FOR ILLEGAL FISHING—A deputy fish warden arrested George Lynch last Friday night for fishing for salmon in the Willamette Slough, it being closed season for the Willamette and its tributaries. Lynch was allowed to go on his own recognizance. No further steps have as yet been taken and it is hardly probable the case will be brought to trial, as it is a mooted question whether the slough is either the Willamette river or one of its tributaries within the meaning of the law.

Eight 'phones of the Scappoose Independent Telephone Line have been put up in St. Helens, and our citizens now have a rate of three minutes talk to Portland for tweaty five cents. The 'phones will doubtless prove a great convenience.

A HEAVY LOSS—As the steamer Elmore was towing a barge loaded with paving blocks from the Milton creek quarry last Monday evening the barge struck a snag, and was turned nearly over, all the blocks sliding off the barge into the slough. The barge contained over 100,000 paving blocks worth about $5,000. As the Elmore is chartered by the Oregon Round Lumber Company for towing purposes we suppose the loss falls upon the corporation. The blocks were the property of Smith & Howard, the Portland contractors.

Horse and light wagon for sale, or to trade for beef cattle. A good bargain will be given. Inquire at the meat market, St. Helens.

Many old friends in Columbia County will be grieved to learn that Hon. John F. Caples, of Portland, is suffering from a stroke of paralysis, and, though his physicians say he will recover, it is more than probable this is the beginning of the end. Judge Caples has had a busy life, filled with political honors, and when he goes to his rest he will have filled a large space in the history of Oregon.

American and Sincerida! cigars, the leaders in high grade goods. Decker's, St. Helens.

The residence of Austin Aaron, of Rainier, was destroyed by fire last Sunday night while the family were attending church. The loss was a total one, including the wearing apparel of the family. There was $400 insurance, but this will not nearly cover the loss.

Mrs. F. A. Moore and daughter, Mrs. Nellie Miles, were visiting friends in St. Helens last Saturday and Sunday—the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miles. During their stay here they were tendered a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cox, at which they renewed acquaintanceship with many of their old St. Helens neighbors and became acquainted with a number of our newcomers.

WELL, BUT UNFAVORABLY KNOWN—M. C. Humphreys and his wife Lizzie, who have been placed in jail in Portland for criminally neglecting their children, are well but unfavorably known in this county. They were formerly residents of the Nehalem Valley and were generally cousidered "cultus" in every respect. The children were turned over to the Boys and Girls Aid Society. Humphreys at one time deserted his wife and wrote her a letter stating that the burden was greater than he could bear. Unfortunately he returned to her and accumulated more burdens for the public to bear.

TROUBLE IN CHAPMAN'S CAMP—A cutting affray that will probably result in the death of the victim took place at the camp of the Chapman Timber Company, near Scappoose, last Wednesday, between John Hastings and John Hogsed, two employes. The trouble started on Sunday last, over the cutting of some timber. It appears that Hastings was a sort of under boss and gave Hogsed some orders which the latter did not consider it his duty to obey. Rough words were exchanged and a fight ensued, in which Hogsed is said to have got the worst of it, and foreman Wiest ordered them both to keep the peace under penalty of being discharged. Hogsed, however, had vengeance in his heart. Tuesday he received his time check and went to the bunk house where Hastings was reclining in his bunk, reading a paper. Without warning, Hogsed struck him through the paper with a heavy stick of pitch wood. Hastings then jumped from the bunk and grappled with his assailant, and while they were clinched Hogsed stabbed him five times in the back. A man named Martin, who occupied one of the bunks, was a witness of the whole affair, and in detailing it to Sheriff White said that every time Hogsed withdrew his knife the blood gushed over him in a stream, saturating his clothing. After stabbing Hastings until he fell to the floor Hogsed started to leave, and, drawing a revolver, told Martin not to follow him or he would get the same dose. He went to Portland and presented himself at the office of the Chapman Timber Company to secure the wages that were coming to him. The Portland authorities having been notified of the affair he was promptly arrested and detained in jail until the arrival of Sheriff White of this county. At the time of his arrest Hogsed had $2,000 on his person in a leather belt.

On last Thursday, October 4, it was just fifty years since Harvey W. Scott, who had come as a youth on foot from Olympia to the Cowlitz river, thence in a canoe with two Indians down that stream to its mouth and then to Portland on a steamboat, walked from Portland to Oregon City and thence to a point in Clackamas county near Butte creek, 35 miles from Portland. He recalls the time in nearly three columns of reminiscent editorial in the Sunday issue of the great paper which has been since built up through his ability and strength as a writer. He tells in an entertaining manner of the life of those early times in Oregon and adds a valuable chapter to the historical literature of the state. He also sees the advancing steps which have been already made toward a greatness in trade, commerce and population which he foreshadows in the early future of the state in whose progress Mr. Scott and the Oregonian have been most powerful factors.—Statesman.

Geo. Rudd was brought to St. Helens last Saturday from Rainier, by Marshal Zweemer, of Rainier, for examination on the charge of insanity. Rudd had been working at the Columbia River Door Company's factory for three months and had become rather dangerous to have around. Rudd is a married man and his wife came with him and told a pitiful tale to the county judge. It appears that they were in destitute circumstances, and Mrs. Rudd wishes to be sent to her sister in Spokane. After being brought here Rudd walked back to Rainier, and was posing as a street preacher, claiming to be a second savior of mankind. He was returned to St. Helens last Monday evening by Sheriff White and placed in jail pending his examination. He was taken to the asylum Wednesday.
