Entered at the Postoffice at St. Helens, Oregon, as second-class mail matter.

COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING BY ESTELLA GABBERT, Editor and Proprietor.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE: One copy one year, in advance, $1.00. Six months, 50c.

MAY 29, 1903.

This paper is kept on file at the Oregon Press Association Room 9, 112 Madison building, Portland, Oregon.

With this issue of the Mist a new ownership and management is at the helm. Our endeavor shall be to put forth our faithful and sincere efforts in behalf of Columbia County; to give the happenings among the residents of our county; to deal fairly and justly; to treat our contemporaries with due respect, and last, but not least, to fight for our home place. We ask for the patronage of those not now subscribers and the continuance of past favors, believing that we will be able to fill the need of every community—a good news paper.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

Notice is hereby given to all persons owing or having accounts with the Oregon Mist, that K. H. Gabbert has this day, disposed of his interest in the Mist to Estella Gabbert, who will collect all accounts due the business of The Mist and pay all debts contracted for the operating expenses of the paper. All persons owing the former owner of the Mist are hereby notified to pay all accounts to the undersigned.

GREATLY ALARMED

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. H. P. Borhage, a student at law, in Greenville, S. C., had been troubled for four or five years with a continuous cough which he says, "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear that I was in the first stage of consumption." Mr. Borhage, having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, procured to try it. Now read what he says of it: "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the 15 cent size, was completely cured." Sold by Estella Gabbert.

FISHHAWK.

Will Miller was up in Eastern Oregon looking for a place. Nothing much the matter with this weather, just a little wet is all. The fish hawk was seldom sick last week and didn't get any news. Feels better now.

Don Berg has put on a new cream wagon since the arrival of that new janitor a few weeks ago.

A very pleasant social party was given at Mrs. Longhry's last Saturday night, it being Charles' 19th birthday. Every body reported a good time.

A Grange was organized at Fish Hawk a couple of weeks ago, with 12 charter members. William Elliott was chosen master, and John Boxler as secretary.

CLATSKANIE

Mr. and Mrs. Dippold and son Will, of Mist, spent Sunday in Clatskanie with friends.

Reason is pushing his railroad to completion as fast as possible and will soon be hauling logs.

We note that Will Meyers made a flying trip to Portland, in the interests of the Keystone Lumber Co.

John Bauer, of Mist was in the city Monday, taking in the sights and buying supplies for his farm and family.

We noticed the genial countenance of Mr. Dan Rice the prosperous farmer of upper Clatskanie, on our streets one day this week.

The Misses Dunning and Kelley, of Portland, who have been visiting with Miss Ida Blackford, returned to their homes on Wednesday.

Judge Blackford had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail last week, which ran clear through his foot, and he is now laid up for repairs.

John Wilson, B. N. Lind, Will Miller and many other residents of the Nehalem valley took in the grand reception of the President at Portland.

Justice Blackford of this precinct, received the new session laws of 1903 this week and is now ready to propose new laws to our citizens by the ballot.

Albert Miller says: "By Goshen boys, I've got a new wife and a brand new horse. Prosperity has struck me sure. What do you suppose will come next."

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. W. Neelinger, went to Portland Thursday to see President Roosevelt, and also take in the sights of the metropolis.

Harvey Glenn is doing carpenter work about town. He says that he has no use for the carpenter union, or Portland that unions are no good, when they preach one thing and practice another.

Whitney's emson was rolled on Tuesday night of several dollars, a quantity of bottles of whiskey, cigars etc. Dasher lives are on the track of the robbery and when caught, will be summarily shot with.

Mrs. N. Merrill and daughter, Lesta, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hartz, Mr. and Mrs. Dunne, Miss Eda, (husband), Mrs. Scott, H. M. McKel and many others were in Portland Thursday, to see President Roosevelt.

Our local carpenters are complaining of the union carpenters of Portland, because several of them have been working in this place the past several weeks a day or two hours, when they, the local carpenters, have been, and are now getting $3.50 per day of nine hours. Of consistency thou art a Jew!

Just think of it, the county court appropriated nearly $100,000 to be expended on the public roads in district No. 5 and the roads are full of chuck holes, and not in a fit condition to travel on. Is there another road district in Columbia County that can beat No. 5 for chuck holes and bad roads, if so, where is it?

We have been looking, the past several weeks for that push club that was appointed some time ago, to build a court house, good roads, side walks etc, but can get no trace of them. A little boy down the street said Monday, that he heard that dark must have overtaken them and that they fell into a chuck hole somewhere and was probably lost in the mud.

CAMP MORGAN.

W. Fowler of Oregon City, visited this part of the woods.

Some ladies and gentlemen of Houlton visited camp Morgan Sunday.

John Uman is a boss rancher, but he says he is sadly in need of a wife.

It is reported that a telephone line is to be run from Yankton to Valley P. O.

Chas. Melinger, of Vernonia, came out after a load of powder to use on the Pittsburg road.

CASTORIA.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

Biggest of All Dams. Bigger than the Croton dam, bigger than the new Massachusetts reservoir at Clinton, far surpassing even the Nile dam and storage at Assuan, is the proposed Tunga Badra irrigation impound.

Of course, every one knows that Tunga Badra is in British India and that its waters are to be put on tap to do away with dry seasons.

The dam is to be built at Hoopet, in the extreme western corner of the Madras Presidency. It will be nearly a mile long and 150 feet high. It will form a lake forty miles long with an area of 150 square miles. It will impound 200,000,000,000,000 feet of water, five times as much as the far more famous Assuan dam.

A Fateful Bell. Six years ago Silas Fleming, a prominent member of the Methodist church at Warren, Ind., bought a fine bell for the church edifice. He was ill at the time the church was dedicated and made the prediction that the first funeral at which the bell would be tolled would be his own. Strangely enough, a few weeks after the bell was hung, Mr. Fleming passed away, and the bell was tolled for the first time at his funeral. Stranger still is the fact that a few days ago the bell tolled for the last time at the funeral of Mr. Fleming's widow. While it was being sounded on that occasion it broke at a hole in the metal and had to be discarded.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

Send for free sample. Scott & Bowne, Chemists, 400 Pearl St., New York City, and at all druggists.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

See if You Can Find the River Bird in "A Little Walk."

Gretchen Neuharger, a little girl of Erie, Pa., sends the New York Tribune the following story, which contains the names of fourteen rivers, hidden somewhere among its sentences:

A LITTLE WALK.

We started down the path in single file, Conrad, Helena, then I, leaving the yard. Helena had an orange which she peeled industriously, and Don ran by her side begging.

"Con, go and get Don a bone and we will leave him behind," said Helena. Don and Nig were Helena's two dogs.

Conrad ran to do as he was asked, and on his way back he began reciting wildly. "Nig, are I had time to close the gate," he said, "escaped, and, fearing he would follow us, I gave him a bone too. I heard a lady in the parlor as I ran past the door reading somebody's obituary. She was just back from the Madras islands, she said, and had brought mother some of her honey."

We walked on, and our talk touched on the obsolete words we knew. "When I was talking about them to Don, oh, oh," said Helena, "was the only one he could remember. Just then I said, 'Hark!' and as I ran I saw a man in a blue coat and a hat in a bush, and what seemed to be a Moor in outlandish costume sprang out of the bushes and frightened us very much. We all ran as fast as we could, but were overtaken by the Moor, who proved to be only our own big brother."

See how many of the fourteen rivers you can find in this little story.

Earning a Coin.

Here is a little piece of paper, very simple, easily performed, yet very mysterious. Take a piece of paper four inches wide by five inches long. Put the coin in a row with the paper and fold the paper over it from the top to within one inch of the bottom. Then fold the right-hand side of the paper under the coin and the left-hand side in the same way. Don't forget that these folds must be under the coin.

Then fold the bottom inch of the paper under the coin also, and it will be seen that you have securely wrapped the coin up, whereas it will be in a sort of pocket and will readily slip out in either of your hands at pleasure.

Allow the spectators to feel the coin through the paper; then take the paper from your left hand into your right and let the coin slip out into your left hand as you do so. This you must do dexterously, so that no one may see the act. Now burn the paper, and the coin will have disappeared.

Mysterious Tumblers.

Take two tumblers of the same size. Be careful that they fit closely when one is placed on top of the other. Light a piece of wax candle and place it within the tumbler on the table. Place on top of it a piece of rather thick paper saturated with water. Then place upon it the other tumbler, as in the illustration. The tumblers will then be found to adhere closely. The candle will be extinguished, but while burning it has diluted the air contained in the lower tumbler, and the air has, therefore, become rarified. The exterior pressure of the atmosphere will fix the tumblers as closely together as the classical Magdeburg hemispheres are united. It is possible to raise the undermost tumbler by holding up the upper one. The paper may be scorched on the underside, but the success of the experiment is not thereby imperiled.

A Warning to Parents.

Mr. Figg (impressively)—Here is an account in the paper of one more boy who went into the river on Sunday and got drowned.

Tommy—I 'peared his folks kept him so busy through the week gain' to school and runnin' errands that he didn't have no chance to learn to swim.—Exchange.

A Farmer Straightened Out.

A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Expeller and told him to use it freely and if not cured after using it he need not pay a cent for it. Says C. P. Snyder, of Porterville, N. Y.: "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar showing me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Expeller. I sent it in the hope all the time for it cured me." For sale by Edson Ross, St. Helens.

A Wise Voter.

The Democrats of Rochester, N. Y., eager to get out their full strength at a recent election, sent word to S. B. Anthony, 17 Madison street, marked "Democrat" in the pollbook, just before the last day of registration that "unless you register you cannot vote." According to the Indianapolis News, they got the following answer:

In response to your notice of this kind in 1902 I did register and later voted. For this I was arrested, fined $100 and sent to jail. You will excuse me if I decline to repeat this experience.

Not So Little After All.

We notice that a Cleveland (O.) newspaper speaks patronizingly of Argentina as a "little republic." What lacks! There are 11,669 square miles of Ohio; there are 1,131,217 square miles of Argentina—that is to say, you could tuck away thirty-one Ohio's in the "little republic" and then have considerably more than room enough left for seven Connecticut's. Argentina may be feeble in some ways, but there's nothing the matter with Argentina's size.—Hartford Courant.

A Huge Chinese Top.

Chinamen in Astoria, Ore., amuse themselves with a huge top made out of an empty white lead keg. A square opening is cut in the side, and it takes three men to spin it—one to hold the top and two to pull the string with a stick which sets it in motion. While spinning it sounds like the whistle of a steamer and can be heard three blocks away.
