Swiping Factories

While the new club visited and enjoyed in the state capital the old "sleepy" town of St.
Helens swiped a factory that could have come to Kalama.
Kalama News
We don't know what factory News is alluding to but we know that we aren't "Sleepy." The contrary St. Helens is awake to all the opportunities presenting themselves factories or any other industries that wants a first class location. Just keep your eye on this "sleepy" old town and in many months have rolling around you will see us "swipe" several more factories, because we can offer good sites and liberal inducements. One of our principal pursuits for the next few years will be swiping factories and are willing to be swiped to a place where everything is available. 5000 in 1915 is what we expect for St. Helens, and our statement we are not making any idle boast but there are enough prospects in sight right now, if they materialize, to make this prediction come true, and before the time set too.

That they will materialize into realities is as sure as can be.
Watch St. Helens' Smoke.

A Big World

For a number of years Portland has been using paving blocks on some of the streets where heavy traffic prevails and a large portion of these blocks were secured at the St. Helens quarries. It has become well known all along the coast that one of the chief industries of St. Helens is the paving block business.
Yet when a delegation of St.
Helens business men, from the Commercial Club, visited some of the officials of Portland in the interest of these blocks, there were men in official life in Portland who did not know where the blocks came from that have been on their streets for over thirty years. One of the officials said that he thought these blocks came in on ships for ballast from some foreign country. Truly, to some people, the world is a big one, bounded on the North by the Union Depot; on the East by Mt. Tabor; on the South by the Oaks and on the West by Council Crest.
