it.

The Rathbone Sisters of this city held their semi-annual election last Thursday, resulting in the election of the following named persons for the ensuing term: Mrs. E. E. Quick, P. C.; Mrs. M. C. Denning, G. T.; Mrs. H. R. Cliff, grand temple representative.

At the meeting of the common council Tuesday evening a motion was made to repeal the ordinance forbidding bicycle riding on the sidewalks, but was voted down and the marshal instructed to enforce the law without favor. Bicycle riding on the sidewalks would probably do no injury, but "scorching," a habit in which some of the cyclist indulge to such an extent as to render life and limb unsafe, is a practice which should not be tolerated.

Our attention was not called to the fact last week that Nightwatchman Gilmore had a very narrow escape from drowning on Wednesday night. A tow boat came up and the company's wharf for wood and Mr. Gilmore, as is his custom, went over to take the line. In his endeavor to pass the line around a piling he lost his equilibrium and fell in the river. The current runs at tremendous force at that place, and it was with much difficulty that the Gilmore regained a hold on the wharf.

A system of fruit gathering by which the man at the top of the tree is required to use the ladder to gather has been patented by Henry T. Griffith of Portland, Oregon. A movable mast is rigged near the tree, with a derrick arranged on a yard or arm at the top, by which a basket shelf supporting the picker is suspended. Upon this shelf is such a manner that the fruit on the most inaccessible branches are brought within easy reach.

Miss Sadie Monk, of Portland, returned to the city Wednesday after spending a week with Miss Bingham.

R. R. Foster, who has been sick for the last six weeks, is not improving as fast as his many friends would wish, but all hope he will be up and around soon.

At the regular meeting of Rainier lodge No. 58, K. of P. June 5, the following officers were elected: W. A. Wood, G.

It is said the farmers of the Willamette valley have lost $400,000 each year on average by selling their hops to contractors. Many a grower has accepted 10 cents or perhaps less for his hops, while his neighbor has received 15 cents or more. This was due to the fact that the farmer contracted with a speculator and was obliged to sell. The speculator in whatever line of work he may be engaged in is a dangerous man and should be avoided by the farmer or seller.

Here is something that is on the statute books of Oregon which, while it may be well known to all, is seemingly forgotten by many: "A fine of not less than two nor more than 50 dollars is the penalty under the laws of Oregon to sell, barter, trade, give or in any way furnish a minor tobacco, cigars, cigarettes or any compound in which tobacco forms a component part. A fine of not less than one dollar is the penalty if imposed upon any minor found using tobacco in any of the above forms."

The agricultural experiment stations of the country are continually endeavoring to bring about something novel and profitable in the agricultural line. A few of the experiment stations have succeeded in grafting the tomato top onto the potato root and, strange as it may seem, the growing of a crop of tomatoes does not seem to interfere with the growth of the potato, and we have no doubt that it will become common some day by this means to grow the finest tomatoes and potatoes both from the same plant.

The friends of Robert Patrick, formerly of Vernonia, while displeased to hear of his death, will nevertheless be glad to know that he is alive. For many months efforts to hear from him have been in vain, and it was feared he had perished in the wilds of Alaska.

The chancellor commander of the local lodge of Pythians received indirect word from Mr. Patrick last Saturday, stating that he was attacked with typhoid fever and at the time word was mailed he had been sick twenty-two days. He is at Dawson City.

Since the swell from the Hassalo carried Clarence Garrison and his fish boat ten or fifteen feet out on the beach, at the towhead, above here, fishermen report it as more of a tidal swell than the swell from a storm. It is said that Clarence was reposing in his anchored boat, dreaming of being "rocked in the cradle of the deep," when he suddenly found himself beneath his boat on the high dry ground. At this stage of the river steamboats will be unable to get a little care in running their boats at full speed past houses, barns, wharves and other property.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse, and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it, and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—E. A. Backus, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by Dr. Edwin Ross, druggist.

Chris Anderson was arrested Wednesday near Willow bar by Deputy Sheriff Hattan, on a bench warrant from Multnomah county, and brought to this city. Anderson has been in the habit of shooting rifle holes through pilot-houses and smokestacks of steamboats in order to keep them away from that shore, because of the damage their swell does to property. His latest attack was on the No. Wonder, whose captain had Anderson arrested. He will be tried in Multnomah county for assault with a dangerous weapon.

The young Chinese pheasants which are usually so plentiful at this time of year, says a Corvallis paper, are this season very scarce. This is due to the cold, wet winter of the spring. The bird makes two hatches during the season, the first early in the spring and the second during the first part of the summer months. This year the first hatch of birds was turned out into the cold wet grass, and as a result many of them drooped and died. Very few of the first-hatched birds reached that age when the rains would not harm them, and consequently Chinese pheasants will not be so plentiful next fall during the open season.

Preparations are being made to improve the graveyard.

At the regular meeting of Rainier lodge No. 58, K. of P. June 5, the following officers were elected: W. A. Wood, G.

While Frankie Hoyt and a schoolmate were wrestling last week, his friend accidentally stuck his finger into Frankie's eye, causing it to go into mourning.

The Scappoose home talent have bills out announcing that on Friday evening there will be a minstrel show at the above named place for the benefit of the Sunday school, which is to be followed by a dance. How is that for a mixture?

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, Brother Renshaw, like the Arab, has silently folded his campmeeting tent and departed for home. Mr. Renshaw thought it was asking too much of the people to sit in the cold for an hour or two each evening, so decided to postpone his meetings until warmer weather.

The chickens in and around Warren, especially Mrs. Bacon's, are dying off very rapidly. From what we can learn, the disease attacks the chickens like cholera, but the ministers who have been holding services here, dispute this fact by informing us that they never saw or ate a healthier lot of chickens than are owned by Mrs. Bacon.

Claude, the little son of Tom Grewell died at his home on Wednesday evening very suddenly. From what we can learn, the little fellow had been ill for quite awhile, but not thought by his parents to be dangerously so. Services were held over the remains at the school house, Rev. Philbrook conducting the services. His little schoolmates expressed their sympathy by decorating the coffin with flowers. The remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellow's cemetery.

We learn with regret that Mr. Downing and family intend to remove some time this month to the mining district of British Columbia, where he has a number of mining claims. With the departure of Mr. Downing, Warren loses one of its most earnest workers. Mr. Downing has resided in this county most of his life and by his good deeds and kind actions has won for himself a host of friends. He has surrounded himself with a family whose absence the young people will deeply feel. We all join in wishing he and his family an abundance of success, and hope some day in the near future will find he and his installed in our midst again.

During the campmeetings which were held here Saturday evening, Sunday morning, afternoon and evening, the people of Warren were treated to four of the best sermons that have ever been preached here. When it became known that Rev. Poling, the presiding elder, was to preach, the people were willing to stand the discomfort of the tent, for they realized what was in store for them. When Mr. Poling commenced to preach it is impossible to withhold your attention and as he goes deeper into his subject one becomes so interested that they are carried right along with the speaker. Not one in the audience thought of the damp ground, the hard benches or the cold chills that were chasing one another up and down his back. All were forgotten except that they were listening to the words of the presiding elder, a manner that it carried conviction to every heart. Brother Renshaw is to be congratulated in securing the help of Mr. Poling and if the weather had been good we would have had the pleasure of listening to Rev. Dick and a number of other good preachers. Brother Renshaw does nothing by halves and intended to give the people of Warren a week or so of fine sermons.
