OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

When the gallant soldier boys of this county arrived at their several homes last week friends gave them a hearty welcome. These brave, loyal lads left us a year ago at the call of their country. They have endured the many hardships and insipidity of camp, the monotony of two 8000-mile voyages in hot, crowded quarters on board the transports, over a wide, strange ocean. They helped carry the stars and stripes to a strange, far-off land, and amid volleys of shot and shell planted that sacred banner in triumph to float over many of the strongholds of the enemy. They have endured every hardship and felt every pang incident to a soldier's life save the pang and disappointment of defeat. The art of war has been learned by them and practiced in all its varied details except the one art of retreat. Amid the fierce and awful charge against entrenchments and fortifications of flaming fire, thundering forth leaden hail of death, every one of the noble lads quailed not, and as the shout of victory drowned the horrid din of battle, wondering nations took up the echo which proclaimed the honors to the Oregon volunteers. Each boy from this county honored his home, his friends, his state, his nation, himself. They have cast an imperishable halo of glory over all. Let us not forget that when they appear among us their hearts yearn to feel the thrill of welcome and a warm, fervent grasp of the hand. Let us show our heroes that we recognize and appreciate their gallant services to their home and to our country by the spontaneity and heartiness of the welcome we bestow when we meet them. Welcome, yes, welcome.

An interesting historical fact dating to 1873, has come to light, in which Admiral Dewey was the central figure. Dewey, then a commander, was in command of the United States ship Narragansett, on the Asiatic station, having taken charge of the vessel March 1, 1872. The vessel was on surveying duty when the Virginia duty was precipitated and a war with Spain seemed imminent. Commander Dewey wrote to the navy department requesting that in case war was declared he should be assigned to the duty of capturing Manila. The peaceful settlement of the controversy with Spain avoided the necessity of hostile demonstration, but the interesting fact is that the doughty officer had his eye on Manila over a quarter of a century ago. A search will be made for the letter in the files of the navy department and if found it is expected an effort will be made by the citizens committee to have it reproduced as a souvenir of the reception to be tendered Admiral Dewey upon his arrival in New York.

ALGER is gone. The kickers are observing that they are making nothing by abusing the president, but somebody has to catch it in the army of fault-finders and chronic scandal-mongers. It is now General Corbin who is about to be crucified. O, well; we can look back nigh on to 1900 years and see the only man who ever came on earth reviled, buffeted, kicked and finally nailed to the cross for performing a great mission. When we come to think about it, this great world moves, but it hasn't been changed much by the cycles of time.

From the present outlook Mr. Bryan will again be the nominee for president in 1900. This would not suit democracy very well. While Mr. Bryan would perhaps consolidate the populists and silver republicans more solidly than any other man that might be named, he would again antagonize many more democrats than before and hence would be easier beaten. Of course it is not our fight; but we mention the fact as it appears on the horoscope at present.

Just now we are told that a great tide of immigration toward Oregon is about to set in from the Eastern and Western states. That's natural enough, because our natural resources are just beginning to become known. But, say; who is to look out for Columbia's portion of this immigration pie? We want some of it; but without a little rustling we are liable to get only a small piece, and that will be mainly crust.

In the beginning God created the heaven and earth. He then made the editor, liberal advertiser and the prompt paying subscriber, and it was good. The next day a Kansas blizzard set in and he created the man who did not take the home paper and another who did not believe in advertising, and rested. The devil got into the moulding room and he created the fellow who takes the editor's paper for several years and refuses to pay for it. The devil then rested, but the editor hasn't had any rest since.

THE NEW PHILIPPINE OUTLOOK.

It becomes clear to everybody who views the Philippine situation without any prejudice that the rebellion in the islands will be quickly brought to an end after the campaign opens in October or November, if it does not end by the submission of Aguinaldo before that time. About four-fifths of the new volunteer army has now been raised, and the whole of it will be enlisted before the end of this month. Otis is doing almost equally well with the two regiments he is raising in the Philippines from the volunteers whose regiments are being sent home to be mustered out, and from the regulars whose enlistments have expired. There will be in the Philippines about 40,000 men, so the Adjutant general reports, by October 22, which is before the date at which it is understood that the new forward movement is to begin.

With an army of 40,000 men in the field, the probability is that the rebellion can be subdued inside of three or four months at the latest. It must be remembered that, as compared with the new condition, the Americans were under many serious disadvantages in the campaign which closed a few weeks ago. They did not expect the uprising. It began when the campaigning season was about half over. The numbers and style of fighting of the Filipinos were unknown to Otis' men. Otis' army was much smaller than it will be when the next campaign begins. Moreover, Aguinaldo thought last February, when he rose against the Americans, that he would have practical aid from the "anti-imperialists" of the United States—from the Hoars, the Atkinsons, the Bryans, the Gorman, the Vests and their congeners. He supposed that a little resistance on his side would arouse the flag-furlers to come to his rescue and force the administration to remove the troops from the islands. In all these important particulars the situation will be changed when the time for the advance against the rebels comes.

In every particular the conditions will be better for the Americans than they were when Aguinaldo made his first assault on Otis in the early days of February of this year. The American commanders and their men have had experience in fighting in the islands. They will expect the fighting to take place, whether it does or not. There will be at least twice as many men to do the fighting as were on hand in the recent campaign. They have a good knowledge of the country around Manila, which they did not possess when the rebellion began last winter. When the Maryland convention, the other day, which was dominated by Gorman, dodged the entire issue of the Philippines, there is pretty strong indication that the Bryans and Baileys are going to be muzzled by their own side, as a measure of party safety. Aguinaldo will have to fight his own battles without any aid, moral or other, from the American renegades, and he will have to fight twice as many trained soldiers as confronted him six months ago. That army of 40,000 men which will be on hand when the word is given next November to advance on the rebels, can be relied on to quickly stamp out or drive from the islands the little gang of marplots under Aguinaldo's lead.

WAR ON TRUSTS.

The Tillamook Herald takes a sensible view of the trust question in the following lines:

"There are trusts and trusts. Some of them are good, many of them are bad. If, by a combination of capitalists an article of general consumption can be produced cheaper, and is made cheaper, and the people are allowed to share in the saving by obtaining it at a reduced price, the trust is a benefit. If, on the other hand, a combination of capitalists obtains a monopoly of any product of general consumption and increases the price of the same to consumers the trust is harmful."

"The only objection we have to joining in the war on the trusts is that we don't know whose head to hit. Everything that requires large capital to produce or operate now is called a trust. The word is misused, and is taken advantage of by demagogues to work upon the feelings of the unthinking for dishonest motives."

"Let's draw the line between the beneficial combinations and those that work injury, and uphold the one and destroy the other. This great hullabaloo about 'the trusts' is a big piece of foolishness until the harmful combinations of capital are set apart from those that are beneficial."

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.
I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die, I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do her any good. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my daughter much suffering.—Yours truly, Mrs. G. F. Burdick, Liberty, R. I. For sale by Dr. Edwin Ross.

CATHLAMET GAZETTE.
The Saldern Logging Company are putting in roads and cutting timber. They will be ready to haul logs to tide water in the course of a few days.

The lumber business in and about Astoria is unusually lively at present. The Astoria Box Company and the Neacum Spruce Lumber Company have recently received large orders for fruit boxes from California, as well as lumber for the local trade, and both are running over time.

One of the prettiest buildings on the Columbia river is the hotel de Fluhrer, at Mayport, now in course of completion. The building is situated at Green's point on a very attractive site. The building is three stories high, with a spacious basement, and is being handsomely finished throughout. George Badger, of Clatskanie, is the designer and builder, and the structure is a credit to his ability as a draughtsman and his skill as a carpenter.

A conference between the lumber dealers of Portland this week has resulted in an agreement to advance prices, and a scale has been prepared which will soon go in effect with prices higher by an average of 50 cents a thousand. The firms represented were the North Pacific Lumber Company, Inman, Poulsen & Co., the Western Lumber Company, the Albina Lumber Company, the E. K. Jones Company, the Bridal Veil Lumber Company, of Bridal Veil, Or., and the Booth-Kelly Company, of Saguinaw, Or.

Flurber Brothers, the shingle manufacturers of Mayport, have purchased a very desirable water front a short distance above the Mayport Company's wharf, and next fall winter will commence the erection of a combined saw and shingle mill. The site is most eligible for this purpose. The machinery will be located on a solid ledge of granite, while the mill building and wharf will run parallel to the river. A spur from the railroad will run right into the mill yard, furnishing adequate and easy means of transportation.

M. J. Kinnear, one of the largest property owners in Clatsop county and a large stockholder in the Clatsop Mill Company, states that owing to the increased demand for lumber it was likely that his mill would soon be operated day and night. It will require some time, however, before this can be accomplished, as the class of work in demand will necessitate many improvements in machinery and skilled labor. At the present time the mill is running to its full capacity, with the exception of the last few days, when some repairs were made to the boilers and fire room.

ASTORIA.
Superintendent McGuire, of the A. & C. railway, reports that he needs from 75 to 100 laborers for ballast work. The railroad employment agencies have been impounded for men, but seem unable to supply the Union and Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. lines, which, apparently, have the first call with them.

Railroad contractors are having considerable trouble to get laborers to work on the Fort Stevens extension. Idle men are very scarce at present, but after the Oregon regiment is mustered out it is thought the deficiency will be supplied to a great extent, as the soldiers must have work of some sort.

CLATSKANIE CHIEF.
All sawmills and shingle mills on the line of the Astoria & Columbia River railroad will soon be able to ship their products to Eastern markets at the same rates as Portland and Sound cities. Terminal rates have been agreed upon by the A. & C. S. P. and the Colorado roads. The Lower Columbia will soon be to the front in all points.

FOREST GROVE HATCHERY.
The Gales Creek Lumber Company is filling second order of half a million feet to be delivered at Pueblo, Col., for railroad work. Could satisfactory rates have been secured, the company would have received a big order for delivery at Chicago, which one of the largest dealers in the country was anxious to give them.

OBITUARY.

John Hendricks, who died at the home of his brother, Jesse Hendricks, near Paris, postoffice, on the 4th of this month, was born in Union county, Pa., October 25, 1822; was married to Catherine Stout May 23, 1850. They removed to Clatsop county, Iowa, in 1854, where Mrs. Hendricks died in 1858. Three daughters were the fruits of the union, one of whom now resides in Iowa, one in Dakota and Mrs. Robert Frey, who now resides at Greenwood, B. C. Deceased came to this country about seven years ago, residing most of the time in Garco valley, making his home with his brother for the last three years. He lived an honest, upright life. During his last days he had all the care that friends and relatives could bestow upon him.

Certain as Fate.
The government land offices at Roseburg and Oregon City are again doing a big business in timber lands. There is a rush of Eastern people to get hold of the balance of the good timber in Oregon. They have the great bulk of it already. The Pacific coast is going to be the center of the lumber market of the world, and that within the next few years, and Oregon will have more than her share of the prosperity resulting therefrom. She has the finest bodies of standing timber in the world, in the Coast range and in the Cascades. The whole earth will soon be at our doors asking for the products of our forests, to be taken away in ships landing at our ocean ports, and on trains running to Mexico and all the country east of us.
