THE BOOTH LANE

Petitions Are Being Circulated Asking The County Court to Donate Funds For its Improvement.—Farmers Donate Work

There is a determined movement on the part of a number of the most substantial farmers of the Sandridge to have the notorious Booth lane made possible during the winter months of the year. Several petitions are being circulated and are being freely signed, donating all the way from one day work with team to ten days. In addition to the regular tax this work is given extra and the county court will be asked to donate a sum sufficient to gravel this lane so it will be good for all the time to come. It is a shame it has not been graveled for years. The Booth lane is the key to a very large portion of the county, and when it is taken into consideration that by graveling only about one and one half miles it makes it possible for so large a population to do business that under present conditions is impossible, why it has remained the way it has for all these years is one of unanswered questions. It is no uncommon occurrence for farmers to ship merchandise purchased either at Island City or La Grande weighing only a few hundred pounds, because they can not haul it over the Booth lane, a distance of less than two miles when they can pull 1500 or 2000 lbs. on any other portion of the county roads between La Grande and Elgin. The Observer is indeed glad to learn that the matter is being taken hold in so determined and practical a manner and the county court will receive the congratulations of the leading taxpayers of the county when they assist in making this piece of road as it should be.

Low Tax Levy

Corvallis, Or., January 23.—Benton county has so far the lowest tax levy yet reported from other counties in the state; and it is believed that it will prove to be several mills below any other. The next lowest so far reported is Linn with a levy of about 23 mills. Benton county is 16 1/2 mills, or nearly 6 mills lower than Linn.

County Expenses

The expenses of Union County, not counting that expended for common school purposes, according to the official statement of county clerk J. H. M. M. for the year 1903 foot up $53,133.25.

There were expended according to the books, on roads $11,042.97 and on bridges $6,607.77, a total of $17,650.74 on roads and bridges.

Are Now Home

Carey W. Foster and bride, formerly Miss Lillian Garfield, arrived from Pendleton Saturday evening. The happy couple were met here by a delegation of young ladies and gentlemen who started in to give them a rousing charivari. Carey bought off the boys and the young ladies contented themselves with welcoming home Mr. and Mrs. Foster. We nearly forgot to extend our congratulations. Here's hoping their troubles will be little ones.—Princeton Review.

THE LAST WORDS

Of Pleasant Armstrong Given in a Statement Prepared the Night Before He Paid the Penalty for the Murder of Minnie Eslinger.

Baker City, Ore., Jan. 24.—Pleasant Armstrong prepared the following statement for The Oregonian the night before he went on the gallows: "My dear friends, not one but all—As I am going to be hung I will write a few words before I leave. And not for my sake, but for your sake, I feel sorry for this whole world. My dear friends, if everybody would come together, forget little differences, and be as one you would all live happier lives. As long as the people condemn one another it will be a sad world. I have sinned and repented. Profit by my example. One sin brings on others and only makes the world sadder. If there be an enemy of mine, meet and be friends for Christ has said that if your enemy strike thee on the cheek, offer him the other one. He preached and practiced forgiveness and my last words to you all are forgive one another.

"My love for Minnie Eslinger has never changed and I go to the other world feeling that I will be with her again; and when I am gone you who knew us both come together and be friends and it will be a happier life for you all.

"You all have a father and mother, sisters and brothers and you love them all in this world, why not love them in the next one? Minnie Eslinger and I will live together in the other world, loving each other as we did here. Now the rest of you people do the same as we both would like to meet you all in the great hereafter.

My dear friends, you only have a short life to live in this world; at the longest, try and always be friends to your mothers and fathers and sisters and brothers and everybody. If you want to you can give up sin and repent as I have.

"I will close for this life. I forgive my enemies and wish them the best of luck and a long and happy life with the grace of God for the whole world, a long goodbye to the world. With love, Minnie Eslinger and PLEASANT ARMSTRONG.

Washington Jan. 23.—The river and harbor committee of the House today decided against submitting an appropriation bill at this session of Congress. The decision is a great surprise, and is regretted very much by the Oregon delegation.

Eleven Feet High

THE WADE ESTATE

The Management of the Estate Taken From Trustees and Placed In The Bankruptcy Court.—Affair In A Hopeless Tangle.

Pendleton, Jan. 23.—James Wilson, the Deputy United States Marshal from Portland, was in the city yesterday and in the afternoon filed papers on C. B. Wade and his three children in the bankruptcy court.

Margaret Ryan with a claim of $1,700, E. J. Murphy $400; Miss Susan Marlen, $1,900; Es her Brother $3,000; Joseph Vay $4,000; J. F. Temple $7,400; Alex. Milroy $5,000, filed petitions in the United States court asking that Wade be declared a bankrupt and that his property be sold for the benefit of his creditors. Besides these amounts there will be several other claims presented at the time of the hearing.

H. F. Johnson and E. J. Summerville, as Wade's bondsmen in the administration of the Craig estate, will ask for their share of their $14,000 bonds. Antonio Vay has $23,000 he would like to recover. Joseph Ramos has $4,000 and a stockman of Butter Creek will ask for $30,000—and when the time comes a great many other little claims will come in for their share.

WADE'S INDEBTEDNESS

Wade has in the aggregate $300,000 of liabilities, and of this perhaps from $40,000 to $60,000 is guaranteed indebtedness secured by mortgages and notes. The rest may be good or not according to what is realized on it. The stock of the Golconda Mining Company, owned by Wade will be put on the market and sold for what it will bring. He holds approximately 1,000,000 shares in the company.
