Peaches in Turkish Mode.
Peaches cooked in Turkish fashion are served with boiled rice. Peel the peaches by plunging them in boiling water, then remove the stone through slit in one side, without injuring the shape of the peach. Fill hollows with seeded raisins and arrange in a baking dish; sprinkle liberally with sugar and set in hot oven 20 minutes. Have ready a dish lined with boiled rice. Spread over it peaches, and serve with dressing made of coconut milk thickened with cornstarch and sweetened with granulated sugar.

Washing Crepe de Chine.
Washing crepe de chine is no more difficult than to wash a frock of colored muslin. It is boiled water and good soap are used with care it will come from the laundry as triumphantly as a piece of white linen. Do not let it lie in the water longer than is absolutely necessary, clean thoroughly, and when half dry press on the wrong side with a medium hot iron. If of a delicate color the garment must be dried in a shady place after pressing.

A lingerie evening gown has a deep "skimpy" flounce of heavy embroidery, which also forms the waist and sleeves. Very sheer mull is used for the upper part of the skirt and the waist folds. It is worn over a light blue silk slip, and there's a crushed girdle of the blue.

THE PARIS APACHES.
How They Deal with Their Unlucky Victims.
The floods in Paris afforded golden opportunities to the thieves and hoodlums—the dreaded "Apaches"—of the French capital. A Paris correspondent sends an interesting account of these reckless men and their methods and weapons.

"The desperate criminals who make a specialty of night attacks are a bloodthirsty, cowardly set of ruffians, and as they are always armed to the teeth and hold human life cheap, a solitary citizen going home late, or a policeman on a lonely beat has very little chance against them.

"When they have once made up their minds to rob a passerby—which one does not matter much—it is more than likely they will decide to begin operations at once. That means that three Apaches will take up a position on the pavement and pretend to be engaged in innocent gossip. The street is deserted. A solitary pedestrian comes into sight. In a moment he is measured up by the three scoundrels on the lookout for their prey. There is not a policeman in sight. The moment is favorable.

"He has a gold chain," says one. "He'll do," says the chief of the criminal trio. "Get ready."

"They continue to converse until the stranger reaches them. Involuntarily he glances at them as he passes. That is sufficient.
"What do you mean by looking at us like that?" asks the chief in an insolent tone. Then, turning to his companions, he remarks, "Hasn't he got an ugly mug?"

"The pedestrian, however little he may be inclined to quarrel with the evil-looking ruffians who have accosted him, is unlikely to take their insults in silence. But at his first word of protest one of the group advances on him with a menacing air.
"What!" he exclaims, "I'll show you who you've got to deal with!"

"The stranger stands on his guard but immediately another member of the trio bounds upon him from behind, seizes him around the neck with his arms and lifts him off the ground. His cries for help are stifled in his throat and if he succeeds in making a sound the arm which presses against his throat is tightened and he loses consciousness.

"While this is going on another of the accomplices goes through the victim's pockets, while the third keeps watch for the police. Then, when everything worth taking has been appropriated, the wretch who has almost strangled the victim releases his arm, gives him a violent push and sends him headlong to the pavement where he will lie senseless for half an hour at least.
"But things do not always pass so easily. Sometimes the victim shows more resistance than was expected, and then the Apaches have to modify their plans. He must either be stunned with a blow from a mutton-bone or given a stab with a knife or dagger. The mutton-bone used by the Paris Apache is a terrible weapon. In appearance it resembles a small hatchet, without a handle, is about six inches long, and comes from the shoulder of the sheep. This and the knife and the knuck-iron are the favorite weapons of the Paris hoodlum. They are effective and noiseless, whereas the use of the revolver is likely to attract the police.

"Among the more recent methods invented by the Paris Apache for rendering the passing citizen incapable of resistance is the lasso. At the favorable moment a cord from 15 to 20 feet in length and ending in a running knot is thrown by an expert hand. As it falls over the victim's head it is jerked tight, and, half strangled, he is thrown to the ground. The rest is easy."

Looking Up Father.
"May I see my father's record?" asked the new student. "He was in 'the class of 1877.'"
"Certainly, my boy. What for?"
"He told me when I left home not to disgrace him, and I wish to see just how far I can go."—Buffalo Express.

Altogether Different.
Sutor—I have come to ask you for your daughter's hand. Father—Well, the fact is we are pretty crowded here as it is, and I—Sutor—Oh, I intend to take her away from home if I marry her! Father—Oh, well, in that case—But you did give me an awful start, my boy.—Boston Transcript.

Ribbon Cookies.
Mix five, after your favorite recipe, a batch of white cookies flavored with lemon. In another dish mix a batch of chocolate cookies, flavored with vanilla. Roll out chocolate cookies quite thin, then roll out white ones, same as chocolate. Place one on top of the other and roll as jelly roll. Take a sharp knife and cut slices from the roll, turn them over and lay them in baking pan. When cooked they are a delight to the eye as well as to the palate.
Make molasses cookies, cutting them in strips with sharp knife, about the length and width of lady fingers. When baked and while warm spread with good jelly and press two together, making a dainty cookie sandwich.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE IN JAPAN
Recent Disastrous Floods Cause Death of 1,400.
Starvation Ends Misery of Men Who Had Climbed to Tops of Poles to Escape Drowning.

Victoria, Sept. 6.—More than 1400 lives were lost in the Japanese floods according to official reports received by the Kamamura Maru today. In addition several hundred are missing. Arrivals by the steamer say the scenes in Central Japan were of unparalleled misery and destitution. Many cases of looting by boatmen were reported from the flooded districts of Tokio and the health authorities were bending every effort to prevent the outbreak of epidemics.

M. L. Ryan, who took food to the Honjo district of Tokio says the official estimates of the deaths is far too low. He tells of finding houses where parties from 20 to 100 in number were cut off and starving and estimates that 1000 perished in this district alone.
In Senju districts a number of persons climbed telephone poles to escape the waters and starved to death.
Relief parties found the bodies of 13 men and women tied with ropes to posts.

The official list for 15 prefectures shows the drowned or missing to total 1143, while more than 180,000 houses were flooded and wrecked, 3,933 being swept away. More than 50,000 acres of land were flooded and 200,000 people are homeless and are receiving relief.

Among the victims was the family of Mr. Kondo, president of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, who were drowned when his villa was demolished.
The great floods were followed by heavy storms at sea, in which several Japanese steamers were badly wrecked. The steamer Hokuriku Maru was lost in Tsuaga Strait, with all hands, on August 13.
On the same day the Shingu Maru went ashore near Atsuta, her complement of 130 being saved by revenue steamers. The Kwannon Maru, which was driven into Toba for shelter, had some of her boats crushed by panic-stricken passengers who thought she was about to founder. The boat crews left the vessel and their fate was uncertain when the Atsutaus left. The vessel ultimately reached Yokkaichi in safety.

The big volunteer steamer Umegaki Maru had a severe struggle with the gale with 308 passengers on board and reached Yokkaichi in distress with her coal exhausted. Several other steamers suffered and several sailing vessels were badly wrecked. The Eriki Maru, laden with coal, foundered off Nijikima, Miyu Prefecture, her captain and several others being drowned. Two schooners also foundered, a majority of those on board swimming ashore.

ENGINEER FASTS 67 DAYS.
Record for Abstinence Broken and Stomach Trouble Cured.
Denver—A new record for long fasting is believed to have been made by Roland Mueller, a young civil engineer, who, after going 57 days without food, began taking nourishment in the form of orange and plum juices. Young Mueller, whose father is a prominent physician of Milwaukee, began his fast for the purpose of regaining his health. He had been suffering from stomach trouble and a form of deafness that he believed could be cured by abstaining from eating.

When he began his fast Mueller weighed 148 pounds. Today he weighs 97 and one half pounds. For the last two or three weeks one of the four physicians who have been watching Mueller has been giving him his daily olive rubs and these are believed to have given him nourishment sufficient to sustain him beyond the 40-day period of fasting which physicians say is the limit of safety.

Bryce Goes To Panama.
New York—To study botany in Chile, examine work on the Panama Canal and possibly to make a run over from South America to England for a brief visit home, James Bryce, the British Ambassador, accompanied by Mrs. Bryce, sailed for Colon.
Of the Panama Canal, in which he is greatly interested, the Ambassador said: "I regard the canal as the most extraordinary improvement on nature that has been made on this planet."

Cyr Is Victim of Fires.
Los Angeles—Joe Cyr, who died at Bakersfield after a severe hemorrhage of the lungs was a victim of the forest fires in Montana. In fighting the flames he breathed so much hot air and smoke that hemorrhages resulted.
He was sent here by the Missoula, Mont. Eagles in the hope that the change in air and climate would prove beneficial. He was seized with hemorrhages a short time after arriving and died in a few hours.

Tong War Breaks Out.
San Francisco—While the streets of the Chinese quarters were filled with parties of visitors, a Hip Sing long man stepped from the darkness of Boss alley into Jackson street. A shot rang out and he sprawled on the sidewalk with a bullet in his back. He was Yee Mee, one of the principal owners of the Sierra Club, the gambling institution which recently was raided by the police and is now the basis of an investigation.
Hindus Shoot Official.
Silas, British India—A native police inspector, Surat Chandra, was shot and probably fatally wounded at Decca, where a number of young Hindus are on trial for conspiracy against the government. The assaults of the inspector are members of good families.

The Red Shawl.
There lives in Atchison a woman who has been happily married 40 years and who has raised five children. Recently she was out walking when she caught sight of a peculiarly bright red shawl. The men will sniff at what happened next: The woman felt a twinge at her heart; the shawl had reminded her of a girl who had stolen her first lover. The girl always wore red of that shade. Then the old woman went home, took out her false teeth that she might not swallow them in her grief, and gave herself up to sad memories. We will bet no woman will sniff. An incident like this appeals to the women.—Atchison Globe.
