SEPTEMBER 13, 1901.

ASSAULTED THE PRESIDENT.

To tell our readers that an attempt was made to assassinate President McKinley last Friday would be a useless statement of a fact which is undoubtedly known to every person in the United States. Leon Czolgosz, a Russian anarchist, committed the villainous act at the Buffalo exposition, the intelligence of which cast a gloom of sadness over the entire country, and indeed, no more shocked and horrified were the American people at the fiendish act than were the civilized nations beyond the seas, an evidence of which was the long list of sympathetic and condoling messages from the heads of all European governments, both great and small.

The shocking incident recalls vividly to mind the assassination of two other great and grand American presidents, Abraham Lincoln and James A. Garfield, the former falling a victim to the unerring aim of the fanatical Booth, at Ford's theater, in Washington, April 14, 1865, the latter receiving his fatal wounds while in waiting at the Washington railway station, at the hands of the desperate Guiteau, July 2, 1881.

While we recall with horror Lincoln's assassination, which was but the culmination of an idle brain frenzied by the blasted hopes of the confederacy, Garfield's assassination was the outcome of the same sort of mind and one of the fiercest factional fights in our political history. The situation at the attempt on Mr. McKinley's life differs entirely from that of the Lincoln and Garfield tragedies. Mr. McKinley was most universally popular of all our presidents. The prosperity connected with his administration, his splendid conduct of the Spanish-American war, and his beautiful domestic life are the reasons why he has secured such a strong hold upon the affections of the American people.

This country has long needed a radical change in its immigration laws, and we trust the event of last Friday will hasten this desired reformation. America has been made the dumping ground for the vicious, anarchistic foreign element too long. It is time to adopt stringent legislation and rules along these lines, then a determined repression of all organizations with a semblance of unlawful purpose. This would put an end to anarchy and its attendant evils.

While the nation deplores the fact that its chief magistrate has been laid nearly at death's door, its people are correspondingly happy to know that the recovery of the wounded executive is now an assured fact. Yesterday's dispatches state this much positively. The bullet holes in the patient's stomach are healed and he has been changed to a new bed, and is taking nourishment and relishing it. The bullet which lodged in the president's back will not be removed, but will accompany him to his grave. Let the people rejoice that the affair has no more serious termination.

THE ground work has been laid for a condition which, if carried forward in the future, will promote sociability, friendliness and acquaintanceship to a wonderful degree in our county. The baseball tournament conducted here last week will do all this and more, and our hope is that these meetings will be continued next season. None can deny the statement that from the standpoint of general good feelings and hospitality the tournament was a decided success. There was some indiscretion manifested, no doubt, all round, but it was individually, not collectively. The visitors, in general, were gentlemanly and appreciative, but circumstances of an opposite condition were those over which the mass had no control. If there was a discourteous act or word on the part of our town people we assure our visitors that they were against the wishes of the mass of people of our city. We regret the fact keenly that as ball players we are a failure, and permit us to say that we heartily congratulate the lower end of the county upon its excellence in this respect. We may be able to do better in the future. Our purpose was pure, our ideas good, but our execution was very poor. We will co-operate with people of other places another year to bring about a similar affair, and hope the good beginning will lead up to better feeling and better playing.

REPORTS from Dawson now indicate that the gold output of the Klondike for this season is much less than the estimates. It is doubtful if the total will exceed $15,000,000 where $25,000,000 was looked for. It seems that last year was the banner year for that district. There is nothing surprising in the rapid exhaustion of the cream of the placer deposits. It is simply another instance of what has happened in every other placer camp in the world. However, this does not by any means imply their exhaustion or that the Klondike is not a good country for mining any longer.

THERE is considerable disappointment manifested at different localities in the county because the county court failed at its last session to purchase a rock crusher. These manifestations of disapproval will not be of a serious or lasting nature. The practicability of purchasing a crusher is being carefully and deliberately weighed by the members of the court, and the plan has not been wholly abandoned by any means, because the court readily understands that the plan bears too much of merit to be passed by with a wink and a nod. The matter is only temporarily delayed in order for more careful examination into its merits. The clamor for better highways is more universal now than ever before, and we entertain the most implicit confidence in the court to do its full duty in supply ways and means according to its ability. This confidence will not prove misplaced, we are sure, to no greater extent than was the confidence reposed in that body to carefully administer county matters of every character in the past, which every resident of the county knows has been successful to a most pleasing degree. The court will act wisely and judiciously in this matter, it can be depended, when that body feels that the time has arrived to act, which, there seems to be but slight reason to doubt, is not far in the future.

THERE ought to be a law prohibiting the manufacture and use of the "22" rifle. It's of no practical value to anyone. A person who needs a gun at all needs a good one. A "22" is usually found in the hands of boys, who, by all the rights of laws, and for the protection of society, ought not to have a gun of any kind. A small boy and a gun of any kind combined, is about as dangerous an animal as could possibly be turned loose to prey upon society.

A DOZEN men representing various callings in England have been sent to America to study similar trades in this country. They want to see how and why it is that this country excels all others in making so many things for the markets of the world. They desire to find out wherein the wage earners of this land are better off than their own. They will go home with an increased appreciation of American institutions and ways of doing things.

WHEN there is a chance of getting another new industry started here we should all work together to get it firmly located. A few mills and factories add more to a town than is usually believed, and it is money well expended by the business men, if they put a little money into these enterprises. The hands employed are constant consumers, and money earned by the men and companies is retained at home.

COLORADO and Iowa have restored the death penalty for murder, after a period of experiment in the form of imprisonment for life. In both states the imprisonment-for-life experiment resulted in a largely increased list of homicides. There now but four states in which the death penalty is not maintained. These four are Wisconsin, Michigan, Maine and Rhode Island.

EMMA GOLDMAN should be taken in charge by our national government and made such an example of that her kind would so fear the results of their crimes or utterances that nothing of this kind would ever again occur.

THERE are lots of people with rats in their garret floating around the country. A fellow in Portland Tuesday presented a check at the First National bank for payment, signed by President McKinley.

EMMA GOLDMAN, the arch anarchist, has been arrested, charged with conspiracy in the attempt upon the president's life. We are not in favor of mob law, but a trial by the courts in this instance would be a farce.

THIS government should proceed forthwith to purchase an island to where it could deport every person in the land inclined toward anarchistic ideas. There is no room for them here.

THE man, or image of a man, who attempted to assassinate the president should have been arrested long ago on suspicion of being an anarchist. His name condemns him.

A STONE plow, believed to be fully 3000 years old, has been unearthed at Bloomfield, N. J., by workmen on a culvert. Here's a nut for archaeologists.

THE education of a child cannot be shifted to the shoulders of teacher or educator. The responsibility rests, first and foremost, with the parents.

THE East is short on apples and potatoes and Oregon will be called upon to assist in supplying the market. The price is almost sure to be high.

POOR Carrie Nation! She broke her arm the other day. She found a joint in the member, and proceeded forthwith to smash it.

Collins & Gray are prepared to furnish almost any kind of goods in the general merchandise line, besides mill stuffs, feed, grain, and hay by the bale or ton.

Some time ago we announced the marriage of Mr. Lincoln Meserve to a talented young lady of South Bend, Wash., but we were ahead of time. The affair did not take place until Wednesday of this week. Mrs. Meserve is the daughter of a prominent Methodist minister, and Mr. Meserve is too favorably known in this county to require any comment at our hands. Felicitations of a host of friends go to the happy couple.

We could announce an is-to-be matrimonial alliance in this issue, but we have decided to wait another week. Suffice it is to say that both the parties have resided for some time in this city, and their future home will be here. The groom-to-be is a popular young business man of our town, and the bride-to-be is—well, wait until next week, for the affair is to take place next Sunday.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale at the St. Helens pharmacy.

More Railroad Talk.

Following upon the heels of the announcement in the Oregonian that A. B. Hammond has purchased a large tract of timber land in Tillamook county, thus greatly increasing his already large holdings west of the Coast range, came the following dispatch from Salem to that paper: "While no one here pretends to know anything definite regarding Mr. Hammond's affairs, there are many who think this part of the valley will feel an increase of business activity as a result of his enterprises. It is prophesied on the streets that a railroad will be built from the Tillamook country to connect with the Corvallis & Eastern, which now extends from Detroit, in the Cascade mountains, to Yaquina. There has been at frequent intervals talk of an extension of the Corvallis & Eastern across the Cascade mountains, and through Eastern Oregon to a connection with some transcontinental line. This would open up a vast area of land in Eastern Oregon, now used only for grazing purposes, and would provide a more direct route for the lumber manufactured along the line of the Corvallis & Eastern, this side of the Cascades. A railroad down the coast from the Nehalem to Yaquina would reach large areas of timber land, such as that in the Siletz country, and would develop the dairying industry in the good pasturage region on the west slope of the Coast range. One of the remote possibilities suggested by Salem people is that a railroad might be built from Tillamook across the Coast range, through the Grand Ronde pass and through Salem to a connection with the Corvallis & Eastern, near Stayton."

Keasey Notes.

Rock creek valley is nearly deserted. If like Sampson, the Phillistines be upon us, what then?

Wednesday, September 4th, Mrs. Throop accompanied by Tommie, Heart and Dora left for Aurora, the place of hop gathering, Miss Fannie and Oscar Cheldelin going by way of St. Helens. Why, you surely can guess—if we should tell you, you would know.

Railroad surveyors have moved camp down within two miles of Vernonia. They have brought the survey much lower than the one made by Corey Bros. It is on the level past Keasey. Who can tell what may happen to our valley yet? Land-lookers are still on the lookout for claims.

Notice of the death of James Guild, of McMinnville, has been received. Mr. Guild was one of the early pioneers of Oregon. Mrs. Nettie Keasey, his second daughter, was born in the first house that was built in Portland. His wife, four daughters and two sons are left to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father.

Mrs. D. E. Keasey and children and Mrs. Hardwick took their departure from Homewood Friday, August 30th, after a visit of nearly two months. The same day the spirit of little Lloyd, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Throop, fled to the "evergreen fields" in the "land beyond the mystic river." The sympathy of friends is extended to them.

A darkened pall hangs over our country on account of the assassination of our beloved president. Our great and prosperous republic should be freed from the interposition of anarchists. If foreigners are dissatisfied let them return to their own country. No better ruler or government than ours ever existed or will ever exist under the shining heavens.

'Tis Whole Truth.

There is no small truth in the remark that a home-grown, hand-spanked, barefooted, hard-fisted country boy makes a much better fighter in the battles of life than does the pampered, high-collared youth of our towns and villages whose clothes have been dusted with a whisk broom instead of a shingle. It don't seem to make much difference what regiment or company he is fighting in either. If he enlists with the agriculturist he is at home with them; if he goes into business he applies the discipline of his early training and successfully meets all comers; and should he be called into professional pursuits, he equips himself with the necessary study and wins the battle there. There is something about such a start that makes him equal to his ambitions and his opportunities.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

How About Your Title?

ARE YOU SURE it is all right? Remember that it is the RECORD that governs. It is our business to search the records and show what they contain in relation to land titles. If you contemplate buying land or loaning money on real-estate security, take no man's word, but insist upon knowing what the record shows regarding the title. An Abstract is as essential as a deed. Insist on having it. We have the only set of abstract books in the county. All work promptly executed and satisfaction guaranteed. If you have property to insure give us a call. We are agents for the best fire insurance companies in the world. If you have property for sale list it with us and we will find a buyer.
