COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

REPUBLICAN UNITY.

The Republican party in Oregon, and especially in Columbia County, has an opportunity during the coming campaign, to get together and present a solid front to the combination of populism and socialism that was partially victorious in the last election. There is but one way to do this and that is the plain and simple way of permitting the voters who will be called upon to elect the ticket to have the full say in nominating it. Not only must the direct primary law be carried out to the letter, but the spirit of it must prevail and no clique or combination must be formed to place before the people a limited number of candidates from whom they will be compelled to make their choice. The field is a free and open one, and any man who aspires to nomination for any office in the gift of the people is entitled to have his merits and demerits fully discussed and then passed upon by the Republican voters at the primary election. It is up to the voters of the party to select their candidates, and when that is done there should be no doubt of success at the polls.

We are to elect in this county a representative, commissioner, clerk, and sheriff. The democratic county judge and the school superintendent who was elected in opposition to the regular Republican nominee, holdover for two years, as do the Republican sheriff and one Republican commissioner. With the exception of the sheriff, who in all probability will be re-nominated and re-elected, it is probable that there will be several candidates for each office. The contest between them should be of the most friendly nature, and each candidate should make up his mind to honorably abide by the decision of the Republican voters as expressed at the primaries, and if defeated manfully do all in his power for the election of the entire ticket. Our enemies in the county are shrewd politicians, and they have demonstrated their ability to take the fullest advantage of any misstep made by the Republicans, and as they appeal to the false spirit of non-partisanship and make the canvass upon personalities rather than upon principles, they have frequently been successful.

Whether their success has been of benefit to the people of Columbia County may well be questioned. Have the democratic and populist officials that have been elected here in past years been more honest, economical or efficient than the Republicans? We are willing to admit that there have been errors committed, but can any party show a clear record, free from mistakes?

We do not mean to be understood as attacking the present democratic and anti-republican officials in this county; but an investigation will plainly show that their election has not resulted in any great saving for this county, notwithstanding the great promises that were made prior to the election.

A GOOD CHOICE.

The Mist hoped that Judge T. A. McBride, of this district, would receive the appointment as district judge to succeed the late Judge Bellinger; but, as we could not have our first choice, it is a pleasure to note that the selection has fallen upon a man altogether worthy and well qualified. Judge Wolverton, who has received the appointment, is not only an able lawyer, but we believe he posses in an eminent degree the traits of character necessary for the discharge of his great duties. We believe he is just, honorable, and merciful. We do not believe any consideration other than that of right will ever influence him in rendering a decision or in passing sentence. He will render justice, tempered with mercy.

Gov. Chamberlain has exclusive management of the State penitentiary, and it is the only State institution with which any scandal has been connected during the past two years. If he were a Republican the papers of that party would be filled with the details; but anything George does seems to be all right with the faithful. The son of the superintendent recently "found" a diamond ring belonging to one of the convicts, but failed to report his find until it was accidentally discovered, and a watch belonging to another convict was "lost" from the safe, and the warden said nothing about it, his excuse being that publicity would hinder the chance of its return. Queer doings in a "reformed" institution.

The Cowlitz Advocate notes that the famous DeMoss family is making its thirty-fourth annual tour of Oregon and Washington. That's what's the matter with the country—too much d—— moss.

President Roosevelt is no mugwump. He went to his home in Nassau County, New York, to cast his vote for the Republican nominees on the county ticket.

It is up to Mr. Heney to prosecute Abe Rueff, or at least furnish the grand jury with information, for an indictment.

VERNONIA'S CHARTER, AND OTHER CHARTERS.

At a recent session of the Vernonia city council the matter of petitioning the Legislature to annul that city's charter was considered and decided in the negative, and it was decided to comply with the charter's provisions, elect a full set of officers and give the town an effective government. This was brought about by the suggestion of the district attorney, who found that he could not convict a violator of the law because the matter was within the jurisdiction of the City of Vernonia, and the city could do nothing in the matter because it had no effective organization. The action of the people of Vernonia is to be commended; but we hope it will not stop with organization. The municipalities of this county have grossly failed in their duty, in that they have not compelled obedience to the laws. They take from the county school fund all the money paid for saloon licenses, and they compel the county to stand the cost of all the cases arising from the existence of the liquor traffic. If there is a drunken row, a cutting scrape, or any other crime originating in the use of liquor, the county is put to the expense of prosecuting the case, while the municipalities get the revenue from the liquor traffic, spend it upon their streets, and the taxpayer who lives outside of the cities is called upon to foot the bill, except, of course, the portion of the taxation which comes from city property.

The Legislature has delegated to the municipalities the duty of enforcing certain laws, and when they fail to do so and put the burden upon the county their charters should be revoked, unless they show a disposition, as Vernonia has done, to mend their ways. The amount of money taken from the school fund and given to the cities of this county approximates nearly $5,000 annually. Those who figure that a liquor license is a clear gain to a community would do well to consider this fact, and the further fact that saloons furnish a large share of the crime and pauperism of a county, and every taxpayer, whether he resides in the city or in the country, must pay his share of this burden. Saloons are not licensed because they are good institutions, but because it is generally believed that a licensed and regulated liquor traffic is preferable to the state of affairs that would exist under prohibition. If this is not correct, then there is no argument in favor of the existence of saloons.

Many people are superstitious as to the number thirteen. And yet why should they be? The original states of the union were thirteen as everybody knows, and no one would be considered unlucky because he had a quarter of a dollar in his pocket, and yet the coin is impressed with "thirteen" all over its two sides. Count the letters in "quarter dollar" and you have thirteen. Count the stars over the eagle's head—thirteen. The eagle holds in its beak a scroll. Count the letters in "E Pluribus Unum" impressed thereon—thirteen. In one talon the eagle grasps a quiver full of darts—thirteen; in the other a branch which has thirteen leaves. In each of the eagle's wings there are thirteen feathers and the tail feathers number the same. Count the crossbars in the shield on the eagle's breast—thirteen. Turn the quarter over. There are thirteen stars surrounding Liberty and thirteen leaves in her wreath. If this is unlucky who wouldn't have a barrel of it?

Ted's Story of Thanksgiving.

Prize Poem. St. Nicholas League.

We had all sat down to dinner on that glad Thanksgiving day—
There were uncles, aunts and cousins who had come from far away—
But before he carved the turkey Grandpa turned to little Ted:
"Can you tell us why we celebrate Thanksgiving day," he said.

Now, Ted was only six, but he knew the story
well,
And he drew himself up proudly, for 'twas one he loved to tell.
"The Pilgrims wished to worship God the way
they thought the best,
But the king said they must go to church along with all the rest.

"So they fled across the ocean and they came right over here;
'Twas just as cold as could be—'twas the winter
of the year;
And our country then was different, and of course there was no dock,
So the whole one hundred of them had to land on Plymouth Rock.

"It was such a hard, cold winter that they died
off thick and fast,
But finally it was over and the spring had come at last;
And when the Pilgrims gathered in their harvest early in the fall,
They felt so very happy, they were thankful,
one and all.

"And they thought they'd set apart a day in which to praise and pray,
And they also had a feasting which they called Thanksgiving day.
And that is why we keep it when our crops are gathered in,
Because we, too, are thankful to have filled each loft and bin.

"And I'm thankful to the Pilgrims because they made the day,
For I like a good, big dinner and a time to romp
and play."
And when our Ted had finished, "That was well told," grandpa said.
And the aunts and uncles shouted,
"Here's three cheers for little Ted!"

A SQUARE DEAL.

President Roosevelt does not limit his doctrine of a square deal to any class or classes of citizens. He includes in it all persons, women as well as men. As governor of New York he recommended to the Legislature that women be given the right of suffrage. He has, on more than one occasion since then, reiterated his belief in giving women equal rights with men. During his recent southern trip he once more put himself emphatically on record. Mr. Sanders, President of the Progressive Union of New Orleans, himself a believer in equal suffrage, in introducing to President Roosevelt, during his recent visit to that city, Miss Jean Gordon, called her a "believer in woman suffrage." "Yes, I do believe in it, from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," said Miss Gordon, and added, "So does President Roosevelt." He answered characteristically and heartily, "You bet I do!" A little later, when he was about to leave the room, and the ladies were asked to stand aside, President Roosevelt said to Miss Gordon in passing, "If you women had equal rights you would not be asked to stand aside; you would be able to share in the whole thing."

The best definition of a friend that has yet been produced is the work of a Missouri school boy. "A friend is a person who knows all about you and likes you just the same." Everybody recognizes the truth of the definition and happy is the man who has friends that come up to it.—Ex.

Says the Astorian: "One good fire on the present county block in this city would cost infinitely more than any ordinary expenditure the county could make in behalf of a completed court house."
