has come of it. Paul profoundly says: "None of us liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself." Your business depends largely upon the business success and prosperity of your neighbors. Your living is made here and out of the people of this County. Their success means your suc-cess. Their failures mean privation and short rations for you, therefore, put your shoulder to the wheel and help every enterprise to succeed. In this manner you will greatly assist in the general industrial conditions of your section. Patronize your home industries and institutions, always remembering that "charity begins at home." principally in chained lightning. The O. R. & N. Company's fast side-wheeler, T. J. Potter, has retired to the boneyard, and when she again emerges whe will be so thoroughly changed in ap-pearance that her best friends will hard-ly recognize her, says Wednesday's Ore-gonian. Between now and next spring the company will spend a great many thousand dollars in placing her in first class shape for the passenger business between Portland and the beach. Her steaming capacity will be increased by the addition of the largest boiler that ever came to Portland, and one of her engines, which was cracked a short time ago, will be replaced by a new cylinder. The greatest change, however, will be in her upper works. The entire upper deck of the steamer will be covered with a subin containing forty staterooms. With these additional accommodations and an increase in her speed, which will nec-ensarily follow the installation of the large boiler, the big sidewheeler will be more popular than ever.

that "charity begins at home." Mr. Charles Mayger, who is superin-tending the construction of the large flume down Beaver Valley, was in town Monday. Mr. Mayger says the enter-prise is a gigantic undertaking, calling for the outlay of an entormous amount of money. When this flume is com-pleted is will not only be a great money-making enterprise, but it will be a power in developing the section of country through which it traverses. Every person in that portion of the County will be financially beneatited by the presence of the flume and Beaver Valley will develop into a beautiful and posperous farming and stockralsing section.

more popular than ever. According to the best information at hand, the lower Nehalem coal field promises to supply Portland with an element of commercial success that has been lacking here—cheap fuel. It ap-pears that the coal is there, but it must be brought to this city, and a railroad to the coal measures is necessary for this purpose. The development of an adequate coal supply so accessible to Portland would be a great factor in the growth of the town. We might wait for some henevolent corporation to build such a road, but while we should be wait-ing the world would go right along. Would it not be a good thing for Port-land capitalists to put their hands in their pockets and build a road to the Nehalem? Then we would get coal and we would also get access to a large area of excellent timber, the finest, porbaps, that is immediately tributary to Port-land. Few enterprises would be of more benefit to this city than a railroad direct to the Nehalem Valley. Seattle built her own roads to coal mines, and has thriven upon them; why should not Portland also help hersell?—Oregonian. Hitherto public improvements in this section. After the scourge of diphtheria and smallpox has abated and the Episcopal banar, and the church dedication, and the revival meetings, and the Artisan entertainment at Houlton, and the Christmas tree, and the New Year's dance, and the lodge elections and in-stallations, and the excitement of the holidays has passed by, what are we going to do? This might be answered by saying we can "do each other." but perhaps there's enough of that already. The time and talent of our theatrically inclined people might be put to em-ployment by rehearsing and producing a drama for excitement after the col-lapse comes after the bolidays. apse comes after the holidays.

A series of most interesting meetings has been in progress in our city this week at the Congregational church. Rev. Mr. Dunning, pastor of the Forest Grove church, has been in attendance since Sunday, preaching three very ablo sermons. Rev. Mr. Winchester, pastor of the Hamano street church in Port-Hitherto public improvements in this city have been confined almost entirely to the improvement of streets, a very necessary and commendable thing, but

Mr. B. Gray, who lives near Amenia, Duchess County, N. Y., mays: "Cham-berlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine children's remedy for croup and never fails to cure." This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant
