

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

The Dieting Nuisance.

The dieting fad prevails to such an extent in England that numbers of well known hostesses have put their heads together and drawn up a declaration of independence. This sent out with all invitations to country houses reads thus: "I am sorry to appear inhosptable, but my housekeeper and cook cannot arrange to cater for any guest who is obliged to diet." The food faddist, it seems, has become an end of a nuisance in other people's houses, and though the hostesses might be willing to endure it, the servants have risen in revolt. Compliments arise when it is necessary to feed at the same table the carnivorous, the granivorous and the frugivorous.—Buffalo Commercial.

Retracting Proofs of Love.

"I received a lot of rejected manuscripts to-day," said Titmarsh.
"Did you?" replied his friend. "I had no idea you had ambitions to shine as an author."
"Not exactly that," said Titmarsh. "You see, my girl and I quarreled, and she returned all my letters."—Tit-Bits.

An Early Beguineer.

Smith-Jimison is certainly a progressive individual.
Jones—Progressive! Why, he's downright lary.
Smith—Well, he's progressive enough to have spring fever long before winter ends.

Extravagance No Bar.

He knew she was extravagant, but he had the nerve to propose, nevertheless.
"Why do you want to marry me?" she asked after the manner of her sex.
"I'm afraid I'll acquire a bank account if I don't," he explained.

Nothing but the Truth.

"All the big berries are at the top of this box, I suppose?" remarked the sarcastic customer.
"Oh, no, ma'am," replied the truthful dealer. "Most of 'em are at the top of the other boxes."

REAL TRIAL IS BEGUN

Haywood Jury Is Completed and Oath Administered.

INDICTMENT READ TO PRISONER

Nearly All Farmers, Well Past Middle Age—Defense Dissatisfied at Lack of Union Men.

Boise, Idaho, June 4.—Twelve men to try William D. Haywood for his life on the charge that he murdered ex-Governor Frank Steunenberg have been chosen and bound by oath to honestly deal the law's justice between state and prisoner. Haywood has heard the indictment charging him with the crime and today, after the state has recited its case and made promise of proof, the first chapter of the sickening tale of the Caldwell crime will be retold.

The wearisome work of jury selection ended quickly and unexpectedly Monday morning. The court room hushed to silence as the 12 men rose in their places and, facing the clerk's desk on the left, raised their right hands in solemn avowal of their pledge to do exact justice by the accused. It was an impressive scene and there came another two hours' delay when after the midday recess Haywood listened to the reading of the indictment against himself, Moyer, Pettibone and Simpkins.

Haywood had come to the court room whitened somewhat in color from his illness of Saturday, but as the clerk walked in front of the jury box and began reading the indictment a little tide of blood came up along his neck and spread over his cheeks. His wife and daughters sat at his side during the brief afternoon session at which the indictment was read. Haywood talked with them and his counsel after the statement was read and then, as he rose to return to his cell, smiled a friendly greeting at a friend sitting near the end of the bench.

DINAN IS INDICTED.

Accused of Trying to Subvert Law by Seeing Prospective Jurors.

San Francisco, June 4.—The grand jury late last evening filed with District Attorney Langan a formal complaint against Chief of Police Jeremiah F. Dinan, charging him with willful and corrupt misconduct in office in that he subverted the law in endeavoring to secure the acquittal of a defendant without the knowledge of the District Attorney. The defendant in the case was Mayor Schmitz and the investigation by the grand jury grew out of the accusation of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney that Dinan had attempted to tamper with the jurors drawn for the jury which is to try the Mayor on a charge of extortion.

STRIKE CALLED OFF.

Delegates of French Seamen Advise Men to Return to Work.

Paris, June 4.—The extended strike of the seamen has virtually come to an end, with the capitulation of the strikers, who are expected to resume work at the home and colonial points immediately. Captain Lapere, one of the strikers' delegates, conveyed the information to Minister of Marine Thomson at a late hour last night. He informed M. Thomson that the strike committee assembled in Paris had telegraphed the following message to all ports:

"The delegates have been in conference with the Minister of Marine and the naval committee of the Chamber of Deputies. The Minister has abandoned the prosecution of deserters, and he has requested the navigation companies to reinstate all the officers and men. The members of the naval committee assured the delegates that M. Thomson's proposition in the matter of pensions would be improved. The delegates, therefore, immediately proposed that the strike cease."

One Killed; Many Injured.

San Antonio, Texas, June 4.—One man was instantly killed and a score of persons injured, some of them fatally, by the wrecking of east-bound passenger train No. 8 two miles west of Lozier, a small station on the Southern Pacific. The derailment was the result either of train-wreckers or defective steel, though the positive cause has not been determined. The train was dashing along at a speed of from 35 to 45 miles an hour when the derailment occurred. Every car on the train was derailed, two of them turning over.

Put Ties On S. P. Track

San Jose, Cal., June 4.—An attempt to wreck the early morning train between this city and San Francisco was thwarted yesterday by the fortunate discovery, shortly before 5 o'clock, of a large pile of ties on the Southern Pacific track, at a point near Santa Clara. Also a rail had been loosened, and had not the discovery been made just in time, a frightful wreck almost certainly would have resulted. Officers are busy in an attempt to run down the criminal and two arrests have been made, the men in custody being tramps.

Beef Goes Up in Chicago.

Chicago, June 4.—Higher prices for all grades of beef are in prospect, and steaks and roasts are to cost the consumer more money. The enforcement of the rule by the big Chicago packers that incoming cows and heifers must be sold to them only subject to post-mortem examination is causing the trouble, and the deadlock which has been in force between the commission men and the packers during the past week promises to hold on indefinitely.

Troops Hold Ready.

Marselles, June 4.—The steamer Ialy, having on board a crew of bluejackets, was unable to leave port Sunday because the officers of the vessel refused to navigate her. All the troops are confined to barracks in readiness to suppress disturbances.

STRIKEBREAKER USES GUN.

Opens Fire on Unionists Who Were Following Him About.

San Francisco, June 3.—W. A. Furgoy, a strike-breaker in the employ of the United Railroads, was shot and fatally wounded at Van Ness avenue and Turk street at 11 o'clock Saturday night by Special Officer W. J. Blomberg, of the Humane Society. Furgoy opened fire on a crowd of strike sympathizers who had recognized him and a companion who had pursued the two men for several blocks.

Blomberg took up the chase, attempting to arrest Furgoy, and returned the latter's fire with fatal results. During the fusillade Thomas Stack, a structural ironworker, was shot in the leg. Furgoy is dying at the Central Emergency Hospital.

The cars of the United Railroads started at 9 o'clock in the morning and the service was continued until 8:30 at night. This time, it is said, will be gradually extended by the end of next week, when full service, with the exception of the owl runs, will have been resumed. The owl cars will not be placed in operation for some time. The Fillmore-street extension was started yesterday, so that every line in the city reconstructed since the fire was running. 325 cars being operated, and, including students, about 600 men were employed on them.

FINES OIL COMPANY $1,623,900.

Missouri Corporation Convicted of Violating Anti-trust Laws.

Austin, Texas, June 3.—A jury has found the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Missouri guilty of violating the anti-trust laws of Texas, convicted it of having entered the state by fraud, fined it $1,623,900 and granted the prayer of the state for ouster proceedings.

The defense has filed a motion for a new trial and the case will be taken to the Federal courts. The state filed a petition with District Judge Brooks for the appointment of a receiver, also an injunction to restrain the company from moving any of its property from the state. The judge granted temporary injunction and set the receivership hearing for June 8.

HAYWOOD IS ILL.

Many Wild Rumors Regarding Cause of Sudden Collapse.

Boise, Idaho, June 3.—William D. Haywood was seized with a sudden illness early Saturday morning and was unable to appear in court. His trial on the charge that he murdered ex-Governor Steunenberg was adjourned until Monday. Haywood responded quickly to treatment and by 9:30, when Judge Wood ordered a recess of court until 1:30, it was believed that the prisoner would be able to attend an afternoon session. He did attempt to dress, but the effort made him dizzy and ill, and he returned to bed. His counsel informed the court that he would surely be able to present Monday and an adjournment was taken until 11 o'clock today.

RESTORED TO PUBLIC DOMAIN

Yakima Land Not Needed for Irrigation Project.

Washington, June 4.—Investigation and surveys under the Yakima irrigation project, Washington, having reached a point where the following described lands, withdrawn from entry September 12, 1905, is not believed to be essential to the development of the project, the Secretary of the Interior has restored them to the public domain. E. 1/4 T. 8 N., R. 23 E., all sections 19 to 36, inclusive; T. 9 N., R. 23 E., all sections 19 to 36, inclusive; T. 9 N., R. 25 E., all sections 1 to 12, inclusive.

Will Invade Salvador.

Guatemala City, June 3.—The government declares that General Salvador Toledo, the Guatemalan revolutionist, who is about to undertake an active campaign against President Cabrera, is the author of the recent attempt upon the president, as well as the instigator of the assassination of ex-President Barillas, in Mexico City. His motive was jealousy. General Toledo is now making preparations with President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, for an organized invasion of Salvador and Guatemala.

Russian Priests Revolt.

St. Petersburg, June 3.—A special session of the Holy Synod was held Saturday afternoon to try the five priests who refrained from attending the session of the Douma at which the resolution congratulating the Emperor on his escape from the plot against his life was passed. Letters from the priests announcing their refusal to leave the radical parties were read and caused great indignation among the old line ecclesiastics. It is announced that severe disciplinary methods will be adopted.

Up Goes Price of Meat.

St. Louis, June 3.—Consumers were required to pay advances Saturday ranging from 2 to 5 cents a pound for beef as a result of the contest between the packers and livestock dealers on account of the refusal of the packers to pay for cows and heifers until the Government inspection that follows killing. The advance to the consumer Saturday followed the rise of 1/2 a cent on beef carcasses by the packers Friday.

Pretender Wins Victory.

Oran, Algeria, June 3.—Advices received here from Morocco say that the troops of the pretender to the throne surrounded and annihilated the Sultan's uncle, and two Kais were killed and 200 women were captured.

LET US ALL LAUGH.

JOKES FROM THE PENS OF VARIOUS HUMORISTS.

Pleasant Incidents Occurring the World Over—Sayings that Are Cheerful to Old or Young—Funny Selections that You Will Enjoy.

"I took your pulse this morning," said the learned physician, as he began to arrange his queer-looking apparatus, "and now I have come to take your heart."

"Too late, doctor," laughed the convalescent young man. "That pretty trained nurse took it an hour ago."

Love Will Find a Way.
"Give me a kiss," said the lovelorn youth.

"Impossible," replied the beautiful girl. "I promised mamma I would never kiss any man on the face of the earth."

"On the face of the earth? Well—let's go down in the subway."

A Vivid Pen Picture.

Mr. Hundredweight (who is visiting the old homestead)—My! my! How them young pigs remind me of when I was little.

The Scapgoat.
After the accident there was necessity, of course, for fixing the blame.

"It's a delicate matter," said the manager. "Was anybody killed?"

"Yes, the engineer."

"Poor fellow. Well, a little blame won't hurt him any now."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Click and Claque.
"That new typewriter girl doesn't seem to make any intimate friends."

"That's strange."

"Yes. Typewriter girls are usually identified with a cliques."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Up Against It.
Bleeker—You look worried, old man. Meeker—I have cause for worry.

Bleeker—What's the trouble? Meeker—My wife says if I don't accompany her to the seashore this summer she'll stay at home.

Still His Daughter.
Old Gotroch—But if my daughter marries you will she have all the comforts to which she has been accustomed?

Young De Broque—Well, it will be your fault if she hasn't.

Matter of Looks.
Anxious Mother—How do you know that young man is in love with you? Has he told you?

Pretty Daughter—No, mamma; but I know he is from the way he looks at me when I am not looking at him.

With Mint Sauce.
Mary had a little lamb, You've heard this fact before; But have you heard she passed her plate And had a little more?—Robert T. Hardy, Jr., in Lippincott's.

Waste of Energy.
His Wife—Why is it you never start up the phonograph any more, John? Her Husband—There is no harmony in two talking machines running simultaneously, my dear.

The Gully Party.
Little Willie—Say, pa, who is "Judge Lynch?" Pa—He's the chap who invented the phrase "a limb of the law," my son.

A Message to Garcia.
"Maw says she wants a barrel o' yer best flour."

"All right, Willie. But I can't deliver it till late this afternoon."

"Then me an' George'll take it with us. She's in a hurry."

The Crusty Bachelor.
"You appear to be admiring my teeth," said the romantic maiden.

"Ah, indeed, I am admiring them," replied the crusty bachelor. "Such white ivory is superb. I was just thinking."

"And what were you thinking of?"

"I was thinking what fine billiard balls those teeth would make if they were only as large as an elephant's teeth."

And then the romantic maiden said the crusty bachelor was the meanest man she had ever met.

Two Humps.
Little Bobby staid gazing at the antics of the big Bactrian camel.

"Dacious, mamma," he whispered. "what makes him so angry to-day?"

"Why, pet," exclaimed the stately lady, "I suppose Mr. Camel has his back up about something."

Bobby noted the two projecting humps.

"You mean both backs, don't you, mamma? Mr. Camel has two backs."

A Change of Scent.
Gunner—Here is a beautiful old painting representing honeysuckles and lilacs in full bloom. It is entitled "The Scent of the Roadway."

Guy—Him! It is out of date now. Gunner—Why so?

Guy—Because the scent of the roadway these days is gasoline.

Rated by Necessity.

"Judge," panted the posturing constable, as he led the bogged motorist before the Bacon Ridge bar of justice. "I charge this here city chap with violating the speed law and making Jed Outley's mules run away."

"That so?" drawled the judge. "Wal, neighbor, I reckon I'll have to fine you $5."

"An' judge," hastened the constable, "don't forget that the court is sadly in need of pens an' paper an' the desk needs painting an' the walls need whitewashing."

"That so! Wal, then I increase your fine, neighbor, to $10."

"An' judge, don't forget that city drummer beat us out of a month's fines an' fees plugging cards last night, that ain't a plug of tobacco in the whole crowd of court officers."

"Gosh an' hennock! Mister What's-your-name, you are fined $25 an' costs. Lord bless the automobile, after all!"

Not Fatal, but Serious.
Thingumbob—See here! I saw Henpeck in the street today.

McJigger—Well? Thingumbob—Well, you told me yesterday that he was a victim of a mortal combat.

McJigger—Not at all. I said "mortal combat."—Philadelphia Press.

A Wasted Effort.
Absent-minded Professor—Dear, dear! How careless of me! I forgot to notice whether that solution I swallowed experimentally yesterday, was poisonous or not.—Puck.

Too Simple.
"Was it an alienist who invented the phrase 'brainstorm'?"

"Certainly not," answered the scientific man. "He would never have been content with such short words. He would have said 'tempestos cerebri' or something of that kind."—Washington Star.

Didn't Care for Them.
Hyker—According to this paper a monkey owned by an Italian in New York polishes shoes.

Fyker—Well, that may suit some people, but as for myself I'm not partial to monkey shine.—Chicago News.

Not Too Particular.
Policeman—Did you want any p'ticular hotel, you?

Reuben Cornbussel—Nah. I reckon a hotel what was tew p'tickler wuddent hev us.—Judge.

Giving the Alarm.
Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

The Osprey.
Allusion is often made, especially in fashion journals, to "osprey" feathers.

Few words have been more loosely bandied about than this bird name. The Roman author Pliny's "osifraga" (bone breaker) has been identified with the lammergeyer, a vulture that is reputed to break up bones too big for it to devour whole by dropping them from a height upon rocks.

But both "osifraga" and "osprey," a newer form, came to be applied to quite another bird, the fish hawk, which is now the true "osprey." Yet the "osprey" feathers—more properly egret feathers, or egrettes—do not come from this bird, but from the egret, or lesser white heron.

Rough Treatment.
Willie—Pop gave me an awful shakin' last night.

Tommy—Been bad?

Willie—None. Good.

Tommy—How'd he happen to shake you?

Willie—He took me for an auto ride on some of the side streets.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Much Like Work.
Bibbs—Why is it so few men reach the top of the ladder?

Gibbs—I attribute it largely to an unwillingness on the part of each aspirant to carry a load of bricks.—Smart Set.

His Scheme Failed.
"I wonder why it is," remarked one of the two men who had just lunched, turning to speak to the other, "that they always have pretty cashiers at these restaurants."

But the pretty cashier, though she blushed and smiled, did not fail to detect the Canadian quarter he threw down in payment of his check.

Only Doing His Duty.
O'Hagan—O! have found the man that hit me wid a brick as Oi was pavin' the alley, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy—And what did you do with him?

O'Hagan—Nothin'. 'Twas all a mistake—the man was only doing his duty. He thought Oi was a constable in plain clothes.—Smiles.

At the Club.
Borem—I've got a good joke to tell you, old man.

Knox—Say, kindly go over and tell it to Muggins, will you?

Borem—What for?

Knox—Oh, I've got a grudge against him; that's all.

Would Work Either Way.
Not long ago a young man, most notably unblest with worldly goods, met and won a girl whose decided personal charms were in no wise lessened by the fact of her possessing fully enough to at least keep the wolf howling at a distance.

"Do you know, George," she one day said softly. "I am almost sorry that I have any money—not of course, that I think you would love me the less, but well—"

"I am not, dearest," he replied, fondly stroking her soft, brown hair. "You know I'd love you if you had not a penny, but I'm glad you have. You see, I know that, should I die, you would be well provided for."

"But suppose I should die?" she whispered.

"Well, then, I'd be well provided for, darling." He answered, for he is a practical young man.

Danger.
"My wife's not out of danger yet," said Jones, with anxious air.

"How's that?" said Smith, and Jones replied: "The doctors are still there!"—Lippincott's.

"In quotations."

When Louis XVI. laid his head beneath the guillotine, his confessor, Abbe Edgeworth, dismissed him from the world, so history tells, with "Bon of Saint Louis, ascend to heaven!" yet in reality he said nothing of the sort.

The brave defiance, "The guard dies, but never surrenders," attributed to Cambronne when, at Waterloo, the imperial guard were ordered to throw down their arms, has been shown to have been the fanciful creation of some historian's mind; and the saying, "Providence favors the stronger side," or, as it has been corrupted, "God is on the side with the heaviest artillery," which has been attributed to Napoleon, really originated with writers of antiquity. Cicero alludes to it as an "old proverb."

It would take volumes to contain all the blunders, small, large and indifferent, that historians have made, and the lamentable part of it is that the old blunders are constantly being made over again.

Carrying It Along.
An elderly and most respectable-looking man was recently brought before a magistrate, says the London Telegraph, charged with unbecoming and hilarious conduct.

When he was asked what he had to say for himself, he mumbled something about "doing as the Romans do."

"Very good," returned the magistrate. "Continue to do as the Romans do. Pay seven shillings sixpence!"

"Why, I heard that he towed your runabout in for you yesterday," said the man with the gasoline on his coat.

"Towed it in! Darn it! he happened along in his big touring car when my little machine broke down and I'll be hanged if he didn't rig up a derrick of some sort and swing my runabout into his tonneau and haul it in!"—Judge.
