Carelessness in PUTTING OUT FIRES may COST LIVES and PROPERTY.

One of the best things that could happen to St. Helens would be to have a store here that would handle country produce. You can not sell to farmers unless you are willing and able to buy from them.

If you want to be sure of the amount of taxes you will pay next year, you can find out what you have assessed this year by County Assessor Laws. He is now making out the tax rolls, which will be turned over to the Board of Equalization, Monday, August 29th, and if you deem yourself wrongfully or erroneously assessed, the assessor would deem it a favor to have you call on him prior to that time, when any error will be cheerfully corrected.

The assessment rolls for Columbia County will be completed and ready for the board of equalization in a few days. They will show an increase of about one-third in the assessed valuation of the county. The valuation of timber land has been raised from two dollars and fifty cents to three and five. This bears heavily upon the non-resident land owners, but is not nearly as high as in Clatsop county, and is far below the actual cash value of the property. The assessment of the Benson Company amounts to $128,000, and the cash value is certainly three times that amount.

The St. Helens people who have been camping on Milton Creek, have all returned to their homes, well satisfied with their outing. Next year, however, it should be more thoroughly planned. A steward should be appointed, a good male cook hired, and a well sunk. Then the people who can not afford to go to the Seaside and leave their business could have a truly restful and enjoyable time at no extra expense.

Declaring that they were overworked, the deckhands on the steamer Lurline, of the Vancouver Transportation Company's river fleet, walked off the vessel at Portland last Tuesday morning and refused to return until a promise had been exacted from the management that they would not be required to pass wood to the firemen. A temporary settlement was effected by an assistant fireman being engaged. The deck hands claim that they are forced to put in unusually long hours at the various landings handling freight and when they are required to keep the firemen supplied with wood in connection with their other duties they are of the opinion that they are being weighted down with too many burdens.

Millions of dollars worth of PROPERTY are in DANGER in Columbia County at this season of the year.

The outlook of the cannerymen along the Columbia for profits from this season's business is rather gloomy. In contracting for Chinese to clean and pack their catch for the season they are obliged to agree to pay for a certain number of cases whether any fish are caught or not.

The fishing season closed and these contracts with help expired Monday, and not one packer has had as many salmon canned as he contracted to pay for. A combination of cannery men agreed to pay for packing 34,000 cases have only caught enough fish to make some 12,000 cases and are out and injured on this item alone $20,000 to $25,000. It is estimated by men in the business that there will be $70,000 paid the Chinese cannery hands on the Columbia this season for work they have not done. It is just barely possible that a big run of fish may come into the river within the next few days, and under existing circumstances the cannerymen are certain that they will be allowed to fish a few days, say four or five days, into the close season, but if there should be no such good luck for them they will have to pay the Chinese for all work done after August 15, probably pay roundly, too, in order to hold them. The life of a canneryman is not all joy these days.

THE GREAT COWEEMAN DAM.

Ten years ago, when the ox team furnished the motive power of moving logs and the ubiquitous bull driver was the chief pilot of the logging push of many a camp, a few thousand dollars sufficed to start quite a large camp. But with the introduction of the logging engine a change has come and logging on a large scale now demands the expenditure of great fortunes in equipments before a single log is put into the water. The Coweeman Dam and Logging Company, of which Mr. Hollis Alger is president and manager, is building an enormous dam on the Coweeman river, over in Cowlitz county, to take out the vast amount of timber tributary to that stream. This dam will be over 600 feet long and 50 feet high. It was necessary to go down eight feet to bed rock for a foundation, and massive timbers, from 100 to 210 feet long, sawed at a mill erected on the spot, are used in its construction. The dam will be equipped with seven gates. Two 12x20 foot gates will be used for the logs to pass through and five 10-foot gates will be used to free the dam of surplus water during heavy freshets in the river. Work was commenced on this dam in April and from forty to fifty men and four donkey engines have been employed on the work, which is not expected to be completed before November. The Weyerhaeuser Timber company, which is interested in this great undertaking, estimate that they have two billion feet of standing timber tributary to this stream, while other parties have over 300-million feet.

Suicide Prevented.

The startling announcement that a preventive of suicide had been discovered will interest many. A run down system, or despondency, invariably precedes suicide, and something has been found that will prevent that condition which makes suicide likely. At the first thought of self destruction, take Electric Bitters. It being a great tonic and nerve will strengthen the nerves and build up the system. It's also a great stomach, liver and bowels regulator. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by the St. Helens Pharmacy.

FEDERAL IRRIGATION. Work Which Has Become of Great Importance to the Country.

The work of the geological survey in carrying out the provisions of the national irrigation act has brought it to the fore as one of the great executive departments of the government. With a government irrigation fund which will be by the end of the present fiscal year in the neighborhood of $25,000,000, this work must be recognized as one of the very large internal improvements of the country. Although irrigation operations are confined largely to the sixteen arid and semi-arid Western states, the eastern part of the country must be more or less interested for several reasons. Men are constantly moving westward looking for new homes where they can earn a livelihood or become land owners, while business men are interested in seeing a development of the West which will afford them wider home markets for their manufactured products. The changing of the Western deserts into tens of thousands of new and productive small farms will not only relieve some of the overcrowded sections of the East, but will stimulate business of all descriptions, just as the opening of the great Mississippi valley provided a market for the American manufacturers such as Secretary Wilson says, as can be found in no other part of the world.

Already the geological survey has designated some fifteen large irrigation projects throughout the West, where huge impounding dams and ditches which will be as large as rivers are to be constructed. Work is already commenced on some of these, and the next two or three years will see the national irrigation policy in full operation. The $25,000,000 now practically available for irrigation construction is by no means the limit of this work, since the fund is constantly growing, through the sales of first irrigation work is completed, the cost of its construction will begin to come back into the fund for use on some other project. It is not intended that the government shall give away the irrigation work's. What government land is placed under irrigation will be given the homesteader free, conditional only upon his residence and cultivation; but the cost of putting the water on the land—the construction of the dam and the main ditches—will be borne by the settler. It is this business-like feature of the irrigation act which has found for it such support among the business men of the country.

PROPERTY. Pacific Monthly. Prosperity! What a hearty, happy ring the magic word has! What a picture it presents of teeming fields, and granaries filled to the bursting; of deep mines, where every blow of the pick brings forth copper or iron or silver; of the lumber woods, and the stately monarch of the forest crashing to earth under the blows of the woodman's axe; of laboring locomotives, and white winged ships, bearing to the marts of commerce the products of field and forest and mine; of expanding towns and cities, alive with human activity in shops and factory, office and counting house!

Work for everyone and the maximum return for toil, that is what brings prosperity. Peace, contentment, the joy of living; these are a few of its results. The Pacific Coast is enjoying such prosperity as can be found in no other locality in the United States. Nor is it the result of any abnormal circumstances, but the rational outgrowth of natural conditions. Nowhere can be found such natural resources—such fertile soil, such mineral wealth, such gigantic forests, such fisheries, such waterways, such a climate.

These things are the materials of prosperity. All that is needed is men and women to avail themselves of these unapproachable advantages. And they are coming. In tens and hundreds and thousands they are following the course of the empire to dwell in this land of plenty. There is room for all, and for millions more, for the productivity of this marvelous land has been hardly guessed.

Here is the promised land—prosperity's headquarters. Gird yourself, rise and come to enjoy its blessings.
