Rev. H. Mays, who filled the pulpit of the Methodist church last Sunday evening, has moved from Rainier to 82 East Adams street, Portland, where Rev. and Mrs. Mays are occupying their own home. Rev. Mays does not intend to engage in the work on this circuit during the coming year.
J. W. Donnell, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, spent a part of last week at his home at Yankton. While there he and Jesse and Frank Hendricks had a successful hunting and fishing trip on the upper Clatskanie. Mr. Donnell is the owner of a good timber claim in the vicinity of Yankton. He recently received a transfer to the through freight between Portland and Tacoma, a position with which he is highly pleased.

The Death Penalty.
A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Buckle's America Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent festering, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c, at the St. Helens Pharmacy.

General Passenger Agent Mayo Issues A Magnificent Booklet.
J. C. Mayo, the wide-awake general passenger agent of the Astoria & Columbia Railroad Company has issued one of the most attractive descriptive pamphlets ever issued in Oregon, and is elegantly designed in the highest style of the engraver's and printer's art. It is illustrated with 25 half-tone engravings, showing up to excellent advantage scenes in the vicinity of Tillamook rock, cottages and hotels at Clatsop Beach, picturesque scenes along the line of the railroad; also an excellent cut of Rainier. Many of the engravings are of full page size, and are true to nature.

The roadbed is in excellent condition, and trains reach the seaboard in four hours from Portland. Close connections are made with the steamer Potter and the Nahcotta for Ilwaco and Long Beach points on the Washington side. Beach excursion tickets are sold at Portland that are interchangeable with those of the O. R. & N. Vancouver Transportation Company steamers and the railroad.

Goble School Closes.
Mrs. Gertrude Collins, teacher of the Goble school, closed the spring and summer terms last Friday.
The school now has nearly 100 volumes in the library, part of which were purchased by money raised by the pupils.
The pupils raised the money to buy a new organ, mathematical blocks, glass bookcase, pictures, etc. The pupils raised money by clearing the school grounds and cutting the logs up into stovewood.
Mrs. Collins has taught the Goble-Reuben school almost continuously for over a year past, and is to be congratulated on her success. She will be one of the teachers of the Clatskanie school during the coming year.

NO TRESPASS, BUT PROPERTY WILL BE SOLD.

Stephen Lampa was down from Rocky Point, near Hobbrook, last Friday. He is in the employ of McIntosh & Co's logging camp, who are building a chute two miles in length to slide their logs down to the river.
Mrs. W. F. Slaughter and her niece, Miss Slaughter, returned from Portland Tuesday night. Mrs. Slaughter has been receiving medical treatment in Portland for several weeks past, and is now much improved.
Miss Winifred Way, who left Portland on the 5th inst., arrived safely in San Francisco last Saturday. While in San Francisco she will visit with relatives and friends in San Jose, Pasadena and Los Angeles.
Rev. H. M. Freymire, recently from North Dakota, has purchased eight lots near T. B. Lott's place, and has a part of the lumber on the ground for a dwelling that will be occupied by himself, wife and two children. Rev. Freymire is a Wesleyan Methodist minister.
H. and J. Cade returned the first of the week from the lower Columbia, where they had been engaged in gill-net fishing. They reported that salmon had dropped to 3 cents, and that they had to lay off about half the time during the past few days.
Rev. H. Mays, who filled the pulpit of the Methodist church last Sunday evening, has moved from Rainier to 82 East Adams street, Portland, where Rev. and Mrs. Mays are occupying their own home. Rev. Mays does not intend to engage in the work on this circuit during the coming year.
J. W. Donnell, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, spent a part of last week at his home at Yankton. While there he and Jesse and Frank Hendricks had a successful hunting and fishing trip on the upper Clatskanie. Mr. Donnell is the owner of a good timber claim in the vicinity of Yankton. He recently received a transfer to the through freight between Portland and Tacoma, a position with which he is highly pleased.

The Death Penalty.
A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Buckle's America Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent festering, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c, at the St. Helens Pharmacy.

General Passenger Agent Mayo Issues A Magnificent Booklet.
J. C. Mayo, the wide-awake general passenger agent of the Astoria & Columbia Railroad Company has issued one of the most attractive descriptive pamphlets ever issued in Oregon, and is elegantly designed in the highest style of the engraver's and printer's art. It is illustrated with 25 half-tone engravings, showing up to excellent advantage scenes in the vicinity of Tillamook rock, cottages and hotels at Clatsop Beach, picturesque scenes along the line of the railroad; also an excellent cut of Rainier. Many of the engravings are of full page size, and are true to nature.

The roadbed is in excellent condition, and trains reach the seaboard in four hours from Portland. Close connections are made with the steamer Potter and the Nahcotta for Ilwaco and Long Beach points on the Washington side. Beach excursion tickets are sold at Portland that are interchangeable with those of the O. R. & N. Vancouver Transportation Company steamers and the railroad.

Goble School Closes.
Mrs. Gertrude Collins, teacher of the Goble school, closed the spring and summer terms last Friday.
The school now has nearly 100 volumes in the library, part of which were purchased by money raised by the pupils.
The pupils raised the money to buy a new organ, mathematical blocks, glass bookcase, pictures, etc. The pupils raised money by clearing the school grounds and cutting the logs up into stovewood.
Mrs. Collins has taught the Goble-Reuben school almost continuously for over a year past, and is to be congratulated on her success. She will be one of the teachers of the Clatskanie school during the coming year.
