AUGUST 23.

AN AUTO ROAD THROUGH THE NEHALEM VALLEY

County Judge Trenchard and a number of business men of the city of Astoria met with Judge Hattan of this county at the court house in St. Helens last Thursday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing the construction of a road from St. Helens to Vesper, suitable for automobile travel. In other words a smooth and durable highway, over the mountains and down the valley, to connect with a similar road from Seaside to Vesper, thus giving a continuous automobile road from Portland to the beach. The matter was quite thoroughly discussed and its advantages to the county made manifest. Mr. Whyte, manager of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce agreed to take the matter up with the Portland auto people, and felt safe in stating they would be willing to contribute one dollar to every two dollars spent upon such a road by Columbia County, with the understanding that the road should be put in first-class condition for auto travel.

It seems as if the proposition is a feasible one, and that the sum necessary can be raised without any increase in the tax burden heretofore placed upon the tax payers in the districts traversed by the road, and, if this be so, the project will be of very great benefit to Columbia County. It will undoubtedly be a great advertisement of the beauty and natural wealth of the intervening country, and, in our opinion, will do nearly as much for its development as will the railroad. Heretofore the districts in the Nehalem Valley have not hesitated to levy a special assessment for road purposes each year, and, with the immense increase in the assessed valuation of timber lands, due to the cruise, such an assessment next year will be amply adequate for all purposes, and the amount contributed by the Portland autoists will be a clear gain.

With such a main road and a railroad through the Valley settlement of that portion of Columbia County would be very rapid and the necessity for feeders to the main road would become apparent. Good county roads are more important than railroads. The distance from the Columbia river to the Nehalem Valley is not great, and, with first-class roads, on the best attainable grades, a team can easily haul a load both ways in a day, and give the farmer plenty of time to transact his business at the county seat, at Rainier or at Clatskanie.

Speaking of the proposed road the Oregonian says:

It is proposed to build a road through the picturesque mountain region lying in Columbia and Clatsop Counties between St. Helens and Astoria, over which automobiles may be driven and farmers' wagons drawn. The region is wild and beautiful in the extreme, and, covered by a good mountain road, no more enjoyable Summer drive could be imagined. The settlers along the proposed route are practically isolated from the world during the Winter months, a condition neither desirable nor necessary. Those familiar with the country are confident that the project as outlined is a feasible one and that it could be accomplished by a reasonable outlay of money and energy.

The invasion of the secluded and undeveloped portions of the state by enterprise and capital cannot be much longer delayed. The beautiful and fertile valley of the Nehalem is one of these, and the effort to bring it in touch with the near and yet far-away world beyond the mountain tops of the Coast Range will doubtless meet the approval of all concerned.

Kalama is to have a new sawmill with a capacity of 100,000 feet daily. A new sawmill is a good thing. It gives employment to men at good wages and distributes money in the community. There has been, at various times, considerable talk of a sawmill at St. Helens. There used to be one here, and there is a logging road at Scappoose and one just about a mile above town, so that logs could be secured without any expense for towing. The slough affords the very best harbor for logs and there is plenty of water for big ships. It is a good site, but the chance for a mill seems just as remote as ever. Meanwhile we congratulate Kalama and all the other towns where mills are running and contributing to the general prosperity.

One newspaper story says a New York man gave his seat in a street car to a lady, and immediately fell in a fit; another story has it that the woman had a fit. It isn't at all improbable that they both had fits. At least two fits seemed in order at the moment.

THE VANISHED CULT.

When this editon of the Morning Astorian shall reach the hands of its thousands of subscribers this morning, the law of Oregon, to that end made and passed, will have operated to the utter exclusion of the gambler and from the four counties of the fifth judicial district, to-wit: Clackamas, Multnomah, Columbia and Clatsop; and none of these counties will be any the worse for the order made by District Attorney Hedges but will each and all be practically and largely benefitted.

For some days past there has been noticed on the streets of Astoria, furniture vans loaded with odd looking, yet handsome, parcels of paraphernalia incident to the gambling cult, passing either to the store rooms of its local owners, to the warehouses of the city for indefinite storage, or to the rail or steamer decks and stations, for shipment to points more or less remote, but perhaps more amenable to the "sport" and sports, than this bailiwick.

The gamblers, big and little, the indigenous fry that flocks about the various and and sundry "banks" and games, are yielding up their domiciles and rooms and habitates, one by one, and in groups, are wending their ways to other and more auspicious climes; but they are all jolly, friendly to Astoria, where they have had a long and a good season of indulgence, and probably have made a fair earnings on the varied stakes with which they opened up here.

Astoria cheerfully relinquishes her old and famous title of a "wide-open" town and will make the best of the new regime that places her on a par with every other city in the district. She has no kick coming; she is glad of the exemption from the questionable, even unenviable notoriety, that has been hers for many a long day; and her municipal guardians will see to it that all her civic bills are paid promptly and fully with the important source of revenue thus cut out.

From th's time forth this city will have other and better qualities to make her known and liked throughout the land and she will rely upon the clean and helpful things she possesses to emphasize her claim to popular notice and appreciation. Astoria's future is made all the brighter for the embargo against gambling and she and and her people are going to make the most and the best of the future.—Weekly Astorian.

Everybody Should Know

says C. G. Hayes, a prominent business man of Bluff, Mo., that Bucklin's Arnica Salve is the quickest and surest healing salve ever applied to a sore, burn, or wound, or to a case of piles. I've used it and know what I'm talking about." Guaranteed by all druggists. 25c.

A Signal man, walking along the street the other day, overheard a conversation between several boys concerning some young women who had just passed, that would bring the blush of shame to the face of any right minded boy. And the Signal man wondered, "What would these boys have thought—how would they have felt—to have heard the same things said concerning their sisters?" How contemptible is the man or boy that will stand on the street corners and make scandalous remarks about women, any way! Why, a mangy cur is entitled to more respect than a man or boy who is guilty of such conduct.—Signal.

The Limit of Life

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60. The proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50.

OREGON WILL WELCOME TAFT.

Two Weeks More and the Colonist Rates Begin.

(Special Correspondence)

PORTLAND, Oregon, August 19, 1907—Hon. William H. Taft, Secretary of War, will spend all day in Portland Friday, September 6th. He will speak at the Armory in the evening at 8 o'clock and seats will be reserved for every editor, for the officers of every commercial and industrial body, for the members of the last Legislature, and the State officers, the mayor of every city, and a limited number of delegates from all of the commercial bodies throughout Oregon, but these names must be reported and reservations made Monday, September 2nd, by addressing Tom Richardson, Secretary of the Oregon Development League, Portland.

Everybody in the State will be welcome at this meeting, in addition to the reservations mentioned, and it is desired that the larger portion of the audience be from outside of Portland.

A rate of a fare and a third for the round trip has been made for the occasion from Pendleton and all points West on the O. R. & N., and from Roreburg and all points North on the Southern Pacific.

The meat and bread of Oregon advertising is the colonist rates. The people of Oregon are not neglecting this opportunity and there will be thousands of people come to this State to find homes between September 1st and October 31st. However, do your portion, and write another letter just as soon as you lay down this paper to some friend in the older states who should get the advantage of the low one-way rates to Oregon.

The different organizations composing the Oregon Development League have now had printed 112,000 of the official letter-heads. That looks like going some.

Mr. Albert Phenis, staff correspondent of the "Manufacturers' Record", of Baltimore, and one of his country's best posted correspondents on industrial subjects, is making a study of Oregon and the Pacific Northwest in connection with a trip including all of the Pacific Coast. The report of Mr. Phenis will be decidedly complimentary to Oregon.

One hundred business men of Brooklyn, New York, composing the Brooklyn League, will spend all of August 28th in Portland. These gentlemen are visiting the different cities of the country studying municipal conditions everywhere.

Mr. W. E Shaffer visited Portland last week in the interest of the Tillamook County Fair and Street Carnival, to be held in Tillamook August 22nd, 23rd and 24th, and wants delegations from all over the State.

Teachers Examination.

A remarkably large part of those taking examinations here last week were successful, but five out of nineteen failing to secure certificates.

Following are the names of those who passed.
