FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple, home-mixed medicine free from opium, poisons, etc. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey and poisons, is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion, and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poisons in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

HELP CONSERVATION

President Says Congress Must Enact Necessary Laws.

CARRY OUT ROOSEVELT POLICIES

Looks to People to Enforce Laws Against Monopoly and Not Let Good Times Blind Them.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 5.—After making one of the longest jumps of his trip and traveling for 25 hours through the state of Oregon, and the northern half of California, President Taft arrived last night at 7:10 p. m.

The president selected for the principal feature of his speech the subject of the conservation of natural resources, in which he declared anew that before many of the Roosevelt policies of conservation can be carried into effect confirmatory and enabling legislation will have to be secured, and he pledged himself to bring all the power he possesses to bear upon congress to pass the laws that are deemed necessary.

Speaking from the car-end at Dunsmuir today, Mr. Taft said:

"I am on a tour of some 13,000 miles and I am trying to gather information as we go with reference to the condition of the country and at the same time to give you a superficial aspect of the man whom it has been your good or bad fortune to elect president. I think that personal touch between the people and those whom you honor by delegating authority temporarily is a good thing, so that you may know when I make my mistakes, and they are represented to you with a great deal of emphasis, that I am still a poor mortal praying for assistance and hoping that you will forgive human error.

"Everywhere in this country I have found evidences of prosperity from Boston to Portland, and if signs do not fail, we are upon an era of business enterprise and expansion that has never been seen in this country before. Now with that I would not have you forget that here are certain responsibilities. We have had evils growing out of our prosperity. Men have seized power by means of accumulation of wealth and its use in methods that are not legal and cannot be approved, by way of monopoly and otherwise. Now, we are attempting by the general law of the United States to suppress that kind of abuse. They were brought to the attention of the people in a marvelous crusade by my predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt, and it is my duty to continue those policies and to enforce them as far as I may and put upon the statute books, or at least recommend to congress that there be put upon the statute books those laws which shall clinch the progress which was made under him, which he preached and which we all look forward to as a permanent condition.

"Now, my fellow citizens, as I look out upon this audience, I feel sure that you are not only healthy in body but healthy in mind; that you are in favor of the good things; that you are in favor of decent government; that you are in favor of decent men and decent women and that you look forward to the future as a time when we shall all grow better. The truth is that money and wealth contribute nothing unless they enable us to make ourselves better, unless they enable us to think something of others and to help others—those who are down—onward in the progress of life. We cannot all be altruists in the sense that we can devote our attention to somebody else all the time, for we have to look after ourselves and our families, but I am sure that in the last generation there has been an improvement throughout our country with reference to a charitable feeling towards all, and a desire on the part of each to help all."

Fernanda Weds Count.

Paris, Oct. 5.—Miss Fernanda Wanamaker, daughter of Rodman Wanamaker, and granddaughter of John Wanamaker, was married today to Count Arthur de Heeren, son of Count Heeren, of Paris. There were two ceremonies. The first was in the Catholic church with full orchestral accompaniment. This was followed by a Protestant marriage service, the Rev. Alfred G. Mortimer, of Philadelphia, officiating. Henry White, American ambassador, and Marquis Lel Muni, Spanish ambassador, were witnesses.

Censorship Is Peculiar.

London, Oct. 5.—The intricacies of theatrical censorship were responsible tonight for a remarkable entertainment. An American band had been engaged for the season, but when the time came for the opening the manager found that the theater had only been licensed for the production of a play. He therefore wove a play around the band. There was no plot to the so-called play, which consisted merely of a few people strolling around the bandstand, engaged in loud and apparently meaningless conversation.

Sail for Philippines.

Honolulu, Oct. 5.—The Pacific fleet commanded by Rear-Admiral Sebree, will sail tomorrow afternoon for the Philippines after a month's stay in Hawaiian waters. It is planned to cruise the whole distance at a speed of 13 knots an hour. Shore leave for the men of the fleet will end at midnight. Admiral Sebree has been liberal in the matter of leave since the arrival of the fleet and thousands of sailors have been ashore.

Smugglers Win Battle.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 5.—Using their train of pack burros loaded with contraband goods as breastworks, a gang of smugglers battled with a squad of rurales near Sabinas, in the state of Coahuila, Mexico, and came out victorious, forcing the rurales to withdraw and escaping with their goods into the mountains. One smuggler was killed and seven rurales wounded.

TAFT IN PORTLAND.

Genial Smile Wins Hearts of Public Throngs.

Portland, Oct. 4.—Portland received President Taft as guest of honor with splendid hospitality and a limitless expression of hearty good will and frank affection. To the Nation's chief executive it proved a day of good cheer, unmarred by a single untoward incident.

The president enjoyed it all to the utmost; enjoyed every moment of the day from the easy formality of the greeting accorded him upon his arrival at the Union depot to the afternoon of golf—golf played in the invigorating tang of a perfect October day. Throughout the day he found only the most profound consideration for his comfort and welfare.

There were no exacting demands upon his energies. The day was barren of tiring programs, long speeches or wearisome ceremonies.

An affection manifested itself in the public greeting which had its orgin quite apart from the fact that he was the great American, the first man of the land. That infectious smile possessed itself of his features when he first stepped from his private car into the cheery sunshine of an ideal Oregon morning. Its infection of good nature spread wherever he went. Whenever he appeared he put every one at ease by the easy informality of his demeanor—and that smile. And then Portland got a deeper insight into the real mean; got a glimpse into the rich and wholesome nature of which that smile is the natural expression.

For when his triumphal procession through the streets was at an end and there was a half hour at his disposal for a whirl about the city, he elected to dispense with the tempting spin and go to the bedside of his friend, Judge George H. Williams, at the Good Samaritan hopsital. It was thus that the brief hour of his morning's leisure time was spent.

It is to the rising generation that credit must go for the predominating and never-to-be-forgotten feature of the welcoming demonstrations. There have been living flags before. But never have the Stars and Stripes been wrought into such a wholesome, inspiring fabric as that formed by Portland school children. It was an epitome of the boundless spirit of youthful patriotism. The President, smiling at first, passed to a mood of seriousness as that wondrous flag waved back and forth with the life that tomorrow must possess itself of the Nation.

The President's appearance tapped exhaustless reservoirs of enthusiastic and affectionate applause wherever he went.

"This is all splendid, splendid—the day is perfect—everything is perfect," he told Mayor Simon, who was seated beside him in the automobile.

Half an hour after luncheon a car drew up for him at the hotel and he departed for the afternoon for his favorite pastime, golf. Returning with a keen appetite he ate dinner privately and made ready for his appearance at the Armory. The military escort again accompanied him and thousands of people were in the streets awaiting his appearance.

Presiednt Taft closed one of the happiest and most delightful visits of his life late yesterday afternon, when he boarded his special train at the Union depot and departed from Portland, southbound. He said as much himself, and with unmistakable sincerity, as he stood on the observation platform of his car and bade farewell to those who had assembled to see him on his way.

"It has all been delightful. I can't thank you enough for the way I've been treated. I've never had a happier visit," he said—not once, but many times, as he stood shaking hands with friends and officials.

Until the departing train was lost to view he stood on the platform, smiling and waving at those gathered about the depot grounds. He seemed loth to go, and it was not until the train had passed onto the Steel bridge that he turned into his car. The President took with him from Portland only the happiest memories. His choice in selecting Portland for the longest stop of his itinerary, New Orleans alone excepted, was justified.

Scientists Excommunicate.

Boston, Oct. 4.—Alfred Farlow, chairman of the committee on publication of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, confirmed today a report that Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, of New York, had been dismissed from the body of Christian Scientists. Mr. Farlow declined to comment on the case, but in reply to a question as to the effect of the action of the members of the church, said: "It is to be hoped they will receive it in a Christian manner and treat it accordingly."

More Troops to Morocco.

Madrid, October 4.—The cabinet, after an all night session, formally voted tonight to dispatch a new division to Melilla at once. In this connection Premier Maura said: "The reinforcements are requested by General Marina as a result of the extension of the field operations." Further details of the engagement fought two days ago in Morocco have been received here. The Spaniards lost a total of 235 men killed and wounded, including General Diaz Vicario, who was killed.

Beat Motorcycle Record.

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 4.—At the motorcycle stadium this afternoon Charles Spencer and Charles Gustafson, both of this city, established a new 24-hour world's record, Spencer riding 1089 miles, 199 yards in the 24 hours, beating the record of 775 miles, 134 yards established by H. A. Collier, of England. Gustafson rode 1043 miles, 20 laps and 199 yards in the 24 hours, being approximately 268 miles ahead of Collier's mark.

Fair Ones Fed by Force.

London, Oct. 4.—Writs have been issued against Home Secretary Gladstone and the prison officials of Birmingham in connection with an action for assault for the forcible feeding with a stomach pump last week of a number of suffragettes who persisted on going on a "hunger strike" while in jail. The suffragettes' leaders contend that forcible feeding is illegal.

Old Favorites

From "Maud."

Come into the garden, Maud,
For the black bat, night, has flown,
Come into the garden, Maud,
I am here at the gate alone;
And the woodbine spices are wafted abroad,
And the musk of the rose is blown.

All night have the roses heard
The flute, violin, bassoon;
All night has the casement jessamine stirr'd
To the dancers dancing in tune;
Till a silence fell with the waking bird,
And a hush with the setting moon.

Queen rose, of the rosebud garden of girls,
Come hither, the dances are done,
In gloss of satin and glimmer of pearls,
Queen lily and rose in one;
Shine out, little head, running over with curls,
To the flowers and be their sun.

There has fallen a splendid tear
From the passion flower at the gate.
She is coming, my dove, my dear;
She is coming, my life, my fate,
The red rose cries, "She is near, she is near;"
And the white rose weeps, "She is late;"
The larkspur listens, "I hear, I hear;"
And the lily whispers, "I wait."

She is coming, my own, my sweet;
Were it ever so airy a tread,
My heart would hear her and beat,
Were it earth in an earthy bed;
My dust would hear her and beat,
Had I lain for a century dead,
Would start and tremble under her feet,
And blossom in purple and red.
—Alfred Tennyson.

SLOW TO CONVERT.

What a Spanish Priest Says of the Chinese.

Father Joseph Vila, of Barcelona, Spain, as a Catholic missionary who has labored for the conversion of the Chinese for a quarter of a century, gives the reasons why it is so difficult to win them to Christianity.

"There are now about a million Catholics in China, about one-third of whom were born into the church and the remainder were won after attaining maturity. This is slight when one reflects that 460,000,000 are still groping in the darkness. The Catholic church has sent more missionaries and more money to convert China than she has to any other country. And what awful sacrifices have been made to make her Catholic! Over 5,000 European missionaries suffered martyrdom or died in captivity there, yet the harvest has always fallen short of reasonable expectations.

"The cause must be sought in the nature of the Chinese, in the intensive strength of their superstitions and deep-rooted secular habits, and in the absolute laical education of the children.

"By nature the Chinese are unconcerned, materialistic, indifferent, but strongly opinionated.

"The Chinese are very polite and honest publicly, but how different in private life. Wives are enslaved. When one no longer pleases her husband, she is sold and replaced by another or by as many others as he can afford to support.

"If a father experiences difficulty in providing food for his infant daughter, he does not hesitate to sell her to anyone, and should there be no purchaser, he gives her as food to the dogs.

"As a rule, marriage contracts are signed for a period of six or eight years and then the husband may, if he choose, send his wife back to her parents or sell her. The Chinese can form no idea of the Christian family.

"To pay taxes is about the only thing to which a Chinaman is strictly bound, and if he does not pay, he receives a flogging at the whipping post.

"While laboring to convert the natives the church is doing a great work in redeeming the poor little creatures who would be killed by their parents if Christians did not buy them. What Christianity has done in life-saving in this way is something immensely to its credit. Thousands upon thousands of babies have been saved and made good citizens and good Christians who, if their saviors were not on the ground, would have been fed to swine or dogs or strangled or drowned."

Memory's Melodies.

A slumber song at eventide,
With the cradle slowly swinging;
"Fast falls the night, with me abide"—
Her soul was softly singing.

The song is hushed, the music's died,
That voice sings now in glory;
But, oh! I'd give the world beside
As once again a little child—
To hear the old, old story.

Yet, in my ears, on down the years,
Sweet echoes keep a-ringing;
Through doubt's dumb fears and wisdom's tears,
Whenever the twilight hour appears—
I hear love's song still singing.

Soft lullabies from Land-o'-Dream,
Love's cradle songs sung sweet and low—
Those melodies forever seem
Still singing wherso'er I go;
Once dear to childhood's hour and scene,
Life's heart of age still keeps them so.
—Dr. H. Y. Ostrander in National Magazine.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."
