THE PORTLAND IDEA

One faction of the Republican party in Multnomah County expect to support for nomination candidates for the Legislature who sign a pledge agreeing to vote if elected, for that candidate for United States Senator who shall receive the largest umber of votes at the June election, PROVIDED HE IS A REPUBLICAN. If, for instance, Mr. Cake is the choice at the primary, but is defeated by Mr. Chamberlain in the general election, not only will they vote for Mr. Chamberlain, but, according to their pledge, neither are they under any obligation to vote for Mr. Cake, who will have received a great majority of the Republican votes. They will, in fact, be in a position, without breaking their pledge, to vote in the legislature for anyone whom they see fit. It is just exactly as good as, and no better than, no pledge at all, and the only object in making it is to have the way for the election of some person who would stand no chance whatever at the polls. It would be more honest if they would announce themselves as being opposed to the election of the United States Senators by direct vote of the people and in favor of the old method.

If they are in favor of the principles of the Direct Primary Law, with the exception of Statement No. 1, why do they not pledge themselves to vote for the Republican choice at the direct primary election?

Winter In Oregon.

(All rights reserved by author)

When the fog is 'round the mountains,
An the wheat is in the bin;
All but some that's standing grimly
And a sproutin out agin.

An you hear a gentle patter
On the roof and winder pane;
Your sure that winter's comin
An' the everlastin grain.

When the water's o'er the stubble.
When the wind is whisperin' low
And the mud above your ankles
Deep and soft where e'er you go:

When your wife stands in the door way
With a frown that's hard to beat,
Sayin' softly, but severely
Can't you ever clean your feet?

An the chickens stands demurely
In the gentle patterin rain,
Can not scratch the muddy garden
But must live upon your grain:

When the sun for days together
Hides his face behind the cloud,
An' the highway's slick and slushy,
An' the the teamsters' swearin loud.

Oh remember it is Winter,
Oregon's most balmy time,
Farmers, wear your rain day clothing,
Poets, make your little rhyme.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

The amended postal laws of the United States, which went into effect January 1st 1908, requires that no paper shall be sent through the mails, except upon the payment of transient second class postage unless it is paid up to within a year of the date of mailing. This makes it necessary for us to strike from our list all delinquent subscribers and, as rapidly as possible, put the subscription list on a cash basis, as, of course, we cannot afford to pay postage or violate the law to accomodate those who are in arrears. All papers have been given a reasonable time to adjust their business to this new basis so we trust those of you who know yourselves to be behind with your subscription will make an effort to settle up, and, if possible, pay one year in advance.

The Mist is now the official paper of the county, and it is also the biggest, best and cheapest paper in the county. We intend that it shall be better worth the money than at any time in its history. The court proceedings will be published in full, the real estate transactio s given we kly, and all news of interes from all parts of the county will be found in the Mist. If you know you are indebted to the Mist aid us by sending in the amount due and one year in advance.
