"A Shoe Store for Shoes"

Is the dictum of the experienced. It is a matter of shoe history that the department stores which try to sell shoes of the grades we sell do not make a success of it. The reason is that a shoe "department" is fundamentally lacking in the element of SERVICE that must go with the sale of fine shoes to make them really worth the price asked.

Don't Take the Risk

When you have a bad cough or cold do not let it drag along until it becomes chronic bronchitis, or developes into an attack of pneumonia, but give it the attention it deserves and get rid of it. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are sure of prompt relief. From a small beginning the sale and use of this preparation has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. Its many remarkable cures of coughs and colds have won for it this wide reputation and extensive use. Sold by A. J. Deming, druggist.

Leather Preservative

This waterproof leather preservative is said to have been in use among New England fishermen for 100 years, when it was published in an almanac for 1794. Take one pint of boiled linseed oil, half a pound of mutton suet, 6 ounces of clean beeswax and 4 ounces of resin. Melt and mix over a fire and apply while warm, but not hot enough to burn the leather. Lay it on plentifully with a brush and warm it in.

Best Grafting Wax.

The following is claimed to be the best grafting wax by an old orchardist who says he has tried a great many: To 4 pounds of resin and 1 of beeswax add 1 pint of linseed oil; put in an iron pot, heat slowly and mix; pour into cold water and pull until it assumes a light color. Work into sticks and put into a cool place until wanted. Some prefer linseed oil to animal fat for grafting wax.

Angle Iron for Posts

Angle iron is being used for making fence posts with great success. One of the valuable features is that a post of this description may be driven in place by a heavy mallet, and digging is, therefore, unnecessary. A nonclimbable fence is made by bending the post so that there is an overhang of 12 or 18 inches, with the wires strung regularly in the very top. The difficulty of climbing such a fence will be apparent at a glance.

Rank Foolishness.

"When attacked by a cough or cold or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Discovery," says C. O. Eldridge, Empire, Ga. "I have used New Discovery seven years and know it is the best remedy on earth for coughs and colds, croup, and all throat and lung troubles. My children are subject to croup, but New Discovery quickly cures every attack." Known the world over as King of throat and lung remedies. Sold under guarantee by Houlton, Deer Island, Warren and Scappoose dealers. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

THE REAL CHINESE GONG

It Makes an Uproar as Awful as It Is Astonishing.

By the way, did you ever hear a real Chinese gong? I don't mean a hanging gong, but one of those great metal disks of yellow metal which have a terrible power of utterance.

A gentleman in Bangor, north Wales, who had a private museum of South Pacific and Chinese curiosities, exhibited one to me. It was hanging among Fiji spears beautifully barbed with sharks' teeth, which, together with grotesque New Zealand clubs of green stone and Sandwich Island paddles wrought with the baroque visages of the shark god, were depending from the walls; also there were Indian elephants in ivory, carrying balls in their carven bellies, each ball containing many other balls inside it.

The gong glimmered pale and ghostly and yellow, like the moon rising over a southern swamp. My friend tapped its ancient face with a muffled drum stick, and it commenced to sob like waves upon a low beach. He tapped again, and it moaned like the wind in a mighty forest of pines. Again, and it commenced to roar, and with each tap the roar grew deeper and deeper till it seemed like thunder rolling over the abyss in the Cordilleras or the crashing of Thor's chariot wheels.

It was awful and astonishing as it was awful. I assure you I did not laugh at all. It impressed me as something terrible and mysterious. I vainly sought to understand how that thin disk of trembling metal could produce so frightful a vibration. He informed me that it was very expensive, being chiefly made of the most precious metals, silver and gold.—From "Table and Letters of Lafcadio Hearn."

Road Maintenance.

Some have an idea that the permanent roads, so called, will or ought to last forever without any repairs because they cost so much to build. With that same kind of reasoning one would have a right to expect that the modern thrashing machine that costs several thousand times as much as the old fashioned flail ought to last forever without a cent expended for repairs. And that, while a violin that costs a dollar has to be tuned and have new strings one costing a thousand dollars should never need new strings and always stay in tune. A good road is worth, for business or pleasure, several times as much as a bad road, and some portion of this we can afford to expend in keeping it in good condition. The permanency of the road depends upon its being kept in perfect repair.

Keep Out of the Ruts.

Down in the eastern states they have learned that it means money in their pockets to drive in different places in the road, and you will find them, when they notice a road beginning to rut ever so little, turn out as not to drive in the same old track. Michigan farmers haven't learned this yet. They like to get in a rut and stay there, but they'll soon see the folly of it, and then a whole lot of expense of maintenance will be done away with. Another destroyer of roads is the narrow tired wagon. A law should be passed prohibiting the sale or use of wagons with narrow tires.—How Hon. S. Earle, State Highway Commissioner of Michigan.
