OREGON MIST.

DECEMBER 29, 1899.

Everybody is going to the dance New Year night.

Cyrus Noble and Yellowstone whiskey at Brinn's.

Largest stock and lowest prices at W. H. Dolman's.

Get ready for the big ball on New Year at this place.

For a complete stock of general merchandise call at W. H. Dolman's.

Down at Brinn's they have on tap "cinch" beer, whatever kind that is.

The regular January term of county court will convene next Wednesday morning.

If you are in need of some nice, up-to-date stationery it will pay you to leave orders at this office.

Services will be held in the Episcopal church next Sunday at 7:30, and each alternate Sunday evening thereafter.

It didn't look much like hard times last Friday when the Iralda went into Portland with about ninety passengers on board.

The St. Helens public school pupils will enjoy a two-week's vacation. Mr. Cleveland is spending the vacation at his home at Astoria.

The people of Deer Island celebrated Christmas by having a large, heavily laden Christmas tree, after which dancing was indulged in, continuing nearly the entire night.

C. C. Brower and A. C. Carruthers seem to be the leading candidates for justice of the peace, which office will be filled by appointment by the county court.—Astorian.

The Masons and Eastern Star fraternity held their annual installation in this city Wednesday evening. It was a joint installation, after which a sumptuous spread was enjoyed.

Money for use for Christmas purchases this year seemed to flow as freely as honey. The largest Christmas trade for many years is reported this year from all over the country.

All members of Avon lodge K. of P. are requested to be present next Tuesday evening at the regular weekly convention. Installation of officers and other interesting features.

Mr. Joseph Dupont, of Valley, and Mr. Charles Wallace have been doing good work on the Nehalem road. They inform us that they have recently put down sixty rods of corduroy in the extremely bad places.

Christmas was duly observed in every home in St. Helens. It was a quiet observance but none the less pleasant. The weather was warm and pleasant and altogether Christmas day was perfect in all particulars.

It is reported that a mill company have bought a large tract of timber back of Knappa and that extensive logging business will soon be commenced. No logging camps have been run near Knappa for several years.

The Christmas number of the Telegram was a beauty. It not only presented an attractive appearance, but it was replete with valuable reading matter and descriptive articles of the resources of the good state of Oregon.

Mr. Cliff Harris, of Sauvies island, was in town last Friday. Mr. Harris informs us that he will engage extensively in the fishing business next summer. He will build a small steamboat and will patrol the river from Vancouver to this city and purchase all the fish that are obtainable.

Mr. Frank Brown, who is operating an extensive logging camp on the Cowceman, has increased his facilities for logging by installing a large steam donkey in his camp. The machine was taken in this week and will be ready to operate in a few days. Mr. Brown seems to have explicit confidence in the logging industry on the Columbia.

Mr. Ben Montelli, of Tacoma, arrived down from Portland last Friday. He has gone with a crew of men, consisting of J. D. McKay, Ed Gore and Wm. McKay, of Scappoose, on a surveying and cruising trip through Nehalem valley in search of mineral. Mr. Montelli owns considerable land in this county, on which is said to be vast and valuable iron deposits.

John Scott, of the Oriental hotel, wanted his goose, and he got it. John had purchased nearly a dozen large, fat geese for Christmas dinner, but one of them made good its escape from the coop and John pursued it in a small boat nearly to Columbia City before he recaptured the bird. Some satisfaction was nevertheless had when the Christmas dinner was spread.

After arriving at his parents home at Scappoose last Saturday evening, Mr. Grant Watts was taken violently sick, the malady indicating poisoning. At Portland Friday evening Mr. Watts ate quite freely of halibut for his supper. The fish tasted slightly putrid to Mr. Watts, and it afterwards developed that it caused his sickness. He returned to this city, however, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Stewart, a demented woman about 30 years of age, who was being cared for at the private sanitarium of Dr. H. W. Coe, in Portland, escaped from that institution last Saturday. Her home is in Seattle and it is thought she is endeavoring to reach that city. A woman answering the description given of Mrs. Stewart was seen in the vicinity of Warren Tuesday afternoon.

A new regulation for cancelling internal revenue stamps, when attached to documents requiring the same, has been promulgated by the United States treasury department and went into effect two weeks ago. It consists of cutting three parallel lines nearly the entire length of the stamps and through the documents to which they are attached, after the same have been properly affixed and cancelled with the date and the necessary initials.

About a year ago a fakir by the name of Watts struck town and proceeded to "rope in" many of our people with a glowing traveling library proposition. Three dollars each was the price of the membership and a new lot of books were to arrive each month. We bit. The books came a few times, and finally the last lot was shipped to Portland for "readjustment." That's what they told us. The process of "readjustment" is still in progress. The next fakir who strikes town should be invited to leave as quickly as possible.

The weather last Saturday night was thick. So much so was this the case that when the night boats left Portland they seemed to run into everything but the river. The Undine ran afoul of the point of Swan island and was towed off by the Hassalo. Farther down the river the Hassalo "hung up" on the dyke near Gillihan's place, when the Undine was able to return the compliment by assisting the Hassalo out of her perilous predicament. The America did not attempt to come to her wharf in this city, but remained at anchor all night in the slough below the Copeland place. Everything seemed befogged.

Logging Outlook Bright.

The outlook for loggers is brighter now than it has been for a long time, notwithstanding that most of the logging camps are shut down for a time, while short days and bad weather are the rule, says the Oregonian. Some 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 feet of logs, just floated out or to be floated out of the Elokamin, have been sold to the North Pacific Lumber Company for $6.50 per thousand, which is the highest price paid for logs in this section for probably eight or ten years. This is encouraging to loggers, notwithstanding that it is said that the company needed the logs and had to pay a little more than their market value. This supply of logs will be pretty nearly used up by the time the logging camps get started again, and there will be a greater demand for logs here next season than ever before, with a new mill of large capacity starting up, and all the old mills running at their full capacity. The increase in price will cause the demand to be supplied, as new logging camps have been opened and all loggers are prepared to operate on a more extensive scale than ever. While the price of logs has been low, only land close to water could be logged with profit, but now that the price of logs has advanced, sections further back, necessitating the building of railways, will be logged, and the use of engines in the place of teams will enable much more work to be done.

Lost Boy Returned.

A dispatch from Goble in last Sunday's Oregonian tells of the return of Edgar Fowler, the 14-year-old son of H. M. Fowler of that place. The dispatch was dated Dec. 23, and reads as follows:

"Edgar Fowler, son of H. M. Fowler, of this place, after wandering about the Northwest for the past few months, returned to his home last night. About four months ago, Edgar, who is 14 years old, was sent to school in Portland, boarding with friends of the family there. One day in September the lad failed to show up at his boarding-house, and a day or two later the father received an inquiry asking if the boy had returned home. Since that time no trace of him was found, although his father employed detectives in the search and offered a reward for information of his whereabouts. Yesterday Mr. Fowler received a telegram from Easton, Wash., saying that the boy was there employed in a restaurant. Mr. Fowler immediately wired transportation and the boy arrived from the north this evening. Almost the entire village people were gathered at the depot to welcome the prodigal and there was great rejoicing in the Fowler home. Edgar is a bright young fellow, and evidently able to take care of himself."

Another Boat for the Slough.

The Kellogg Transportation Company has purchased the steamer McMinnville and will place her on the Slough route between St. Helens and Portland.

The McMinnville was built in the early part of this year by Joseph Supple for the Yamhill river route from Portland. However, she made but a few trips on that route and was laid off.

The McMinnville is of exceedingly light draft—only eleven inches—but will be fitted with heavier engines and boiler, and this may cause her draft to be deeper. Mr. Supple has taken the engines and boiler out of the Valley Queen, and these will be fitted in the McMinnville. A larger wheel is also being built for the boat. When she is completed she will be speedy, and withal a good freighthandler.

Words of Encouragement.

"The St. Helens MIST has entered its 17th year. It is neatly gotten out, and covers its news field intelligently."—Sunday Oregonian.

The frequent and numerous words of encouragement often spoken for us have a wonderful tendency to stimulate our efforts to get up each week the very best paper we know how, and how well we are succeeding can best be judged by expressions from readers and persons disinterested except in the natural pride felt in the knowledge that a good local newspaper is being issued weekly in their midst. Whether we receive credit for it or not we will continue to furnish our readers with all the news that is "getable."

VERNONIA ITEMS.

The shooting match at A. Baker's last Saturday was well attended.

Quite a large crowd from Keasey and Beaver were in town Christmas night to attend the entertainment.

The present condition of the roads is very soft and tender, which the average Nehalemite fully realizes, making the hardships of a farmer's life a burden indeed.

Mr. Frank Tracy has purchased the old jail building from the city and removed across the street and back of his residence. It has been suggested that may be Frank intends operating the "cooler" in his own interest.

Omar Spencer and sister, Oral, accompanied by Messrs. Edgar Wood and Lestow Lewis, came over the mountain from St. Helens last Saturday for a brief vacation at home. These young people are attending Portland University. The trip over the hills was quite a novelty to the young gentlemen from Portland. However, they report a very pleasant trip, mingled with mud and water. They will return to Portland on Friday of this week.

Gossip has made many a hell upon earth. It has parted many husbands and wives. It has blackened and sullied the character of many girls. It has parted many lovers who would have been very happy but for it. One little misstep or one little indiscretion will cause gossip to rise with new strength and start on her mission. Her, did we say? We ought not to, for we have male gossipers, and as a rule, they are ten times as venomous as female. A good, healthy gossiper is about as mean and low and dangerous as the meanest thing on earth.

Card of Thanks.

PORTLAND, Or., Dec. 20, 1899.

This seems but a slight recognition in view of the fact that the kindness of my St. Helens friends has been so generously bestowed upon me and my family in a time of trouble, in so freely contributing cash to one in need, but as no other means are at hand, please accept this as a partial recognition. I am unable to express my gratitude.

K. SUNDBY.

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhoea. Some time ago I persuaded him to take some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25-cent size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping someone similarly afflicted may read it and be benefitted. —THOMAS C. BOWER, Glencoe, O. For sale by Dr. Edwin Ross.

You Try It.

If Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure, which is sold for the small price of 25 cts., 50 cts. and $1, does not cure, take the bottle back and we will refund your money. Sold for over fifty years on this guarantee. Price 25 cts. and 50 cts. Sold by Dr. Edwin Ross.

WARREN AND SCAPPOOSE.

Christmas day passed off very quietly at Warren.

Mr. D. C. Allard left for his home at Troutdale last Friday evening.

A fine horse belonging to Mr. Ole Bohman was killed by a train last week.

Jesse and Orville Bacon were passengers for Portland on Monday evening's train.

Mr. Frank Williams accompanied Miss Allard from Troutdale on a brief visit to this place.

Mrs. W. J. Fullerton, who visited in Portland for a week, returned home last Wednesday evening.

Miss Mae Slavens returned last Saturday from Castle Rock, where she had visited for some time.

Mrs. E. Hawkins and daughter, Mrs. Gause, of Idaho, come down from Portland on Wednesday evening of last week.

Messrs. Floyd Puzey and Ed McFarland and Miss Olive Grewell were the guests of Miss Edythe Hazen on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meserve, of Portland, are spending a few days with Mrs. Meserve's parents at Scappoose, Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins.

N. F. Baker and family, who have spent the last two months at Hammond, Oregon, returned to Warren on Wednesday of last week.

A large number of the young people of Warren attended the masquerade ball at Scappoose Christmas night. All report having had a splendid time.

Miss May Allard, a sister of Don C. Allard, the Warren school teacher, came down from Troutdale to take part in the closing exercises of the school at Warren last week.

A surprise party was tendered to Chas. Hartman on Wednesday evening of last week at his home at Scappoose by his young friends. The young people had everything their own way and enjoyed themselves immensely.

Ed McFarland, Floyd Puzey, George Gunderson, Dale Semple, Mr. Jensen, Sloan Fullerton, John Dolan, Tucker Slavens, Mr. Harms, George Fox, Tom Grewell, Mart Hazen, Frank Hoyt, H. Collins, Nim Baker and family, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Tompkins, Ella Bacon, Laura Puzey and Maude Watts were Portland visitors last week.

The Christmas tree given by the Artisans Saturday night last was one of the best conducted affairs ever given at Scappoose. Mr. Hartman, the chairman of the tree committee, with his assistants, worked very hard for the last two weeks, and their efforts were appreciated by the large number of people present. The programme rendered was splendid, each and every number being heartily received.

The basket social and entertainment given by the pupils of the Warren school on Thursday evening of last week was a success in every way. The baskets sold for from $1 to $2, Will Fullerton acting as auctioneer. The numbers on the programme rendered were good. One of the best things on the programme was a drill by twelve of the pupils in full uniform. The recitations by Misses Ellis and Grewell, Frankie Hoyt, Ed Harms and Jap Hazen were good. "The Little Red Hen," which was delivered by Miss May Allard, was very funny. Mr. Allard and Mr. Henry Larsen sang a duet, which was well received. Miss Lillie Larsen and Miss Ollie Ellis also rendered a duet in a creditable manner. Miss Maude Slavens captivated the audience by her violin playing and received a big round of applause for her effort.

CLATSKANIE ITEMS.

Miss Mary Tichenor is at home from the Portland University.

Walter Smith, of Portland, spent Christmas in our city.

Miss C. J. Tracy is spending vacation week with friends in Portland.

Mrs. J. A. English and daughter are spending the holidays in our city.

Edgar Colvin and John Bryant are back from Forest Grove for the holidays.

John Hudson had a visit from his brother and family, of Portland, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wheeler were guests of Z. Bryant and family for Christmas.

The public schools are taking a vacation this week to resume operations next Tuesday.

Miss Mary Conyers was down from Oregon City to spend Christmas among the friends at home.

Mrs. Tracy, of Rock creek, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. D. Lewis at the Clatskanie hotel.

Miss Louise Barr is down from Portland this week. She assisted in the music at the masquerade ball Monday night.

Steve Tichenor, Jr., who has been employed in Portland recently spent two or three days here with his parents and furnished clarionette music for the dance.

The friends at Hazel Grove had Christmas exercises Saturday evening at the school house, where Santa Claus was represented in a buffalo skin suit and dealt generously with those present.

Capt. N. Nichols and family are spending a few days in town, the guests of James Van. He greets many old acquaintances on our streets who are pleased to see the captain holding his own fairly well though looking somewhat whiter about the head.

The masquerade ball on Christmas night at Merrill's hall, attracted quite a crowd, enough to make dancing a little inconvenient, but the management say the enterprise was quite a success from both a social and financial standpoint. The Camp of Woodmen is to receive the benefit, and it is reported it will net over $35.

William E. Conyers says he is supposed to be a thousand dollars better off on account of the new boy that came to his home last Friday evening. He does not expect to realize that amount very promptly on the investment, but is pleased to think that in his old age he has now two sons to look after his interests. All doing well at his home.

Mr. William Schneider, of Kyser, and Miss Carrie Tichenor, of our city, were married last Sunday evening by Rev. Winter at the residence of the bride's parents. The affair was a very quiet one, being witnessed by a few friends only. The newly married couple took the train that evening for Portland. Their many friends wish them a happy married life.

Christmas exercises were held in the church on Saturday evening, where a pair of fine trees had been nicely decorated and lavishly decorated with presents. The church would not hold all who desired to get in. Exercises by the scholars, after a prayer and brief address by the pastor, made up a programme for the evening. Each public school room furnished something in music, recitations or allegory. Following these exercises, which were entertaining and appropriate, came a distribution of such presents as were sent in and later a general distribution of candy and nuts to all present. The crowded condition of the house made it difficult to hear some of the children, but the evening generally passed off very pleasantly.

DECKER'S OLD STAND, ST. HELENS

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land, and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years constant use without a failure. For sale by Dr. Edwin Ross.

Consumption is preventable? Science has proven that, and also that neglect is suicidal. The worst cold or cough can be cured with Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure. Sold on a positive guarantee for over fifty years. Sold by Dr. Edwin Ross.

As a cure for rheumatism Chamberlain's Pain Balm is gaining a wide reputation. D. B. Johnston, of Richmond, Ind., has been troubled with that ailment since 1862. In speaking of it he says: "I never found anything that would relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It acts like magic with me. My foot was swollen and paining me very much, but one good application of Pain Balm relieved me." For sale by Dr. Edwin Ross.
