Is this paper this week is to be found some extracts from the state road law, which might be read with a degree of satisfaction, at least if not with profit to many persons. It is in regard to the payment of road poll tax, and as supervisors are now engaged in the collection of these funds, the general public is under obligations to itself to acquaint itself with the points of law which touch particulary upon this important matter.

Before this paper appears another time to its readers there will have occured in this county some very important matter. The residence of the summer school at Kist, beginning in about a month.

Gerstand, has bought this farm.

The road from here to St. Helens is said to be in very bad condition, espectively and to be in very bad condition, espectively and condition.

Only with the idea of doing no more or less than absolute justice to all concerned do we call the attention of our readers in the vicinity of Warren to the fact that instead of Mr. R. O. Hazen receiving $10 from the county for digging a grave for a county charge, he received, in fact, but $6. True enough, in the proceedings, as reported, the item read $10, but that was an error, most likely for which this office is responsible. The warrant was issued January 10th, and is numbered 7886, and calls for but $6. This seems like a small matter to call for an editorial correction, but justice

To get the 3 per cent rebate, taxes must be paid by tomorrow night. The penalties are sufficient to force anybody who has the money to pay his taxes to do so without allowing him 3 per cent rebate. The injustice of the provision is evident, for has the money with a special counties injustice of the provision is evident, for it will take from the several counties thousands of dollars that would otherwise be paid in for the purpose of defraying public expenses, and thus places a greater burden upon those who are least able to bear it, the ones who have not the ready cash with which to meet their taxes. The law should be wisely amended.

CHARACTER is becoming more and more valuable from a purely commer-cial standpoint. No railroad company, cial standpoint. No railroad company, no banking institution, no mercantile firm, no successful man in any legitimate business will employ a young man these days who frequents saloons, or keeps dissolute company, or plays cards, or bets on horse races, or is known to engage in the grosser evils of the day. The shrewd men of business, no matter what their religious beliefs may be, are not hunting young men of that kind. They are hunting clean, sober, moral young men. It isn't a matter of sentiment, it is a matter of business. There has been a wonderful advancement along these lines the past twenty years. The most practical and effective temperance organizations today are the railroad ance organizations today are the railroad companies and other great commercial corporations. Indeed, they are almost evangelists. They are now demanding a higher and better type of character as a higher and better type of character as a perquisite to employment, and are helping mightily to develop that kind of character by their liberality toward the Y. M. C. A. and other religions organizations, and by following a policy which is equivalent to a sign all over their portals: "No tippler, no gambler, no questionable character need apply here for a job." Young man, listen: You must be something as well as know something if you hope to woo and win the fair goddess of success in these opening years of the twentieth century.

Representative Stephens has come to the front with a proposition to relieve the residents of small towns from the annual rental of postoffice boxes. He has introduced a bill authorizing the postmaster-general to purchase for the United States all the postoffice boxes and box fixtures now in use in the age. United States all the postoffice boxes and box fixtures now in use in the several postoffices where a charge is made for the use of such boxes. Mr. Stephens takes the position that the citizens of these towns do not have the advantage of free delivery, and are compelled to rent postoffice boxes; and that the amount paid in rental by each citizen annually would often pay for his box. He further contends that it is unjust that the citizens of the large cities should have their mail delivered to them free when the citizens of small cities and towns are required to pay a heavy rental. that the citizens of the large cities should have their mail delivered to them free when the citizens of small cities and towns are required to pay a heavy rental for the privilege of getting their mail when they go after it themselves, or else andergo the inconvenience of waiting in line. On Sundays and all legal holidays the mall is not delivered at the general delivery window, but for a short time after the arrival of each mall, and if a citizen should not happen to be on hand at this hour he would not get his mail until the next day. In a word, Mr. Stephens proposes that the residents of small towns shall receive their mail under the most favorable conditions, at no expense whatever to themselves.
