Contagious Blood Poison

There is no poison so highly contagious, so deceptive and so destructive. Don't be too sure you are cured because all external signs of the disease have disappeared, and the doctor says you are well. Many persons have been doctored with Mercury and Potash for months or years, and pronounced cured—to realize when too late that the disease was only covered up—like Boggy like, driven from the surface to break out again, and to their sorrow and mortification find those nearest and dearest to them have been infected by this loath-some disease, for no other poison is so surely transmitted from parent to child as this. Often a bad case of Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula or severe skin disease, an old sore or ulcer developing in middle life, can be traced to blood poison contracted in early The Sin of the Parent.

about this disease, but also how to cure yourself at home. It is free and should be deranges the digestive organs and breaks down the general health.

It often causes headache and disor-

St. Jacobs Oil

For Stiff and Swollen Necks

Mr. HOOPER, 57 Grosvenor Street, Belfast, writes:—Having from a cold got a very stiff and painful swollen neck, I tried all the usual remedies without effect. I was almost giving it up, when a book was placed on my counter describing St. Jacobs Oil. I procured a bottle, and had scarcely rubbed it on my neck when it felt better. In a short time the pain left me and the swelling went down. Finding it so good in this case, I then tried it on my ankle, which I had sprained, and which was frequently very painful. I soon had the pleasure of finding that pain also disappeared. I must say I consider St. Jacobs Oil of great value.

BEAUTIFYING WASHINGTON.

Elaborate Plans Now Being Evolved at the National Capitol.

The commission of experts who have been studying the problem of beautifying the city of Washington have wisely proceeded on the theory that their duty is a national one. The capital is in a peculiar sense the nation's city. Its chief industry is the performance of the national business. Its great pa-gents, as for example, the inauguration, are national demonstrations, and the people of the whole country are interested in it.

It was this spirit, indeed, that actuated L'Enfant, the French engineer, or landscape architect, as he would be called to-day, when he laid out magnifcent streets and avenues for a city which was then only a struggling village in the wilderness. So admirable were his plans that the present commission found in them the only satisfactory basis for the city's growth. Their recommendations, therefore, are largelly in the nature of extension and consummation.

The city has outgrown its original carefully planned area. The Capitol and the White House are, of course, placed for all time, and between them stretches the broad thoroughfare which L'Enfant's plan was to sweep unbroken from the seat of the executive branch of the government to that of the legislative; but in Jackson's time the Treasury Building was allowed to intervene, and thus restrict the vista.
The commission proposes that the wide mall from the Capitol to the Washington monument, now encumbered by buildings and railway tracks, be cleared and extended to the Potomac, and that it be intersected by a park running from the White House to the river. At the junction thus formed the monument to the first President would rear its white shape, to be seen through vistas of trees both from the Capitol and from the White House, as well as from the proposed Lincoln memorial on the river front.

The commission also suggests locations for public buildings, and proposes extensions of the park and boulevard systems. Its plans have been embodied in models for Congress to study.

The suggestions involve, of course, the ultimate expenditure of a vast amount of money; but it is not proposed to carry them out in their entirety at once. Rather will they serve, if adopted, as a guide by which changes may be made in the certainty of increasing the reputation, which Washington already enjoys, of being one of the most beautiful cities in the world.—Youth's Companion.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM.

She Asked the Conductor if His Car Would Be Late Next Day.

"This may be a strange world, all right," remarked a conductor of the Georgetown and Tenallytown Railroad recently, "but I incline to the theory that the old globe is not at all unusual"—"Is the folks who move about its surface that constitute the strange part of the situation. And believe me when I assert that we who personally conduct these street railway tours come in contact with at least 99 per cent of the strange ones."

"What's the latest?" inquired the reporter, who has observed a few queer people on the street cars himself.

"The latest was a woman who should have known better, and who got off at Tenallytown on my last trip out," explained the conductor. "Here we are in the midst of a heavy snowstorm and nobody in existence is able to tell whether this car will get to the top of the next hill or slide back to Georgetown. Now what do you think that woman said to me? Remark that she was five minutes late in getting to her office this morning and demanded that I should tell her if the cars would be late to-morrow, and if so, exactly to what extent."

"And what did you reply?" asked the reporter, according to the Washington Star.

"I informed her in a tone that everybody in the car could hear that if I was the chief of the weather bureau or possessed the power to read the future I wouldn't be registering fares and listening to fool questions. She gave a snuff that was almost as smart as she got off, for all the passengers were laughing."

Who Got the Money?
Alfred H. Curtis, cashier of the National Bank of North America, is winding up the business of the Bank of the State of New York, of which he was formerly cashier. A few days ago an uncouth countryman went into the office and said to Mr. Curtis:

"My sister owns twenty shares of the stock of this bank and they tell me you are going out of business."
"It has been decided to liquidate," said Mr. Curtis.

"And they tell me you are only going to give $170 for each share."
"Yes, that is the liquidating price."
"Well, say, young fellow, didn't this stock sell for $270 last summer?"
"Yes, that was the market quo-tion," said the cashier.

"Well," put in the countryman, as he brought his fist down on the office railing, "I want to know who got that money."—New York Times.

Billiard Concert Reduced.
An Albany lawyer with a penchant for billiards, had occasion recently to visit a small town. While there, seeking to pass his time, he found a new and excellent billiard table. Upon his inquiring if there was anybody about who could play, the landlord referred him to one of the natives, who may be called John Jones, because that isn't his name.

They played several games, but the result was against the Albany lawyer.
Try as he might, the countryman won.
"Mr. Jones," he remarked, "I have quite a reputation at home. They consider me a good billiard player, but I'm not in your class. May I inquire how long you have played?"

"Oh, for a spell back," replied the native. "Say, stranger, I don't want to hurt your feelings, but you're the fust feller I ever beat!"

COSTLY TABLE SERVICE.

Presented to Cologne City Council by Wealthy Citizens.

Wealthy citizens of Cologne have presented to the City Council a silver invaluable service of 300 pieces, costing $40, 000. Its especial glory is a decorative piece, more than four feet high, represented "The German Rhine," which gives expression to more ideas, perhaps, than were ever before grouped together in a single work of art.

Beginning at the base, the twelve feet bear allegorical figures typifying prominent industries of the Rhineland.
Above and within these rises a trun-cated pyramid, with a Rhine legend in enamel on each of its twelve faces.
Next comes a wall with gates and towers, then a ring of twelve Rhenish churches in relief, alternating with twelve Rhenish castles on platforms supported by pillars. Inside of all this a rock of smoky tops rises from an enamelled Rhine. On this rock, surrounded by figures representing the ALLEGORY IN ART.

six navigable tributaries of the Rhine, stands the colossal figure of Father Rhine himself, gracefully holding aloft an old-time Hanseatic ship, carved from an eight-punced quartz crystal, with St. Michael in full panoply on the top.

This elaborate structure comes high in every sense of the word, but we consider the wealth of detail, the number of objects and ideas represented, and especially the artistic gradation of size from the little figures at the base to the heroic Rhine god, topped by the relatively small but absolutely larger ship, we cannot doubt that the worthy burghers of Cologne thought they got the worth of their money.

averages three mills per ton per mile.

out an increased profit of $46,000,000

Most Famous Wedding.

Perhaps the most sensational ceremony of marriage that has ever been performed in New York was the one known everywhere in the United States as the "Diamond Wedding." It was the union of a daughter of Lieutenant Barlett, of the United States navy, to a Cuban gentleman of great wealth, Don Estaban Santa Cruz de Oviedo. As generous as he was opulent, Oviedo lavished upon the bride more than one hundred thousand dollars' worth of pearls and diamonds. The nuptial rites were solemnized by Archbishop Hughes; Stedman commemorated the event in a poem, and moralists pointed to it as an extraordinary instance of the evils of splendor and luxury that were corrupting American society. So great was the curiosity to witness this wedding that probably for the first time on such an occasion cards of admission were issued to the church. A squad of policemen was required simply to protect the bride and groom from strangers who rushed after them. The magnificent nuptials, it may be remarked, had a melancholy sequel—the bridegroom soon died; his widow, under the Spanish law, was entitled only to the right of dower, and all the gifts which he had showered upon her were taken away from her on the ground that illegally they were heirlooms.—Ladies'

SUFFERED 25 YEARS

With Catarrh of the Stomach—Pe-ru-na Cured.

Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kan.
In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman Congressman Botkin says:

"My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicine—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure."—J. D. Botkin.

Mr. L. F. Verdery, a prominent real estate agent, of Augusta, Ga., writes:

"I have been a great sufferer from catarrhal dyspepsia. I tried many physicians, visited a good many springs but I believe Peruna has done more for me than all of the above put together. I feel like a new person."—

The most common form of summer catarrh is catarrh of the stomach.

ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman,

POINTS ON BINDING TWINE.

The Farmer Should Know How Many Feet
He Gets for a Dollar.

That the farmer is often taken advantage of in the way of misrepresentation by the store keepers is an undoubted fact, and one instance that has come to our attention in the last year or two, that has been very profitable to some of the dealers, is in the misrepresentation in regard to Binding Twine.

Of late years there has been introduced into this market a grade called Standard Manila, which is colored Sisal to represent Manila. It is the Standard twine of the Eastern manufacturers, where Sisal twine is more largely used than Manila, because it is more easily obtainable, and their object in coloring it is, of course, to deceive.

Dealers handling this twine represent that it is Manila twine. Manila twine is never made less than 600 feet to the pound, whereas Sisal twine is never made over 500 feet to the pound, which is 20 per cent less, and consequently should be 20 per cent less in price. The 600-foot Manila twine sells in the Eastern market for not less than two cents more per pound than the Sisal, and consequently the dealer that can sell the colored Sisal for Manila twine are making this additional profit. The colored sisal, called Standard, does not contain any more feet per pound than White Sisal, so that, if White Sisal Twine goes 600 feet to the pound, then the Manila 600-foot Twine, being 20 per cent longer should be that much more in price, and Pure Manila 600-foot Twine, being 30 per cent more to the pound than the Sisal, should be 30 per cent more in price. Consequently the lowest priced twine is not necessarily the cheapest. The milk in the coconut is, how many feet do you get for a dollar?

Men of Affairs

One may sail the seas and visit every land and everywhere will find that men of affairs, who are well informed, have neither the time nor the inclination, whether on pleasure bent or business, to use those medicines which cause excessive purgation and then leave the internal organs in a constipated condition. Syrup of Figs is not built on those lines. It acts naturally, acts effectively, cleanses, sweetens and strengthens the internal organs and leaves them in a healthy condition.

If in need of a laxative remedy the most excellent is Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is required the safe and scientific plan is to consult a competent physician and not to resort to those medicines which claim to cure all diseases.

The California Fig Syrup Co. was the first to manufacture a laxative remedy which would give satisfaction to all; a laxative which physicians could sanction and one friend recommended to another; so that today its sales probably exceed all other laxatives combined. In some places considerable quantities of old-time cathartics and modern imitations are still sold, but with the general diffusion of knowledge, as to the best medicinal agents, Syrup of Figs has come into general use with the well-informed, because it is a remedy of known value and ever beneficial action.

The quality of Syrup of Figs is due not only to the excellent combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants, known to act most beneficially on the system, with agreeable and refreshing aromatic liquids, but also to the original method of manufacture. In order to get the genuine and its beneficial effects one should always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.
