COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Having the largest circulation of any paper in Columbia County.

APPLE RAISING IN COLUMBIA COUNTY.

Mr. Smith of Hood River, President of the State Horticultural Association, publishes a statement in the Oregonian demonstrating the profitability of fruit culture in his county, and he makes a very clear showing in his favor, giving the cost of land, setting out of trees, cultivation, etc., up to the time of bearing. There is one thing in Mr. Smith's statement that should attract favorable attention toward Columbia County, and that is the price of land in Hood River compared with the price of land here in Columbia County. He gives the price of cleared land at $200 per acre, and there is no doubt it is worth every cent of that sum.

Cleared land, under cultivation in Columbia County, within twenty miles of Portland, with river and rail transportation, can be had at from $60 to $100 and will cost between $40 and $50 to bring the orchard into profitable bearing at the end of five years. In the seventh year he figures a profit of $100 per acre, and from the tenth year onward a profit of from $200 to $300 per acre.

Everything that can be said in favor of Hood River as an apple raising section can also be said in favor of Columbia County, and especially in favor of the country between St. Helens and the Malheur county line, which stretches backward in a gradual ascent from the Willamette slough to the summit of the Nehalem divide, every acre of it being particularly suitable to the growing of fine apples, pears and small fruits, and yet we have but one commercial apple orchard, and that a very small one, in this county. Mr. Asa Holaday is our pioneer orchardist, and he has demonstrated that apple growing can be made a very profitable industry. His apples took a gold medal at Buffalo, and assisted in securing for this state the prize offered by the Wilder Pomological Society. His orchard this year is a marvelous sight, and those who have any doubt of the success of apple growing should not fail to visit it. He has about 150 Northern Spy trees and they are loaded to their full bearing capacity with fine, clean apples. He is making a better living on a few acres of land than many others are making on large farms, and he has recently purchased ten acres additional, with the intention of setting it out to orchard. There is nothing that would do more to increase the value of agricultural lands in this county than the setting out of a few hundred acres to the varieties of apples best suited to our soil and climate.

DETECTIVE DONAHUE TAKES A HAND

Last week's Mist contained a criticism of the methods adopted by the Walter Reed Optical Concession at the Exposition, and also a criticism of President Goode for sustaining these people. This article was posted upon a pillar of the Columbia County booth, and Mr. Donahue, chief of the Fair Grounds detectives, tore it down, because, as he stated, it was an insult to President Goode. Where Mr. Donahue gets his right to tear down a Columbia County paper, posted on Columbia County's booth, is more than we can understand, but we will try to find out later on.

Mr. Donahue is supposed to be at the Fair grounds for the purpose of protecting Portland's visitors against frauds and luncheon men. He does not attempt to defend the methods adopted by the spectacle peddlers, and freely admitted that on several occasions he had compelled them to refund money to persons to whom they had sold glasses. If the sale was honest they had a right to keep the money. If it was fraudulent they should be expelled from the grounds.

Mr. Jefferson Myers, President of the State Commission, informed the writer that he had caused the spectacle men to refund on several occasions.

Now, Mr. Donahue and Mr. Goode, if these men are doing a legitimate business you have no right to compel them to refund. If they are not doing an honest business you should revoke their concession.

The Portland Journal predicts that Russia will accept peace terms providing for thecession of Sakhalin and the payment of $1,000,000 indemnity. The Journal has a chance to make a great reputation as a prophet, and the prophecy should be remembered. The Mist is of the opinion that there will be no peace for years to come, and that the greatest battles of the war are yet to come.

Secretary Tall is an aspirant for the Presidency. So is Secretary Root. If there is anything the President's political family wants of course they should have it. But first they must agree among themselves as to the division of the spoils. They are undoubtedly all great men and entitled to run this country for generations to come. How would they do for a campaign nickname for the big fellow?

PRAYER THAT COUNTS.

Appreciation of an earnest effort to advertise the resources of this county in our special Lewis and Clark edition comes in shape of a check for $6 from Mr. Henry Henderson, our county clerk. Mr. Henderson's aid was not solicited, and for this reason it is especially appreciated. The editor of the Mist expended a great deal of labor and money in printing this edition of 5,000 copies, and believes that its circulation will be of great benefit to the county. We are distributing it daily to the visitors at Columbia County's booth, and will send copies to any address that may be furnished upon receipt of postage sufficient to pay for the wrappers.

Mr. Henderson was pleased with the publication, and was therefore willing to bear his share of the expenses. Praise for good work is always appreciated; but no one can doubt its sincerity when it is accompanied by a check. Send the names and postage and we will do the rest.

DO NOT WEARY IN WELL DOING.

Two months yet remain of the Exposition at Portland and the attendance will be much greater than during the past two and one-half months. Harvest will soon be over and great numbers of people will flock out here from the East and Middle West. They are farmers, business men, and capitalists, and we want to convince them that Columbia County is the place for them to locate in. Therefore our exhibit should be made as attractive as possible, and the only way this can be done is for YOU to send in the best product of your farm, and especially of your orchard. Send in your apples, pears, plums, pines, etc., and don't be stingy about the quantity. There won't be another World's Fair in Portland for a century, and we won't be here to see it. We can hasten the development of this county, increase its population and wealth, have better schools and roads, and lighten the burden of taxation, and one way to do this is by making its resources thoroughly known.

Land in Hood River is worth three or four times as much as it is in Seaside. Why? Because fruit is grown there in commercial quantities, and they are everlastingly at it advertising their resources. The fruit is no better than that raised in every other part of Columbia County, and if we convince immigrants that they can buy land and put it in commercial orchards here for less than one-half what it will cost them in Wasco County, they will be foolish if they don't locate here. Send in the fruit.

LET US REASON TOGETHER

If Socialism is sound, it will prevail sooner or later in Germany and every where else, no matter how often a Kaiser or a mob may try to kill it. If the theory is unsound, it is better to meet it with argument. If the Socialists can make a better argument than their opponents, it is proof enough that they are in the right. If, as we hold, the Socialist is partly right and partly wrong, then discussion will have the effect of separating the wheat from the chaff, the truth from the falsehood, and thus will make for good. It is advisable to allow even the worst to have their say. A great mistake was committed when Herr Most was suppressed. Before his arrest and conviction he was the laughing stock of the newspapers and the general public. One who has ever heard him cannot fail to laugh over the nonsense with which he pelts an audience after a liberal portion of sauer kraut and an inordinate consumption of beer.

When his incarceration he was posed as a martyr, and he is so regarded by men who never sympathized with his wild talk. If most were insane, he should have been placed in an asylum. If sane, he should have been allowed to utter his nonsense, for the prophet of dead words always defeats himself. Telegram.

A brisk daily walk or a ride on horseback beats any more elaborate forms of physical exercise for simplicity combined with efficiency. In walking, especially if the ground is somewhat undulating, a very large number of muscles are brought into natural and easy play, sufficiently, at any rate, to stimulate the circulation, which in its turn compels full expansion of the lungs and due aeration of the blood. The professional or business man requires no more than this to keep him fit for his duties, provided he follows the ordinary rules of health in respect of bathing, eating, drinking and clothing. If he is afflicted with a sluggish liver, indigestion or inactivity of the alimentary canal as a whole, a man may derive more benefit to health on horseback. But this is really a curative form of exercise.

When a cough, a tickling or an irritation in the throat makes you feel uncomfortable take Ballard's Horehound syrup. Don't wait until the disease has gone beyond control. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 354 West 5th St., Salt Lake City, writes: "We think Ballard's Horehound Syrup the best medicine for coughs and colds. We have used it for several years; it always gives immediate relief, is very pleasant and gives satisfaction." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by A. J. Denning.

Mr. John Wannamaker considers it an honor for his daughter to be escorted to dinner by the distinguished negro divine, Booker T. Washington. As a man thinketh, so is it.

Peculiar Disappearance
J. D. Bunyan, of Butteville, O., laid the peculiar disappearance of his painful symptoms of indigestion and biliousness to Dr. King's New Life Pills. He says: "They are a perfect remedy for dizziness, sour stomach, headache, constipation, etc." Guaranteed at Perry & Graham's store, price 25c.

Stop that Cough
When a cough, a tickling or an irritation in the throat makes you feel uncomfortable take Ballard's Horehound syrup. Don't wait until the disease has gone beyond control. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 354 West 5th St., Salt Lake City, writes: "We think Ballard's Horehound Syrup the best medicine for coughs and colds. Herbicine
Renders the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headaches, and over-indulgence in food and drink.

G. L. Cadwell, Agt. M. K. & T. E. R., Checotah, Ind. Ter., writes, April 18, 1905: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Herbicine. It has made me sound and well." 50c Sold by A. J. Denning.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

BUILDER OF FAST BOATS.

Captain Scott, Pioneer in Construction of Swift Steamers.

For more than 20 years Captain U. B. Scott, who brought the steamer Telegraph from the sound for service on the Willamette and Columbia rivers, was one of Oregon's leading steamboat men. About ten years ago he went to Seattle, where he operated a line of boats.

Captain Scott came to Portland from Cincinnati in 1873. When a mere lad he was steamboating on the Ohio river. As he was unable to get a position on the river he decided to engage in business for himself and with scarcely any assistance built a small, light draft steamer which he christened the Ohio, and placed in commission from Portland to points on the upper Willamette. It is said that her partners were built of gaspipe and frequently the wheel broke adrift when the craft was making an attempt to go over the shoal places in the stream.

But when the season for moving wheat from the upper valley came on, the Ohio went farther up the river than any other steamboat, and at a point above Corvallis the first wheat cargo was received. That season the boat netted her owner sufficient to enable him to build another stern-wheeler which he named the City of Salem. She was also placed in service on the upper river. Captain Scott prospered to such an extent that he built the Fleetwood made round trips between Portland and Astoria. It is said that she was the first boat to do this.

In 1883 Captain Scott built the steamer Telephone, acknowledged by steamboat men to have been the fastest craft in local waters. Four years later the steamer was destroyed by fire and the skipper built the new Telephone. Shortly afterward he built the Flyer and moved up to the sound. The Flyer is still running there, and it is declared that she covers more miles in the course of a year than any other boat afloat. Since going north he has built the City of Everett, which is now in commission.

RHEUMATISM
When pains or irritation exist on any part of the body, the application of Ballard's Snow Lintiment gives prompt relief. E. W. Sullivan, Prop. Sullivan House, El Reno, O. T., writes, June 6, 1902: "I take pleasure in recommending Ballard's Snow Lintiment to all who are afflicted with rheumatism. It is the only remedy that I have found that gives immediate relief." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by A. J. Denning.

WARREN

Mr. Southard, manager of the Noon ranch, shipped 4000 pounds of oats to Portland market last week.

Mr. James Bacon, the merchant of Warren, has a constantly increasing trade in butter and eggs for the seaside market.

W. E. Stevens and family are camped at Seaside. Mr. Stevens goes bathing in the surf every day. He swims far out beyond the breakers. The following is one day's sport as it is reported to your scribe: Number trout caught, 237; crabs, 33; clams 16 dozen. We consider this a very fair day's work for an amateur.

Morton Tompkins and family are moving to Tacoma.

When Jennie pat on his first pair of pants the other day, he was very proud. He strutted up and down in front of his mother, almost crazy with delight. Then he burst out: Oh mamma, pants make me feel so grand! Didn't it make you feel grand when — then he said pathetically, poor mamma, you never wore pants, did you?

Public is Aroused
The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave. Columbus O., writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief and in a short time was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Perry & Graham's; price 50c.

VERNONIA.

Mrs. J. F. Walter, of Centralia, Wash., has been visiting her son, Arthur Johnson, and family the past week.

Miss Oral Spencer made a sneak upon the home folks by coming in from Portland Sunday for a few days' visit. It was an agreeable surprise.

Mrs. Elsie Rench, of Houlton, is visiting the family of S. P. Ballard.

John Hart and wife, of Portland, are visiting his brother, Wright Hart, and family, this week.

Mrs. Heinrich, formerly Mrs. Menke, after visiting her brother, Louis Belsch of Upper Rock Creek, and friends in this vicinity for a couple of weeks, returned to her home in Portland last Friday.

Uncle Joe Van Blaricom and his niece, Mrs. Vernie Chamberlain, spent a few days last week at Portland, visiting with friends and seeing the big show.

T. B. Denslow and Arthur Johnson went to Cornelia recently, bringing in with them some nice grade Jersey cows to add to their dairy herd.

Mrs. T. M. Tucker returned last week from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Edna Snyder, at Scappoose. She went on to Portland and took in the Fair for a day or two.

The lecture of Mrs. Waldo, state lecturer for the Grange, at the church Sunday afternoon, August 6th, was a good talk and appreciated by the large audience present.

E. E. Nickerson, accompanied by Mrs. S. A. Spencer, made a flying trip to the Benson logging camp, near Oak Point, Wash., to visit with Mrs. Nickerson, Sunday, August 6th.

W. S. Stevens of Yankton and Thornton Soute of Bridal Veil, with Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Drayton of Michigan, visited with A. Soule and family a few days last week.

The hum of the thrasher is now heard in our midst. It is Downing's "baby" crying for more feed. The voice of the "big fellow" from the Upper Nehalem will also be heard in a few days, it being the desire of our farmers to get their grain threshed while the good weather lasts.

We are sorry to have to report the serious illness, from a paralytic stroke, of our former citizen, E. W. Keasey, of Portland, but are glad to state that at this writing he is much improved. The boys, C. C. and D. H., were called to his bedside when he was first stricken, and Rosa and little Harry were out last week.

E. D. North, who has been a student at the Monmouth Normal School, is teaching in the Kist district. He will teach a month or two and then return to his studies.

The load of schoolmams who went out to St. Helens last week for the teachers' examination returned Sunday. Mr. Deeberry of Keasy bringing them over from Houlton.

Miss Swanson, who closed a very successful term in the Wilkinson district August 4, and who intended to go to St. Helens last week for the examination, was summoned to her home at Forest Grove Tuesday on account of the sickness and death of her grandmother, Mrs. Herstead.

The annual campmeeting began on Thursday of this week, at the Vernonia camp ground. It is expected that there will be some ministerial assistance from the outside, perhaps Rev. R. D. Strayfeller, who was a former pastor here and well liked.

Rev. J. O. Coleman, our local minister, preached at Mist Sunday, morning and evening, and at Natal in the afternoon.

Miss Lottie Hall, who has been visiting friends in the valley the past three weeks, returned to her home at Dayton last Saturday. Miss Lizzie Early accompanied her for a few days outing. Both expect to attend the teachers' congress in Portland, beginning August 27th, and incidentally the Lewis and Clark Fair.

Gust Gustafson is rushing his new barn this week, to get enough of it roofed so that he can get his hay crop, which has been in shock in the field for nearly a month, put under cover. He finds it difficult to get material at the mills. Others are having similar trouble.

The picnic of the schools of Miss Swanson and Mrs. Hatfield was held on Friday, August 4th, at the residence of E. E. Nickerson, two miles east of town, and was a very pleasant affair. In the forenoon the people of the neighborhood assembled in a large open shed, which had been prepared for the purpose, to hear the programme rendered by the children. This was indeed fine and was enjoyed by all. After the programme a sumptuous dinner was served by the ladies, and this also, was enjoyed by all present, as diners served by our Nehalem ladies always are. Dinner being over, the audience reassembled and listened to a most excellent and practical address along educational lines by our county superintendent, I. H. Copeland, who had been visiting schools in the vicinity during the week; after which the crowd, both young and old, repaired to the river side and spent the remaining portion of the day in boat riding and other amusements. Such occasions always draw the people closer together and are to be encouraged.

McKINLEY'S FAVORITE HYMN.

Eliza and Sarah Flower were gifted English sisters whose earthly lives began and ended between the opening and the close of the first half of the last century; and yet in that brief period both left their impress on their generation, and the younger, Sarah, achieved undying fame by composing the beautiful hymn "Nearer My God to Thee." It was suggested by the story of Jacob's vision at Bethel, as found in Genesis XXVIII: 10-22. The hymn was first published in 1841, and although it met with some favor, it was not until 1890 that Dr. Lowell Mason's beautiful and sympathetic music "quickened it into glorious life" and gave it a permanent abiding-place in the hearts of the people.

This hymn gained immense popularity through the tragic death of President William McKinley. His last intelligible words were: "Nearer My God, to Thee" even though it be a cross has been my constant prayer." His prayer was answered. It was a cross—one of the greatest that could come to him and to the beloved nation which he served so faithfully—that led him through a martyr's suffering and death to claim a martyr's reward. Memorial services were held in innumerable churches in our own and other countries, the most interesting of the latter being in Westminster Abby, by order of the King. Here, as elsewhere, the greatest interest centered about the singing of the hymn which was in the heart and on the lips of our heroic President as he went to meet his God.—From The Delineator for September.

Painful Suffering
is often caused by sores, ulcers and cancers that eat away your skin. Wm. Bedell, of Flat Rock, Mich. says: "I have used Bucklen's Arnica salve for ulcers, sores and cancers. It is the best healing dressing I ever found." Soothers and heals cuts, burns and scalds. 25c at Perry & Graham's store, guaranteed.

Another way has been devised to separate fools and their money. It is as easy as falling off a log and there is within a spice of poetic justice about the scheme, in that the biter of the second part is sure to be bitten. The game works in this way: a pleasant-faced, soft-spoken stranger stops at a farm house and informs the occupants that he has lost a valuable diamond pin. He and the farmer make a diligent search but fail to find the jewel. The well dressed chap tells the farmer ongoing away, he will give $100 for the return of the jewel. A week or so later a tramp comes in and tells the farmer he has found a diamond pin. The farmer, after some dickering, gets the pin for $25. After waiting some time the pin is taken to a jeweler, when it is found that fifteen cents would have been a big price for it.

A man who was too economical to subscribe for his home paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a 4-foot stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who, failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and raising a 45 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran, upset a four gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole flock. In her hurry she dropped a 25 cent set of false teeth. The baby left alone, crawled through the spilt cream into the parlor, ruining a $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dogs broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts.—Kansas City Journal.

Cures Scatica
Rev. W. L. Riley, L. L. D. Cuba, New York, writes: "After fifteen years of excruciating pain from scatic rheumatism, under various treatments I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Lintiment; the first application giving my first relief and the second entire relief, I can give it unqualified recommendation." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by A. J. Denning.

To the correspondent who wisely remarks that cheap coal is necessary to make a manufacturing city of Portland, be it remarked that he must wait for the railroad to the Nehalem. And he need not wait long. Nor will the proposed line to Coos Bay serve to hold up the price of coal. These railroads are certain to stimulate men to search for new veins.—Oregonian.
