Have you registered?

Wherever you go, wall it's nearly May.

There are still a good many voters who have not registered. About one-fourth of the voters are rather dilatory in this matter.

Voters should no longer neglect to register. There is but a little over two weeks' time left to attend to this very important matter.

An Alaskan letter carrier gets $36,000 a year for making twenty-four trips between two towns 432 miles apart. The route involves a battle for life for more than half the year, the applicant for it says few.

The Baldwin locomotive works, which has been in existence over half a century, last week celebrated the completion of its 25,000th locomotive. The product of this factory traverses darkest Africa, starts the pyramids and has penetrated the Holy City.

It is a strict rule of the government departments at Washington that the names of the following states and territories shall never be abbreviated in writing or printing official business: Alaska, Hawaii, Idaho, Iowa, Ohio, Oregon, Samoa and Utah.

From 1880 to 1880 the far West gained in population nearly four times as fast as the North. In the period from 1880 to 1890 the West gained 71 per cent, the North 29 and the South 20. In the last decade the South has gone ahead of the North's 19, and the West has dropped down to 22. At the present time the growth in all parts of the country is fairly uniform.

A Kansas woman has asked one of the congressmen from that state to introduce a bill to compel keepers of hotels or sleeping rooms to keep on such bed four quilts and one blanket, each quilt to contain not less than five pounds of cotton batting (not coarse hair) and to be covered with at least fourteen yards of cloth (seven yards on each side), two and one-third yards long and at least two yards wide, and the blanket to weigh at least two pounds; this covering to be kept on the beds from September 10 to May 1. This good woman has probably spent an uncomfortable night in an unusually poor hotel and seeks to provide a remedy.

The sentiment in favor of the election of senators by direct vote of the people is continually gaining ground and is now generally accepted throughout the country. It is clear that the new order of things would result in their election to preference to the present system. The house committee on territories having reported that the measure will greatly assist in Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico, the advocates of direct election of senators might make the passage of the joint resolution by the senate a condition precedent to the passage of the state bill in the house. Then we might have a body working earnestly for a popular measure—securing measures enough to provide for the election of senators even in the approaching fall session.

Tom Collier P. Huntington estate, now being inventoried by the state tax appraiser, along with the remainder, Charles W. French and James W. Davis, will amount to about $20,000,000 or $25,000,000. The transfer tax will supplement this sum.

James M. East has been convicted again, but for some reason or other his convictions do not start him much.

M. Sante Dumont declines to do anything on the present trip to America, but will wait for the big fly-meet at St. Louis.

Louisiana has lost a part of the sugar business in Great Britain, but is making up in the profits on the cane industry.

The tailor who invented the uniform worn by the navy discipline is significantly accused of passing his art to the clerical profession.

Coronation day is rapidly approaching and King Edward is already passing the door through four that is will forget its uses.

President-elect Palms is about to take a tour through Cuba to see what kind of a country he has been called upon to govern.

Kipling's poem on the death of Cecil Rhodes makes it clear that Rhodes was not mentioned in the great entrepreneur's will.

It is probable that the administration of the office of pension commissioner will take a good deal of the poetry out of Eugene Ward.

The plan with which it is proposed to oppose Henry Clay Evans has not yet taken, although the tree has been undisturbedly agitated.

London is up against the proposition of dealing with Terkes and the most used at the same time. The South African war is only an incident in comparison.

The republican party invokes the application of this rule to itself. What of value has the republican party achieved? What has been the frugality of its principles, policies, measures and administration?

It received the American union should be preserved. The air is yet vibrating to the shout with which South Carolina welcomed her president—the president of 70,000,000 free men living under one government, revering one God.

It declared for protection to American industries and labor. Prosperity followed and we have become a great industrial giant, supplying our own demands and offering the world our rapidly growing surplus. Tens of thousands of dollars on hand, at large and loose, rejoice because of this policy and are proud to be known as republicans.

It determined there is in truth but one standard for measures of value, adopted that, and declared every dollar of our currency should conform to that standard so that the purchasing power should equal that of any other and all equal the highest standard. The American dollar is a dollar of stable value, the credit of the government never stood so high and financial confidence never was so positive as now.

It accepts the sacrifice, self-sacrificing duties and responsibilities cast upon us by an overruling Providence through the exigencies of war, and our flag stands over for minute to whose millions we are giving Susan law and order and freedom for the duties of self-government.

Whereas republican principles have been followed and policies administered, property, happiness and healthful development have testified to their wisdom and beneficence. Our people are satisfied. The whole history of the republican party is resplendent with success. In this historical light the present policies and measures of the party will be known by success because wisely wrought and rightly deserved.

The fact that one and one-half million dollars has been appropriated by congress for improvement of the Columbia river and its tributaries should be accepted with much satisfaction by our people. All supplies necessary for this work, so far as it is possible to obtain them, and the labor to be performed, will be taken from within the borders of the two states divided by this great river. It means a great increase in the volume of which is already so great that help is hard to procure. All should rejoice that the general government has been so liberal in its aid to open and improve one of the greatest waterways of the continent.

Another American preacher the late T. DeWitt Talmage occupied a place of his own. His weekly sermons went by scores of readers, and their interest in what he had to say never flagged. Mr. Talmage created his own orbit and moved along it undiminished to the end. He touched the sympathies and evoked the hearts of a multitude who rose to his service with the same satisfaction accorded by the first. No preacher could command so well an audience for a life-time unless he possessed a deep insight into the more subtlest of humanity and had powerful qualities as a teacher, adviser and philanthropic friend.

The lineup in the battle for June 2d is beginning to be outlined. This year we have a general big election of all state and county officers. The campaign will be along broad, liberal lines, and the difference in party principles will be fairly presented and the matter left to the people to decide. The republican party has put a good ticket before the people of the county this year. They are all good, clean, fair men, and can ask at least for fair consideration as to their fitness for the various positions they seek.

A man is known by what amuses him. The kind of jokes he laughs at is and is in a hurry to repeat to his friend shows his taste and inner life. There is a mirth and humor that is uplifting; that makes one healthier and better. It has not a taint of vulgarity. Such stories can be told to and enjoyed by our mothers and sisters at home. Let joyous laughter emanate from our houses and our schools, that laughter which has none of the sin of the snicker in it, but is helpful, pure and sweet.

There never was a more opportune time for republicans to vote the straight republican ticket. The great principles of the party are at stake in our state and the eyes of the thinking people of the United States are upon us. Our vote will be an index to the republican strength throughout the country. It behoves every republican who stands on principle to vote for his ticket.

Castorina's Hard Wheat Flour, Shorts and Bran.

Castorina's Valuable Medicine for Coughs and Colds in Children.

I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs and colds," says Mrs. Cramer, a well-known watch maker of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the city dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have recommended many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale at the St. Helens pharmacy.

S. Doctor's Hard Pillar.

"This medicine, in a small box of six, sold, one day older, written Dr. W. E. Thompson, of Oregon, when I began to practice medicine. Every doctor wants to help others, whatever the quality of their medicine may be. This is the only one I have ever heard of that gives good results. Dr. W. E. Thompson, Mrs. Frank Stevens and I, Dr. Marshall, have practitioners with their great generalities, those were open to the gross-misunderstanding, recommended by them to treat in full, demonstrated with golden marshmallows, and so forth, with all the good things that Chamberlain's coming out in more elaborate form."

Mr. and Mrs. Hartell were married at Boston, Mass., April 28, 1882, and spent the first twenty-five years of their married life in that pleasant city; for six years, their home was in Princeton, N. J. Coming to Oregon in '90 in search of better health, they found it and about fifteen thousand citizens of Maine, and friends in Illinois, came to the state.

Castorina has lost a part of the sugar business in Great Britain, but is making up in the profits on the cane industry.

The tailor who invented the uniform worn by the navy discipline is significantly accused of passing his art to the clerical profession.

Coronation day is rapidly approaching and King Edward is already passing the door through four that is will forget its uses.

Golden Wedding.

Twenty-five members of the immediate family gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hartell, of Oregon, when they began to practice medicine. Good for Illness.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyances. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—SACRUM HAMM, Salem, N. J. For sale at the St. Helens pharmacy.
