JULY 27, 1900.

THE man who tries to drown his troubles, always seems to think that they are located in his stomach.

THE intimation that Texas is likely to be carried for McKinley this year was probably given out by some of the local Democratic leaders who want to get into early communication with the treasurer of the national committee.

THE courts of Tennessee will not license women lawyers to practice before them. It is now more apparent than ever that a woman cannot reach her pistol pocket quick enough to obtain any footing in a Southern court.

AT the present time the United States has more war-ship toonnage under construction than ever in the history of the country in time of peace. The new vessels building or authorized include seventy of all classes, twelve of which are battle-ships, six armored cruisers, nine protected cruisers, four monitors, sixteen torpedo-boat destroyers, fifteen torpedo boats, seven submarine gunboats and one lake gunboat.

Now the world is warned against the microbe that infests the door knob. The danger is said to be just about as great as from handling greenbacks or silver, or shaking hands with a neighbor. The information is given out that when taking hold of a door-knob or bell-handle one is liable to infection with measles, mumps, itch, lockjaw, appendicitis, and what not. It is evident that man has mighty small show for his life, in the midst of so much scietific discovery.

THE troubles of the City Council are growing no fewer. The Light & Water Company threatens a law suit, just for a little excitement and incidentally to endeavor to force the city to live up to a contract, which it alleges exists, regarding a monthly stipend of $15 for fire protection. There are all sorts of wild rumors current regarding the matter, the water Company claiming one thing and the City Dads as vigorously denying the allegations. Written contracts are said to exist to substantiate certain claims, but the courts will likely be resorted to in order to try out the difference of opinion.

THE Astorian says the result of the convass of the Census Enumerators in Clatsop County has been forwarded to Washington, and that the returns show that Astoria has a population of between 8000 and 10,000. Good enough! But if we were a resident of Astoria we would shake hands with ourself for the next year over the splendid facilities afforded for being supplied with such exasperatingly definite information. The returns of the enumeration in Columbia County may not have been sent in yet, but when they are we'll wager a silk tile against a Cuban Blossom cigar that the figures will show Columbia County to have a population of between 1000 and 15,000.

THE Republican National Convention presents a ticket that suits the times and the party. It is a wedding of war heros—McKinely of the war room of the White House, and Roosevelt of the rough horse in Cuba. Here you have action, and acquisition personified, fit combination for a period of expansion and prosperity. When it was settled that it was to be Roosevelt, after all, what did the band do but play "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight!" What a prophecy of the frolicsome days before us! Dear old Teddy of the khaki and the top boots and the wide brimmed hat, and all that! What a carnival of nicknames and noise his candidacy implies, and what high old times are in store for the boys at the coming of the dashing rough rider.

WHEN Jules Verne's fictitious personage, a quarter of a century ago, went round the world in eighty days, it was thought that this was an impossible feat. It was beaten, however, a few years ago by actual persons. When Russia's Siberian railroad is completed a year or two hence the trip around the globe, by land and ocean travel, can be made in thirty-three days. It took Magellan's men three years to make the circuit, and Drake was about the same length of time on the way. Thus steam is making distance obsolete. It is bridging oceans and continents, uniting the isolated, throwing the near and remote into juxtaposition, and bringing the four corners of the globe into speaking distance of each other. Yes, the world is growing smaller.

EVIDENCES of prosperity with Mr. Bryan are not limited to the fresh paint and new porch. Newspaper stories that he has $50,000 in bonds in a safe place are ridiculed by the candidate, who says he would like to see some of them. "A healthy growth" of his estate is admitted. In 1896 Mr. Bryan returned to the Assessor his occupation as a lawyer, and his taxable wealth at $270. This year he gives no occupation and lists his property at $4560. The accretion has been steady in the past four years. In 1890 he was put down as a lawyer with no property. In 1893 he was returned as a Congressman by profession, with an estate valued at $282. The next year showed that his property had shrunken to $200. In 1895 Mr. Bryan was a lawyer worth $340. The first year after he ran for President Mr. Bryan returned $1485, and in 1898 his estate was taxed at $2080.

MR. BRYAN is 100 per cent more Populist than he was in 1896, is the conclusion of some who have watched his political development. Certainly it takes a little observation to decide that he is less a Democrat than he ever was. Why should he be a Democrat? The sum total of his political success and advancement has been due to dissatisfied Republicans. Bryan owes the Democracy nothing except the formality of nominations. The votes he got himself, or thinks he did. He lives in a ward which has furnished in succession the three Representatives in Congress from this district. The ward is Republican by two to one. The present Representative is a Republican, a Mr. Burkart, an energetic young lawyer, who took his degree from the State University not ten years ago. Between Bryan and Burkart was Strode. Before Bryan was another Republican. Bryan was elected by Republican voters, who gave him the seat because they did not want to give it to the other man. The second time he carried the district by 124 votes and then he went out of public life, turned editor for a time and obtained the nomination at Chicago. Invention of theories to fascinate and win Republicans has been Bryan's winning way. If there is anything the Populists believe in that Bryan does not it cannot be readily called to mind. Around Bryan continually as his closest friends and admirers, not advisors, for he has none, are men of Populistic or socialistic notions. Bryan lives and flourishes in this atmosphere. He does not serve Democracy. He permits the Democratic party to serve him.

THE plague of cutworms now devastating growing vegetation, is a matter for alarm and most careful attention. From all over the State comes the same story of destruction. Even the meadows of wild hay are infested and lowland farmers now fear the entire destruction of the crop. This being the first visitation of the pestilence, farmers are unprepared in a knowledge of how to successfully combat and exterminate it. The worms seem to come forth from the ground by millions, working almost entirely by night. The mildness of the last winter is charged with being responible for the presence of these worms, but how logical such an idea may be is yet quite indefinite. At all events the situation demands careful attention, and if there be any means for exterminating the pest its employment should be vigorous and hasty.

Synopsis of Game Law.

We have been requested to publish the game law, especially relative to birds and deer. There is too much unnecessary matter in the whole law, so we print a synopsis, which contains all the information necessary:

Deer, moose and mountain sheep may be killed from July 15 to November 1. Prohibited for market entirely. Spotted fawn not to be killed at all. Deer hunting prohibited between one hour after sunset and half an hour before sunrise. No dogs allowed.

Grouse, prairie chickens, pheasants, Chinese pheasants, quail and partridges may be killed from October 1 to December 1. Market hunting prohibited for Chinese pheasants for three years from spring of 1899, other birds from November 15 to October 15. Trap, netting and snaring of birds prohibited. Jacksnipe may be killed from September 1 to February 1. Only fifteen upland birds may be killed in a day. No shooting from public highways, nor on farms without permission.

Trout may be caught from April 1 to November 1, but never under five inches in length, and only with hook and line. Eastern brook trout introduced protected for three years from spring of 1899.

ALL SORTS.

There's the man with the pick and the man with the hoe, and the man with the horny spade, but the man with the "ad" is the man ever glad, for he collers his share of the trade. There's the man with the wheel and the man with the automobile, but the man, east or west, who in an "ad" will invest is the man at the top of the deal.

The State Supreme Court has made a ruling that the act passed by the last Legislature permitting District Attorneys to present informations without a grand jury being called is constitutional. This is the first time this question has been before the Supreme Court and the decision settles a question that has been raised in nearly every County in the State.

A contemporary asks "Where do Populists stand?" They don't stand. They just wobble about. They wobbled from "free silver" then they wobbled round "imperialism" and lately, they have shown a decided inclination to wobble to anything that opposes progress. They wobbled over to the Democrats, and Democrats joined in the wobble; and the two sets of wobbiers are now so badly mixed up that it is impossible to distinguish the other from which.

It has been agreed that newspaper subscriptions are an infallible test of a man's honesty. They will sooner or later discover the man. If he is dishonest he will cheat the printer some way—declare he has paid when he has not—sent money in the mails which was lost—will take the paper and not pay for it on the ground that he never subscribed for it—or move off and leave it coming to the office he left. Thousands of alleged Christians are dishonest in this, at least, and the printer's book will tell fearful tales at the final judgment.

A facetious reporter for a Portland commercial agency varied the monotony of a special report on the buisness condition and credit of a Spokane baker recerently. It was an odd case. The man's name was Baker. He was a baker by trade, and he moved from Spokane to Baker City, in Baker county, Oregon. This may sound queer, but it is the truth. The agent detailed to look up Mr. Baker's standing turned in a graphic account. He said: "Baker was in the baker buisness here. He has gone to Baker City. He is out of dough."

An exchange says that the greatest case of dog eat dog was of a young man who loved to smoke a good cigar, and an insurance company. The former bought 2000 extra fine cigars and lasured them for their full value, smoked them up and then demanded insurance, claiming they had been destroyed by fire. The case was taken to court and decided in favor of the young man. Then the company had the young man arrested for setting fire to his own property, and the judge ordered that he pay a fine and go to jail for three months.

The latest estimates indicate that the Kansas corn crop will amout to 100,000,000 bushles. It will be worth at the least calculation, $60,000,000. If the sum realized from the sale of the crop should be divided per capita, every man, woman and child in the state would receive $40. When this crop is shipped it will require 200,000 box cars to transport it. Divided into trains of fifteen cars, the number would be over 13,000. If it were possible to run all the cars in one train, they would make a continuous string over 1200 miles in length, reaching from Topeka to Buffalo.

In Early Summer.

It is now the old sow wanders to some quiet fen or break and returns with seven piglets toddling cutely in her wake. In the spring the good dog, Rover, hides behind the bushes damp, waiting always, waiting ever, for a chance to nail a tramp. In the spring the bull so gentle, which has been a pet for years, gores the poor, confiding farmer, sits on him and eats his ears. In the spring the youths and maidens go to picnic in the woods, packing with them in their baskets sandwiches and other goods; and they fall into the river, and the chiggers eat them up, and they come back from the picnic swollen like a poisoned pup.

In the spring the wily stranger comes to sell a patent oat, and he gets the names of victims to a thousand-dollar note. In the spring you make a garden full of things you like to eat, and the chickens come and scratch it all to thunder and repeat. In the spring your lawn is pretty and you point to it with pride, until some cattle come and spoil it in the silent eventide.

In spring the groaning husband eats his victuals in the barn, for his wife must clean the mansion and she doesn't care a darn; and the yard is full of carpets, and the trees are full of sheets, and he has to live on saurkraut, cistern water and sliced beets. Oh, a woman's in her glory when she tears things all apart, piles beds and chairs and pillows in a way to break your heart. And at night the groaning husband has to sleep upon the porch and he feels so plum disgusted that he can't enjoy his torch. When the blamed old cleaning's over, then the wife is taken ill, and it keeps the husband busted buying dope and drugs and pills.

How About Your Title?

ARE YOU SURE it is all right? Remember that it is the RECORD that governs. It is our business to search the records and show what they contain in relation to land titles. If you contemplate buying land or loaning money on real-estate security, take no man's word, but insist upon knowing what the record shows regarding the title. An Abstract is as essential as a deed. Insist on having it. We have the only set of abstract books in the county. All work promptly executed and satisfaction guaranteed. If you have property to insure give us a call. We are agents for the best fire insurance companies in the world. If you have property for sale list it with us and we will find a buyer.
