

Rheumatism
Does not let go of you when you apply lotions or liniments. It simply loosens its hold for a while. Why? Because to get rid of it you must correct the acid condition of the blood on which it depends. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured thousands.

WIZARDS OF THE POSTOFFICE.

They Work Out Tough Puzzles in Defective Addresses.

The staff of men in the New York postoffice who are called upon to guess out defective addresses are wonderfully successful at their brain-torturing tasks.

One absent-minded person addressed a letter "2242 Bronchitis" and it was promptly delivered to 2242 Broadway, to correct address. Not long ago O. A. Menger, the chief of the "good guessers" in the New York office, struck a letter mailed from a town in Italy, addressed in verse handwriting to "Vincenzo Marchese, Harpion Harlaad, Spital Carutrin."

Applying the phonetic method, he quickly wrote in red ink at the bottom of the envelope, "Quarantine Station (Hospital), Hoffman Island." The next day the letter was placed in the hands of the immigrant for whom it was intended.

The Italian, Russian, Hungarian and Greek mails bring most of the "blind" addresses, which are worked out phonetically. A few recent examples of the originals, with the translations by the postal experts are:

"Sinsanostr, Tomsville"—Sarah Ann Street, Tompkinsville.
"Merrycine"—Mattawan, N. Y.
"Istochinistommo"—East Kingston, N. Y.

"Societies"—Scotch Plains.
Under the name of one address appeared the following: "Chaplin Pomican." After some study the "guesser" wrote across the envelope "Care J. Pierpont Morgan," and the letter was duly delivered to an Oriental in the financier's employ.

A tougher problem was presented by this: "Hop Lee, 4 10 Colock, Complice, Texas." Long and hard study led to the conclusion that the correct reading should be "Hop Lee, Fort Hancock, Camp Rice, Texas." The letter was sent there and Hop got it.

A letter addressed to "Mr. Frederick A. Swift," with the initial "L" beneath it, was sent to Lowell, Mass., its intended destination.

Kentucky Man's Duty.

Jamboree, Ky., August 29 (Special)—After suffering for years with pain in the back Mr. J. M. Coleman, a well known citizen of this place, has found a complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Knowing how general this disease is all over the country, Mr. Coleman feels it is his duty to make his experience public for the benefit of other sufferers.

"I want to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everybody who has pain in the back," Mr. Coleman says. "I suffered for years with my back. I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have not felt a pain since. My little girl too complained of her back and she used about half a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and she is sound and well."

Backache is Kidney Ache. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sure cure for all Kidney Aches, including Rheumatism.

Unwritten Colonial History.

The captain of the Mayflower had given orders to reverse the engine and swing into port.

Plymouth rock was near at hand. "Why do you plan to land here?" asked William Bradford, with some acerbity.

"Why," responded the captain, in great disgust at the other's ignorance. "If we didn't how would poultry-breeders ever get a name for their big 'domineer' chickens?"

So humiliated was he by this reply that Mr. Bradford forgot for two hours to elector for the governorship.—Baltimore American.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constructional remedial medicine. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Sarsaparilla. Send for circulars, free.

"What do you put on your face after shaving?" asked the man who smells of bay rum. "Court plaster, usually," replied the nervous chap, gloomily.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

"Does your little girl know how to spell?" "Oh, dear no. That's so piebeian, and we expect her to marry a man who is rich enough to let her have an amanuensis."—Chicago Post.

"Have you heard about the latest insurance company?" "No; what is it?" "Why, it's one that promises to pay all money to both parties in case the marriage proves a failure."—Detroit Free Press.

Among a number of notes received by a teacher in excuse for the absence was the following: "Dear Teacher: Kindly excuse Minnie for having been absent yesterday, as she fell in the mud on her way to school. By doing the same, you will oblige, Her Mother."

They had been engaged a long time, and one evening were reading the paper together. "Look, look," he exclaimed, "only fifteen dollars for a suit of clothes!" "Is it a wedding suit?" she asked, looking naively at her lover. "Oh, no," he replied, "it is a business suit." "Well, I meant business," she replied.

A military officer went downtown with his little daughter one morning. Before long the little lady found herself unable to keep up with her father's swinging stride, and she was obliged to cry a halt. "Please, pa," she said, "I would like you not to walk so fast, for I can't keep up with you. Can't you walk nice and slow like a policeman?"

"A woman can't keep a secret," declares the man. "Oh, I don't know," retorts the fluttry woman; "I've kept my age a secret since I was 24." "Yes; but one of these days you will give it away. In time you will simply have to tell it." "Well, I think that when a woman has kept a secret for twenty years she comes pretty near knowing how to keep it."—Judge.

During the late Boer war, just after the fall of Bloemfontein, soldiers were called upon, owing to the scarcity of civilians, to work the railway. The weary men were lying in camp one night, after a hard day's work, when a sergeant called out: "Any of you wish to put your name down as railway porters, drivers, stokers, guards, or any other appointment connected with the railway?" The silence was broken only by snores. Then one of the men slowly raised his head. "Put me down as a sleeper," he shouted drowsily.

A curious and amusing mixture of early piety and wildness came to light in a city school room one day when the teacher had asked the children to write on their pads of paper something about the profession or occupation in which they would like to engage when they became men and women. One little girl wrote briefly but effectively, "I would desire to be a lady rider at a circus if it was the Lord's will." Another little girl with equally mixed ideas wrote, "Missionary, but if not that, millinery or clerk in candy store."

The Difference.—"Far as I can learn," said the Pruntytown philosopher, with his usual rashness, "the only difference—excepting, of course, in the size of their bills—between the fashionable city physician, with several mysterious initials after his name, and the plain, every-day village doctor, who is commonly called 'Doc,' and swaps horses on the side, is that the former diagnoses your malady and the latter simply tells you what's the matter—that is, if you 'pose they do."—Woman's Home Companion.

SLEEPING VOLCANOES

A thin, vapory smoke, lazily ascending from its crater, may be the only visible sign of life in the sleeping volcano; but within is a raging sea of fire, molten rock and sulphurous gases. Those who make their homes in the peaceful valleys below know the danger, and though frequently warned by the rumblings and quakings, these signs of impending eruption go unheeded. They are living in fancied security; when the giant awakes with deafening roars, and they are lost beneath a downpour of heated rock and scalding ashes. Thousands of blood-poison sufferers are living upon a sleeping volcano, and are taking desperate chances, for under the mercury and potash treatment the external symptoms of the disease disappear, and the deluded victim is happy in the belief of a complete cure; but the fires of contagion have only been smothered in the system, and as soon as these minerals are left off will blaze up again. Occasional sores break out in the mouth, a red rash appears on the body, and these warning symptoms, if not heeded, are soon followed by fearful eruptions, sores, copper-colored spots, swollen glands, loss of hair and other sickening symptoms. Mercury and potash not only fail to cure blood-poison, but cause mercurial Rheumatism, necrosis of the bones, offensive ulcers and inflammation of the stomach and bowels. The use of S. S. S. is never followed by any such bad results. It cures without the slightest injury to the system. We offer $1,000 for proof that it contains a mineral of any description. S. S. S. is an antidote for contagious blood-poison, it destroys every atom of the virus and purifies and strengthens the blood and builds up the general health.

We will mail free our special book on Contagious Blood Poison, with full directions for home treatment. Medical advice is furnished by our physicians without charge.

The Usual Way.
"Time is precious," said the moralizer.
"It is," rejoined the demoralizer, "and I've wasted lots of it."

"No," replied the other, "by being punctual in keeping my appointments with others."

A Pessimistic View.
"Say, pa," queried little Johnny Bumpkin, "I often read about poor but honest people; why don't they sometimes say rich but honest?"
"It would be useless, my son," replied the old man. "Nobody would believe it."

P. O. DEPARTMENT IS BUSY.

Many Changes Made in Names of Old and Familiar Offices.

The Postoffice Department has been playing havoc with the old familiar names of offices throughout the country. It has been obliged to discontinue the mail service at New York. To be sure, it is not the New York of the Great White Alley whose postal facilities have been cut off, but a town of somewhat smaller size, in the State of Iowa. It has also been the unhappiness of the people of Rock Branch, in the same commonwealth, to lose their postoffice, and the records have been transferred to Correctionville. Omitting names! Let us hope the records are straight.

In Michigan the department has amended the name Sault de Ste. Marie into Sault Sainte Marie, and it has established the offices of Itacy and Rescue. In Minnesota that noble office known for years as Proctorokoff has been shorn of its final syllable, and the famous orator is known only by his Christian name upon the mailing lists now. Skog is a new name in Minnesota, and a good one. In Mississippi Chunks Station has been transformed into Chunksy. In Oregon Needy has been stricken from the list, and in Pennsylvania Arcadia has been established.

In the Philippines Masbate has been discontinued. Equality has been established in South Carolina and a new Bunker Hill has arisen in Tennessee. Doeville has also sprouted in Tennessee, and there the much-sought John may have his home.

In Texas Hawley has been transformed into Blessing and an Arp has appeared, doubtless a modest tribute to the humorous gentleman of that pseudonym. Virginia has a new Dot, a Pilot and a School, but has lost a Cool Well and a Dell.

Correspondents who have hitherto addressed foreign letters to Benish, Landysall, must now use larger envelopes and write it Benish, Newcastles Emlyn, Carmarthenshire. Likewise Lwyndafydd, New Quay, Cardiganshire. Why has West Lias, Hants, been complicated into West Lias, East Lias, Hants? And why has Tygerfontein, Cape Colony, been "erased from the list?" Does the change of Victoria West Road to Hutchinson indicate a disloyal tendency in the colony?

The Postoffice Department is always busy changing names, establishing, discontinuing, moving offices, reforming their spelling and generally keeping them in order. For light summer reading try the "United States Official Postal Guide," whose yellow covers appropriately hint at its interesting contents.—New York Sun.

A JAPANESE HERO.

All Japan has been ringing with the fame of Takeo Hirose, the first great naval hero of the Japanese-Russian war, who was killed in Admiral Togo's second attempt to block up Port Arthur. Hirose was leader of the volunteers who set out to sink their ships and, if necessary, themselves, in the mouth of the harbor. He was killed by a projectile from a Russian quacking gun while seeking to save the life of his friend and subordinate, Petty Officer Sogino. The New York World tells of other deeds of courage performed by Hirose.

He first proved his bravery in the war with China. After that war Lieut. Hirose, who spoke Russian and French well, was sent as naval attaché to the Japanese legation at St. Petersburg. He came into prominence there through an incident which occurred at a banquet. A Russian officer declared that the Japanese, so small of stature, could not, as individuals, hold their own in any war. Hirose smilingly defied any three Russians to overcome him at wrestling. Roars of laughter greeted the challenge, for in those days Japanese Jiu-jitsu was not described in every newspaper.

At last, for the fun of it, the Russian officer sent for three large and sturdy soldiers. The little Japanese threw the Russians, one after another. Hirose remained in St. Petersburg three years. The daughter of a Russian naval officer fell in love with the gallant young Japanese. Her father, who greatly admired Hirose, let it be known to him that he would not be welcome as the young girl's suitor. Hirose, who also cared for the girl, struggled with his affection for three days.

Then he wrote to her father, and pointed to the inevitable war between Russia and Japan. He said: "When my country calls me to duty I shall have to turn to account all the valuable professional hints received from your kind lips and so help to do mortal hurt to your country's navy. Thus ill must patriotic duty make me repay all your kindness. With this in my mind and in my heart, how can I presume to sue for your daughter's hand, knowing that after the outbreak of the most likely of wars the hand of fate might destroy the happiness of your daughter in the most ruthless of ways, should I have been so happy as to have won her hand."

Hirose in his poetic temperament as well as in his dauntless spirit truly represented the old warrior class of Japan, the Samurai.

An Optimist.
"Do you think that the standard of popular taste is higher than it used to be?"
"Certainly," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "You must remember that people of the previous generations had no opportunity of seeing my interpretations."—Washington Star.

It Happens Frequently.
Mrs. Fenders—It's absurd for Henry to think of marrying that Miss Belcher. Why, she's three or four years older than he.
Uncle George—Oh, that's all right. It won't be long before he's three or four years older than she.—Boston Transcript.
