COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.
Having the Largest Circulation of any paper in Columbia County

OUR EXHIBIT.

Visitors from Columbia County to the Lewis and Clark Centennial will probably wish that the work of preparing an exhibit had been undertaken a year ago, and that a more liberal sum had been appropriated by the county court. It must be remembered that no other county exhibiting has appropriated so small a sum as Columbia, and also that we are at a disadvantage from the fact that this is our first attempt to make known the varied resources of what is naturally one of the richest counties in the State of Oregon. We say this in order that the people may not expect too much. We have undertaken the work at a compensation that will hardly pay our actual expenses and have labored diligently to make the money go as far as possible. Whether the people have received good value for their money the future will determine and they are the judges. The object, as we understand it, is to attract the attention of the visitors who are seeking homes and opportunities for investment, and if but one industry is established as a result of this work or a few settlers of moderate means are induced to make homes here and consequently bear their share of the burdens of taxation, the county will receive a good return for its small investment. Of one thing the county may well be proud, and that is the booth in which its exhibit is displayed. No county in the State of Oregon has a more beautiful place in which to show its products. It is built entirely of Columbia county fir and cedar, manufactured in the county and finished by Betty Brothers of Detroit, who were so well pleased with the design that they sent a man across the continent to do the work. The exhibits now in place give a fair illustration of the progress the county has made in the past few years in the line of manufacture. They include the exhibit of the Western Cooperage Co., the S. Barr Flume Co., the Rainier Soap Works, the St. Helens Stone Quarries, and a number of others that reflect credit upon our county. In addition to this there is a photographic exhibit illustrating the logging industry, the school buildings, natural scenery and many of the comfortable homes and creditable business places of the county. We will also have an exhibit of our fruit and marl and a small but excellent display of apples and potatoes. As in other counties that have had no previous experience in this line, the greater part of our exhibit of agricultural products must be made from the coming crop and in this work we earnestly ask the help of all who have at heart the good of the county. Send us whatever you have that is worthy of display and we will do our best to see that Columbia gets its share of whatever benefit is derived from a presentation of its claims. We would especially be pleased to receive products from the Nehalem country, as no section of the county stands in the great need of having its resources known. A railroad to the Nehalem is long overdue, and it may be that this fair will bring about the fruition of the desires those who for so many years have fought against disadvantages in the hope of hearing the iron horse wake the echoes of that fertile valley.

Let us all unite in this work and the result may exceed all expectations. We extend an earnest invitation to all to come and see what has been done and will be glad to receive any suggestion that may be made.

We nearly forgot to mention that one of the most attractive and beautiful features of the exhibit will be a display of needle and ornamental work by the ladies of the county, collected by Mrs. W. T. Watts of Scappoose. Any articles for exhibition should be addressed to E. H. Flagg, Columbia County Exhibit, section H, Agricultural Building, Portland, Oregon.

DO YOU WANT TO SELL?

If you have a farm for sale there is no better place to advertise it than in the MIST'S special Lewis and Clark edition of five thousand copies of an eight page illustrated paper. It will go directly into the hands of the homeseekers from the East. We wish we could print 100,000 copies of this paper as we believe it will do the county a great deal of good. The illustrations will be numerous and the descriptive matter written with great care, mainly by residents of the particular neighborhoods described. Single copies will be mailed to any address at 5c per copy.

School Report Cards, the very best form, with envelopes to match, for sale at this office for $1 per hundred.

A CONVERT TO SOCIALISM.

The Oregonian professes itself a convert to the practice, though not to the theory, of socialism. By "socialism" we assume is meant public control of public utilities,—rail roads, street cars, telephones, water works, etc.,—and it is manifest that some check must be placed upon corporate greed and power if we desire to avert the worst form of so-called socialism. The trouble is in securing a definition of of what is meant by socialism. If it means that the people have a right to protect their interests by any and all means necessary, to that end then we are all socialists. If it is necessary in order to protect the producer and the consumer that the Government should act as their intermediary then we favor such action, and do not admit that there is any such thing as a "vested right" possessed by transportation or any other corporations to hold control by rate manipulations of the commerce of the country. There is a great wrong inherent in the people that will manifest itself whenever the situation becomes unbearable; but the people of the United States are an intelligent people. They will not exact the part of blind Sampson, tearing down the pillars of the United States and burying all beneath the ruins. They will do no unnecessary injustice, but will rather suffer for a while the accumulated evils of arrogant capital than to bring about the destruction of individualism by adopting the extreme doctorines of socialism. They may be forced by capital to advocate government ownership of railroads but they will not favor the abolition of capital and of the wage system in favor of a paternal form of government until the time is when all men are equal, not only before the law, but in mental, moral and physical equipment.

Socialism in its extreme form is repugnant to nature. It aims to reduce men to a common level and to compel all, provided they are willing to work, to accept as compensation such supply of creature comfort as the State may consider itself able to provide, basing its action upon the theory that those who are intellectually superior to the common run of mankind will be sufficiently rewarded for exerting their faculties for the common good by receiving the commendation of their fellow citizens. If this is not socialism then we are mistaken in our views and would be pleased to be corrected. If this is socialism, then it is truly an iridescent dream, practicable only in a theocracy, where God himself would govern directly all the affairs of mankind. The teaching of this form of socialism is mischievous and its application would destroy the first of Government. Against it we propose to contend to the best of our humble ability; realizing, however, that safety lies between the extreme and that paternalism is something more than a word.

THE ASTORIA SCRAMBLE.

People who have returned from Portland since the hotel rates advanced 100 per cent, complain of the exorbitant practiced by the hotels and restaurants. Knowing this to be a fact, it would be advisable for people visiting the fair from this city to go up in the morning and return in the evening, as the railroad fare is much cheaper than a room at the hotel. In this way they can eat their breakfast and supper at home and will only be compelled to buy one meal in Portland and a fair meal can be obtained for $1 although not as good as is charged 25 cents for in Astoria, but by taking a small lunch as a dessert after the meal, there is no danger of anyone starving or going broke if they do not remain in Portland over one day.—Astorian.

The Astorian has certainly got a very bad case of the grouch and is endeavoring to keep the people of Astoria from enjoying an opportunity that will never be afforded them again. It possibly has a right to do so, but it should be honest in its statements. It is not true that hotel rates have advanced 100 per cent nor that it takes two dollars to get a good meal. Prices are no higher for the same accommodations than in Astoria, though it is to be expected that there will raise to some extent during the fair. But we will guarantee to give our friend down the creek as good grub as he is used to for 50 cents per meal. The best Clatsop county people say against the last the better. Clatsop is one of the few counties in Oregon that will not make an exhibit, and the reason is that it has been so poorly managed that it owes a large debt and its narrow gauge commissioners think it cannot afford the price, though they were willing to squander $150,000 on a court house.

SHORT BITS.

Inquiries as to the opportunities to secure homes in Columbia County are beginning to come in.

Dr. Abernethy's grocers are certainly not shooting stars, though they appear to be out of their orbits. They are bad actors—they never make a hit. They are eligible for membership in the No Drunk Club.

The logic of events has made a qualified socialist out of Harvey Scott. Live public events, possibly.

After the fair is over there will be a base ball game between the State Commissioner and the Corporation.

The only exhibit in complete order on opening day was that of the United States Government. Uncle Sam can always be depended upon to be on hand and ready for business.

We will bet that Captain Clark and the Oregon could do more damage to the Japanese fleet than Rojestvensky did with his entire squadron.

RECOLLECTIONS

Of the Early Settlement of Columbia County, Oregon.

(Oregon Mist, May 13 1885)

Let us go back in imagination to the spring of 1846. Then the waters of the Columbia or Willamette rivers had never been disturbed by a steam vessel of any kind. There was not a store or post-office any nearer than Portland or Vancouver. The largest town in Oregon then was Oregon City. The territory now embraced in Columbia and Multnomah counties was all in Washington county at the time, and we had to go to Hillsboro to attend court. We received our mail only once a year from the States, either across the plains by pack and emigrant trains or around Cape Horn by sail vessels.

The settlers in Columbia county then were about as follows: Beginning at Scappoose we find Archie Spencer, an old Hudson Bay Company's servant (with an Indian wife and half breed children) on what is now known as the Jesse Miles donation claim. Whether John McPherson lived there then or not I do not know, but he was there as early as 1850 or 1851, certainly.

The next was at St. Helens, then called Plymouth, where we find Capt. Henry M. Knighton,* some of whose descendants still reside in this county. This place was claimed for the purposes of a townsite, although there were no other settlers there then but Capt. Knighton and his family. He was an American.

Next we find Joseph Caples,* with his three children, at what is now Columbia City. The three children are still well known residents of the above named city.

Further down we find on Deer Island, George Merrill and his mother, Mrs. S. Merrill, located.

There was at this time, still further down, at Oak Point, on the Oregon side, John McLane,* also an old Hudson Bay man, with an Indian woman for a wife and some half breed children. This is believed to be all the children then living in the region now embraced by Columbia county.

About this time, that is, in the fall of 1848, as all know, the gold mines in California were discovered and a general stampede to that state was the consequence, and from that time until 1850-51 there was but little increase in the population of the county. From the latter date, however, the settling of the county has continued slowly but steadily up to the present time.

The first saw mill built in the county was at Milton, by Mr. J. T. Hunsaker and Mr. James Frost, in the summer of 1848. Some time in the year of 1850 Thomas H. Smith and others bought this mill and started quite a business at Milton. They built an additional mill, started a store and at that time Crosby & Smith had a line of sail vessels between Portland and SanFrancisco, and also carrying lumber from their mills at Milton. This line was composed of the bark Louisiana, the brig Grecian, and another vessel, the name of which I do not remember. Milton at this time contained quite a number of inhabitants, probably over a hundred.

About the time (1850) there were new settlements made in different parts of the county. In Scappoose there were S. T. Goss,* Jesse Mile,* Timothy Lambertson,* who built the settlers' sawmill in the county,* and D. A. Cunninger, and perhaps some others.

St. Helens had also received considerable additional population. There were Seth Pope, afterwards county judge for many years, P. A. Lamont and B. M. Durelle,* Cortland & Atwood put up a three story hotel in St. Helens about this time, which is still standing.

In the summer of 1849 Joseph Merrill,* with his family, and Daniel Wilson, settled on Deer Island.

Rainier was settled about this time. Charles Fox was the first claimant.

The next two settlers below Rainier, on the river, were John Harris* and J. Tebbins.* There were also at the same time several families at Beaver Valley, a few miles back of Rainier.

About this time (1850-51) or soon after, there was a settlement made on the Clatskanie—E. G. Bryant, Mrs. Lucretia Burr (a widow) and sons Adam, George, James and William.

Between 1850 and 1854 the first salmon fisheries in the county were established just below Oak Point, by Jotham Reed, who had afterwards associated with him in the fishing business, Mr. Thomas Hodgkins, who still resides at Oak Point.

The first monthly mail service was begun in 1850, carried by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company—ocean service and monthly trips.

The county of Columbia was created by act of the Oregon Legislature about the year 1852. The first county officers, I believe, were appointed or named in the act and were to serve until the next general election in the county. Milton was the first county seat of the county and continued to be such for several years. In the first organization of the county there was no county judge; the the county business was done by the county commissioners and probate business by a probate judge.

Persons whose names are marked * are now deceased.

This is the year from which Oregon will date its great industrial development.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Ia. but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach. Guaranteed at the St. Helens Pharmacy; price 50c.

Dying of Famine.

is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption from the beginning to the very end is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I said consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Carlisle, Md. "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at St. Helen's Pharmacy, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

That Tired Feeling.

If you are languid, depressed, incapable for work, it indicates that your liver is out of order. Herbine will assist nature to throw off headaches, rheumatism and ailments akin to nervousness and restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health. J. J. Hubbard, Temple, Texas, writes, "I have used Herbine for the past two years it has done me more good than all the doctors. It is the best medicine ever made for chills and fever." 50c. Sold by A. J.
