

Eruptions

There is only one way to get rid of pimples and other eruptions. And it's simple and easy enough. Cleanse the blood, improve the digestion, stimulate the kidneys, liver and skin, by the same means at the same time. The medicine to take is Hood's Sarsaparilla. This statement is confirmed by the experience of thousands whom this medicine has permanently cured. Accept no substitute.

No Bother Whatever.
"Do you have any trouble with the plants when your wife goes away?" asked the hatchet-faced man, sadly. "None whatever," replied the cheerful chap. "They always die within a week after she leaves and all I have to do is to put them away until she comes back."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or convulsions after first dose of Hood's Great Sarsaparilla. Send for Free Trial Bottle and Treatise. Dr. R. M. Kline, Ltd., 333 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Natural Icehouses.
The cold in a cavern in France is so great, no matter how warm the external atmosphere may be, the visitor cannot prolong his stay without inconvenience unless wrapped in winter clothing. There are not less than a score of these natural icehouses in France and probably half as many in Italy.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED
By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; hence cases of deafness that are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Sarsaparilla. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Hall's Sarsaparilla is the best.

Carrying One's Own Outfit.
Before the revolution in France it was customary when a gentleman had been invited out to dinner to send his servant in advance with his knife, fork and spoon. If he had no servant he carried them with him in his pocket.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Children Syrup the best remedy to use for their children the teething season.

Title Pages.
It was not until 1470 that a title page was introduced to books and in England not till before 1490, when W. De Machine issued one to his little book on the pestilence. Caxton never used them, but Wynkyn De Worde employed them in nearly all his works.

For forty years' Piso's Cure for Consumption has cured coughs and colds. At druggists. Price 25 cents.

The Usual Thing.
"I would like to know," asked the parent, who had a son in need of some further education, "what is the course at your college?"
"The usual half-mile course of cinders and all that sort of thing, you know," absently replied the president of the great institution.—Philadelphia Press.

LOWEST RATES
To Chicago, Dubuque and the East; to Des Moines, Kansas City and the Southeast, via Chicago Great Western railway. Electric lighted trains. Unequaled service. Write to J. P. Elmer, G. P. A., Chicago, for information.

Protecting the People.
The public sentiment in favor of restricting automobiles to racetracks especially laid out for them is steadily gaining in strength. Useful self-motors are welcome in the highways, but not the racing demons.—New York Tribune.

An Unkind Suggestion.
"You love my daughter?"
"She's all the world to me, sir."
"Then I don't suppose you'll want a settlement."—Exchange.

The Innocent Suffer With The Guilty

The world to-day is full of innocent sufferers from that most loathsome disease, Contagious Blood Poison. People know in a general way that it is a bad disease, but if all its horrors could be brought before them they would shun it as they do the Leprosy. Not only the person who contracts it suffers, but the awful taint is transmitted to children, and the fearful sores and eruptions, weak eyes, Catarrh, and other evidences of poisoned blood show these little innocents are suffering the awful consequences of some body's sin. So highly contagious is this form of blood poison that one may be contaminated by handling the clothing or other articles in use by a person afflicted with this miserable disease. There is danger even in drinking from the same vessel or eating out of the same tableware, as many pure and innocent men and women have found to their sorrow. The virus of Contagious Blood Poison is so powerful and penetrating that within a short time after the first little sore appears the whole system is infected and every drop of blood in the body is tainted with the poison, and the skin is soon covered with a red rash, ulcers break out in the mouth and throat, swellings appear in the groins, the hair and eyebrows fall out, and unless the ravages of the disease are checked at this stage, more violent and dangerous symptoms appear in the form of deep and offensive sores, copper colored spots, terrible pains in bones and muscles, and general breaking down of the system.

BLOOD POISON IS NO RESPECTER OF PERSONS

S. S. S. is a specific for Contagious Blood Poison and the only remedy that antidotes this peculiar virus and makes a radical and complete cure of the disease. Mercury and Potash hold it in check so long as the system is under their influence, but when the medicine is left off the poison breaks out again as bad or worse than ever. Besides, the use of these minerals bring on Rheumatism and stomach troubles of the worst kind, and frequently produce bleeding and sponginess of the gums and decay of the teeth. S. S. S. cures Blood Poison in all stages and even reaches down to hereditary taints and removes all traces of the poison and saves the victim from the pitiable consequences of this monster scourge. As long as a drop of the virus is left in the blood it is liable to break out, and there is danger of transmitting the disease to others. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and can be taken without any injurious effects to health, and an experience of nearly fifty years proves beyond doubt that it cures Contagious Blood Poison completely and permanently. Write for our "Home Treatment Book," which describes fully the different stages and symptoms of the disease.

Modern Conveniences.

The Abilene Democrat tells of a man who stopped over night in a small town near there and registered at the hotel pointed out to him by the conductor as the best in town. In the morning he wanted to take a bath and consulted the proprietor about it. The proprietor shouted back to the rear: "Here, Tom, this here gent wants to take a bath. Bring the fixin's." Tom soon appeared, carrying a cake of yellow soap, a towel and a pick. "What's the pick for?" asked the guest. "Why," said the proprietor, "you'll have to dam up the creek."—Kansas City Star.

Got Tired of the Gun.

A Clay county man, says the Plattburg Democrat-Lever, took his pastor out hunting one day. They had but one gun between them and the preacher carried it. After they had been out half an hour the man felt something poking him in the side. Turning around quickly he found the preacher poking him with the muzzle of the gun and fumbling over the hammer. "Say, brother," asked the minister, "how do you let these things down?" The man has sworn off taking preachers hunting.—Kansas City Star.

Real Refined.

Mame—My steady blew me off for supper at a reg'lar restaurant last night.
Mag—Say, they tell me he's real refined.
"Dat's w'at. When he poured his coffee out in 'is saucer ter cool it he didn't blow it like some guys would, but jist fanned it wid 'is panama."—Philadelphia Press.

The Game of Love.

"It always takes two to play the game of love," she said.
"Oh, I don't know," he replied.
"The brisk business which is being done in the divorce courts seems to indicate that it is common to have three or four hands dealt around."—Chicago Record-Herald.

On the Verge of Lunacy.

Mr. Ardent—Do you believe that love is blind?
Miss Cynique—Yes, to a certain extent. I am fully convinced that a man in love cannot see himself as others see him.—Town Topics.

David Was on Time.

Mr. Joggins (tentatively)—If I should not be home at dinner time you need not.
Mrs. Joggins (with decision)—You'll be home at the usual time, David.
Joggins says he doesn't know how it is, but when his wife says a thing it is pretty sure to come true.

Types of Mind.

There is a feminine and masculine type of mind. The former depends chiefly on memory and is reproductive. The latter relies on reasoning and is creative. The mind of the man of science is masculine. Not every woman possesses a feminine mind, though many men have little else.

Chinese Jews.

An inscription on a stone tablet found in the ruins of an old synagogue in Kailufen shows that the Jews first entered China during the Han dynasty, from B. C. 200 to A. D. 226.

A Pleasant Dream.

"I've been thinking of taking a couple of months off this summer," began the man at the desk.
"A couple of months off?" repeated the man near the door.
"I didn't know you ever got but a couple of weeks."
"I don't, but I can think about taking two months, can't I?"
"And only the hard-working electric fan was heard for the next five minutes."—Montreal Herald.

A Discouraged Fighter.

He isn't so much of a fighter as he used to be.
"No. You see he was always looking for some one who could whip him—at least that's what he said."
"Well?"
"Well, he found him."

Population of New Zealand.

Compared with 1901 the population of New Zealand (851,063, including 43,143 Maoris) shows an increase last year of 20,263.

CHILDREN'S INSTINCTS.

Where Appetite Is Concerned They Should, in a Manner, Be Respected. Many ways of infancy and childhood seem to adults unnatural; and if children chance, as they frequently do, to exhibit tendencies annual rather than esthetic, we are apt to consider them such as to be properly frowned upon. Yet it might often contribute to one's equanimity if it were borne in mind that child instinct, more frequently than reason, is in the right.

For example, the lusty fit of crying incident to the baby's bath, although it may prove annoying to the mother, is one of the best possible tonics for the infant. The vigorous respirations and increased activity of the muscular tissues conduce even more than the friction of the bath towel to a healthful glow of the skin. The infant that is obstreperous enough to resent with loud crying its nurse's efforts to soothe it, until it is again in flames, is not likely to take cold from his bath.

Again, in the matter of eating, the child sometimes exhibits singular tendencies. From the time a child begins to come to the table until the period of youth he often shows strong likes and dislikes. Just how much tendencies may be combated is perhaps of little moment, but in the quantity of food desired each child should be a law unto himself. To bribe or coax a child to eat more than he wants is certainly not commendable. Many who, as children, are extremely "delicate" in their eating, develop in later life digestive organs of superior ability.

Overfeeding is never so fraught with dangers as in childhood, and in those numerous cases in which the child instinct opposes the eating of as much food as is ordinarily regarded as normal it should be respected. In the event of a small appetite being the evidence of impaired vitality or disease other concurrent symptoms will be so evident as to lead to consultation of a physician. Glowing cheeks and sturdy limbs are admirable and a delight to the fond parents, but to many children they are simply not natural, and no amount of food can produce them.

In many children nature exhibits a conservative tendency, and the scrawny limbs and sallow cheeks may be an indication of conserved energy, by virtue of which some organ or organs may not be overtaxed during the growing age.

The diseases of childhood often result in temporarily damaged organs, which time and a following of the instincts of observation which nature meanwhile improves may entirely overcome. Thus it is that many children regarded throughout childhood as delicate and not likely to survive till adult life not only reach manhood and womanhood, but attain qualities of extraordinary physical or mental vigor.

It is well to realize that very rarely are there two children even in the same family similar in their physical equipments, and that, therefore, no "rule of thumb" method of rearing them is ever eminently successful.

Wanted to See Grandma.

Master Ross Edwards, 4 years of age, living in Irvington, N. J., was very fond of his grandmother, and spent most of his time at her home, says the Philadelphia Ledger. One afternoon he came home from play so very tired that he could eat no dinner, and asked his mother to put him to bed. She took him upstairs, and when he was ready for bed, said: "Now, my little boy must say his prayers."
"I can't—I am so tired."
"You want to go to heaven, don't you? Then you must say your prayers."
"Are you don't to heaven, mamma?"
"I hope to, and want to see my little boy there."
"Is papa don't to heaven?"
"He hopes to."
"Well, you and papa go to heaven, and I'll go around and see grandma."

He Took a Needed Rest.

"Yookum of 'Frisco," as he is known in the railroad world, is one of the workers. They say he never tires. One day a friend called at the Broad street office to see him. It was 4 in the afternoon. He found the president leaning back in a big chair, reading a newspaper and smoking. In surprise he asked what was up.
"You see, I've worked pretty hard for the past ten years," said Mr. Yookum, "and I think I need a long rest."
The next day the same friend dropped in again. Yookum shook hands in his hearty way, but said: "Glad to see you, but I'm up to my eyes in work. I haven't much time."
"I thought you were going to take a long rest?" exclaimed his friend.
"That's all right. I took it yesterday," said the president.

Evidence of the Enemy.

It is related that at a recent sham battle a young lieutenant, posted with his company behind a wall, ordered his men to fire at a detachment of troops who were marching by.
The guns were loaded with blank cartridges, and no harm was done; but the detachment happened to be on the same side of the sham fight as the company which had fired at it.
The commanding officer came riding up.
"Why did you fire on those men?" he demanded of the lieutenant, hotly.
"I supposed they were the enemy," said the lieutenant.
"And what led you to suppose they were the enemy?"
"Because my tailor was at the head of them and I saw my butcher in the ranks. What else could I suppose, sir?"

No Sympathy.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "you know I never blame you for anything that is not your fault."
"But when the horse you bet on loses, that isn't your fault, is it?"
"Charley, dear, the winner was just as easy a horse to bet on as any other, wasn't it?"
"Why-er-yes."
"No one forced you to bet on some other horse?"
"No."
"Then I can't see that you deserve any sympathy whatever."

Fibroid Tumors Cured.

A distressing case of Fibroid Tumor, which baffled the skill of Boston doctors. Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, Mass., in the following letter tells how she was cured, after everything else failed, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help:
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time. The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice—although she advised Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, to take her medicine—which she knew would help her—her letter contained a mass of additional instructions as to treatment, all of which helped to bring about the happy result.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration; falling and displacements of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt. Mrs. Hayes at her above address will gladly answer any letters which sick women may write for fuller information about her illness. Her gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so genuine and heartfelt that she thinks no trouble is too great for her to take in return for her health and happiness. Truly it is said that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women, and no other medicine; don't forget this when some druggist wants to sell you something else.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of Lydia E. Pinkham, Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Hayes, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

NO RACE SUICIDE FOR THIS UTAH MAN WITH 39 CHILDREN

Lorin Farr of Ogden, Utah, is the father of 20 sons and 19 daughters. He has 206 grandchildren, and 93 great-grandchildren. His living descendants to-day number, approximately, 400 souls.
Of his 39 children 30 are living—18 sons and 12 daughters. All are strong, healthy and vigorous. They are prosperous farmers, merchants, lawyers and doctors; the girls have married into every station, and all have large families.
All of these children have been educated by Farr, and he has given them a start in life. Had all of them lived to manhood and womanhood he feels that there would have been none too many, and he declares that he felt the loss of the few that died in childhood as keenly as would the father of a small family.

Farr has two brothers—Enoch and Allan. These two men, 62 and 60 years old, respectively, have between them 31 children, and 308 descendants, all living. This makes the total number of descendants of these three brothers 710 souls.
Although Farr is now 81, he moves, looks, acts and talks like a man 20 years younger.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

Drowning—Do not forget that persons who have been under water half an hour have recovered. Keep working at them. Roll the body on a barrel, breath into the mouth, bathe with ammonia or alcohol, work his arms and legs. Keep at work for an hour at least and you will probably save his life.

The Drum of the Kar.—The drum is the war is as thin as paper, and the stretched like a curtain between the air outside and that within, and thus, having nothing to support it, and being extremely delicate, a slap with the hand on the side of the face, made with the force which sudden and violent anger gives it, has in multitudes of cases ruptured this delicate membrane, resulting in the affliction of deafness for life. As the right hand is almost always used, it is the left ear which is stricken; this aids in accounting for the fact that the left ear is more frequently affected with deafness than the right.

Many of the ailments for which physicians prescribe the bismuth and a variety of other "aids to digestion" would be entirely relieved by exercise as much as possible in the open air. Even a frail person, one who has fairly reached the age of decrepitude, should be encouraged to use the wheel chair, receive massage and be taken out of the bed everyday for a while. The day should be varied as much as possible, and the body exercised so that it will be possible for it to rest naturally during the long periods of rest which the disease, whether acute or chronic, necessitates. There are certain diseases which are called fatigue diseases—tremor, writer's cramp and local spasm. These are all caused by the excessive use of special muscles, and no one so afflicted should fail to stop for a certain time each day as long a time as can be spared, and let the part have the repose which it demands. This suggestion is specially meant for teachers and operators on the typewriter, and clerks—men and women—who spend long days at the desk working over figures.

Old French Adage Affirmed.

A young American lawyer once appeared in the High Court of England to argue a case in which he was also the defendant. Addressing the court, he referred to the old French adage declaring that he who argues his own case has a fool for a client. After the case had been heard he left for his home in a distant city, having asked a friend to notify him by wire when the decision was given. This was the pithy despatch he received: "Old French adage affirmed!"

Not Ashamed of the Funeral.

The office boy had taken a day off to attend his father's funeral. When he came back my friend asked conditionally about the obsequies.
"You bet," said the boy sadly, yet with a touch of pride, "we buried him out o' sight."—Brooklyn Eagle.
