MARCH 23, 1900.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

JUDGE STEPHEN A. LOWELL, of Pendleton, announces through the press of Eastern Oregon that he is a candidate for United States senator. There are others, too, of a more or less covetous spirit.

MARCH and the lion slept peacefully side by side for a number of days already this month. The only lamentable circumstance of the whole affair is that the congenial relationship cannot be perpetual.

The abandonment of the proposition to build a railroad from here to Pittsburg, by the parties from Portland, might be looked upon as leaving a way open for local people to engage in the undertaking with a marked degree of probable success. In fact, such an undertaking might prove eminently successful if the proper persons engaged in it.

The withdrawal of the proposition made by the Columbia & Nehalem Valley Railroad Company to build, construct and equip a line of railroad from St. Helens to Pittsburg, leaves the field open to other comers. The timber of the Nehalem valley will never reach a market only by rail, and the sooner the people interested become impressed with the importance of this fact the sooner will a railroad be built.

The heavy editorial in the Clatskanie paper last week regarding the chairman of the county central committee, fell with "crushing effect" upon the people. It reminds us of the athlete's dumbbell, which went crashing down through five floors, knocking the soap out of the suds in Biddy's wash-tub in the basement. Too heavy, Enoch, too heavy. We mention this, however, lest you and the public are forgotten.

That reduction of $40,000 of debt in Columbia county during the year 1899 is a pretty good recommendation for a continuance of the same system of affairs which brought it about. Good republican times and good reliable republican financiers were factors in the matter, and it strikes most people quite forcibly that both those elements were factors of no little importance. The verdict of the people will be to continue the same conditions by confining the people in the local offices who did so well during the last two or three years.

"OUR PLAIN DUTY."

COLUMBIA CITY, March 20.—To the Editor.—It seems that congress would get tired of threshing over the old straw sometimes and do something new, but they don't. Were I in congress I could settle the Puerto Rico question in a minute. First, do what is right to our people, then what is just to ourselves. We warred with Spain because she treated her people unjustly, and unless we do much better then we have done much worse, for the reason the war cost life and treasure. Free trade with Puerto Rico is right, for we will retain the island for all time, or as long as we keep America. All other nations keep their possessions so long as they advance in a legitimate way. By the rights that violate the rights of man at this moment Christian civilization is at a standstill, or moving backward. Hence this country must not do as Europe is doing, proving by its course that might is right, while power is only delegated to nature or the great Creator of all. So far as the land of the new possessions is concerned it is American territory, but the people who occupy it should not be citizens at present, no more than the Indians or the Chinamen. The white races have always made an effort to advance civilization in unison with the laws of nature. If it had been otherwise we today would have been savages, and on that point the danger line has been reached. Nature teaches us that there is but one just and proper way, and the moment we deviate from it we suffer in consequence. I would ask what is the use of the physical universe unless it is to teach us the only true and safe way to be sober and moderate, always unselfish. One word more and I am done. As to the Philippine islands, we cannot afford to give them sixty different governments; fifty-nine will have to do. Spain has failed to develop those people after a trial of 400 years. Apparently they have gone into decay beyond redemption, and so we will have to make haste slowly. C.

Moody Commended.

Congressman M. A. Moody is a candidate for re-nomination as Representative from this Second Congressional District. He is entitled to a second term, and should be re-nominated without serious opposition. Although Mr. Moody has been in active service in Washington the brief space of three months, he has demonstrated beyond question his ability to represent his district to the best interests of his constituency. He will, with a second term, be in a better position than ever to advance the interests of the Second District, and, considering the probability of important measures coming before the next session of congress, vital to Eastern Oregon's interests, it would be the height of folly, bordering on sheer madness, to fail to return him. A new man would be wholly unprepared to meet the exigencies, and the interests of Eastern Oregon would be jeopardized to that extent. We apprehend but feeble if any opposition in this county to Mr. Moody's candidacy, and there should be none in this district.—Astoria Herald.

EXTRACTS FROM PRIMARY LAW.

Rules Which Might be Observed With Profit.

The coming republican primary election will be held March 31, 1900, in the city of Astoria, in Columbia county. The question as to who has a right to vote at such election has been discussed in every precinct.

In order that no confusion may arise, we have endeavored to gain, from all sources, the necessary information. The following will cover all points that will come up for decision by the judges, in precincts regulated by the primary law, as well as precincts where open primaries are conducted:

No one should be allowed to vote who is not a republican, or will, under oath, say that he will affiliate with the republican party, and support its ticket at the ensuing general election. This is right. No member of any party has a right, legally or morally, to participate in any primary election of another party. Otherwise, men with no good intent to the parties holding the primaries, might interest themselves and assist in electing a delegation which would prove detrimental to that party's interest.

The following questions suggest themselves as being proper to ask any person whose right to vote has been challenged:

- First—Are you a republican? If not, will you support the republican ticket at the ensuing general election?
- Second—Have you voted at any primary election this year? (See section 6 of primary law.)
- Third—Has your vote been rejected at any primary election this year? (See section 7 of primary law.)
- Fourth—Are you a bona fide resident of this precinct? (See section 6 of primary law.)
- Fifth—Will you be a legal voter in this precinct at the ensuing general election? (See section 2 of article 2 of constitution.)

CLATSKANIE ITEMS.

Chas. Conyers spent Tuesday in Portland.

C. J. Lyndall, of Vesper, was in town Friday on his way home.

Bruce Haines was up from Clifton to spend Sunday with his family here.

Dr. Knoder and wife made a brief visit to Portland the first of the week.

An addition to the Popham & Co. blacksmith shop is going up this week.

Alonso Merrill spent a few days in our town and vicinity recently, the guest of his brother, N. Merrill.

W. S. Chandler, after having been in Portland a day, was seen pushing a new baby carriage up street. Right it is.

Charles Meserve, who has been rusticated at Delena for the winter, looked in on us a short time the first of this week.

Preparations are being made for a public school to be opened to be given March 31st, one week before the close of the school term.

John Boxler, of Fishhawk, was in town Monday, with a wagon load of spots, which he took to the railroad depot for shipment.

A notice is posted calling attention to the city election to be held Monday, April 2nd. A full outfit of city officials is to be elected at that time.

C. A. Himpel, of Nehalem, is spending the week in town, shaking hands with old friends. He is looking well and apparently enjoying his visit.

Miss Maud Carl, of Vesper, spent Tuesday in town on her way home from Marshland, where she had been living in the family of W. B. Colvin for several weeks.

D. Dixon, sr., was in town Tuesday with his team and improved car, made by boxing over the front axle and wheels of his wagon. The conveyance is a solid one.

We are promised a lady organizer for the Ladies of the Maccabees this week. If this organizing keeps on much longer we will need an extra hall or two to accommodate the lodge meetings. Time to call a halt.

L. V. Maxwell and wife took the baby with them to Astoria last week to give it, as well as the mother, a good outing. Its picture was taken, of course. Who could neglect so good an opportunity to get baby's picture.

Spring is certainly here. The buds are swelling, the robins are here, and new baby carriages with budding humanity are seen on the streets, propelled by loving hands in spring costumes. Yes, spring is here.

Our fire boys got hold of more than they could handle when they tried to take up a ladder with a full stream of water playing through it. The water had to be turned off first, but until a few got an involuntary shower bath, and others got away lively to escape it.

Two alarms of fire have occurred within the past week and in each instance our fire brigade was on hand promptly to check the fire before it got much of a start. Our water system is proving a great benefit and is appreciated both for household use and for fire purposes.

Charles A. Carlson, a Washington volunteer, gave our people an entertaining evening last Saturday with his exhibition of pictures of scenes in the Philippine islands. His views are quite satisfactory and his explanations as they are thrown on the canvas, add very materially to the interest in seeing them.

Mrs. Brewick left Monday morning for Portland, expecting a situation in a manufacturing establishment, where her skill with a needle will be utilized. She will be greatly missed from town, where her services have been constantly in demand, and where her cheerfulness combined with willingness to help when and where needed, made her a very useful member of our community.
