Joseph Erickson of Warren, was in the City Tuesday.

Quite a number of the members of the K. of P. Lodge of this City will journey to Vancouver, Wash., Saturday night, some to be made Do(n)keys, others to see the fun.

James O'Connor returned late Sunday night from the scene of the drowning of the seven men on Lewis River, where he went to assist in the search for the drowned men, among whom was his brother.

County Supt. J. H. Collins is spending the remainder of this month in the vicinity of Vernonia visiting the schools of that part of the county. He expects to return about the first of December.

There will be services in the Episcopal Church next Sunday evening Nov. 26, at 7:30.

John Berdahl, a prominent farmer of the Bachelor Flat neighborhood, will leave St. Helens next week for a trip to his native country, Sweden, for a visit with his parents and relatives. He will be gone about three months.

Dr. and Mrs. McClaren of Rainier were visiting in St. Helens during the week.

In last week's issue of the Mist a local item said that for the first thirteen days of November the receipts at the St. Helens Post office were $2170.51 of which $910 were postal savings deposits. The article was just wrong 12 days and should have stated that the receipts for the one day, Nov. 13th, was that amount.

C. C. Moyer, one of the prosperous Bachelor Flat farmers, was a St. Helens visitor during the week.

Fred Ketel is visiting his parents at this place, from his home near Trout Lake, Washington.

Mr. A. C. Riley, a gents furnishing goods man from Portland, was in town Monday looking over St. Helens with a view to locating here with a stock of goods.

Deputy Sheriff J. L. Campbell, of Clatskanie, brought to town on last Friday one Fred Hill, who was believed to be insane. Judge Dart and Drs. Peel and Ross examined Mr. Hill and found that he was insane and dangerous to be at large, as he was determined to kill somebody, preferably his partner at Clatskanie. He was committed to the Asylum at Salem.

The little friends of Miss Eleanor Savage gave her a genuine surprise party at her home one evening last week, and the evening was spent in games, songs and recitations, participated in by every one of the "little old ladies" present. Mrs. Savage served a dainty luncheon for the little folks.

Dr. Lowe's glasses do not need the guarantee that goes with them.

Rev. W. N. Coffee will hold his quarterly meeting at Houlton this week. Services as follows; Preaching Friday at 7:30 P. M., Saturday 7:30 P. M., Sunday at 11:00 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. All are cordially invited. Be sure and come as we are expecting a good time.

Hon. Charles W. Nottingham, State Senator from Portland and Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee was in the city on Tuesday. His visit was not for political purposes but purely business.

S. B. Cobb and Chas. C. Woodcock, officers of the Standard Box Company, of Portland, were looking after business interests in St. Helens during the week.

Lady with small child desires housekeeping position. Inquire at the Mist office.

Howard M. Brownell, the deputy district attorney of Clatsop County, was attending to legal business in Showers of rice, gold rings and other circumstantial evidence have set going the tongue of Dame Rumor with a persistency that seemingly will not down. However after a careful investigation we are not convinced but await with interest, future developments.

At the apple show held in Portland last week, Mr. C. J. Tidecomb of Scappoose carried off first honors on the Northern Spy apple. This is becoming to be a usual thing for Mr. Tidecomb as he has carried off the first prize on these apples for several years and in competition with such famous apple countries as Hood River, Southern Oregon, Willamette Valley and the Columbia River basin. It is about time to say that the Northern Spy is the "Apple that made Scappoose famous".

The business meeting of the Guild will be held at the Guild Hall on Tuesday Nov. 28, 1911. All members are requested to be present.

The two principal Rock Quarries of St. Helens have closed down temporarily. We are informed that in a short time both will start up with increased capacity.

Columbia Street has been pretty badly torn up the past few weeks with ditches for sewers and steam pipes, but this week Jack DSpain brought his big road roller to town and after a few hours work the streets were in better condition than before.

Edward Edwards and John Sandstrom of Cathlamet, Wash., were transacting business in St. Helens during the week.

Bert Green, the man who has been under arrest for several weeks under suspicion of having murdered Chas. Weist at his cabin near St. Helens on October 31, 1911, was charged with murder in the first degree before Justice of the Peace Hazen, on Monday. Sheriff Thompson swore to the complaint on the murder charge and feels quite confident that he has enough evidence to warrant the grand jury in bringing an indictment against him.

You and your children are safe if you wear Dr. Lowe's glasses—eye safe and face safe. They cost no more than others and you have the benefit of his skill and more than 20 years experience.

Dozens of references. Consult him at Hotel St Helens, on Tuesday Nov. 28th.

Trespassers Arrested

Complaints were filed in the Justice Court for St. Helens Precinct on last Tuesday by C. L. Huston, charging Walter Pullien and Harry Ogden with trespass on enclosed lands, and warrants were issued by the Justice and placed in the hands of Constable Fred Watkins who went to Clatskanie and arrested the men so charged.

It appears that Mr. Huston is the owner of a large game preserve near Clatskanie and Pullien and Ogden were hunting for ducks on the premises without a permit when the game keeper came upon them and told them to depart and let the ducks alone. This did not suit these gentlemen, who were having great sport killing birds, and they continued their sport in the face of their orders to quit. Of course arrests were sure to follow. The case will be tried before Justice Hazen next week.

DR. LOWE, Nov. 28th. REMEMBER.

Call at Hotel St Helens next Tuesday Nov. 28th, and have Dr. Lowe show you the new glasses with which you can see all distances: no unsightly lines or seams in the glass. They make you feel young without making you look old. Free demonstra-

Frederick Vivian

Frederick Vivian of Columbia City died at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland on Tuesday Nov. 21st after having been confined there for the past three years, suffering from paralysis. Mr. Vivian had been a resident of Columbia City for 15 years and was well and favorably known in Columbia County. His widow survives him. The Masonic Lodge of St. Helens, of which he was a member, took charge of the funeral on Wednesday and the remains were buried in the Kinder Cemetery near Columbia City.

Amos Slavens

Amos Slavens, one of the pioneers of Columbia County, died at his home in Portland last Thursday, Nov. 16th and was buried at Warren on Sunday the 19th. Death was due to heart failure. Mr. Slavens first came to Columbia County in 1866 from Ohio, where he was born in 1835, and settled near St. Helens, renting a portion of the B. D. Stevens Donation Land Claim where he lived for fourteen years. He then took up a claim some three miles southwest of Warren, consisting mostly of brush and timber. With the aid of his family this place was cleared and cultivated, orchards planted and otherwise improved until it is now one of the very best farms in the county. About three years ago Mr. Slavens retired from his farm and moved to Portland, where he has since resided. He leaves surviving him, his widow and 11 children, as follows; Daniel, of Vancouver, Wash.; John, William and Amos of Portland, Marion of Hood River; Mrs. M. J. Scott of Kalama, Wash.; Mrs. Julia Traynor, Mrs. Fred Cassidy and Miss Mae Slavens of Portland and Mrs. Thomas Geohegan, of Seattle.

The funeral at Warren last Sunday was attended by the largest crowd of friends and neighbors that has ever attended a funeral at that place.

John Uhlman

Mr. John Uhlman died Sunday Nov. 12th 1911, thus ending the suffering he had so patiently endured for seven months.

He was born in Switzerland in 1870 and came to America in 1891. He was married to Miss Aanna Siegenthaler in 1895.

He leaves a wife, four children, and four brothers in America and two sisters and a mother in Switzerland.

Funeral services were held at the family residence Tuesday the 14th at 2 P. M., conducted by L. O. Klapp of Scappoose. Music was rendered by a quartette composed of Mr. E. C. Smith, Miss Neva Boyle, Mrs. Mildred Watts and Mr. L. O. Klapp. The remains were laid to rest at Fairview Cemetery. Many beautiful flowers were tendered as tributes of love.

Looking for Location

We have it on good authority that the Western Cooperaage Company, which formerly operated at Houlton is looking for a location on the Columbia River. About a year ago they ceased operations at Houlton and moved their plant to Aberdeen, Wash., where they have been running since, but the Columbia River seems to be an ideal place for a factory and they are now looking for a location. We would suggest that the Commercial Club of St. Helens get busy with the officers of this company and endeavor to have them put their plant in here.

Dr. Parker to Preach

The Rev. Parker whom many will remember as the supply pastor at Houlton subsequent to Rev. DeBor's departure will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist Church morning and evening next Sunday. Rev. Parker is a forceful, instructive speaker. We bespeak for him a large audience on this his first visit to St.

Thanksgiving Social

Friday evening, Dec. 1, the Epworth League is to give the first of a series of monthly socials. Games, decorations and refreshments will be in keeping with the atmosphere of the day preceding—Thanksgiving Day. The social department of the League, Mrs. J. H. Cronkite chairman, is sparing no effort to promote a jolly social life among the young people of St. Helens. All are invited to plan to be on deck.

Manager Ham McCormick has issued invitations in behalf of the St. Helens Mill Co., of St. Helens, Oregon, for their second annual Thanksgiving dance to be given at St. Helens Wednesday evening, November 29th. Ham McCormick is introducing many innovations in the lumber business including terpsichorean features since his advent in St. Helens—making a pronounced success of each one. No doubt, inasmuch as Ham is giving a free dance and a free supper, there will undoubtedly be a very large attendance.—Timberman

People's Lyceum Course

Popular entertainers will open series of People's Lyceum Course.

Everything is in readiness for the opening number of the local lyceum course. The committee has worked hard and the success of the course seems assured. The seven men who guaranteed the cost of the entertainment are not only breathing easier but are happy to think that their confidence in the good taste of the people of St. Helens was in no sense misplaced.

Lyrics Praised.

The boys are much elated over the report they have received from the central west where the Boston Lyrics opened their lyceum year last month. Writing from Cherryvale, Kansas, N. A. Baker, committee chairman, says, "The Boston Lyrics have come and gone and they have left behind them the best satisfied audience that has been known here for a long time. We cannot praise the Lyrics too highly for their clean entertaining, artistic program."

We have so many of our business men interested this year and they were so well pleased with the first number that they do not want to miss any of them."

The La Junta, Col. committee is even more enthusiastic: Under date of Oct. 31, they write:

"The Boston Lyrics appeared last night as the opening number of our Lyceum Course. To say that they satisfied our people would be to misrepresent the situation by understating the facts. They were delighted with the entertainment. The Boston Lyrics have set high standard for the talent that is to follow. The remarkable thing about their work is that they do so many things so well."

This celebrated company will appear at the City Hall Tuesday evening. The program will begin promptly at eight o'clock. Single admission tickets may be secured at the door for fifty cents. Course tickets must be reserved at Von A. Gray's jewelry store. You'll miss a treat if you miss
